Chapter 1191: Meeting Gift

The Anderson family, like the Turner family, had more sons than daughters in every generation. If the Anderson family had a daughter, Antonio wouldn't have had to protect Penelope at all.

Selena was brought back to her senses by Antonio's words and temporarily put aside her doubts, continuing to scroll down with a smile.

Newborns, ten-day-olds, one-month-olds... these beautiful little babies looked different every day, becoming more delicate as they grew. The only thing that didn't change much was their expression.

Although such young children wouldn't have any particularly noticeable expressions, their coldness was still evident.

Selena stopped at a photo and asked, "When was this taken?"

Antonio glanced at the picture Selena had stopped at. It was a small figure made of snow jade, dressed in exquisite black clothes and a black cap, with a long face and long eyelashes, and a pair of black eyes that seemed to see through everything.

The little guy sat on a blanket, holding his arms and expressionless. Although his face was young and innocent, everyone could sense his contempt.

"This was taken when he was one year old. His mother dressed him up a bit, but you see his expression? He looks like he's owed a million dollars by someone," Antonio said.

"Was Osvaldo so lacking in childishness when he was young?" Selena asked, blinking.

The picture showed a delicate and handsome young boy in black clothes with black hair, looking cold and indifferent.

She frowned.

Antonio looked over and sneered, "That's him at the age of twelve, his mother took the photo. This kid never lacked love since he was a child, but somehow he's become more and more 'heartless and unfeeling' as he grows up..."

Selena stared at the refined features of the young boy, feeling a faint sense of familiarity.

Suddenly, a ripple stirred in a corner of her memory, and Selena eagerly turned to the next page, only to see a blank space.

Disappointment rose in Selena's heart, "Why is there nothing there?"

Antonio grumbled, "After he turned twelve, he never let anyone take his picture again, not even his mother..."

Selena frowned, "Why?"

"I don't know," Antonio explained, seeing Selena's disappointment. "Maybe it had something to do with him being kidnapped that year..."

"Penelope is not having a good time in there, let alone escaping, it won't be easy for her," Selena said with a smile, standing up and joining Osvaldo who was waiting outside the room to go find Lady Lauren.

That evening, Lady Lauren cooked a table full of dishes herself, and Selena sat down to have dinner with the Anderson family, spanning three generations.

After dinner, while Selena was taking a shower, Osvaldo received a call from Luke.

"Just got the news, Tobias is entering the capital tomorrow. Your wife put all the representatives from M country in the ICU this morning in Zone Six. They won't let her go easily. You finally have a chance to be her protector..."

God knows how many people have made fun of Osvaldo for being just a vase because of Selena's strong and independent personality.

Osvaldo's dark eyes took on a strange expression. "Tobias can't harm her."

Luke choked up when he remembered Selena's true identity, and after a moment, he quickly changed the subject. "Tobias has been eyeing you for a long time. He has caused you a lot of trouble over the years. Why don't you file a complaint with your wife and ask her to take care of you more in the future?"

After speaking, Luke's lips twitched uncontrollably.

Originally, he had come to persuade Osvaldo to be Selena's protector, but reality always struck hard.

Osvaldo ignored his sarcasm and said coldly, "Find someone to keep an eye on things on the Federation's side."

Speaking of business, Luke's tone became serious. "Rest assured, if they dare to lay a finger on your wife, we'll become famous!"

As a young man walked in with a group of people, the people in the conference room looked at him. He was dressed in a black leather jacket with a high collar that almost covered half of his face. He wore black pants and boots, had black short hair, and had very pale skin. If it wasn't for his icy blue eyes, one would almost mistake him for an Asian.

Facing the stares of everyone in the room, he found an empty seat and spoke in a deep voice, "M country, Tobias, sent to bring back the wanted criminal Davis."

Without mentioning yesterday's incident, his goal was directly pointed at Davis, indicating that he was determined to succeed.

Lorenzo said coldly, "Davis stole Mr. Turner's research data, and H country has the right to detain him."

Tobias remained silent, and a white man who came with him let out a contemptuous laugh and said, "Davis's punishment will be judged after we take him back. You have no right to judge any M country citizen!"

Principal Marshall's face turned dark. They believed that M country would definitely convict Davis. After all, if M country did not take action against such a heinous crime, they would face public outrage. However, before that, M country would try everything to dig out what Davis knew about Callum, the human organization, the black crows, and the underground city virus. Once these things fell into M country's hands, the consequences would be unimaginable.

Furthermore, it was well-known that many parts of M country had abolished the death penalty. If Davis was not sentenced to death, then so many people who had died in H country would have died in vain.

Therefore, even if they knew they were not in the right, they would never agree to let Davis be taken back.

Principal Marshall's expression was harsh. "This is impossible! Davis has harmed so many people in H country and must be executed by the H country people themselves!"

Chapter 1193 Who Are You?

Everyone turned their heads towards the sound, and saw Matilda walking in with black gloves on, her face calm yet gentle.

She looked directly at Tobias and spoke in a firm voice, "Davis is currently detained by the Court, and you must know about the situation in the capital. Zone Six has never intervened in the affairs of the Court. If you want to discuss matters related to Davis, you can directly inquire with the Court."

Matilda's move was clearly aimed at shifting all the pressure onto the Court. Even if there were any problems in the future, the responsibility would be borne by the Court. At least on the surface, M Country would not be able to use this matter to attack the entire H Country.

Tobias remained calm, "Brandon is not in the capital at the moment. Can you handle the consequences on your own?" He paused, then added, "Including the charge of assaulting representatives of M Country?"

Matilda smiled gently, "To Matilda, there is no difference between one charge and two charges."

In other words, if Tobias wanted to arrest her on the charge of assaulting those three people, she wouldn't mind executing Davis on the spot. This was a self-destructive approach.

Tobias was silent for a moment, then suddenly smiled, "You are a qualified law enforcement officer, but it's a pity..."

His tone changed, "If you are worried that M Country will be partial, I can assure you that Davis will be sent to the military court and given the death penalty."

The white man's face changed slightly.

Tobias raised his hand to stop him, "Consider it as an explanation for the many victims in H Country!"

Without waiting for the Zone Six people to speak, Tobias continued, "As for the incident of assaulting the representatives of M Country, I believe that those idiots were the ones who started it. M Country will not hold anyone responsible."

The white man sneered disdainfully, "Is girl like this worth making such expressions? Has H Country really run out of talented people?"

Leia glared at the white man mockingly and turned around to shout, "Lady Selena, the conference room is this way."

At the sound of that familiar name, Tobias' stoic face briefly froze in surprise.

Footsteps approached from outside the door, accompanied by a melodious voice, "Is everyone here?"

"Yes, we are," someone responded.

At the sound of that familiar voice, Tobias suddenly looked up, revealing his blue eyes devoid of any warmth.

A slender figure appeared at the door, wearing white clothes, with a beautiful face and a smile. Although she was a stunningly beautiful girl, Tobias' expressionless face suddenly revealed a mix of confusion, disbelief, shock, and other varied emotions.

The expression in those blue eyes seemed to be stirred by some cold yet nostalgic memories.

Selena seemed oblivious to the tense atmosphere and walked into the conference room, her gaze falling on Lorenzo's face. "Lorenzo, I have something very important to discuss with you. Is the meeting over?"

Remembering what she had said before leaving yesterday, Lorenzo looked at her deeply and said, "The meeting is not over yet. You'll have to wait a bit."

With a gentle and smiling tone, Selena suddenly changed, "Let's talk about compensation now!"

The people of Zone Six were stunned.

The people from M country who were mocking Selena had their mocking smiles freeze on their faces.

Tobias suddenly closed his eyes and cursed silently in his heart.

After the white man regained his senses, he angrily questioned, "What the hell?! Davis is our person from M country. Why should we talk about compensation with you?"

Selena raised her eyebrows, "Indeed, Davis is your person from M country, and nobody denies that. But he was caught by us, the people of H country, and that is also a fact."

"We helped you capture a notorious criminal, and shouldn't you be thanking us instead of taking it for granted?"

With a stern expression, she continued, "As a mighty country, M country wouldn't want to engage in shameless behavior like free-riding, would you?"

The white man was stunned by Selena's momentum. Despite his thick-skinned nature, he couldn't deny what she said and his face became twisted with anger.

The others also looked furious.

"I thought you wanted more. Just one billion? We agree, so now hand over Davis immediately!"

Selena smiled faintly. "Sir, you misunderstood me. This one billion is just the reward that H Country will receive for helping M Country catch Davis. As I said, the main point today is compensation, and gratitude is just an aside!"

Before the other party could react, Selena's tone suddenly turned cold, with a hint of determination. "Twenty years ago, Davis stole my father's research results, causing irreparable damage to the medical community in H Country!"

Chapter 1195 Are You Happy to See Me Alive?

A strange silence fell over the conference room.

The representatives from M Country had faces that were pale and angry, like a pack of enraged lions, as they glared at Selena.

Tobias stared at Selena and asked directly, "How much do you want?"

Selena casually stated a number, "One trillion."

Not only were the people from M Country enraged, but even those from H Country were shocked. A white giant with an angry face lifted his iron fist and was about to smash Selena's face.

Tobias raised his hand to stop his subordinate from doing something stupid. His ice-blue eyes were calm and serene, "Too expensive. Davis is not worth that price."

One trillion was almost equivalent to M Country's annual financial expenditure. If the M Country public knew that they were spending their entire stock for a notorious criminal like Davis, public opinion could drown the entire country!

Tobias immediately cut the price Selena proposed by more than half.

Selena raised her eyebrows and smiled lightly, "We, in H Country, believe in the equality of all people. For us, money is only a comforting tool. Life is the most precious thing."

"Davis has harmed so many people. We need to compensate the families for their mental loss, burial expenses, and resettlement fees."

"This price is already discounted out of the two friendly diplomatic relations."

Tobias' blue eyes turned cold, and the freezing air began to spread, "This amount of money is enough to support billions of people for half a lifetime!"

The faces of M country representatives turned black and blue.

Many people from H country couldn't help but laugh out loud. This move was too ruthless! If they really did it, not only would M country fall into an economic crisis, but they would also become a laughing stock of other countries.

Selena got into the back seat and smiled faintly, "Home."

Leia drove Selena back to the small villa.

As soon as the car left Zone Six, the white man couldn't help but punch the backrest and shouted fiercely, "This is too much! We can't just leave it at that!"

The others also looked indignant.

They thought it was a sure thing to bring Davis back from H Country this time.

Unexpectedly, not only did they fail to take Davis away, they also lost one billion!

In addition, the grudge from Romil and the others being beaten into the intensive care unit made everyone in the car furious.

They talked for a long time, but there was no response. The white man turned his head and looked behind him, "Tobias?"

Tobias' slender figure was lying on the back seat with his eyes closed, as if he had fallen asleep.

"Tobias, the order from above is that we must bring Davis back!" The white man frowned.

Tobias didn't move.

"It's all because of that woman who suddenly showed up. If it weren't for her meddling, we wouldn't have been forced to do this..."

"Under arrest, I'll go with you, but remember--" Selena looked at the woman with bone-chilling coldness

After speaking, she walked towards the car.

Leia glared at the woman fiercely and quickly followed Selena.

Before Selena could say anything, Leia exploded, "You are so capable, why didn't you come to arrest

"My master had just left, and you couldn't wait to come knocking on our door... Is it because you think

The woman's face suddenly turned cold as she pulled out a gun from her waist and aimed it at Leia.
"Miss Turner, make your assistant leave immediately, or we have the right to execute her on charges of obstructing official business!"

The woman's actions immediately frightened the students of Capital University.

Selena tilted her head slightly, her gaze icy. "I am willing to cooperate with the investigation out of respect for the law. Why does this young lady think I am afraid of her?"

Selena chuckled and calmly looked at the woman's indifferent face. "If I really refuse to be arrested, what can you do?"

The woman's eyes suddenly turned cold, and she pulled the gun bolt. Amidst the terrified screams of the Capital University students, she aimed the gun at Selena's forehead. "Miss Turner, do you dare to see if I have the guts to pull the trigger?!"

Selena looked back at her calmly, her red lips curled in a scornful smile. "Believe me, before that, you will be the one kneeling down first!"

The woman turned pale.

Selena's identity and background were too sensitive and powerful. Before her charges were thoroughly confirmed, it would be difficult to explain to both the Turner and Anderson families if she was killed in public.

"We have evidence that you leaked information about the 'Sacred Pearl' to 717 insiders," Selena Mann said in a low voice. "It wasn't me," she added.

"Do you have any evidence to prove your innocence?" she was asked.

"No," Selena replied.

"As the head of the research department, do you realize how heinous your actions are?" she was questioned.

"I've already said it wasn't me," Selena replied, her slender back straight and calm in the face of everyone's doubts.

"But according to internal sources at 717, you are the one who gave them the inside information," she was accused.

Selena looked up and stared at the group of serious-looking people in front of her. "Given that I am already a stable head of the research department, I have no reason to do such a thing," she said.

"Perhaps it was to frame and eliminate opponents? After all, if we lose the 'Sacred Pearl,' the Shaw family will lose control of the research institute," someone suggested.

Suddenly, Selena laughed, a contemptuous, sarcastic, and cold smile. "Forgive me for being blunt, but even if it's someone within 717, they are not worthy of me lowering myself to frame them!" she said.

The interrogation room fell silent for a moment.

Selena's outstanding abilities as a mechanic had long been known throughout Zone Six. Apart from the owner of the 'Sacred Pearl,' there was probably no one in the world who could compete with her in this regard. Given this, she had no reason to take risks and frame the Shaw family.

"Colonel Esmee is still in the operating room, we need to hear what she has to say about the situation," the man who had been questioning Selena earlier spoke calmly, "We can put this matter aside for now, Miss Turner. The urgent matter at hand is to find out why you leaked the existence of the 'Sacred Pearl' to 717 insiders!"

Selena's cold gaze swept over him, "Wrong. The urgent matter at hand is to find out whether or not I actually did it, not why I did it. Please choose your words carefully."

The man couldn't deny it, "So, can Miss Turner provide evidence to prove her innocence?"

Selena asked indifferently, "What kind of evidence do you want?"

The man, perhaps angered by Selena's stubbornness, insincerely suggested, "We may need several key figures from the Lab 717 to personally come and testify in order to prove Miss Turner's innocence?"

Selena lowered her curled eyelashes and didn't speak, but her expression was somewhat cold.

After arriving at the interrogation room, Selena was neither afraid nor falsely accused. Instead, she subtly controlled the rhythm of the questioning, leaving many of the high-level officials on the scene feeling frustrated and annoyed.

Rarely did they see such a stubborn and noble lady from a prestigious family show such an expression, and the group finally breathed a sigh of relief.

Just as they were about to continue interrogating Selena while she was mentally weak, the sound of a wheelchair rolling suddenly came from outside the door.

Almost everyone thought of the same thing in an instant, turned their heads to look, and their faces changed slightly.

Patrick pushed Oscar in, and at a glance, he saw Selena being interrogated by a group of people in the interrogation room.

Selena shook her head and smiled, "I think this place is fine. I don't want to leave for now."

Most importantly, Oscar could take her away, but it would also leave a handle for those with malicious intentions to attack the Turner family. This was why this young lady understood the greater good and came to voluntarily serve her sentence in prison.

If it were any other wealthy young lady who entered this place, it would be considered lucky not to cry herself to death. If given the chance to leave, they would definitely not hesitate. Everyone present knew this.

Oscar stared at Selena for a moment before saying in a calm voice, "In that case, I'll trouble everyone to look after the daughter of the Turner family for a few days."

The leaders of Zone Two looked at each other and finally nodded. "Miss Turner cannot leave the prison until the truth is uncovered."

After the Turner family left, Selena was locked up in a single cell. Leia stood guard outside.

After what happened to Esmee, everyone turned a blind eye to Leia's presence.

Selena observed her surroundings, found a place to sit down, and spoke in an emotionless tone, "Don't tell the young master yet."

Leia blinked her eyes. There was no way to keep this a secret.

If it weren't for Osvaldo being on a plane right now and unable to receive the news, he might have already been on his way back.

After a while, Hattie and Leon were led in by someone.

Hattie's eyes were red as she said through the bars, "Selena..."

After finally getting Selena in, how could they not want to keep her locked up for life?

There will probably be more "evidence" emerging, completely nailing this charge on Selena.

But Selena showed no sign of worry on her face and said in a calm voice, "Let them make a fuss."

After the fuss is over, they will be caught in one fell swoop, so as not to bring shame to her family.

In the eyes of the Riddle siblings, Selena's eyes flashed a chilling light.

Until today, even though she knew Constance was proud and jealous, not a good person to deal with, Selena didn't plan on dealing with her.

But from this incident, Constance's problem is not just her bad character.

There is also the person inside "717" who provided evidence of her "treason"...

They were the ones who acted wrongly first, so don't blame her, she cannot tolerate them anymore!

After thinking for a moment about how to clear the gate, Selena turned to Hattie and said, "There won't be any problem, Hattie, don't worry."

Hattie looked at Selena's confident and smiling face, and the stifling feeling in her heart eased a little. "Selena, you must be careful. My brother and I will find the evidence as soon as possible to get you out!"

Selena smiled, "Okay."

Chapter 1200 You Should Call Her Mrs. Anderson

Then Selena reflected on why everyone looked so nervous when she came to the prison. Seeing Selena's expression, Christ knew what she was thinking and his lips twitched slightly. No matter how powerful a person's background is, they cannot help but feel afraid if they are accused of treason and selling out their country. Although this young girl looks delicate and fragile, she is brave and meticulous in her thinking, and it seems that few things can scare her.

Christ greedily looked at that beautiful face but his tone was cold, "This is the trouble he brought upon you!"

Selena replied calmly, "I brought him even more trouble."

Christ looked into her eyes, "717 has a special status and is under another country's jurisdiction. The capital's power is not easy to intervene in, so this matter is not easy to resolve."

Selena lazily propped up her chin, not knowing if she was tired or something else, and remained silent.

Christ frowned, "If you don't come out now, you may have to stay here for ten days or half a month."

Selena lazily nodded her chin and said, "Thank you, Mr. Poole, for coming to see me, but this is my own problem, and how to solve it is my own business."

Christ laughed in anger, and after making sure that Selena was really not going to change her mind, he deeply looked at her and turned and left.

Selena pondered for a moment with her eyes down, and after a while, she heard footsteps again in the quiet space.

Selena looked up and saw Black Crow and White Crow walking towards her one after the other. Both brothers were tall and had long legs, with one being black and the other white, and they were both extremely pleasing to the eye.

Before leaving Zone Two, Christ looked back in the direction of the prison.

The driver beside him asked, "Sir, are we really not going to help Miss Turner?"

Oswaldo was not in the capital at this time, and if Christ intervened to help Selena, Selena would have to owe him a favor.

Christ's thoughts on Selena were almost undisguised. He even openly opposed Dexter and was obviously trying to win over the Turner family's young miss and the new leader of the Poole family. Therefore, such a good opportunity could not be missed.

With a cigarette in his mouth, Christ smiled without warmth, "Investigate Miss Baxter thoroughly!"

"Yes!"

The news of Selena's detention also quickly reached Constance's ears.

As soon as she heard it, she knew that Neve had already taken action.

Therefore, there was no surprise about Selena being caught.

With the major threat resolved, Constance smiled with satisfaction, but soon she restrained her smile.

She couldn't let her guard down before Selena was sentenced. Since Selena had been put in, she would never allow her to have a chance to come out again!

Constance thought of this, she immediately stood up, put on an appropriate makeup, changed her clothes, and drove to the Anderson
