Chapter 1241 Very Good!

Horus saw the change in Victor's expression and it turned cold. "Professor, is everything she said true?!"

Victor couldn't hold back his anger and replied, "It's just a reputation spread by outsiders. Is it worth making such a big fuss over it?!"

"The competition is about to start, but you're causing trouble here and not considering the big picture. Where is your sense of national dignity and magnanimity?!"

After speaking, he looked at Lyon and his group and scolded, "You're here to participate in the competition, not to argue with stray dogs and cats. Come over here and get ready to enter the venue!"

Hamish and the others were amused again.

Selena looked at the other party with a cold gaze. "So, you don't plan to admit to intentionally stealing my father's research results?"

Victor's face suddenly changed, and his gaze towards Selena was filled with anger.

Those who were able to participate in this competition were outstanding individuals from various medical fields, many of whom regarded Victor as their idol.

Upon hearing this sudden revelation, most people were extremely shocked and stared at Victor with strange eyes.

Even the representatives of the H Country alliance were now cold-faced and standing up.

"Victor, how come we didn't know that the father of the neurosurgery and cerebrovascular field had become an old geezer like you?!"

"Now, you want to use that little thing you had in the past to blatantly take away our research results. You really don't know what you're doing!"

Facing Selena's murderous gaze, Victor smirked, "Besides, it was your own incompetence that made it impossible for you H country people to find people who could study the things you had. Who can you blame?!?"

"It was your H country that asked for our help. It was out of friendly relations that our M country decided to lend a hand!"

"You H country not only don't know how to be grateful, but also turn around and take advantage of us!"

"We absolutely cannot tolerate such shameless behavior. We will immediately cancel H country's qualification for this year's competition and kick this team out!"

Selena's sudden "Very good!" made everyone who was staring at her stunned.

"First, there's Davis, and then there's Victor. The medical community in M country... they have really nurtured a group of people who do evil and deceive the world!"

As soon as she finished speaking, the faces of all the young people in M country present turned pale, and they glared at Selena in anger.

Did Selena just blatantly insult the entire medical field in their country?

But unfortunately, Davis' wrongdoings were well-known, and even the people in M country dared not openly defend him at such an occasion.

Davis deserved to be punished, but Victor was the pride of their medical community in M country. How could he be humiliated like this?

Horus' face turned cold. "Young lady, the matter has not yet been concluded, please mind your words!"

Selena's eyes were dark, her tone icy. "That may be the case for people in your M country, but in our H country, Davis has been nailed to the pillar of shame since the moment he shamelessly stole my father's research results!"

Lyon jumped up in anger when he saw his mentor being insulted. "Apologize to our professor Victor raised his hand to stop him, and looked at Selena coldly. "The competition is about to begin. Go and prepare."

"This H country team has openly attacked the security personnel of the medical school and violated the rules of the competition. They should be immediately expelled," he continued.

Horus did not look at him, his gaze fell on the security guard who was still half-kneeling on the ground, holding his wrist and sweating profusely. "The Medical School does not have staff who do not know how to respect guests. After apologizing, you can leave!"

The security guard looked defeated and did not dare to argue. He turned to the team of H Country and humbly bowed, "I'm sorry."

Zachary and the others sneered. "We're not saying it's okay!"

It was only after Zachary and the others experienced it themselves that they knew what kind of treatment the senior students who were selected to participate in the competition had received in this place over the past twenty years.

These people enjoyed the favor of their country and occupied the glory of their country, but they didn't even regard them as human beings.

Victor saw that his students had been disqualified from the competition before even entering the arena, and his face immediately darkened.

He stared coldly at Selena, "Lyon's team was wrong to take action, but they also must be punished for hitting the security guard!"

Oswaldo suddenly raised his eyelids and glanced at Victor. "What do you want to do?"

Victor looked at the man who exuded a powerful aura and had been deliberately ignored by others all along. His expression changed slightly as he said in a gloomy tone, "Sir, we are just following the rules!"

"Your girlfriend violated the rules of the competition, and we have the right to expel her!"

Selena raised her eyebrows, "Which rule did I break in the competition?"

"Horus, if I were you, I would immediately send this fool to the hospital for a thorough physical examination!"

The M Country team, who hadn't had time to leave the scene, turned their attention to the speaker.

When they saw who it was, they couldn't help but gasp.

"Locke..."

"You're here this year too? Is F country determined to compete with us M country in the field of medicine?!"

Horus, with his blue eyes, stared at Locke. "What do you mean by that?"

Locke smiled at Horus, unlike his cold gentlemanly demeanor, his smile was extremely infectious. "Do you know who Miss Turner was just now?"

Horus and the others were all stunned by his question.

H country had not made a mark in international medicine for many years.

Without any notable research or emerging medical geniuses, who would deliberately pay attention to a loser?

If it weren't for Selena and her team suddenly appearing today, they would have almost forgotten about the existence of this team.

Even now, they didn't even know the name of the opposing team.

However, no matter how they looked at it, they were just a group of young people who looked harmless, except for their outstanding appearance. The youngest in the team was clearly not even an adult, and the oldest looked to be in their early twenties.

Then, his sharp gaze turned to Locke. "Even if they have two geniuses, M Country won't lose!"

Oswaldo's intention was obvious. He would deal with the pressure from the official side.

When this idea crossed Selena's mind, she finally realized something. She was a person who had a husband to rely on...

Oswaldo had probably guessed this situation long ago, which was why he insisted on accompanying her.

Thinking of this, a warm feeling welled up in the young girl's heart. She leaned over and kissed her husband's cheek sweetly, "Thank you, dear."

Oswaldo looked at her deeply, his eyes gentle.

The young couple's public display of affection was enough to blind the eyes of a group of single dogs.

When Hector heard Oswaldo speak, he was stunned. He suddenly remembered that this was the person who held power in H Country's first family, and he was also the rumored...

This was a strange phenomenon.

Such a powerful and noble man should be the focus of attention wherever he went. However, at the previous occasion, everyone present had subconsciously ignored his presence.

Was it because of Miss Turner?

Although he thought that H Country's chances of winning were slim, the most difficult problem had been solved. Hector's expression relaxed, "Rest well here. I will come to pick you up when it's time."

Just before entering the gate, Selena looked at the sea of people and suddenly seemed to realize something. Her eyes flashed slightly and she said, "I'll go to the bathroom for a moment."

Oswaldo naturally followed her.

The representatives from H Country thought that the young girl was nervous and felt a little uneasy. "She hasn't even entered yet and her mindset is already breaking down... H Country is probably going to be out of the running again this year," they sighed.

However, she was just a nineteen-year-old girl carrying such a huge pressure. It was normal to be nervous.

Some people were afraid that the mentality of the young people would be affected, so in order to ease the atmosphere, someone jokingly said, "Miss Turner and Mr. Anderson are really good together. They seem to not be able to live without each other..."

Eduard looked at the direction Selena and Osvaldo left and put a piece of gum in his mouth.

Selena was nervous... that was impossible!

What kind of big winds and waves hasn't that young lady experienced? This kind of occasion was not a threat to her at all. But why did Selena choose to leave just before the competition was about to start?

Hamish remembered what the principal had said to him when he left the capital, and vaguely guessed what was going on.

He listened to the cheers and applause that came from the nearby competition venue and a trace of worry flashed in his eyes, but he said with a smile, "Miss Turner and Mr. Anderson's relationship is famous for being good."

Under the cold white light, the woman in the mirror had an extremely beautiful face, with jet-black eyes.

Selena smiled slightly at the mirror, and her icy eyes suddenly became lively and dazzling.

She turned around only after making sure that there was no flaw in her appearance, and walked towards the door.

The surroundings were still as cold and desolate as when she entered. Apart from the scent of air freshener, there was nothing unusual.

A man in black stood at the door. He lifted his head and fixed his gaze on her the moment she walked out.

After staring at her for a while to make sure that his wife was unscathed, he walked over, held her hand, and led Selena towards the entrance of the arena.

At the entrance of the arena, Zachary and his team were waiting for Selena to return. Horus and Locke, along with their teams, arrived at the door at the same time.

Unlike before, the two teams almost simultaneously stopped in their tracks and turned to look at the H country team.

Not seeing Selena, everyone's gaze fell on Eden, with an indescribable meaning.

Eden was squatting on the side of the road like a little dog, curiously looking around.

Eden jumped up with excitement upon hearing this, and ran towards Selena, "Dean said I can dissect a real living person when I come here. When can we go in?"

Selena linked arms with Osvaldo and walked elegantly, "Let's go."

As she spoke, she led the H country team and walked straight past the two other teams towards the entrance.

The two teams from M and F countries looked at Selena's back, with a grim expression on their faces. Horus looked at Selena, suppressing the waves of emotion and anger in his heart, and said softly, "Let's go."

The M country team followed him.

Locke stared at Selena's delicate hands, and remembered what Lancelot had said to him. Suddenly, a surge of emotion that he couldn't contain rose in his heart.

He took a deep breath and followed her, saying, "Let's go too."

The three teams arrived at the competition venue almost at the same time. As they stepped inside, a deafening cheer greeted them, which frightened Eden and made her cover her ears and hide behind Selena.

*The media, who had been waiting for a long time, saw the two championship favorites enter the arena and the cameras quickly swarmed in their direction.*

"In the field of neurosurgery, M country has created countless myths. Horus, do you have the confidence to continue creating myths for M country with your team this year?" the media asked.

Horus replied solemnly, "The glory of neurosurgery will always belong to M country!"

In the huge arena, everyone was stunned by Selena's sudden and shocking statement. Even the media from various countries looked at the H country team with an incredible expression.

After a moment of sluggishness, the M country audience on the scene immediately started to curse.

"Rude Easterners, how dare you insult our great Professor Victor!"

"Professor Victor is the leader of neurosurgery and the greatest medical genius of our time. His research and theories have saved so many lives, yet you publicly denounce him. You must give us an explanation today!"

"A team with no manners like this is not worthy of participating in such a sacred competition. They should be immediately expelled and imprisoned for defamation!"

Victor on the VIP stand heard Selena dare to say such words in public and immediately frowned. The other medical professors from M country sitting beside him also had angry expressions.

"This is too rude! Professor Victor, rest assured, we have already called and requested that the league cancel H country's qualification!"

Victor remembered the calls he made to the league before, which had gone unanswered. His eyes darkened slightly. "They are just a group of ignorant young people. There's no need to take them seriously."

"Although that's what you say, they are really too much. We cannot let this go!" The overwhelming angry questioning voices made the team of H Country smirk with a cold smile. Each person stood up straight.

The female reporter closest to Selena shouted in a sharp tone, "Apologize to Professor Victor immediately, or I'll tear your mouth apart!"

Selena seemed not to have heard the reporter's words. She turned her head towards Victor's direction with a contemptuous look. "For 20 years, you have been hoarding my father's research materials, but have only grasped the surface. You are so stupid and hopeless!"

Both of them snorted coldly, withdrew their gaze, and followed Selena into the laboratory.

Amid the cheers and applause, the teams from various countries walked towards the competition venue.

The team from H country arrived first outside the laboratory door.

Osvaldo hugged her waist and pulled her into his arms, kissing her rosy lips before whispering, "Go ahead."

Selena smiled at him and led the four members of Eden inside.

Because of the special nature of medicine, the laboratory was quiet inside.

As soon as the team of H Country walked in, a woman in a white coat walked over with a box, eyeing them with a mocking expression on her face. "Pick one!"

Selena glanced at her, randomly picked a card and opened it up to read.

The woman's face lit up with a smug expression as she held up a microphone and announced loudly, "H Country, Type A aortic dissection aneurysm!"

This year, H Country finally produced a remarkable talent, Selena.

Her exceptional abilities were obvious to everyone, and on top of that, she was Callum's daughter. Like father, like daughter. Therefore, everyone had high hopes for her in the international medical competition.

But no matter how great the hope was, when facing an incurable disease that had not yet been conquered by humans, despair would inevitably arise.

In an instant, a thick cloud of despair seemed to shroud the entire Capital University.

Inside the alliance, Zachary and the other two's faces changed momentarily when they saw the topic that Selena drew.

The only ones who were not affected were probably Selena and Eden. This "unusual combination" only had knowledge in their heads, and they never paid attention to negations such as "impossible" or "can't be done" in their dictionaries.

In their eyes, what others called an incurable disease was just a slightly more difficult illness. As long as it was a disease, there must be a solution.

After drawing the topic, Selena walked straight towards the laboratory with the H Country label, followed by an excited Eden.

The other three suppressed their inner chill and followed suit.

The large screens at the venue showed numerous live feeds.

As H Country was the first to enter, only their live feed was on, and journalists and spectators in the venue watched Selena and her team prepare for the surgery, waving their arms and criticizing H Country along with Victor.

Viewers in different countries' live rooms were cheering for their own teams.

Countless live feeds were being broadcasted on the large screen at the venue, and cheers from M and F countries' audiences piled up like mountains.

Many people were also gathered in front of the H country's live screen, waiting to see H country's embarrassment.

Ignorant and vulgar words were hurled at Selena and her team.

In this atmosphere of two-tiered competition, Selena picked up the cold and gleaming surgical knife, aimed it at the pregnant woman's chest, and made an incision.

After the knife fell, the atmosphere in the H country's live room suddenly froze.

The foreign audience members who were previously mocking H country suddenly became stiff with mocking expressions frozen on their faces.

They were staring at Selena's slender and delicate hand that was holding the surgical knife and suddenly lost their voices.

Other doctors who were sitting next to Victor, watching H country's team with him, were also stunned after seeing this incision.

Oscar looked at Selena's hands, a strange light flashing in his eyes. "If your second uncle had come twenty years later, he and this girl would have been each other's only opponent."

Patrick was stunned for a moment.

Oscar's meaning was obvious. Selena's current level was no different from Callum's when he was young.

Callum twenty years ago was already so amazing, so... what about twenty years later?

Patrick thought of his uncle whom he had never met before, and a shiver ran down his spine. Then he said with a smile, "If my uncle knew that Selena had grown up so excellent, he would be very happy."

Oscar's gaze was light, and he looked at Selena, but it was hard to tell what he was thinking.

At the competition venue, the reporters and audience who were amazed by Selena's surgical skills quickly regained their senses. They stared at the girl's delicate and beautiful hands with a somewhat inappropriate expression.

The live broadcast screens of M country and F country were side by side. Comparing the two, anyone could see that in terms of surgical skills, Horus and Locke were both inferior to this unknown newcomer.

People around had already noticed this scene, and even sporadic praises could be heard from the crowd.

"This is definitely the most delicate and beautiful pair of hands I have ever seen!"

And as the host country, the super mechanical genius of H Country would not let such a good opportunity slip by. Furthermore, Selena is Callum's daughter, and she came here to expose M Country's despicable crimes and reclaim Callum's achievements and reputation. Every reason is enough to make the other side eager to kill Selena.

H country knows about M Country's ambitious nature. And M Country knows that H Country is likely to be prepared. In a situation where both sides have their own goals, it all comes down to a game of strength.

Almost every country's eyes are on this region during this international event. If Selena is assassinated in public, M Country will have a hard time explaining themselves. Meanwhile, H Country does not want to harm innocent people.

Under these circumstances, both sides tacitly concealed the assassination struggle in the dark. But seeing their side suffer heavy losses, and with Selena not only escaping death but also performing so well, in M Country's situation of impending loss of reputation, there may be people who will do anything to save themselves.

Oswaldo's eyes do not leave Selena, but his tone is dark. "Clear them all out!"

"Yes!"

Inside the operating room, Selena cut open the woman's right atrium, her gaze focused on the site of the ruptured bleeding.

A fast and clear voice sounded in the live broadcast, "Do you seniors remember the steps of artificial blood vessel replacement surgery?"

Artificial blood vessel replacement surgery?!

These few words caused a commotion among the many viewers in H Country's live broadcast once again.

blood vessel replacement surgery is a surgical method proposed by Victor more than a decade ago to treat A-type aortic dissection aneurysms. However, up to this point, it is still only a theoretical direction of research and has not yet been conquered by Chapter 1249 What Happened?

"...Inserting a catheter through the right atrium and vein, inserting a catheter through the unnamed artery into the aorta, cooling down and blocking the ascending aorta..."

As Selena spoke out each step, the cardiovascular experts in the VIP room who had been mocking her suddenly fell silent.

Everyone sat up straight in an instant, staring at the girl on the big screen in astonishment.

Victor's dark face gradually turned pale.

"Open the aorta and infuse the heart arrest solution, confirm cardiac arrest, treat the aortic valve lesion, and remove the ascending aorta septum..."

In the silent space, the girl's voice was steady and clear, ringing in everyone's ears.

Her fingers, delicate and beautiful, swiftly executed each step like a butterfly dancing through flowers.

Suppressing his inner panic, Victor coldly said, "I have published these research theories before, but they were just playing around with ideas."

Miles stared at Selena's hands without blinking. "Even though that's what you said, being able to do this is already a great improvement."

However, the audience and media present who had no medical knowledge could not understand the complex and profound surgical procedures Selena was describing.

But this did not stop them from exhibiting their malice.

This roar instantly attracted the attention of those around them. Even the viewers who were focused on the F and M country live broadcasts turned their puzzled gazes over.

Then they all exclaimed, "Professor Kayden?!"

"Professor Tang?!"

Several experts from the Medical Alliance trembled, almost putting their faces on the live screen of H country.

"It's this, the subsequent difficulties of the artificial vascular catheterization procedure..."

"My God, if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes, I wouldn't have believed that in my lifetime, I could see this problem that has made me hopeless countless times being overcome..."

When these professors understood the meaning of their words, almost all the medical professionals on the scene ran over in an instant.

"Kayden, explain to me clearly, what did they overcome?!"

"Artificial vascular replacement surgery? Isn't that just something they made up on the spot?!"

The increasing commotion caught the attention of more people.

Looking at the group of medical scientists outside the live broadcast screen in H country with fanatical eyes, the on-site media and audience were all stunned with their mouths open.

An hour later, Horus finished their surgery.

"What did you say?!"

Extreme shock swept across the faces of everyone in both teams.

After realizing the meaning behind the journalist's words, Horus and Locke almost simultaneously started pushing forward in a panic.

The two of them squeezed in front of H country's live screen in a sorry state, and were almost stunned at first glance by the hand holding the persistent surgical knife on the screen.

The slender and delicate fingers sliced through with such precision that it seemed to have been measured with a ruler.

The two of them stared at the hands and every subtle movement being executed without blinking their eyes.

"... discharging gas knots in the aortic left heart system, opening the ascending aorta, and restarting the heart..."

At this moment, the live broadcast venue of millions of people fell silent.

Only the calm voice of the girl resonated clearly in everyone's ears.

Even though the vast majority of people couldn't understand what was being said, the fanatical gazes of the medical workers on site expressed an amazing message.

Therefore, even those who disliked H country dared not make any inappropriate noise in such a serious and solemn atmosphere.

Just when they were about to snatch the patient back from the hands of death, they encountered another deadly blow at the critical moment.

Giving birth is already passing through the gates of hell, let alone for a dying pregnant woman.

In such a situation, being able to save either the child or the mother is already a miracle.

There is a high probability that neither will survive.

Hamish and the others were all panicked in the face of such a situation.

However, Selena's face still showed no extra emotion. She shouted, "Eden!"

Eden excitedly replied, "Coming!"

Selena threw the surgical knife to him and then looked at the unconscious pregnant woman, her tone firm and calm, "Hold on, I will make sure that both mother and child survive!"

The pregnant woman's eyelids moved, and a tear mark appeared at the corner of her eye.

After quickly saying this, Selena came to the pregnant woman's big belly. Under the horrified gaze of everyone, she made a horizontal cut with the knife!
