Chapter 1231 Life Imprisonment

Selena took a deep breath and suppressed the urge to hit the person who insulted her. She turned to Leia and asked, "What's this kid's name?"

Leia snapped out of her shock and replied, "Eden Lam."

Seeing Selena's interest in Eden, Leia added, "He's second on the list. The other three are behind him. And I heard from Principal Chow that his grades are only slightly lower than yours."

It's worth noting that Selena's medical talent is already outstanding, and her practical skills are equivalent to Callum's hands-on teaching. But a sixteen-year-old boy almost surpassed her...

Selena's eyes flashed with something, and she told Leia, "Investigate his information."

Leia blinked and made a phone call to pass on the task. Then she followed Selena.

Selena went straight to the laboratory. Hamish was reading data in the laboratory. When he heard footsteps, he looked up and saw Selena walking in. Although Selena's expression was calm, Hamish sensed a hint of excitement from the young lady.

Selena asked him, "Where are White Crow and Black Crow now?"

"They are in the microbiology laboratory," Hamish replied.

Selena walked off, and Hamish followed curiously.

White Crow and Black Crow were studying the latest developments of viruses under a microscope when they heard footsteps outside. Before they could react, the door was pushed open from the outside.

Black Crow was about to get angry but turned around to see Selena walking in. He suppressed his temper.

Principal Chow was overjoyed and immediately instructed someone to bring out the assessment records of Zachary's team.

Soon, the video of Eden's assessment appeared on the big screen, and Julian's eyes lit up instantly.

After Selena finished watching, she turned to Julian.

Julian nodded at her with a smile and whispered, "H Country has a good seed."

But the genius disease was too severe.

This kind of personality and talent must be guided properly, or else they might go astray in the future.

Selena stared at Eden, who shuddered and withdrew his gaze after giving up his desire to dissect her.

After everything was arranged, Selena and the other four selected students plunged into intense studying.

During this period, the Research Institute came to Selena's door countless times, but she never said she would go back or resign from her position as the head of the research department, making the research team anxious and worried.

The news that Selena would represent H Country in the medical-league competition soon spread, and the research team had even fewer opportunities to see her.

At the same time, they also had endless panic in their hearts.

According to Leia, she had no plan to go back

Chapter 1232 I'll Accompany Her Personally

Ignoring Selena's protests, Osvaldo directly took her out of the laboratory.

After putting her in the passenger seat and settling her in, the man drove back to the villa.

The butler had already prepared a table full of delicacies, and everyone in the villa became busy as soon as Selena returned.

It wasn't until Selena sat down at the dining table that she came back to her senses. She blinked her eyes and said, "Osvaldo, I have been feeling..."

Before she could finish her sentence, Osvaldo fed her a mouthful of chicken soup. He then followed up with another mouthful, his movements precise and skillful, not giving Selena any chance to speak.

After ensuring that Selena was well-fed, Osvaldo carried her back to the bedroom. He put her on the bed, took off her shoes, covered her with a blanket, and sat next to her with a hoarse voice, threatening, "If you don't rest well, I won't let you sleep tonight."

When Selena met the man's dark gaze, her spine inexplicably tingled. Realizing that resistance was futile, the young girl obediently closed her eyes. As the hidden fatigue surged up, her consciousness quickly became drowsy.

When the last bit of awareness dissipated, a thought flickered through Selena's mind. Was he going to spoil her until she became completely useless?

Shortly after, the girl's head tilted and she fell into a deep sleep.

After making sure she was asleep, Osvaldo stared at her for a moment before quietly leaving the room. As soon as he came downstairs, the butler approached him and said, "Master, Madam called just now and asked you to come home."

Lady Lauren was very upset about this. Although the Anderson family was Osvaldo's real home, he had moved in with Selena to make it easier for her to go to school, making it difficult for her as a mother to see her son.

However, once she went abroad, it was a different story.

Without the protection of the two major families, there were many people who wanted her dead. The powerful families in the capital who were hostile to the Turner family, foreign powers, and even "Divine Love" ... all wanted her dead.

Originally, the members of Zone Six did not agree to send Selena abroad at this critical juncture. But since it involved the research materials left by the H Country, they had no choice but to figure out how to enhance her protection.

Benjamin didn't mention this issue, but Oswaldo understood it in his heart.

"I will accompany her personally," Oswaldo said to his father.

Benjamin looked at his son for a moment before lowering his eyes. Oswaldo looked at his father and asked, "Did you call me back just to talk about this?"

Benjamin's tone was indifferent, "If I ask you, will you tell me?"

Oswaldo remained silent.

Benjamin sneered, "Let me remind you that Oscar may have already guessed who she is, so you should prepare in advance."

In the blink of an eye, it was the day for Selena to leave the country.

It was late spring, and the morning weather still had a hint of coolness.

Oswaldo helped the girl button up the last button on her coat. Looking at the girl in front of him with a smile on her face, his gaze was gentle and doting. "Are you ready?"

Selena smiled confidently. "Yes."

Oswaldo's thin lips curved up, and he took her hand and led her outside. Behind them, Leia carried the luggage and followed along.

At this moment, the sky had not yet fully lit up. Just as Selena was about to get into the car, a clear and urgent voice suddenly came from the villa gate.

"Selena!"

Selena heard the voice and just turned around, and she was suddenly hugged from behind.

She looked down and saw Hattie in her arms. The girl looked up at her with black eyes full of attachment and reluctance. "Selena, you have to come back early."

Selena touched the girl's hair. "Okay."

Hattie let go of her this time and waved goodbye. "Selena, see you later."

Zachary saw Eden staring at Osvaldo's back in a daze, so he walked over and patted him, "He's gone, don't keep looking."

Thinking that Eden was scared, Zachary comforted him, "Lady Selena's boyfriend may seem a bit cold, but he didn't mean any harm. Don't worry about it."

Eden continued to stare at the direction where Osvaldo had left, muttering to himself, "A miracle..."

Zachary didn't hear him clearly and asked, "What did you say?"

Eden's eyes lit up, and he suddenly became excited. "He's the most perfect work of art!" He clenched his fists. "More perfect than her. Dean, I can't help it--"

Zachary finally understood what the little rascal meant and broke off his words with a slap, afraid that Osvaldo would hear. He pulled Eden by the collar and dragged him to the farthest corner of the room, glaring at him. "Don't say those things again, or Lady Selena may not be able to protect you!"

Eden looked at him grievously, "But--"

Zachary threatened, "He's Lady Selena's boyfriend. If she finds out you want to dissect her boyfriend, do you think she will care about you?"

Eden blinked his eyes.

Zachary continued, "If she stops talking to you, who will you discuss your favorite medical topics with?"

Selena remembered that the League was White Crow's territory after all. Even though others couldn't go back, they must have made other arrangements. As long as she was careful, nothing should happen.

Selena let go of her worries and stared at the man for a moment. Her gaze then moved and landed on his slender and beautiful hands.

She grabbed his fingers and smiled, "They're really beautiful..."

These were the most beautiful hands she had ever seen.

No-- or rather, Osvaldo was the most beautiful and handsome human she had ever seen.

It was no wonder that even Eden wanted to dissect him. Selena also seemed to have some "improper thoughts" about him.

Osvaldo let his wife play with his hand while his other empty hand held Selena's chin and lifted her face. He asked gently with a smile, "What are you thinking about, Selena?"

Selena's eyes darted nervously. "Nothing, I just think... you're really good-looking."

Osvaldo's eyes suddenly deepened, and his fingers on Selena's chin slightly tightened, not giving her a chance to escape.

Selena smiled and a hint of seduction flashed in her eyes. "Selena, you think that I am good-looking?"

Selena nodded, and said softly, "Yes, you are the most beautiful and handsome man I have ever seen."

Osvaldo's eyes became even darker, and he suddenly leaned in close to her, asking with a light laugh, "Is there anything else you want to say, Selena?"

He was so close that if he moved just a little, their lips would touch. Their breaths were already intertwined.

Selena instantly blushed, and her black eyes rolled around. She whispered softly, "No..."

As soon as Selena moved, she was grabbed around her waist.

After a dizzying moment, Selena was pinned down by the man.

She lay on the bed, staring up at the man above her with wide eyes.

Oswaldo gazed at her tenderly, his eyes so dark. "Selena, I'm waiting for you to grow up."

Selena's cheeks suddenly turned flushing.

Although she was slow when it came to dealing with emotions, she could still sense some kind of explicit meaning in the man's tone.

Selena was extremely nervous. "I... I..."

Strictly speaking, she had only just celebrated her nineteenth birthday.

At an age where she was just beginning to experience the first stirrings of love, facing a man who was so dominant, she was almost powerless to resist.

Oswaldo's voice was hoarse as he chuckled softly. "Don't be afraid, I won't bully you."

Without her consent.

Selena couldn't help but raise her hand and push Oswaldo's shoulder, whispering softly, "You're crushing me..."

Zachary and the others watched Selena leave, they were about to call out to her, but they suddenly heard a voice next to

A few people turned their heads and saw two cars parked on the roadside with several black-clad men waiting in front of the car doors. Their physique and aura showed that they were not simple.

Zachary and Eduard looked at each other and both saw surprise in each other's eyes.

Such treatment... is it really that good?

Eden didn't think too much and immediately walked over.

When Selena left, no one could discuss medicine with him, so he had to go after Selena.

The other three saw Eden move and followed suit without hesitation.

The three sports cars raced all the way and finally stopped in front of a beautiful estate.

Oswaldo had already entered with Selena, and Zachary and the others stood at the gate of the estate, looking at the luxurious and beautiful mansion in front of them, which surpassed the palace, and they were speechless.

They were all born in wealth and nobility, but they were still amazed by the other party's generosity.

The driver saw that they were not moving and said gently, "This is my young master's private residence. You are Madam Selena's classmates, so you don't need to be restrained. If you have any questions, you can ask them directly."

The few people walked in a daze until they were invited into an independent villa and arranged their own rooms. After putting down their luggage, they came back to their senses.

Except for Eden who went to eat, the other three sat on the sofa and didn't speak for a long time.

Selena put on her shoes and stood up from the chair, asking softly, "Where did the young master go?"

When Leia heard Selena ask about Osvaldo, her eyes lit up, "The young master is taking care of things at the moment, do you want to go and see?"

Selena met Leia's expectant eyes and was stunned, "No, I'm just worried."

Will he encounter any trouble because of her?

When Leia heard Selena's refusal, there was more than a touch of accusation in her big black eyes, "Young master is very concerned about everything about you, but you never care about young master's affairs ..."

Selena blinked her eyes, it seemed to be true that she never actively cared about Osvaldo's career issues, a touch of weirdness was born at the bottom of her heart.

In the education Selena had received since she was a child, at all times, responsibility always came first.

In addition, she was a very private person, and in her thinking, even if they were a real couple, they should still respect each other.

She would care about Osvaldo, but would not take the initiative to ask questions or even interfere with his career.

Selena originally wanted to explain, and when she met Leia's accusing eyes, she said with a smile, "Then let's go and take a look."

Leia immediately stood up happily, turned around and went to get an umbrella.

But when her eyes fell on the person outside the door, Elodie's words got stuck in her throat.

Madam Selena rarely took the initiative to care about her husband's career, and before even entering the room, she was scolded.

Leia shouted loudly, "Young Master, Madam Selena is here to see you!"

Everyone was shocked.

Their first reaction was to turn around.

After all, most of them had never seen this highly favored Madam Selena, whom Osvaldo had married.

But as the group turned their heads halfway, they suddenly felt a chilling sensation that made their hair stand on end.

The next second, everyone stiffly withdrew their heads, collectively lowering their gaze, standing still in place.

Selena showed no unusual emotions and spoke gently, "If Osvaldo is busy, I will come back to see him next time."

Selena was good at everything, except that she was too crazy when she got busy.

Osvaldo placed a glass of water by her side and then went back to his desk to work. The warm moments flowed slowly in the hot summer.

At noon, Leia knocked on the door on time. The maid pushed the dining cart to the table and served Selena's lunch.

Leia squatted next to Selena and reminded her in a low voice, "Madam Selena, it's time to eat."

Selena lazily leaned on the sofa, concentrating on reading a book. She didn't have much appetite since she had moved to a new place. She didn't even lift her head and said, "I'll eat later."

Leia blinked and turned to look at the other master.

Osvaldo stood up, walked to Selena's side, and took the book from her hand. Selena followed the book with her gaze until it disappeared, and then blinked confusedly.

Osvaldo smiled gently and asked, "Do you want your husband to feed you?"

Selena looked at the handsome man's face and smiled, "Don't feed me, just accompany me."

Oswaldo touched her hair, took Selena's hand, and led her to wash her hands.

Hector walked up to Selena and smiled slightly, "Miss Turner, the dean asked me to come and pick you up. Please follow me."

Selena glanced at the sign in front of him and nodded her head. She then lifted her hand and tugged at Oswaldo's sleeve.

Oswaldo didn't like his wife being seen by too many people, so he held her waist and turned around to follow Hector.

Hector led them to a lounge and said, "Miss Turner, Mr. Anderson, there is still some time before the preliminary rounds begin. You can rest here first."

Selena sat down on the sofa and said, "Thank you."

Hector thought that Selena would ask some questions. After all, it was her first time participating in the League's competition, and she knew nothing about the strong opponents from various countries. It was necessary to gather intelligence.

For the sake of H Country's honor and to carry out Julian's assigned task well, he had specially prepared some information and was waiting for Selena to ask.

Her eyes were still wide open, but her expression was blank and numb.

A gun had fallen out of her pocket.

Without even glancing at her, Osvaldo walked into the restroom and turned on the faucet to wash his hands.

In the dim light, he looked down with a cold and chilling voice, "Find out whose person it was and bring me his head!"

With the sound of water splashing, it seemed like someone had left the room.

Oswaldo washed his hands meticulously three times before turning around to leave the restroom. The body on the floor had disappeared without a trace.

He pushed open the dressing room door without hesitation and walked in. Selena was only halfway through putting on her dress when she heard the sound and clutched her chest in alarm.

Before she could turn around, someone grabbed her shoulders from behind and pulled her into his embrace.

Meanwhile, Zachary and his team finally entered the coveted medical hall.

Everyone here was a prodigy who represented their country and had come to participate in this competition.

In the past, they could only watch these prodigies shine on TV, but this year they were standing on the same stage. Even if they tried not to be proud or anxious, the excitement in the eyes of the teenagers was hard to conceal.

Hamish and his two friends were very excited, but Eden had no interest.

Selena had no time to discuss medicine with him recently, and with the man around, Eden was too scared to approach her. He could only play with the cats and dogs in the mansion.

Now that he finally saw many things that interested him, Eden wandered around observing everything. Then, he accidentally bumped into someone. Remembering the Dean's teachings, the teenager immediately apologized, "I'm sorry."

However, the other person was not as friendly as expected. "Are you from H Country?" asked the tall, blond, blue-eyed boy Eden had bumped into. Seeing Eden's hair color and eyes, he seemed shocked.

Eden blinked and stared at him.

The tall boy looked at his dumbfounded expression and showed a sympathetic face. "Why do you still look like a fool?"

Then his expression turned into mockery. "Your H Country is still as poor as ever. You haven't shown up in years, and this year, you've sent a fool. How pathetic."

With the words of the tall boy, the surrounding area was filled with mocking laughter.

Chapter 1239 Where is the Evidence?

Although they had not been together for long, the other three had some understanding of Eden's personality.

Despite his social anxiety and occasional shocking statements, he would never resort to violence.

Moreover, so far, only Selena and Osvaldo had been able to provoke such reactions from Eden. The person in front of them, Lyon, did not seem to have the ability to earn this "honor."

Zachary looked into Eden's eyes and said, "Don't be afraid, Eden. Tell us, how did you get into a conflict with that person?"

Eden repeated the incident in a clear tone, and then said aggrievedly, "The dean told me that if I noticed someone was sick, I should tell them immediately and encourage them to seek treatment. But I dislike this person and didn't want to talk to him!"

After hearing the story, Hamish and the others burst into laughter.

Zachary pulled Eden up and glared at Lyon, "Apologize to H Country and Eden!"

Lyon looked down on Eden with a sneer, "Dream on, little guy!"

Zachary clenched his fists.

Eduard sneered, "Eden, remember this guy's face. He is just wasting air by living if he doesn't even know basic respect. If he ever begs you for something, just tell him to get lost!"

The commotion quickly alarmed the others around, and even the security patrolling nearby came over.

"What's going on, Lyon? Have you forgotten that this is a medical hall where loud noises are prohibited?!"

Lyon shouted, "Security, you're here just in time! These H-country people openly slander and insult our M-country, and even physically assaulted us. Please immediately disqualify them from the competition!"

The security immediately looked at Hamish and the others with an unfriendly expression.

Zachary angrily said, "Nonsense! It was clearly you who slandered and insulted us from H-country and even hit Eden!"

Lyon exaggeratedly looked at the people around him and asked, "Did I insult their country? Did I hit this little guy? Who saw it?"

The people around him were Lyon's companions, and if it weren't for that, they wouldn't have joined in ridiculing Eden earlier.

Hearing this, they all hugged their arms and sarcastically said, "Lyon didn't hit anyone, it was they who spouted nonsense and hit Lyon!"

"These H-country students are crazy, they cursed Lyon to death as soon as they opened their mouths! We all heard it!"

"Not only that, they shamelessly said that our M-country's achievements in neurosurgery research belong to them. Oh my god, I have never seen such shameless people!"

Chapter 1240 My Father is Callum Turner!

Selena's dark eyes turned extremely cold. "Is that so?"

The security guard met her gaze and felt a chill, but in a flash, he remembered that this was M Country's territory. Selena might have come from a good background, but she had no right to meddle in M Country's affairs.

With this thought in mind, the security guard's expression became impatient again. He raised his hand and pushed the H Country people away as if he were shooing flies. "Since you're also participants from H Country, just get out of here with them!"

Oswaldo's eyes suddenly darkened. The bodyguard behind him stepped forward expressionlessly and grabbed the security guard's hand, twisting it heavily.

The next second, a sound of cracking bones and tendons echoed in everyone's ears. The security guard screamed in pain and fell to the ground, holding his wrist and cursing Selena.

The mocking laughter around them also came to a halt. Although everyone was shouting that H Country had hit someone, no one thought they would dare to do it on this occasion.

The security guard's painful screams finally caught the attention of others. Almost everyone's gaze turned to them in an instant.

The team where Lyon was located also showed panic as the situation escalated.

In the silence, Selena let go of Oswaldo's arm and walked gracefully to Lyon, looking down on him arrogantly. "Say it again, who is the person who made the greatest contribution to the field of neurosurgery today?"

Lyon was like a raging lion. "That belongs to our M Country. Shameless H Country people, get out of our country now!"

Selena's eyes were mocking, but her expression seemed confused. "Haven't the teachers at the M Country medical school taught you anything about the history of medicine?"

"Anyone who has even interest in the development of medical history wouldn't ask such a ridiculous question!"

Horus pursed his lips. "In the M country's medical textbooks, the father of the field of cardiovascular and cerebrovascular surgery is our M country's Professor Victor, and he has nothing to do with the H Country!"

Zachary was directly amused by this. "Shameless!"

Eduard sneered. "Have some shame!"

Hamish said coldly, "The M Country has nothing else, but it sure has one after another of people who steal the names and reputations of others!"

Seeing their idol being humiliated in public by a foreigner, Lyon and the others were completely provoked. They were about to start cursing, but Horus raised his hand to stop them.

Horus's handsome face was displeased, and he stared at Selena. "Miss, are you willing to take responsibility for your words and actions on behalf of H Country?"

"Of course!" Selena smiled, but her expression was cold. "We H Country people are willing to take responsibility for what we say and do!"
