Chapter 121

The group of people looked at each other and all fell silent.

The atmosphere was still for a moment, and finally, Amber flexed his fingers and tapped the table, his expression somewhat unpleasant, "Forget it, there are not many hours until dawn, as long as she came, that post won't make much of an impact."

"This is obviously someone deliberately smearing," Billy was angry and glanced at Zachary, "Leah is a student who is from your department, what do you think?"

Zachary was angry at this, sneering, "If she really did it, our Creephia University has no place for such a person!"

Although there was no obvious evidence yet, the results of their investigations over the past two days showed that this so-called campus goddess was really not as harmless and innocent as the rumours suggested.

Almost everything that happened was because of her, she started it, Selena was unlucky, but it just so happened that in the end she managed to make herself clean.

Once it was a coincidence, twice it was an accident, three times would be obvious that there was something fishy going on!

Leah was a member of the student council and had a good relationship with many people in the student council, and after something like this happened, quite a few of them spoke up for her, but as the details of one thing after another came to light, nowadays people in the student council mention the name with a vague sense of boredom.

"Alright, we'll know the result tomorrow," Amber stood up and took the lead towards the door, "It's getting late, all go back to rest, tomorrow morning at seven o'clock, gather at the podium on time!"

The next morning.

Selena got up on time, and after having breakfast, she prepared to go out.

Before leaving the door, Osvaldo took her hand, "I'll let the driver take you there."

Selena's gaze flashed darkly, "Okay."

Although she didn't like the feeling of being followed, she didn't refuse after learning from the past.

Only after Selena got into the car did she open her phone and saw a few missed calls, she picked one and dialed it back.

Zachary's voice rang out, "Selena, where are you now?"

“I just got in the car, I’ll be at school in half an hour.”

Zachary seemed relieved and reminded her, “There are a lot of reporters blocking the front, so pick a less crowded place.”

“Okay.”

There were four gates at Creephia University, the road at the west gate was planted with sycamore trees, so outside vehicles could not enter, so the driver dropped Selena off at the entrance of the west gate, then got out and opened the car door, “Young Madam, I will wait here, let me know if you need help.”

Selena smiled faintly, “Okay.”

She stepped on her high heels and walked towards the school gate, just as she walked through the gate, there was a sharp sound of brakes behind her.

At the same time, the driver shouted angrily from behind her, “Watch out!”

Selena realised that something was wrong and dodged to the side, but as she was weak, she was one step behind and a motorbike came out and sped past her arm.

Selena only felt a pain in her arm, and she fell towards the roadside.

“Selena!”

Chapter 122

Meanwhile, the long-awaited media, the crowd watching, the students and parents of Creephia University, filled up the playground of Creephia University early in the morning.

Amber, wearing a long bohemian dress, stood in the background, looking at the crowded school and frowned, “When will Selena arrive?”

Zachary said, “She just called back and said she’ll be here in half an hour,” he looked down at his watch, “I think she will be almost here.”

“That’s good.”

Amber looked in the direction of class 10 of the medical department, because of the special nature of this incident, almost all of the students in that class, along with their parents, were present, and Leah and Molly were there.

Amber stared at Leah, her eyes complicated.

Leah and Molly stood in the crowd, with no one paying attention to them.

Since hearing firsthand that Leah was the mistress who stole Selena’s fiancé, most of the students in the class had an opinion about Leah, after which their parents hired a psychiatrist to strengthen their education on the ideologies, and one by one personally dissected what Leah did for them, now they are looking at Leah with disgust.

This, coupled with the school's revelation of Selena's A-Level first place status, made the group of students realise even more what they had done wrong.

Anything could be fake, and there was absolutely no way that A-Level results could be fake.

Their entire class had combined to spurn a top A-Level student with excellent grades into such a state. Except for a few stubborn ones, most of them were looking at Leah with a strong look of ill-will at the moment.

It was the first time for Leah to feel isolation. She was standing quietly in the crowd with her head bowed, holding on to Molly's arm, looking very obedient.

Molly was indignant that her daughter was being left out, and looked at the parents who had cold eyes, "Who are you to look at my daughter with such eyes?"

Leah tugged at Molly's sleeve, "Mum!"

One parent sneered, "Your daughter used dirty tricks to take advantage of my daughter and lead her astray, we are already being merciful by not beating her. Do you still expect my daughter to foolishly be played around as your daughter cry?"

Molly's face showed anger and as she was about to speak, Leah grabbed her wrist, scrambled to hold her back and bent down to the parent who spoke, "Sorry, my mother didn't mean it, I apologize on her behalf."

"No need!" The parent looked at her with contempt, "I think it's disgusting to have you apologize to me!"

Leah could barely control the twist on her face as she twisted Molly's wrist, signaling her not to speak.

Anyway, Selena had already failed to come to the exam today, and soon everyone would scold her, so what was cold shoulder now?

A malicious light swept through Leah's eyes.

Molly was so angry that she trembled, thinking of her daughter, who was of excellent character and learning, being abused and snubbed in the past few days, her heart became even more hateful to Selena.

"Leah." A voice came from behind her.

Leah's body stiffened for a moment, but she returned to her normal self and raised her head, looking at Dominic walking over with Angie, and said in a detached and polite manner, "Mr. Watson."

Dominic looked at her eyes, which were cold and distant with a hint of aggression, and stalled, then looked around, only to find that everyone looked at them with a strong look of disgust.

The matter between Dominic and Leah had spread throughout the school, including their joint lie to slander Selena in the police station, which was all deeply uncovered.

Chapter 123

This young man and woman are as repulsive as they once were in the eyes of onlookers.

“It’s true that people are invincible when they are shameless, how dare they come together openly on this occasion?” “I heard that these two have sex long ago, and Leah even sent bed photos to Selena to show off.”

“I won’t comment on the cheating for now, but as far as the cheating. Leah and Dominic are really disgusting.” “Selena is really pitiful, those students in class ten are precisely on the charge of her destroying Leah and Dominic’s relationship to collectively inflict cold violence on her, but in the end, it’s these two people who cheated on her, really shameless!”

Dominic’s face gradually turned white.

Leah bit her lips, trembling.

Angie’s eyes turned red with anger as she listened to the accusations and insults, and immediately shouted out in an arrogant and domineering manner, “Shut up!”

Hearing her voice, the students from the other classes in the medical department not only didn’t shut up, but confronted her.

“What does our medical department’s business have to do with you? If you want to act wildly, go back to your economics department!”

“Exactly! We’re not that group of people in Class 10 who have been brainwashed to the point that they don’t even have the right outlook. This is the medical department, don’t make a scene here.”

“Shut up? Miss Walson, did we say anything wrong? Is the marriage contract between Selena and Dominic a fake? Did Leah not steal Selena’s fiancé? Did Leah not deliberately mislead the students and teachers of Class 10 to isolate and coldly violate Selena? Did Dominic and Leah not collectively lie and frame Selena? It is so disgusting to steal her sister’s fiancé.”

Angie had never been humiliated and ridiculed in public like this before, and was so angry that she screamed, “How dare you treat me like this-”

“Enough.” A cold voice came from behind her, “Angie, stop it, or we won’t mind petitioning the school to expel you from the Economics Department!”

Angie turned around and saw Kash standing behind her, and further away, the students of the Economics Department were all looking at her with unfriendly faces.

The whole thing was because of her, because of her domineering and viciousness, she had caused the whole of Creephia University to lose its reputation and be stepped on by Olnrith University. Both the economics and medical students of Creephia University were being scolded online, and no one would give a good face to her as the culprit.

Angie was furious, crying and going to pull Dominic’s sleeve, “Brother-”

Dominic gave her a disgruntled sweep, "If you cause any more trouble, you'll go home!"

Angie bit her lip, tears streaming down her face as she reluctantly shut her mouth, hating Selena in her heart.

Dominic took a deep breath and said with great poise, "All of you have misunderstood, I am here to find Selena." This was not a lie.

He knew that at a time when the wave of public opinion on cheating was at its peak, it was not appropriate for him to come to find Leah, and he had come over here mainly to talk to Selena.

This matter had gone too far, and it had a great impact on his and Leah's reputation, and if it was left unchecked, no one knew what it would fester into.

He had been looking for Selena for the past two days, but Selena had blacked out all his contact information, and when he went to look for her at Olympus Group, the security guards at Olympus Group forbade him from entering.

It was only at this point that Dominic realized that the girl who had been pestering him and following him around saying she liked him really didn't want him anymore.

Dominic had been in an extremely agitated mood for the past two days, so he didn't have the heart to comfort Leah. Leah thought that Dominic had come to look for her, but she did not expect to hear such an answer, so she clenched her fists and her face turned pale.

Chapter 124

She kept her head hung low, so no one could see the strange sinister look in her eyes.

He was here for Selena?

Unfortunately Selena would not show up today!

The little reputation she had managed to salvage would backfire with several times the killing power!

She wants Selena to never be able to turn around again this time!

Inside the ward of Creephia First People's Hospital.

The doctor gently put a splint on Selena and tied a bandage on it, before carefully admonishing, "No water and no major movements for seven days, your health was already not good, and now in this condition, you can't be the least bit sloppy, got it?"

Selena was lying on the hospital bed, her face without a trace of expression, her black eyes cold. She smiled at this, "Yes."

Only then did the doctor breathe a sigh of relief, raised her hand to wipe the beads of sweat from her forehead, lowered her head to finish filling out the medical history sheet in her hand, and raised her steps to walk out.

As she had just stepped out of the ward, she saw a young man dressed in black walk in, with a high nose, unassuming air.

At first sight, the doctor froze, then shivered when he met the overly hazel and cold eyes.

“How is she?”

The doctor reacted for a moment before realising that he should be asking about the girl inside who had just been brought in for an occasional car accident, and said somewhat nervously, “A fractured right hand, multiple bruises on her body, and probably some shock, she’ll be fine after a good rest.”

When he finished, the man’s expression was somewhat blurred and uncertain as his smoke lingered.

After a few seconds, he tossed the cigarette into the bin and waited for the smell to dissipate before walking in.

Selena heard the noise and turned her head to look over.

Oswaldo walked up to her, his eyes lingered around her splinted arm, then pinched her cheek, “Does it hurt?”

Selena hesitated before biting her lip and saying, “Yes.

She had been most afraid of pain since she was a child.

Even the knife she stabbed herself with, she was able to make sure that she would not suffer from a single stab death.

Apart from the night she came here, when Selena was pushed by Dominic to break her forehead that time, so that she suffered something, it was the first time she was assassinated to the point of injury.

Oswaldo frowned. The warmth of his fingertips gently brushed her cheek with a soothing touch.

Selena blinked her eyes and was about to speak, but when Oswaldo leaned over and whispered in her ear, “I can make those people disappear as long as you want.”

Selena was stunned, staring into Oswaldo’s eyes, and in the end shook her eyes, “No need.”

Those people do deserve to die, but before they die, they have to pay back all that they owe Selena first!

Chapter 125

It was half past eight.

The examination room was almost set up, and everything was going on in order.

Billy searched around and couldn’t find Selena, he went to Zachary with a frown, “Why hasn’t Selena come yet?”

Zachary had just finished his work and was surprised to hear this, “She said she would be here at eight, hasn’t anyone seen her yet?”

Billy’s eyes sank, “I’ve searched everywhere, I didn’t find her.”

Zachary frowned and took out his mobile phone from his pocket and dialed Selena’s number, the call went through but there was no answer.

The two brothers looked at each other, both seeing the gloom in the other's eyes, and they immediately went to find Amber.

Amber was sitting at the table, analysing the unexpected situation that might arise later, and then she saw the two walking over, both looking unpleasant.

She put down the information in her hand, lifted her chin and uttered, "What?"

"Selena hasn't come yet, and the phone can't be reached!"

Amber's eyes were abruptly frozen, her face sinking immediately afterwards, "You guys go look for her! If you can't find her, call Olympus Group!"

"No need," an icy voice came from behind as Ronin walked over, his face tense, "The security at the west gate just came over and said that Selena had a car accident at the west gate just now."

"What?" Everyone's faces went white with shock.

Billy asked with a trembling voice, "Where is she now? How badly is she hurt?"

"She has just been taken to the hospital, we don't know yet."

Zachary was so angry that he headed outside, "It is bulling!"

Billy stopped him, "What are you doing?"

"Do you believe this was an accident?"

"Then do you have proof that someone did it?"

"That post last night is the proof." Zachary was furious, "How dare she cause a car accident in campus, it is lawless!"

Billy held his cousin down and pushed him back, "The police will look into this matter, what you need to think about is what we should do now!"

"No," someone questioned, "Isn't the west gate closed to vehicles? How come there was a car accident on campus?"

This is unbelievable.

Ronin said coldly, "It is motorcycle, the owner explained that the brake failed."

Zachary broke into a cursing fit, "Bastard!"

No one bothered to accuse him of bursting into foul language, and they were tempted to shake off their manners and curse at this moment.

After a few seconds of silence, Amber stood up from her chair and walked out in anger, "Zachary, you call Selena and get in touch with her as soon as possible. Others follow me."

Someone watched Amber's face and gestured to the person beside him, "Ms. Prince is angry!"

The person beside him expressionlessly replied, "I'm angry too!"

Chapter 126

They could almost imagine how the people at the bottom, who had been waiting for almost an hour or so, would scold her when they went out to announce that Selena could not be there because of the car accident.

What made it even more stifling was that there was no surveillance at west gate to prove that Selena had actually been in a car accident, and with the push from that post last night, it was almost possible to imagine what kind of wave of backlash was about to await Selena.

If this was not an accident, but man-made, then the one behind the scene was lawless!

They were just about to step out of the office, but Zachary's phone vibrated, a joy in his eyes as he picked up, "Selena, how are you?"

"I am okay, I just might be late, please tell the headmaster that I will be back as soon as possible."

"It's alright, you can do it when you're healed," Zachary sighed in relief and looked up at the student council members who had turned to him, the anger in his heart converted to motivation and he smiled, "Don't worry, until you come back, I promise that no one here will leave!"

He hung up the phone as the group glanced at each other and lifted their steps out.

Outside, someone was already waiting impatiently in the playground.

"It's been over an hour, why hasn't Selena shown up? Making so many of us wait for her is going too far!"

"She dares not come, I guess." Someone looked around at the sea of people and sneered, "She probably didn't expect things to get so big, with so many people in front of her, if she did badly on the exam, wouldn't her reputation get even more notorious?"

"I told you it was a fake." Another person interjected, "She was only pretending, when it really comes to the stage, she's just a fool, let's see how she ends up this time!"

Leah listened to those questioning voices, the corners of her lips curled up into a smile, then a booming sound was heard in her ears.

"The student council members are coming out!"

Leah raised her eyes, only to see all the Student Council members on top of the high platform staring at her with a cold, suspicious and disgusted look.

Leah's heart palpitated slightly and she secretly clenched her fists, but her face did not show the slightest bit of timidness as she met each and every one of them impartially.

Zachary gave a cold snort and took the lead in averting his eyes.

Although there was no tangible evidence, after the previous experience of those students in Class 10, everyone looked at this girl with dislike in their eyes.

Everyone else withdrew their eyes and went about their business.

Ronin went to the headmaster to explain the situation, and the members of the student council followed a pre-planned plan to sort out the various details of the facts of the school violence they had investigated.

Leah secretly gritted her teeth, the reaction of these people in the Student Council was obviously showing they were suspicious of her.

But it showed from the side that Selena was unable to come.

She could not figure out how the mute and timid Selena had managed to make that group of people trust her so much in just a few days?

It was obvious that her talent and beauty were more appealing than her notoriety, wasn't it?

But it didn't matter, at best they suspected her and disliked her, they couldn't catch any substantial evidence.

The reputation she had lost would soon be regained a thousand times over from Selena!

Amber tapped the microphone, raising his eyebrows and smiling in a somewhat overbearing manner, "I can't imagine that you all are so concerned about Selena from Creephia University, but we are not ready yet, several teachers are still working on the questions, so please wait longer."

"Where's Selena? Why isn't she out yet? The exam can wait a bit, we want to interview her first."

"No!" Amber smiled gently, but his tone was firm, "You have learned about the the vicious things happened at the entrance of Creephia University. Selena is still young, can not withstand the scare, and she has psychological shadow to the media. After the examination, she will come out."

Amber put the microphone down after finishing his words. The crowd was indignant, but thinking of the previous video of Selena being forced by the media, they could not find the words to refute.

Chapter 127

After all, Amber had blamed on the teacher who raised the questions, and apart from those cheap-mouthed barbarians, no one had yet blamed it on Selena.

When Leah heard Amber's words that were so biased, a hint of sullenness slid across her eyes.

She took the opportunity to go to the bathroom and sent a text message to the lady named Isabel Collins, telling her the news of Selena's car accident, then deleted the text message and smiled at her pale and delicate face in the mirror.

What qualifications did Selena, who had nothing, have to fight with her?

What's more, she is not qualified to have such a good man!

In the hospital, because of the insistence of Osvaldo, Selena had to behave herself and stay for all the tests.

She had a fractured right arm, so it was not convenient for her to do anything, so Osvaldo carried her upstairs and downstairs, attracting a large number of female doctors and nurses to look on with envy.

It was the first time Selena had been so close to a man, her breath entwined with his, and through the thin summer dress, she could almost feel the warmth of his hands.

Selena blushed, hesitated and whispered, "I can walk by myself."

It was her hands, not her feet, that were injured, and she had absolutely no problem walking.

It was just that she hadn't had many injuries and it always pulled at her freshly fixed bones.

Osvaldo lowered his eyes, stared into her eyes, after a few seconds passed, he lightly raised his eyebrows, the corners of his scarlet lips curled slightly, "Good girl, do as you're told."

After saying that, he carried her into the CT room.

Selena's ears were flushing, faintly froze, and then pursed her lips.

Osvaldo was angry.

Perhaps out of an instinct for danger, Selena felt that if she refused any longer, this man might do something that she couldn't resist.

Although she was used to being defended, she was keenly aware at the moment that his anger was not the same as the others.

However she couldn't quite describe what exactly was different.

But there was no doubt that he was concerned about her.

Selena was a bit at a loss for what to say, and after she came out of the CT room, she put on a smile, "I'm fine."

Osvaldo looked at her smiling, whispering as he stroke her cheek, "Okay."

It was only after he was sure there were no other after-effects that Osvaldo relented and agreed to let her go to school.

He personally sent Selena to the car, and when he saw the three cars disappear before his eyes, his face turned into a bone-chilling gloom, "Where is he?"

"Sent to the basement and locked up."

Oswaldo's eyes seeped with coldness. He got into the car, stepped on the accelerator, and the car drove away in an unknown direction.

Chapter 128

Once Oswaldo left, the smile on Selena's face converged, because of anger, her eyes became dark and cold, "Go to Creephia University as fast as you can!"

At the same time, on the campus of Creephia University, some people who were bored of waiting and playing with their phones saw a new Weibo headline.

The "Student C" had posted another message after last night's sarcastic post that Selena would run away to establish a genius persona.

[Guys, the blogger was right, the latest news is that the "top A-Level student" of Creephia University claimed to have had a "car accident" and was taken to the hospital with serious injuries, so she could not take the exam. The exam is destined to end in a disappointing way. This character is really disgusting! She first uses the public's kindness psychology to wash her stigma, and now she use the scheme to win the sympathy of the crowd. Maybe she will blame the car accident on an innocent victim. Her means are unprecedented, good. I am sorry for those students who were scolded because of Selena and those netizens who got scolded, as well as Creephia University's headmaster and teachers. She vowed to prove her innocence with her strength, but the result of the "car accident" is her strength, tsk! What a shame!!

The netizens who saw the post immediately went crazy.

"Holy crap! Look at the post! Selena had a car accident, and she won't be coming today!"

"What car accident? How can it be such a coincidence? Is she playing with us?"

"We've been waiting for so long, and now she's trying to put off this exam with a light-hearted "car accident"? That's outrageous! I had faith that she would succeed in clearing her name!"

"The "Student C" is right. I was wondering how it was possible that the teacher at Creephia University hadn't prepared the questions in advance for such an exam that caught so much attention. So it was because of Selena's fault, it pissed me off. Tell Selena to get out and give us an explanation!"

"Didn't you see that she was in the hospital after a car accident? She's already in hospital, how can she give us an explanation? I won't believe Selena again!"

In a flash, the whole scene was filled with angry and furious curses.

Leah stood in the crowd with her head down, listening to the situation she had single-handedly dominated, the corners of her lips curled into a smile.

People were creatures who could least afford to be disappointed, especially the majority of people who had originally rushed to watch the fun, and were most easily incited.

This wave of backlash had only just begun, and soon, the entire Weibo, Creephia University, and even the noble circles of Creephia would reappear with all kinds of scandals about Selena.

All the goodwill she had accumulated before would be wiped out, and she, as the “victim”, would be on top, trampling her underfoot again.

Hearing all those voices abusing Selena, Molly was in a happy mood and snorted, “A car accident? She used to love to play such tricks, but she is getting bolder and bolder, treating so many people like monkeys, she is getting more and more shameless!”

The parents collectively wrinkled their brows, their suspicious eyes kept sweeping towards Leah and Molly.

How could there be such a coincidence?

Leah noticed the meaningful glances, but she didn’t care, as long as Selena had fallen, her previously damaged reputation would soon be regained.

She never lets anyone get a hold of her. Even if it turns out that Selena’s car accident is true, so what?

She had already lost her credibility.

No one would ever give her a second chance!

Leah smiled faintly, the depression that had been building up for so many days disappeared, she raised her head, her face had already changed into a soft expression of worry, glanced at Dominic who was frowning, “Selena had a car accident, I wonder if the injuries are serious or not.”

Angie clapped her hands and laughed, saying viciously, “Selena deserves to be run over and killed!”

Chapter 129

As soon as this statement was made, the students of Creephia University all looked at Angie with a strong disgust in their eyes, and those standing around her all spontaneously and automatically moved away from the Walson siblings.

“Nuts!”

“She is young, but vicious and ruthless at heart!”

“The character of these two siblings of the Walson family is really bad!”

Dominic glared viciously at Angie, he was a bit of guilt about Selena’s car accident at this juncture, but it was indeed a good thing from their standpoint.

Dominic was glad, but at the same time, his heart was inevitably filled with worry. Angie’s vicious words were too much for him as an elder brother, let alone others.

Angie received Dominic’s displeased look, pouted and quietly shut her mouth, but still proudly raised her head with a joyful expression.

The news of Selena's car accident was scolded by the vast majority of people, but there was still a small group of people who were skeptical, with students from Creephia University occupying the majority of them.

But Selena's ruined promise was a fact, and even if they wanted to argue for her, they couldn't find a position and just waited with sullen faces for the school's outcome.

In the office.

Faced with the sudden and unexpected situation, the headmaster contacted the director of the First People's Hospital.

"Old friend, let me ask you something, was there a girl called Selena Riddle who was sent to your hospital today because of a car accident?"

"Yeah," the director seemed to have learned about the situation on Creephia University, and his tone was somewhat saddened, "I personally received her, she has just left the hospital to go back to Creephia University."

With time running out, the headmaster didn't notice the difference in the director's tone, nor did he think carefully about how Selena, a student who had been expelled from her home, could get the director to personally attend to her, he was just relieved to hear the news that Selena had already left to come to school.

But the director's next words made him tense his nerves again, "But don't rejoice too early, I'm afraid that her going to Creephia University at this moment won't undo anything, it might even make the situation worse."

The headmaster asked, "Why?"

The director sighed slightly, full of regret, "Her right arm is broken and in a cast, it's impossible for her to write anytime soon."

The headmaster was shocked, "How could this happen?"

Why was it the right hand that was injured?

If her right hand was injured, she wouldn't be able to take exams.

Even if Selena came to the school, it wouldn't change anything. With the first incident of breach of trust, even if she came with her injury, no one would believe her anymore, and they might even intensify their questioning of her acting.

The headmaster was getting annoyed and he heard the director lower his voice, "Creephia University has put that child through so much aggravation and has already upset the person behind her. So, do not make another mistake."

Chapter 130

The headmaster's gaze flickered, his expression was surprised, and after some thought, he immediately understood what he should do, "I know."

A moment later, he walked out of his office, and the eyes of those waiting outside were instantly fixed on his body.

"Headmaster, the public opinion is getting too big, we must make a decision as soon as possible, otherwise the reputation of Creephia University will be ruined!"

"Why Selena got a problem at this time?"

"Headmaster, it is imperative that we have to find a way to resolve the issue of public opinion. Creephia University has suffered enough criticism, it cannot continue to be bad, it is better for Selena to take the blame than for Creephia University to be scolded along with her. It was originally caused due to her breach of trust, Creephia University is not obliged to pay for her alone!"

Amber's eyes skimmed at the few teachers who spoke, the corners of her lips curved in a sneer, "Selena was in a car accident at school, you guys are going to blame on her too?"

After that, she looked at the headmaster, her tone was solemn, "Selena said she would definitely be here today, headmaster, we should trust our own students!"

The headmaster waved his hand, "It's useless, she hurt her arm, she can't answer the questions even if she comes. Stop it, I have my own decision in mind."

Soon, the headmaster of Creephia University appeared on the platform, facing the angry audience, he said in a deep voice, "Quiet, everyone, Selena was just in a car accident at the west gate of the university, this matter is absolutely true, the university will definitely pursue the matter to the end."

"I'll be damned if I believe her!" Before the headmaster could finish his sentence, a young man at the bottom cut him off impatiently, "She didn't have a car accident early or late, but at this time? Who is she trying to fool around. Your school teacher just said she would show up, so let her come out. Just her time is precious, isn't all of our time?"

"Exactly!" Another person interjected, with an unpleasant face and a heavy air of resentment, and said in a sinister manner, "We have waited for more than three hours from 7:30 to now, just to wait for a result, but in the end, the person concerned used such an excuse to put us off. Do you really want to lose your reputation and credibility for the sake of Selena?" "She just is fooling us around! Tell Selena to come out and speak clearly! Apologise to all of us who have been fooled by her!"

In the face of those aggressive mouths, the young and energetic members of the Student Council looked indignant, wanting to pounce on them and tear their mouths apart.

The headmaster, however, continued to behave in a dignified manner, only his voice was more subdued, "As I said, it's a fact that Selena was injured, the director of the First People's Hospital of Creephia personally called to confirm it, there is no deception. The people involved have been taken into custody by the police station for investigation, I believe the police will soon tell us whether the car accident was an accident or man-made!"

“Selena is a student of our Creephia University, I believe in her integrity, if this incident is an accident, then we will find another way to help her clear her name of cheating, if it is man-made, then Creephia University will definitely pursue the matter to the end, and will definitely find out who is behind this and punish them severely!”

The headmaster’s voice was so righteous and deafening that the students of Creephia University believed it almost instantly, but those few masses and media who were screaming the loudest continued to be unrelenting.

“She’s not capable, so she’s using bitter tricks to trick the audience’s sympathy, that’s a disgusting tactic!”

“That “Student C” is wight. She made a promise but in the end faked a car accident. Creephia University just swore that she would be here, and then told us that the exam was cancelled. Isn’t it ridiculous?”

“In believe Selena I am stupid! Now it’s not just the cheating incident, I am skeptical of even the so-called school violence, such a person who only plays mind tricks deserves to be treated with cold violence!”

Leah lowered her eyebrows and listened to Selena being scolded, her heart was so happy that she couldn’t even hide the smile on her face.

Now, Selena was completely losing her reputation!

And when that man saw the infamous Selena, who was notorious for her words, would he still like her?

She hooked up her scarlet lips, pleased with herself, and as she was watching the fun, a cold voice came from the boisterous scene.

“Sorry for keeping everyone waiting!”
