

Love Rats 131

Chapter 131

The smile on Leah's face froze in an instant, and she raised her head incredulously, staring deadly at the person who appeared on the high platform, squeezing her fingers tightly as a coldness swept across her eyes.

How could Selena still appear here?

The audience was in an uproar as they stared at the beautiful young girl who had appeared on the high stage.

"Selena?"

"She's here."

"So she really had a car accident."

With a cast on her right hand and a bandage on it, Selena strolled onto the high platform accompanied by a doctor, two nurses and a group of black-clad bodyguards.

She smiled at the shocked headmaster, "Thanks a lot, headmaster, but I'm here, the exams don't need to be cancelled."

The headmaster frowned at her hand, "But your hand..."

"No need to worry!" Selena said and turned her head to look at the audience.

Two nurses moved a chair over and Selena sat down gracefully, crossing her legs and looking down at the hundreds of faces with different expressions underneath. Her gaze flicked slightly and finally settled on Leah's slightly white face, bringing out an endless coldness.

She stretched out her uninjured left hand and a bodyguard placed the microphone in her hand.

Selena held the microphone, her eyes staring at Leah. She was smiling, but her voice was so cold that it was creepy, "Leah, although it's degrading to be a rival with you, but you have messed with me, then don't blame me for playing a big game, you can't afford it!"

With a single sentence, all of a sudden, the eyes of everyone in the room were focused on Leah.

Leah was faced with countless eyes with different expressions, a flash of panic swept under her eyes, and a trace of misery appeared on her face as she said tremblingly, "Selena, what are you saying? I can't understand."

"You can deny it all you want, but I guarantee that every word you say standing here today will make you regret it!" Selena cocked her head and smiled coldly, "From this moment onwards, I hope that both you and Molly will stand up openly, and make sure not to faint or have a sudden emergency midway, lest you disturb everyone's enjoyment of watching the fun." After a pause, she added, "However, even if you faint and fall ill, it doesn't matter, these three behind me are the best emergency department medical staff at the First People's Hospital, so whatever illness you and Molly have, they will be able to save you."

Leah's face turned white and a touch of embarrassment passed over her face.

She stared at Selena without moving a muscle, the uneasiness in her heart expanding uncontrollably, pondering in her mind where exactly Selena's confidence came from.

Her hand was already injured, and even if she came to school, she wouldn't be able to be at the exam, so where on earth did she get the confidence to dare to find trouble with her openly?

Chapter 132

Molly was so furious that her body was shaking with anger, she was furious, "Selena, how dare you curse me?"

Selena hooked her delicate red lips, "I'm just reminding you in advance, after all, Leah is known for her delicate nature Every time she takes the initiative to walk up to me, she ends up either fainting or falling down, this has happened in the class ten classroom a lot, over fifty people have witnessed and personally participated in the large scene, how can I not be on guard?"

She stared at Leah coldly and playfully, her gaze extremely cold and chilling, "Even though I was far away from her today, I am here. In case she faints again, or accidentally falls, in order to prevent it from ending up taking the blame again, naturally I should have a doctor on hand first"

The Class 10 students all lowered their heads in shame in the face of everyone pointing around them.

Dominic stared at Leah and a flash of complexity flashed across his eyes.

He was shocked to realise that this was indeed a frequent occurrence, all they had seen was Selena bullying Leah, but when Selena said this, it had a different meaning

The students in the other classes were all stunned by this fact.

"Crap, don't this group of students have any brains?"

"WTF? Not a single person refuted it? Is this true?"

"Unbelievable! I finally understand why the psychiatrist said that they have a problem with their brains, and now it looks like they are too sick."

Leah loudly and angrily rebuked, "Selena, I owe you for the grudge between us, I don't want to argue with you about right and wrong, but you shouldn't say these specious words in public and make bystanders misunderstand!"

Selena smiled, "I prepared the doctor just to prevent that situation from happening again today, what are you so angry about? If you don't want people to misunderstand, why don't you just stand still and not fall down today? And you have fallen down at the right time every time, this is always irrefutable, right?"

Leah's face turned blushed, a trace of moisture appeared in her eyes, and she lowered her head as if she was holding back her tears.

“Selena, don’t change the subject!” The yellow-haired young man who had just shouted at the most spoke arrogantly, “Who knows if your injury is real? And it is the right hand you injured, who knows if you did it on purpose? By relying on a car accident that we can’t tell if it’s real or not, you want to win the sympathy of the public and forcibly clear your name, do you take us all for fools?”

Selena’s cold eyes finally moved away from Leah and landed on the shouting yellow-haired youth’s face, her eyes flickering with dark coldness, and she curled her lips, “The doctors beside me are all the doctors from the examination department of the First Hospital of Creephia, and the security guards of Creephia University can all prove that I was hit by a car. The testimonies of so many people, plus the hospital’s checklist, are not enough to prove that my injury is real?”

The yellow-haired young man subconsciously wanted to raise his voice, but the doctor standing behind Selena cursed angrily, “Are you finished? Because of your aggressive mouth, this girl couldn’t even recover from her injuries, she rushed from the hospital to the school immediately after the examination, and she is still facing your rude questions Are you blind and can’t tell she is just a girl who got hurt and frightened from the car accident?”

He sneered, “At this time, you are still suspicious of a wounded person. Do you have any sense of public decency and compassion?”

Looking at the doctor who had lost his temper, the whole room fell into a silence.

Selena just said with a faint smile, “Dr. Lynn, don’t be angry, after all, there are various kinds of people. The best way to deal with those dirty-minded barbarians who are only trying to show off with their mouths is to make them realize their own incompetence and ignorance, and they can only rely on their mouths to increase their disgusting existence.

The yellow-haired young man was furious at being belittled, “Shit! You bastard, stupid, psycho, how dare you look down on me=”

Chapter 133

The youth’s words came to a halt at this point.

Something came flying violently from above the high platform and hit his mouth with unerring precision.

With a loud pop, the young man fell down with a scream, his mouth dripping with blood as he lay spasming on the ground, spitting out a few bloody teeth.

Everyone was stunned by the suddenness of the scene.

When they looked in the direction where the youth had fallen, they saw a blackened microphone lying on the ground.

Only one person in the whole room had taken the microphone.

At once, everyone’s eyes looked towards Selena in unison.

Selena's expression remained elegant as she ruffled her long, pitch-black hair, her smile bright as she stretched out her palm, "Bring me another microphone."

The nearest teacher, meeting her eyes, somehow subconsciously immediately took a new microphone from the table and handed it over.

Selena held the microphone, her eyes looked down towards the high platform, a dark aura seemed to linger under her eyes, "Just because I have a good temper doesn't mean I can tolerate people insulting me and cursing me, if I hear one more indecent word, it won't be a simple case of losing teeth."

The aura that erupted out of nowhere made everyone feel scared.

An eerie silence fell over the scene.

From the high platform to this place, with so many people in between, this accuracy was not something that an ordinary person could do.

Moreover, Selena's right hand was injured, and now she can only use her left hand. It was amazing that she could throw it so accurately.

Those who were close to her subconsciously started backing up.

"Selena, what do you want?"

"Don't you hit anyone or we'll call the police."

"That's too much! How can you hit someone?"

Selena didn't seem to see those shocked and horrified eyes, her gaze was icy cold and full of mockery as she smiled, "My hand itched and I accidentally threw it about."

The crowd, "

Although Selena was not right in hitting someone, within the campus of Creephia University, in public, just now everyone heard how the yellow-haired young man cursed Selena, the vast majority of people were disgusted with that person, so he deserved the beating.

But not everyone thought so. Some people who were unhappy with her and had come in specifically to pick a fight with her had spoken out in accusation.

"Selena, it's wrong for him to curse you, but the matter was originally started because of you, and no matter what your reasons are, it was you who broke your trust in the end!"

"That's right, this is a campus, violence is forbidden. You can go to the police if you have grievances, how can you just hit him? Who do you think you are? Who do you think you are to enforce the law on behalf of the police? Apologise to everyone immediately!"

"When I saw her A-Level results earlier, I thought I would see a big reversal, but I never thought I would see a big joke!"

“Selena, we have asked carefully. There is absolutely no tampering in your final exam paper, nor is there any cheating involved, and it has nothing to do with those teachers, it is you who really did the exam. How do you explain it?”

“How else can she explain? She has no strength but wants to use all kinds of unseemly means to clean up her name, but now it can’t be hidden, she has to fake the accident to gain sympathy. Her character is really bad!”

“In my opinion, the cheating incident is true, otherwise how can she take the final exam in that way? She is the disgrace of Creephia University, how can she still stand here with her face unchanged? Get lost!”

“Get out of Creephia University, get out of Creephia!”

Chapter 134

With a bang, another microphone came out heavily, and it hit the face of the person who said the last words.

The man covered his mouth and nose and fell backwards, scaring the people around him into screaming. Once again, all the noise and cursing in the room disappeared into thin air.

Everyone’s eyes were wide open and they looked at Selena incredulously. Did she know that she was committing public anger again?

Selena laughed, arrogant and cold, “You can continue your crusade, but remember, don’t let me hear a single swear word again. The school doesn’t have so many microphones for me to spoil, next time if someone speaks out of turn-”

She inclined her head to look at the black-clad bodyguards around her and laughed, her voice audible throughout the room, “Punch at them, as long as you don’t beat them to death!”

The group of imposing black-clad bodyguards stared coldly at those who were shouting at the scene.

The bodyguard at the head said, “Lady Selena, don’t worry, we will definitely not let go of anyone who disrespects you!”

At these words, the faces of those who had been shouting vigorously just now became pale. If it was Selena alone, they were not so afraid, but against those bodyguards who made people afraid at first glance, no one dared to open their mouths again.

Who could guarantee that the bodyguards’ fists wouldn’t smash into their faces next time?

Didn’t you see the yellow-haired young man on the ground with a mouthful of blood and a pale face, who still hadn’t stood up?

Under Selena’s sudden “violent suppression”, the scene instantly became quite normal, and no one dared to shout in a nonsensical manner anymore.

Leah lowered her head and almost gnashed her teeth in hatred.

She knew that a well-bred university student would only be bullied into tears if she met a street gangster with no bottom line. Just in case, she had bribed a few people to come in and target Selena, but she never expected that Selena would not argue or defend, but choose to be arrogant and domineering.

Damn Selena, when did she become so bold?

Seeing that the scene had quieted down, Selena raised an icy smile, "All the scolding is done, so can you listen to me quietly now?"

"Selena," the media closest to her, carrying a camera, stared closely into her eyes, "You said you had a car accident and were unable to take the exam, is this true?"

Selena nodded carelessly, "The car accident is true."

"As much as we don't want to doubt you, but Selena, you did waste everyone's time and let down the vast majority of people because of your A-Level results, so we were willing to believe you and wanted to come and see you get justice with our own eyes, but this car accident is really disappointing!"

Selena lowered her eyelashes and looked at her fingers, very quiet, no one was able to see what she was thinking.

Until the moment the media finished speaking, she lifted her eyelashes.

Her dark eyes fell on Leah at the back of the crowd.

Leah stood there quietly, admiring her wretchedness and discomfort.

There was no need for her to move her mouth, there were plenty of people to help her stab Selena in the heart!

As long as Selena broke her trust today, she would never be able to turn over a new leaf in her life!

At this thought, she saw Selena on the high platform smiling at her.

It was impossible to describe that smile, it was as if a superior person was looking at a clown.

She spoke softly, yet deafening, instantly startling the whole room.

"Who said I'm giving up the exam?"

Chapter 135

The whole room fell silent again, all eyes staring at Selena like a torch, as if they didn't understand what she meant.

Leah's eyelids jumped fiercely and her expression was more than wary.

Selena's eyes fell on her face, her eyes contained a faint disdain, her expression mocking, "From the beginning to the end, it was all of you who were unilaterally screaming that I was going to give up my exams. I was only late because of the car accident, did I and my school, the teachers ever say a single word that I was going to give up my exams?"

The crowd's eyes widened, and when they thought carefully, their faces all took on more than shame and embarrassment.

Indeed.

Neither Selena nor Creephia University had ever said exactly that Selena was going to give up today's exam.

It was because they had been led by that "Student C" on the internet, and had preconceived the idea that Selena would definitely use a car accident to avoid taking the exam.

The crowd, which had just been shouting wildly, fell silent, and everyone looked at each other with blank stares.

Selena raised her eyes to look at Leah, that cold and arrogant gaze made Leah's heart shiver.

But she didn't think that Selena, who had injured her right hand, would really be able to pass the exam.

She had grown up with Selena and knew clearly that she was not left-handed, so there was no way she would be able to write the paper today.

She consoled herself that as long as Selena could not pass the exam, no matter how much she said today, it would not change the fact that she would become a joke.

So Leah stood still, straightened her back, and met Selena's gaze without dodging.

The media, which had been silent for a moment, got excited as they stared at Selena and asked the question in their hearts on behalf of everyone there, "But Selena, how can you take the exam when your right hand is injured? Is it possible that your right hand injury is actually not that serious?"

This is already considered a rather euphemistic query.

But no brainless spewer has dared to say that her injury is fake, after all, the doctor standing beside Selena is not very good-tempered, and with the previous experience, even the people bought by Leah do not dare to shout too much at this moment.

Selena said with a mocking smile, her eyes cold, "I can't figure out is whether, in your eyes, a person without a right hand is really a waste. It's just a small exam, but you guys are fixated on my injured right hand to presume everything, how can people be so stupid?"

Leah's face turned white with anger.

Being so publicly sarcastic by a girl, some people at the scene were ashamed, but more, they were annoyed and angry.

"Selena, what exactly do you mean?"

"What a big mouth, I'd like to see how she, who can't use her right hand, is going to take the exam today!"

"If her final exam results weren't there, I'd almost really believe she is confident."

Chapter 136

Selena ignored the whispering voices, her wan and cold eyes fixed on Leah, a touch of laziness always lingering in her eyes.

She really can't muster up any energy to be an opponent with someone who only plays schemes and tricks like this. But if Leah dares to hurt her, for the sake of Selena's reputation, she will have to uncover a layer of her skin today! "Leah, you have always looked down on me because you think I have no strength and cannot play your schemes and tricks, and you think you have won everything with your sinister mind and dirty character. Then you should open your eyes today and see clearly how easy it is for a truly powerful person to trample a stink bug like you to death!"

Leah's face was white and trembling, facing Selena's sudden confrontation, she bit her lips, her voice harsh, "Selena, what do you mean? I've been here today, not at all!"

Unfortunately, before she finished her pretentious sobbing, Selena interrupted her, her soft voice was yet deafening, "I, Selena Riddle, am here today, singling out all the teachers and students of Creephia University, as long as it's true knowledge within the university, one wrong question, it's my loss!"

"Wow!" –

Both the audience at the scene, and those who were watching the live broadcast in front of the TV, were struck by these words, which hit their hearts so hard that their entire nerve tingled.

In a flash, everyone on the scene was shocked collectively.

The teachers of Creephia University were shocked too.

The headmaster panicked and advised in a low voice, "Selena, don't be impulsive, we can find evidence."

Selena looked at the trembling and blushing Leah, the corners of her lips curved, "Don't you still understand, headmaster? Even if my right hand is not injured today, really went to take the examination, for some evil-minded people, she can still make more disgusting means to smear me cheating, and even encourage those netizens to doubt the fairness and justice of Creephia University."

"The best way to deal with their kind of stuff that is not up to par, but to use absolute strength to completely crush them into the dirt, so that they are all dirty and prostrate in the dirt, looking up at me standing above the clouds, recognizing a reality that they themselves do not but absolutely do not want to admit that strength is the most terrible thing in this world!"

"I want no one in the whole city to dare to say "Selena is cheating" after I leave this school today, I want no one on the internet to ever say Selena is cheating again, I want those spammers to be attacked and drowned by countless decent and fair internet users if they say Selena is cheating. I want those internet marketers who smeared me to shut up and never dare to say another word!"

"I want justice, I want honour, and I want those who slandered me, those who played tricks to hurt me, to pay the price they deserve!

“Since Creephia University has given me this opportunity, I want to clear my reputation of being a scum cheater!”

A stagnant dead silence fell over the scene.

Selena scornfully looked at Leah’s flustered and white face. This woman always boasted that she was smarter and better than Selena in every way, she stubbornly believed that all the best and most beautiful things should belong to her.

As long as Selena had something that was better than her, she would try to snatch it up by all means.

Today, it was time for her to make this woman desperately realise that what she could snatch away was nothing but rubbish, and that the most beautiful character and achievements that Selena truly possessed could never be snatched away by her in her lifetime.

Dominic looked at the dashing and beautiful Selena on the high stage in a trance. In his impression, Selena had always been timid and harmless, since when the girl who always followed behind him in silence became such a strange and dazzling girl?

Chapter 137

Despite the shock, Dominic still hoped that Selena would fail, because once she succeeded in clearing her reputation for cheating, it would mean that Leah and Angie, all those involved in the cheating incident, would be thoroughly and severely investigated and punished, and the reputation of the Walson family would be greatly affected by Selena’s excellence and Angie’s viciousness.

Talon stood quietly in a corner, silently gazing at Selena on the high stage. In just a few days, this once quiet and handsome young man seemed to have changed from his nature.

He was still handsome, but there was a layer of coldness and gloom in his eyes that could not be dissolved.

He looked at the dazzlingly beautiful Selena on the high platform, staring blankly at her beautiful face, as if he was remembering someone who had died through that familiar face.

He closed his eyes. A clear teardrop fell from the corner of his eye like an illusion, wetting his long eyelashes.

From this moment on, the last trace of warmth in his body disappeared. He clenched his hands and opened his eyes again, looking in the direction where Dominic and Leah were, with an extra touch of utter grimness and hatred under his eyes.

Dominic was looking at Selena when he noticed cold sight, he turned and met Talon’s eyes, as a result he shivered all over.

Talon had done what he said he would do, and in the past few days he had been returning to the Walson family every day to see Cyril, clearly showing signs of wanting to compete for the position of family head.

When Dominic thought of this, his face turned cold.

It was not only because Talon wanted to fight for power with him, but because Talon was fighting against him for Selena.

He had always known that Talon liked Selena, but had never taken it to heart because he had always thought that it was impossible for Selena not to like him, excessively he had even felt bored because of Selena's liking for him.

But now, Selena didn't like him anymore, and Talon hated him because of the hurt Selena had received.

Dominic was even bewildered at this moment, he didn't understand where Talon's hatred came from, he just looked at his cold and empty eyes and understood a fact in his heart.

This young man and he were really going to be at war!

Dominic clenched his fist, regret filled his heart, if he hadn't lied that day because he wanted to defend Leah, and let Angie go to trample on Selena's feelings and hurt her completely, he wouldn't have incurred Talon's hatred.

Selena's eyes swept over the silent scene, her eyes once again fixed on Leah, the corner of her lips hooked, "Leah, aren't you the most outstanding student in the medical department? Then, let's start with you first."

Leah stared deadily at Selena. She had thought of all the things that Selena would do, but she had never expected that Selena would do such a thing openly.

With her own strength, she had singled out all the teachers and students of Creephia University.

How dare she?

Chapter 138

Selena reassured herself that there was no way Selena could succeed!

Things hadn't come to a head yet, there was no way Selena would succeed in flipping the tables!

Leah settled down, her face finally lost its previous kindness, and said icily and painfully, "You are my sister, I naturally want you to clear your name, as for the question, forget it."

Selena said in a cold voice, "Don't say you are my sister, my mother only gave birth to me, please you and Molly always remember your status, since you killed my mother and became a mistress and illegitimate daughter, then be prepared to be treated with indifference and even disgust by me, don't tarnish the name of sister which should be pure and flawless." Molly's face was fierce, she wanted to pounce on Selena and tear her apart, but she was held back by Leah. Leah lowered her head, everyone could hear her sobs, "Mom, Selena is right, we don't deserve it."

Some people felt that Selena had gone too far and couldn't help but feel indignant.

"Isn't Selena going too far? Leah is innocent."

But as soon as these words popped up, they were drowned out by countless counter-arguments.

“Joke! Leah is innocent? Does Selena deserve to lose her mother? Don’t be like that group of students in Class 10 who were brainwashed, they were mistress and illegitimate daughter who came to power, from Selena’s point of view, no one is qualified to say she is wrong!”

“I support Selena! Who can understand how she feels since it hasn’t happened to you? Leah has both parents, and even Selena’s fiancé was stolen by Leah, what does Selena have? She has been kicked out of her home, and there are still people who think Leah is innocent.”

“I suggest those who say Selena is wrong go and experience what it’s like to have your mother killed, then try what it’s like to have your father snatched away by your illegitimate sister, to have your family fortune snatched away and to have your fiancé snatched away, then if you can still say Selena is wrong, I’ll kneel down for you!”

“Let’s not talk about whether Selena really bullied Leah in private, even if Selena did bully her, she deserved it. That group of students in class 10 are coldly violent towards Selena because of that, sick in the head!”

“I like what Selena said, she doesn’t like Leah, she will say it directly, such a girl will admit what she has done and firmly deny what she hasn’t done, unlike Leah, she is so pretentious. It sounds like for the good of Selena, but under a closer look, it is sinister intentions!”

Surprisingly, almost the majority of people were on Selena’s side on this issue, and those students in Class 10, listening to the anger and condemnation from their fellow students, turned pale and were in a trance.

They had previously felt that they had done nothing wrong, that Selena had bullied their classmates and that it was her fault, so they hated her, disliked her and collectively snubbed her, and now, hundreds of people were accusing them, telling them that it was Leah who was at fault, it was them, not Selena!

One of the girls cried out in the face of countless pairs of disgusted accusing eyes, “Mum, I was wrong, I shouldn’t have bullied Selena.”

Her mother stood to the side, looking at her daughter’s tears, she was soft-hearted, but still asked sternly, “You just got scolded by your classmates and you couldn’t take it anymore, then have you ever thought about the classmate who was bullied by your cold violence lived in that depressing environment every day, facing your indifference and isolation, what kind of feeling did she have? How much damage was done to her by the little things that seem insignificant to you? And what did she do wrong? Has she ever hurt any of you?”

The girl cried louder, one always has to feel the pain when it falls on them to know how much it hurts.

“Mum, I was wrong, I will go and apologize to Selena, I will ask her to forgive me.”

With someone leading the way, the other students in Class 10 couldn’t help but cry out too.
