Chapter 1101 I went to a place today

Talon thought that as long as he could suppress Dominic and not give him a chance to get up, he would avenge Selena. So, after realizing Cyril's true intentions, Talon went completely crazy.

It was at that moment that the boy suddenly realized that besides himself, there was no one who could help Selena get revenge!

"Not just grandpa..." Talon looked at Dominic's angry and red eyes, his expressionless face smiling, "Within the Walson family, those who have hurt her are no longer here..."

Dominic's eyes suddenly widened. He looked at Talon incredulously. Every bone in his body was oozing endless coldness at this moment. He looked at Talon in horror, his voice almost trembling with fear, "What... did you say?"

There was only one girl that Talon cared about, and within the Walson family, there were countless people who had hurt Selena before she was nineteen. Without anyone protecting her, Selena was silent, not speaking up for herself, and on top of that, Leah instigated and Angie was overbearing and malicious. In order to please the young master and young lady, there were many people within the Walson family who deliberately targeted Selena.

Talon's meaning was that those people were no longer in the Walson family. Were they no longer in the Walson family, or were they all...

Dominic looked at the bloody aura emanating from Talon's eyes and his whole body was almost overwhelmed by terror. Talon's hollow eyes were as cold as death, "Those who hurt her should have died a long time ago!"

After confirming the meaning behind Talon's words, Dominic's eyes turned bloodshot, "Talon! You're insane! You beast!!"

"The Walson family gave birth to you, raised you, just for the sake of one Selena, you actually did such an outrageous thing!"

"Just because they hurt Selena..." Dominic's eyes were completely bloodshot as he stared at Talon, "It shouldn't have come to this..."

"Just because of that little bit of past grievances, you treated me, Angie, and even grandpa in such a vicious way..."

"Talon, why did you have to be so cruel?!" This was something that Dominic couldn't understand no matter what.

It was raining.

But the warm yellow light in the cozy room made Selena feel less lonely.

She often had nightmares, but she rarely woke up directly from them.

It was not until this moment that Selena realized this.

But tonight, for some reason, she woke up in the middle of the night.

After lying in bed for a while and realizing she couldn't fall back asleep, Selena suddenly sat up.

She put on her slippers and quietly walked out of the room, to Hattie's room.

The maid and doctor who were guarding Hattie's bed suddenly stood up and whispered when they saw Selena come in, "Madam Selena, why are you up?"

After spending a long time in the castle, everyone knew this lady's habits.

She was extremely disciplined, went to bed and woke up early, and rarely came out at night.

Selena shook her head, walked to the bedside, looked at Hattie sleeping, pursed her lips, and suddenly asked, "When will Hattie wake up?"

The doctor was taken aback, and then said, "At the latest, tomorrow. Miss Hattie has a mental illness."

"If she doesn't want to wake up, no one can wake her up, but Miss Hattie woke up by herself today, so that's not a problem."

Chapter 1102 I Missed You

Selena's voice suddenly tightened, "Where did you go?"

Where could he be so busy that even Osvaldo couldn't spare the time to make a phone call?

For some unknown reason, Selena's heart suddenly started racing, and she broke out in a cold sweat.

The man on the other end of the phone seemed to sense her unusual mood and the words he had been planning to say for a long time suddenly could not be spoken.

For a long time, the man seemed to suppress some emotion and said gently, "Go to sleep, I'll be back soon."

Selena breathed a sigh of relief in an instant and smiled, "Okay."

After a pause, she said a little aggrievedly, "I miss you, please come back early."

Osvaldo responded with a soft "Okay."

After hanging up the phone, Selena realized that she had been extremely tense.

She turned her head to look at the rainy night outside the floor-to-ceiling windows and unconsciously clenched her fingers.

Where exactly had Osvaldo gone?

...

In the distant Federal Empire, the rain was pouring down as well.

The girl that Talon loved the most was...

Dominic's eyes widened in an instant.

Perhaps it was a premonition, or perhaps it was fear, but after Talon spoke these words, Dominic vehemently denied them without hesitation.

"No no no! I didn't do it! I didn't!!"

Talon looked at him with a face full of the expression of wanting to escape from guilt and reality. His eyes were even colder, "You killed Lady Selena, who loved you the most in this world, with your own hands. Tell me, do you deserve to die?!"

Dominic covered his ears and shook violently. He panickedly shook his head, but tears had already started flowing uncontrollably. "I didn't do it!"

"Selena is clearly alive and well. I saw her on the live broadcast today. Talon, are you blind? Didn't you see it?"

"Selena didn't die!"

"She's still alive, living so proudly and recklessly..."

As he spoke, it seemed that he finally convinced himself, and Dominic's expression became dark and twisted once again. "Talon, you can't fool me!"

Talon's eyes became heavily sarcastic, "At the wedding banquet, you pushed Lady Selena to the ground for that slut Leah..."

Realizing what Talon was going to say, Dominic suddenly lost control and shouted, "Shut up! Shut up! Don't say it! Don't say it!!"

However, no matter how much he denied it, the image seemed to have a consciousness of its own, uncontrollably magnifying in front of his eyes.

On their wedding night, the girl wore a snow-white wedding dress, crying and holding his hand, wanting to explain to him. But he pushed her hard... She fell to the ground, blood staining the snow-white dress red. He didn't even look back, but embraced another woman and heartlessly walked away.

Chapter 1103 The Poole Family Changes Hands

Leia stood in the hall and greeted Selena as she walked down, "Madam Selena, something happened in Creephia last night..."

After hearing the news, Selena's eyes turned cold, "Missing?!"

"Yes," Leia's expression was also cold, "The police in Creephia, including the people Mr. Jordon sent out, have not found any trace of Leah."

"That woman seems to have disappeared into thin air in Creephia."

Selena's lips curved into a sly smile.

Creephia was Osvaldo's territory.

It was not something that an ordinary person could do to protect a notorious criminal in his territory.

It seemed that the woman and the forces behind her had already taken action.

And Selena was not afraid of them taking action, she was afraid that they would keep hiding and not come out.

After all, her goal was never Leah.

It was to destroy the "Divine Love" of the entire Turner family!

Selena smiled and walked to the dining table and sat down.

Patrick instantly understood Selena's meaning.

Hattie was still calling for Leon.

Patrick's tone was cold. "Last night, Dexter was sent overseas by Christ overnight. Now the Poole family is solely in Christ's hands."

Selena narrowed her eyes slightly.

No wonder the people from the Institute hadn't bothered her recently. It turns out they were too busy with their own affairs.

Dexter had dominated the Power Center for most of his life, but he was turned on by his own grandson in just seven days. It was clear that the forces behind Christ were very deep.

At the same time, Dexter's departure meant that the follow-up to the Union University incident could only be abandoned.

After her initial shock, Selena quickly regained her composure.

Aside from feeling that Christ was ruthless enough, she had no other thoughts.

"It doesn't matter."

No matter who is in charge of the Poole family, it doesn't change the fact that the Turner family will definitely take back the Research Institute!

Patrick looked at Selena's calm expression with deep eyes.

With Christ, Alfie, and the hidden Osvaldo coming for her, the capital was bound to be chaotic!

Selena nodded in agreement. She had planned to visit the research institute, but with the sudden change of ownership of the Poole Corporation, the institute was likely to be in turmoil. Going there now would probably be of no use.

Patrick turned and walked out of the room.

Selena watched his back, filled with a hint of anger, and suddenly asked Leia, who was standing next to her, "Is there any unusual relationship between the Turner family and the Soo family?"

Leia broke out in cold sweat, and cautiously replied, "Mr. Turner's mother and Mrs. Soo are sisters. But twenty years ago, the Soo family stabbed the Turner family in the back. After Mr. Turner's father passed away, his mother was so heartbroken that she didn't live much longer. So Mr. Turner and Mrs. Soo his aunt have never had a good relationship..."

Selena's gaze grew colder.

She had originally planned to have someone investigate the Soo family, but she suddenly realized that this was Patrick's family matter, and it would be inappropriate for her to intervene rashly.

As the head of the Turner family, Patrick could handle this situation, so she decided to let it go.

She turned to Leia and said, "Get ready, we're going to Capital University."

Leia blinked, worried that Selena might run into Mrs. Soo while she was out.

Her grandfather was not in Capital University at the moment, and if Selena heard something she shouldn't, it would be troublesome.

Leia said, "Madam Selena, you promised Mr. Turner that you would rest at home today. Young Master also asked you to rest well before he left. Don't overwork yourself."

"And if Miss Hattie wakes up and doesn't see Madam Selena, she'll be upset."

When Lady Lauren arrived unexpectedly, Mrs. Soo's expression changed slightly.

It just so happened that Selena had caused a big commotion in Creephia yesterday, but Osvaldo, who had yet to successfully capture the young girl, was not present.

Lady Lauren was worried that the Turner family would be displeased, so she came to see Selena early in the morning.

By the time Leia made the call, Lady Lauren was almost there.

Upon hearing that someone was trying to steal her son's wife, the beautiful and elegant Lady Lauren's smile immediately became sour.

Looking at Mrs. Soo across from her now, Lady Lauren raised her chin and said, "Mrs. Soo, you come so early in the morning with so many people to steal my son's wife, isn't that a bit unethical?"

Mrs. Soo replied coldly, "Mrs. Anderson, Selena has already been engaged to the Soo family!"

Lady Lauren sneered at this, "So what? Twenty years ago, when the Turner family was in trouble, why didn't your Soo family think of this engagement?"

"Now that you see your son is about to be single, you suddenly remember this engagement. Are you trying to take advantage of the Turner family or the Anderson family?"

Mrs. Soo's expression suddenly changed, "Twenty years ago, we didn't even know Selena existed..."

Faced with Lady Lauren's tough attitude, Mrs. Soo's face turned pale with anger. "Mrs. Anderson, don't forget that Cassius was the one who conspired with those people to ruin the Turner family!"

"It is your Anderson family that owes her the most!"

Lady Lauren's eyes became sharp. "Cassius was expelled from the Anderson family many years ago. As long as Selena speaks, my son can take Cassius's head at any time to apologize to the Turner family!"

Mrs. Soo was shocked and her mouth moved several times without making a sound. According to Osvaldo's character, he was definitely capable of such things!

Patrick stood on the side and watched the two ladies argue, rubbing his forehead and walking towards the car. With Lady Lauren around, Mrs. Soo was destined not to see Selena today. And Patrick didn't want to listen to their conversation.

In the end, it was Selena's decision whom she would marry.

Lady Lauren frowned as she watched Patrick's back as he left.

At the villa, Leia received a call from the security guard and went outside to pick up the child who had run into the villa.

The chubby child cried in her arms, wanting to see Selena.

Leia frowned at how the Soo family would use even such a young child.

Leia walked out of the gate carrying a chubby baby and handed the child over to Mrs. Soo before obediently standing behind Lady Lauren.

Lady Lauren looked at the unhappy Mrs. Soo across from her, lifted her chin and sneered, "Mrs. Soo, you need to understand one thing. No matter how the Soo family argues, it cannot change the fact that Selena and my son are in love."

"My son knew Selena first, liked her first, and was acknowledged as her boyfriend first... they are recognized as engaged!"

"And as for your Soo family, Selena probably doesn't even know who Alfie is."

At the end, Lady Lauren's gaze became colder and she continued, "If the Soo family insists on fighting, then let me tell you, in the capital, no one can compete with my Anderson family for a daughter-in-law!"

"And no one can compete with my son for his beloved girl!"

Mrs. Soo's face turned white instantly.

Lady Lauren's sharp tongue was famous in the capital. With her here, Mrs. Soo knew she wouldn't be able to see Selena today.

Mrs. Soo reluctantly suppressed her anger, nodded at Lady Lauren, and then left with her entourage while carrying her crying child.

Leia looked at Mrs. Soo's back as she left, worriedly saying, "Madam, this woman won't give up..."

A maid answered, "Madam Selena is upstairs looking after Miss Hattie."

Lady Lauren's expression changed when she heard that Hattie had an accident, and she asked, "What happened?"

Leia explained the situation angrily.

Lady Lauren's eyes showed a hint of anger, but she remained calm and waited downstairs.

After a while, Selena came downstairs and saw Lady Lauren. She was surprised for a moment but then said with a smile, "Hello, mother-in-law."

Lady Lauren walked over and held her hand, saying, "This time it's my son's fault. When he comes back, you should ignore him for at least a week!"

Selena hesitated for a moment before understanding what Lady Lauren meant.

She had originally wanted to say that she wasn't angry, but after thinking of Osvaldo's actions, she said, "Okay, I'll be angry when he comes back!"

Chapter 1107 I Like You!

During that period of time, no matter where she went, Osvaldo would say good night to her every night. Last night, she didn't receive any messages from the man and had a nightmare. She couldn't sleep well all night.

And tonight... still nothing?

Selena looked at the clock on the wall. The hour hand had already turned to ten, which was her bedtime.

As the hour hand was about to slide to ten, the screen of her phone remained quiet.

Selena looked at the messages the man had sent her before, and suddenly felt a sense of grievance in her heart.

She wanted to call Osvaldo, but then thought about how he couldn't even spare the time and energy to message her, so it must be something important. If she bothered him, it wouldn't be good...

Selena placed her phone on the table, rare for her to not turn it off, and then lay down on the bed.

She faced the direction of the floor-to-ceiling window, her slender back exuding a sense of loneliness for some reason.

That night, Selena still couldn't sleep well, frequently waking up from her dreams.

At the same time Selena was having a nightmare, a private plane landed at the airport.

*Selena woke up from a nightmare again in the middle of the night. She sat up in bed and stared blankly in the quiet and warm room. After realizing that she couldn't fall asleep again, she got out of bed, put on her furry slippers, and quietly walked out of the door to get a glass of water downstairs.*

The hall was pitch black. Except for the dim yellow light deliberately left on in her bedroom every night, everyone else in the villa had a normal sleeping schedule.

She walked down the stairs step by step, rubbing her forehead with her slender fingers, trying to get rid of the restlessness in her heart.

The hall was quiet. Selena stood on the carpet and was about to turn on the light when she suddenly caught sight of someone sitting on the sofa out of the corner of her eye.

The person's gaze was fixed on her, as if it could never be torn away from her body. It was filled with a frightening heat.

Selena turned around, and the next second, her eyes lit up completely.

Her slender body rushed into the man's arms like a migrating goose returning to its nest. "You're back!"

Her sweet voice, full of excitement and joy, injected fresh vitality into the silent hall.

Oswaldo lifted his hand to embrace his wife who had thrown herself into his arms, holding her waist with one hand and gently stroking her face with the other. His voice was gentle and bone-deep. "Yeah."

In the darkness, Selena couldn't see the deep longing and love on his face when he spoke.

She felt like a beautiful doll sitting in his arms, with her hands around his slender neck, and said in a pitiful tone, "You should have told me in advance and let me pick you up at the airport... Then I wouldn't have worried and suffered from insomnia."

Oswaldo's eerie gaze seemed to solidify and crawl over the girl's eyes, nose, lips... The darkness concealed the obsession and paranoia in his eyes.

Oswaldo's long fingers gently brushed over her eyes, as if he was nurturing a fragile treasure. His voice was gentle and deep, "Anything that you want, I will give you double."

Whether it was revenge, affection, or going home, he would offer them all to her.

He would make her the happiest woman in the world.

Selena was extremely moved, and couldn't hold back her emotions. She blushed and said shyly, "Oswaldo, you are so good..."

He was so good that it made her feel happy.

At the age of nineteen, she was already at the age of first love.

In addition, Osvaldo was her first boyfriend and husband, who always unreservedly loved and pampered her. It was impossible for Selena not to be moved.

Osvaldo looked at her in his arms and gave a smile. There was a kind of taste that penetrated deep into his bones in his voice, "Selena, I will always like you."

She rested her head on the man's arm, closed her eyes peacefully.

After a while, he fell asleep. In the darkness, the man gazed deeply at his wife, then slowly closed his eyes.

The next morning, Leia got up early to check on her apprentice, but Hattie showed no signs of waking up.

She walked downstairs looking worried.

Selena usually had a regular schedule and Leia thought she would see her downstairs, but instead she found her two masters lying asleep on the couch.

Selena was wrapped in Osvaldo's coat, held tightly in his arms, and sound asleep.

The typically cold and dominant man was also holding his wife and showed no sign of opening his eyes.

Leia's foot, which was just about to step down the stairs, abruptly stopped in midair. She instinctively covered her mouth with both hands, her eyes quickly surveying the room.

She decisively ran over and sent everyone who lived in the villa back to bed. Thus, everyone in the villa slept in that morning. It was not until nine o'clock that Selena finally woke up, feeling fully rested in Osvaldo's arms, and everyone returned to their normal state from their feigned slumber.

With the man she was worried about back by her side, and Selena feeling fully rested, she exuded an aura of glory and even had a sweet and lovely scent about her.

Seeing the smile on Selena's face, everyone could tell that the lady was in a very good mood today, and everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

After all, Osvaldo's subordinates all knew that when Selena was in a good mood, it meant that Osvaldo would also be in a good mood.

Chapter 1109 Mother's Past

Selena shook her head, seemingly unaware of the strange looks around her, and got into the car. "Let's go."

Leia drove them towards Capital University.

At this point, Capital University had already started its new academic year.

After the International Perfume Competition, Selena had gained a certain level of popularity at Capital University. And after inheriting the university's laboratory, her popularity skyrocketed in this prestigious institution.

After the release of "Breaking Ground," the entire university's student body seemed to have become Selena's fans.

As soon as Selena walked onto the campus, she was immediately recognized.

"Ah! Lady Selena!"

"Wow! My goddess finally came to class!"

Suddenly confronted with numerous excited and adoring faces, Selena was momentarily stunned. Before she could react, she saw a pair of twin sisters walking out of the crowd towards Nova. They quickly ran up to Selena and hugged her tightly.

"Selena, can you get a signature for me and Phoebe? Can you make two big hearts for us?"

Selena looked into the sparkling eyes of the little girl. She had gained a little weight over the past month, but she was still round and cute, full of life.

Selena couldn't help but smile and reached out to pat her hair. "Sure."

Nova cheered in excitement.

Selena was stunned for a moment, then realized that it must have been Patrick who had called Principal Chow.

To most people, a nineteen-year-old girl should be carefree and enjoying her studies. But Selena lived her life like a hermit.

She came to Capital University but didn't attend many serious classes.

Because she was too excellent, she lost the joy of a normal girl.

Selena chuckled, "I understand, Mr. Chow. I'll remember to balance work and leisure." Principal Chow laughed, "Take a good look at Capital University. It's not just what your father left behind, but also what your mother left behind..."

Selena was taken aback.

Suddenly, she remembered that Patrick had mentioned that Callum was from Capital University and so was Nevaeh.

When he mentioned Callum and Nevaeh at Capital University, their expression was difficult to describe...

She only remembered Callum and forgot about Nevaeh.

Thinking of that bright and enthusiastic woman, Selena showed a rare curiosity on her face. "Mr. Chow, don't worry. Was my mother famous like my father at Capital University?"

Principal Chow said cheerfully, "You have to discover that yourself. Your mother's campus life was much more exciting than your father's."

"The man who pursued your mother at that time..."

Selena was completely aroused by the last sentence.

She slowly opened the lid of her milk tea and took a sip.

Cameron's face looked a bit haggard as he stared at Selena for a moment and walked towards her.

Leia stared at him warily.

Cameron stopped three steps away from Selena and coughed lightly. "Lady Selena, I don't mean anything else. I just want to apologize to you for what happened before."

Selena raised an eyebrow.

The second young master of the Soo family was not here for Penelope.

Penelope was currently being held in the court and was likely to receive a sentence of at least ten years.

After Cameron finished speaking, he nodded to Selena and left.

Selena was truly surprised this time.

Did the Soo family really send someone here just to apologize to her?

Are they really such easy people to talk to?

Leia was staring at the suddenly appeared young man, trying to guess his identity. She saw Selena had already walked away emotionlessly, and immediately followed her. Just as Selena's footsteps were about to step into the gate, a faint pleading voice finally came from behind them.

"Please... let me go in and see her."

Selena stopped in her tracks and slightly turned her head to look at the young man who had stood up at some point. "Do you even know what you're saying?" Even his voice was fragile and seemed to break at any moment. "I'm sorry..." the young man lowered his head.

Selena's tone remained calm. "Give me a reason."

The young man quietly looked Selena in the eyes. "Perhaps I can make her wake up. And when she does, I'll leave immediately. I promise she won't see me."

Selena stared at the dark eyes for a while, then dropped a sentence. "Let him in." She then walked into the gate.

Leia was confused and looked at Selena, then turned back to look at the young man who was only fourteen or fifteen years old, following them. "Madam Selena, is he going to see Miss Hattie?"

Selena's voice was very soft, and upon closer listen, it was also icy. "Perhaps only he can make Hattie wake up."

Leia's eyes widened suddenly as she stared at the young man with a vaguely familiar look. Suddenly, she seemed to have thought of something and her eyes widened to the extreme. "Madam Selena, he is..."

Looking at Selena's cold profile, the rest of the words were stuck in her throat.

Leia was shocked. She couldn't imagine that the two sinners from the Riddle family could produce such a son. Wasn't their child supposed to be like Kaitlyn? Moreover, considering the young man's identity, it was already a good result that Selena didn't vent her anger on him. Why did she make an exception and allow him to see Miss Hattie?

There were too many things that Leia couldn't understand, but she always listened to Selena. Since Selena agreed to let the young man see Hattie, they wouldn't let her down.
