Chapter 1181 The Courtroom

"Madam Selena, why are you up so early?"

Selena asked softly, "Has the young master also gotten up?"

"The young master left early in the morning," the maid replied, noticing Selena's expression darken. "But before he left, he instructed us to take good care of Mrs. Poole, and if Madam Selena needed anything, she could call him."

Oswaldo had stayed up with her until late last night and had only slept a few hours before leaving early in the morning. He must have had something very important to do.

Selena shook her head. "It's alright, I'll wait for him to come back."

After saying that, she walked towards the gate.

Leia was doing some exercises with Hattie in the garden.

The little girl was wearing a white training suit, her hair tied up, and she was standing straight with a serious expression on her pretty face.

Leia stood by, frowning and carefully observing her young disciple.

When Selena walked out, Leia came over. "Good morning, Madam Selena."

"Good morning," Selena smiled.

She watched Hattie for a moment and then smiled, "Hattie is doing very well."

Leia also smiled. "Miss Hattie is very strong. Even my master praised her. Unfortunately, she started learning martial arts too late, otherwise she could have been even more powerful."

Selena propped her chin with one hand, her heart skipping a beat upon hearing the question, "Is M country coming to get him?"

"Yes, three days ago, M country sent a team to H Country, wanting to take Davis back."

"But Davis has a special status. He not only controls the Human Studies organization for many years, but also stole some of Mr. Turner's research materials in the past, which can be described as a series of crimes."

"If M country takes Davis back, it could cause trouble."

"Zone Six doesn't want to let him go, but Davis is an international wanted criminal. Without a legitimate reason, we can't keep him here."

Selena smiled expressionlessly, "I understand."

Matilda looked at Selena through the rearview mirror.

This woman's mind was as clear as crystal. She guessed the reason they came to her before Matilda finished speaking.

Matilda smiled gently and accelerated the car.

At the same time, in the Turner family mansion, Patrick also received the news.

His brows furrowed deeply.

Davis had a deep grudge with the Turner family. He stole Callum's data back then and for these years, founded the Human Studies organization and conducted experiments on living people, which could be described as a series of crimes.

M country's ambitions were almost known to everyone.

Therefore, Davis absolutely cannot be taken back by the people from M Country.

Matilda glanced at Selena again.

The girl's smiling face with delicate eyes made her feel somewhat familiar. She had once seen the same elegant and cold smile on a young man, not because of his appearance, but because of the feeling he gave off.

But Selena was the only daughter of the Turner family, and Nevaeh and Callum had only one daughter, so she shouldn't have any connection with the other person.

Matilda collected her thoughts and stepped on the accelerator. The black sports car sped towards the outskirts of the city.

At the same time, Osvaldo's car stopped at the gate of the Anderson family's mansion.

The man in black got out of the car and walked expressionlessly into the house.

Lady Lauren heard from the butler that her son had come back and was looking for someone. She saw Osvaldo walking in alone and raised her eyebrows in surprise, "Why are you the only one back? Where's Selena?"

Osvaldo's tone was very flat, "She's busy."

Although Osvaldo still had a poker face, Lady Lauren could tell from his demeanor that his mood was not good. She knew exactly who could make him behave this way.

Lady Lauren was about to ask, but Osvaldo spoke first, "Where's Grandpa?"

Benjamin replied flatly, "I never answer hypothetical questions because they are meaningless except to increase anxiety."

Although Osvaldo was his son, they were completely different people.

There is no comparison.

Lady Lauren understood the meaning in her husband's words, and her eyebrows furrowed even tighter.

She looked at Benjamin's face, which seemed to have come straight from a fantasy world, and thought of Osvaldo's face, which was almost a carbon copy of his father's, and couldn't help but sigh at the strength of the Anderson family's bloodline even after so many years.

Why didn't they have a daughter back then?

Thinking about it, it's still better to have a daughter-in-law.

At least her son doesn't have a cold face when she's around.

Osvaldo came to the study and pushed the door open.

Antonio sat in front of the table, concentrating on writing with a brush. When he heard the sound of the door opening, he didn't look up.

Oswaldo didn't say anything either, standing still with a blank expression, his deep black eyes fixed on the old man behind the desk, without any extra emotions.

The atmosphere was quiet for a moment.

Antonio tightened his grip on his cane, but his expression softened eventually, revealing a hint of fatigue and helplessness on his face. "I just want to leave a bloodline for your second uncle," he said.

Oswaldo's tone was cold. "The Riddle family killed her mother for the sake of those two things and made her suffer for more than ten years."

"And today, you come to ask me to release that thing for her sake-" Oswaldo's eyes grew colder and colder. "Grandfather, how can you justify asking Selena to swallow her grievances for your sake? What does she owe you?"

Antonio choked up again. He wanted to say that Selena had suffered grievances in the past, but she was living better than anyone else now, wasn't she? With him, her doting grandson, who would dare to give her any grievances?

"This matter can be regarded as the Anderson family mistreating that girl, and I will make it up to her in the future-"

"No need!" Osvaldo's tone was flat. "Compensation means nothing to Selena. What she needs is blood for blood!"

Selena probably hated it the most when people tried to compensate her. Osvaldo's eyes grew dark. "You are always thinking of that girl. Why don't you think about your grandfather? I only have your father and your second uncle. Your second uncle-"

"Even if he deserves to be punished, his daughter has not committed any great evil so far. Is it that difficult to spare her life?"

Osvaldo suddenly smiled, a very cold smile. "Grandfather, you probably forgot who gave birth to that thing in your mouth."

Lady Lauren, who had just walked to the door, heard something was wrong and rushed in. When she saw the tense situation between the grandpa and the grandson, she came over and pulled Osvaldo out.

Benjamin, who followed behind her, glanced lightly at Osvaldo and walked towards Antonio.

Lady Lauren took Osvaldo out of the study, and finally breathed a sigh of relief. She turned her head and looked at Osvaldo with a frown, "There really isn't any possibility, is there?"

Lady Lauren understood her son well.

He was cold and even extreme in nature, but in fact, he could also be filial.

For so many years, he had never caused his family to worry, even when he was kidnapped abroad as a youth. He solved it on his own in the end, and he had never been so angry with his grandfather before.

When Antonio asked him to marry Isabel, even though Osvaldo was so unhappy, he agreed.

But on the issue of Penelope, he clearly didn't plan to compromise.

Mrs. Anderson remembered Lady Nevaeh's death and the abuse and harm Selena had suffered over the past decade, causing her heart to chill. "Mom was wrong about this matter."

Osvaldo's face was cold, "Grandfather was able to protect her under my hands. It's his ability." In other words, if Antonio couldn't protect her, he shouldn't blame Osvaldo for being ruthless.

After Osvaldo finished speaking, he turned and left. Lady Lauren watched his back as he walked away and sighed.

She knew that the old man had really angered Osvaldo this time.

Ten minutes later, Benjamin walked out of the study. Only Lady Lauren was in the garden, and Osvaldo was nowhere to be seen.

Benjamin's expression was indifferent. "Where's that kid?"

Lady Lauren said in a faint voice, "He left."

Benjamin said in a flat tone, "He really knows how to make the old man angry."

Lady Lauren couldn't suppress her anger when she heard this. "If Cassius doesn't care about his own daughter, why should my son take care of her?"

"Just because of the sins Cassius and Kiera committed, Penelope deserved to die, even if Selena had to pay the price!"

Benjamin was slightly surprised by his mother-in-law's words.

Lauren sneered, "The old man is always thinking about Cassius, but has Cassius ever considered him for harmed Callum and the Turner family, and Kiera killed Nevaeh and abused and harmed Selena for so many Selena had no idea that the Anderson family had caused a "domestic violence" incident because of her.

Matilda drove along a long and winding mountain road for about two hours before arriving at her destination.

She parked the car and Leia, who was sitting in the back seat with Selena, jumped out and opened the car door.

Selena got out and looked up at the large black gate made of top-of-the-line explosion-proof materials. The building inside was not very tall and could be seen at a glance.

While Matilda was conducting her routine inspection, Selena stared at the two black gates.

After a while, another car stopped outside the gate, and Fraser got out of the car.

Leia turned to look and saw that Selena was not reacting, so she reminded her in a low voice, "Madam Selena, Mr. Sharp has arrived."

Selena came back to her senses and turned to look.

Fraser stared at her and said, "The Turner family doesn't trust you, so they sent me to take a look."

Selena nodded and withdrew her gaze.

Meanwhile, Matilda finished her inspection and raised her hand to signal Selena to enter.

Felix lay motionless on top of Kevin, gritting his teeth and saying, "If my hand is crippled... I'll kill that bastard and his whole family!"

Thomas looked at the glaring hole on his shoulder, his eyes turning red. "Hang on, I'll go find a doctor!"

After Thomas finished speaking, he quickly turned around and ran out.

Kevin cautiously supported Felix and dared not move.

On the other side, the man who was being smashed against the wall by Yasmin suddenly stood up and twisted her arm, causing them both to fall down the stairs. The potted plant on the stairs was overturned, and the two tumbled down together.

Yasmin suddenly stood up from rolling, lifting her long legs and fiercely kicking the man's head. Her movements were extremely fast, but she didn't expect the other party to be even faster. The nearly two-meter-tall white man grabbed Yasmin's leg, roared and threw her out.

Yasmin fell to the ground and was about to stand up when a hand suddenly reached out from the side and grabbed her ankle. With Jessica's warning shout of "Be careful!" Yasmin's leg bone made a dangerous creaking sound.

The white woman was caught off guard and was hit on the bridge of her nose, causing blood to gush out almost instantly.

The white woman wiped her face and felt the blood on her hands. She immediately became angry and pulled out a knife, stabbing fiercely at Yasmin.

Kevin had just carefully laid Felix flat and raised his head, but he saw this scene and his face suddenly changed. He immediately shouted, "Stop!"

The confrontation outside the door seemed to be long, but in fact, it was only a short twenty seconds. Inside the office, a group of people were engaged in a heated argument when they suddenly heard a voice that sounded different saying, "Stop!" They were all stunned.

Principal Marshall recognized it as the voice of her student and immediately rushed to the window. Looking down, she saw the white woman's knife about to fall on Yasmin. In an instant, a black shadow flew from afar with lightning speed and heavily hit the woman's hand.

The woman's wrist went numb, and the sharp edge of the knife fell uncontrollably to the ground, narrowly missing Yasmin's neck. The sudden turn of events caught the woman off guard. She looked down and saw a gleaming knife lying on the ground.

The woman raised her head fiercely, but before she could see who threw the knife, she heard Romil's angry shout from upstairs, "Be careful, Jovani!" The white woman named Jovani had not yet recovered from her shock when she suddenly felt a force squeezing her throat, and she was forcefully thrown over.

Chapter 1186 "If anyone dies, it's my responsibility!"

Under the surprised gazes of the entire crowd, Selena coldly uttered another sentence.

"If anyone dies, it's my responsibility!"

As soon as Selena finished speaking, Felix and Matilda's moves became even more fierce and aggressive.

Leia didn't hesitate and even threw away her puppet. Instead, she pulled out a knife from her body and grinned at the white man in front of her.

"You feel accomplished bullying children, right? Then let me show you how it feels to be bullied by a child!"

With that, she flicked her wrist and aimed her knife at the man's chest.

The white man was taken aback and narrowly avoided the attack, but a blood mark was left on his face.

He cursed and drew out a knife from his body.

The next second, Leia pounced again. The clash of their two knives grew more intense with each passing moment.

Leia's movements became faster and faster, like a torrential rain, and the cold and sharp light of her knife made it difficult for the opponent to face her head-on. He was forced to retreat in a panic.

But every time he took a step back, there would be a new blood mark on his body.

Leia played with the man like a cat playing with a mouse, to the point where he was furious and cursing at her constantly.

At the same time, Jovani was kicked by Matilda and immediately spat out blood.

Jovani wiped the blood from her mouth and a fierce smile appeared on her face. "The girl whose leg I broke, is she your sister?!"

Matilda didn't answer, her face grew even colder. She took a step forward and kicked Jovani's leg again.

Jovani felt as if she had been hit by a heavy and fierce iron block, and even had the illusion that her leg bone had made a crisp cracking sound.

"Damn it!" Jovani cursed and grabbed Matilda's arm, throwing her over her shoulder and down to the ground. Then, she lifted her hand and without hesitation, stabbed the knife in her hand towards Matilda's face.

With a clang, Matilda's knife tightly pressed against Jovani's blade. She then fell backwards and lifted her leg, accurately kicking the knife out of Jovani's hand.

The movements were smooth and seamless. In the next moment, Matilda suddenly rose up, pounced on Jovani, and strangled her neck, knocking her down to the ground.

As a reflex, Matilda lifted her hand, just as Jovani had done to Yasmin earlier, and twisted Jovani's leg. In the conference room, Romil had finally managed to get away from Principal Marshall's entanglement and ran down to see this scene.

Immediately, he pulled out his gun and aimed it at Matilda.

Out of nowhere, a gun appeared in Matilda's hand. With a flick of her wrist, she aimed and pulled the trigger, hitting Romil's wrist with deadly accuracy. Romil's gun fell to the ground along with a bone-chilling crack as Matilda twisted Jovani's leg bone and broke it!

Matilda towered over Jovani, their faces close, and coldly said, "This is for Yasmin! And for the others!"

Jovani's eyes turned red with anger, her forehead bulging with veins. The nail polish on her fingers, painted a fiery red, shattered at the base. Suddenly, she lunged forward and punched Matilda in the face.

Matilda dodged to the side, narrowly avoiding the blow that grazed her nose and landed on the ground. The woman spat out a mouthful of blood and screamed, "You'll end up dead like your useless sister!"

She bounced up and threw a straight punch at Matilda's heart.

Romil looked up to see a teenage girl who had knocked his gun away without even turning her head! He glared at Selena's back and said coldly, "You will pay for this!"

Selena didn't turn around but smiled faintly, her eyes shining with coldness. "Will I pay? I'm not sure. But I am sure that your people will die first!"

On the other side, the white man who first shot Felix was forced to retreat by Fraser's punches.

With another punch, the nearly two-meter-tall white man was knocked out and knocked over a potted plant on the stairs, accompanied by the sound of shattering fragments. Fraser approached him, cold-faced, and gave him a beating.

In a reluctant roar, Romil was taken and locked up in prison. The injured police cadets were rushed to the emergency room by the medical team, and the chaotic scene quickly quieted down.

Selena stood on the steps, looking up at the somewhat gloomy sky in the distance, her dark eyes filled with uncertainty. Principal Marshall walked up to her and followed her gaze, "Wasn't the other side here for Davis?"

The value of Davis to M Country was self-evident. How could the other side directly turn against them without even seeing Davis?

Selena's red lips curved into a cold arc. "We have Principal Marshall to thank for teaching such a group of outstanding students."

Perhaps the other side had initially just been testing the waters, but they never expected to hit a hard wall. The students at Union University were all proud and arrogant. If the other side caused them even a slight injury, they would fight tooth and nail to take a bite out of the other side.

Failing to provoke them, the other side ended up causing such a big mess. The initiative was now in their hands!

Principal Marshall thought of the several injured police cadets and a look of resentment appeared in his eyes. "They won't give up easily."

Selena smiled, "It doesn't matter. As long as I am still with the Turner family, no one can take away what belongs to us."

Marshall turned to look at the young girl next to him. She was not yet twenty years old and looked like a flower, but the fierceness in her bones was even stronger than that of those who were used

In the situation where the other party was almost beaten to death, the police academy students naturally wanted to be "more severely injured". Selena put her mind at ease and walked out.

After such a big mess in Zone Six, the other party would not dare to mention Davis again for a short time. Matilda had to take care of Yasmin, and Fraser's little brother had hurt his hand. Both of them were too busy to care about Selena.

Leia walked towards the gate, and everyone she met on the way respectfully called Selena "Miss Turner". Although Selena was visiting for the first time, her reputation had already spread throughout Zone Six. Whether it was her identity as a daughter of the Turner family or the newly appointed head of the research department, it was enough for her to be treated with absolute respect and courtesy in this place.

Selena refused Zone Six's offer to send her back and walked out with Leia. She received a call from Patrick halfway through.

"Fraser called me just now, and I'm sending someone to pick you up."

"No need--"

"You have to listen to me this time!" Patrick's tone was solemn. "They may not have known about your existence before, but after today, whether it's your identity as the daughter of the Turner family or your position in the research institute... they will be keeping an eye on you!"

Selena listened to Patrick's words and walked out of the gate. As soon as she raised her head, she unexpectedly saw the man waiting outside the gate. Selena blinked and stood still.

Patrick's voice continued, but Selena was absent-mindedly listening. She said softly, "No need..."

Chapter 1189 Have you really thought it through?

Benjamin lifted his enchanting and chilly eyes and looked at his son, "Do you think you're doing the right thing?"

Osvaldo lowered his eyelids and said nothing.

Benjamin said coldly, "For the sake of your marriage, your grandfather gave up his own son's life, and now he wants to leave a bloodline for him, but he is mercilessly rejected..."

Osvaldo's eyes were deep and black. "I can't let them live!"

Everyone knew that as long as Cassius and that woman were alive, they would stop at nothing to harm Selena.

He fulfilled his grandfather's wish. If Selena was harmed in the future, who would be responsible for the consequences?

Benjamin sneered, "As a man, if you can't even handle the most basic family conflicts, what kind of wife are you going to marry?"

Osvaldo's eyebrows twitched.

Benjamin threw the file aside and slowly straightened up, "No matter how much you worry, it won't change the fact that your grandfather is your grandfather."

"Not being able to resolve this matter perfectly is your failure as a husband and a grandson."

Osvaldo stared at Benjamin's eyes, "Why did you let Cassius go back then?"

It was impossible to say that he was concerned about brotherly affection. Under the tragic incident that occurred in the Turner family, even his grandfather could not have saved Cassius from Benjamin's hands.

Unless... the "Divine Love" that wiped out the Turner family back then was protecting Cassius!

After leaving Antonio, Osvaldo walked into an independent villa.

In the colorful flower garden, Selena was sitting barefoot on a swing, playing with two cats on the grass with a flower in her fingers.

Osvaldo gazed at the beautiful profile of the girl and his eyes gradually warmed.

Sensing his gaze, Selena turned her head, and the next second, a sweet smile appeared on her face. "You're back."

Osvaldo walked over, knelt in front of her, held her foot with one hand, and picked up the shoes and socks that Selena had thrown aside with the other. "It's still a bit cold outside. You can't go without shoes."

Selena obediently stretched out her two pure white feet and let Osvaldo put on her socks.

She supported her chin with her hands and looked at the man's handsome face with a smile, asking, "Did Grandpa have something to find you?"

Osvaldo replied flatly, "It's just a small matter, and it's been resolved."

Selena frowned slightly when she noticed that the man didn't want to say more and said softly, "If there's anything, you must tell me."

Osvaldo lowered his long eyelashes and gently replied, "Mm."

After putting on Selena's shoes, Osvaldo picked her up and walked into the villa.

Selena had been waiting in the room for a while when she saw Leia tiptoeing in.

Seeing that Selena was awake, Leia untied her restraints and walked over. "Madam Selena, you're awake."

Selena nodded and said to Leia, "Tidy up, we're going to see the old man."

Leia blinked. "Shall I go and tell the young master?"

Selena smiled and shook her head. "No need."

Leia remembered that this was Osvaldo's home, and there was no need to worry about anything. She turned around and took Selena's clothes from the shelf.

Selena got dressed, and Leia led her to the courtyard where Antonio lived.

Antonio was brewing tea, and Selena followed the fragrance of tea and walked in.

"That girl from the Sheng family was wearing that carnelian, and I thought she had some connection to Nevaeh. Just then, my kid seemed to have a fate of being an orphan, so out of a sense of compensation, I thought of bringing them together to try it out."

Who would have thought that, due to a series of misunderstandings, they nearly ruined their grandson's marriage.

And Selena has held a grudge against him for so long.

Selena pondered for a moment and said, "Isabel loved to flaunt her possessions. There should be many people in the capital who knew she had that carnelian. Why has no one paid attention to Isabel for all these years if that carnelian is so significant?"

Antonio replied indifferently, "There are countless carnelians in the world, especially for us old guys. We don't pay attention to women's jewelry unless there is a good reason to do so."

"Your carnelian was given to Nevaeh by Callum, and there is only one like it in the world."

"I coincidentally found out that the Sheng family's illegitimate daughter was wearing that carnelian, which belonged to your mother."
