

Love Rats 171

Chapter 171

An unexpected scene jolted up in front of everyone.

The picture was of a bright and spacious classroom, it seemed to be early in the morning, there was no one around, Selena was sitting alone in front of the window reading a book, just at this time, the classroom door was suddenly pushed open and Angie walked in.

When she remembered what this place was, Angie let out a scream full of anger and horror, "Turn it off! Turn it off! Now!"

Unfortunately, no one in the room listened to her, or even gave her a glance.

She stood in front of Selena, raised her chin and said viciously, "Selena, I'm warning you, you're not allowed to pester my brother. Leah and my brother are a pair, if you have the sense, go and cancel the marriage yourself and tell everyone that you have another boyfriend."

Selena raised her head and pursed her lips, "I don't have another boyfriend."

Angie kicked at her table, revealing a viciousness and domineering face, completely different from her usual lovely face to the outside, "Are you stupid? I don't care if you have another boyfriend or not, I can find one for free if you don't have one, anyway, just take the initiative to withdraw your marriage, and don't allow my brother and Leah to take any blame, or I'll make you learn your lesson. Anyway, a fatherless, motherless trash like you is wasting food to live and deserves to be scolded."

Selena kept her eyes downcast as she listened to these words, saying nothing, packing up her school bag and was ready to leave.

Angie's face was covered in anger as she was ignored, blocking in front of Selena and raising her hand to push her, "Are you deaf?"

Selena looked at her quietly, "I will not withdraw from the marriage."

Having said that, she turned around and was about to leave.

And taking advantage of her turning around, Angie darted a note and stuffed it into her pocket as she saw Selena's back and said viciously, "Selena, if you don't listen to me, I'll tell my brother that you're bullying me."

Selena didn't even turn her head back, "I'm not bullying you."

Angie smiled smugly, her face full of malice, "Do you think my brother believes me or you?"

Selena paused in her steps, then walked away.

Angie's face was sinister as she sneered and made a phone call, "Ms. Sutton, it is done, that idiot didn't notice it. When the exam comes later, you seize time and find an excuse to search her pocket. This time I want her to be unable to turn over in the campus."

The person on the other end of the phone said something.

Angie smiled delicately, "Got it, I'll call Leah right now."

The big screen reverted back to darkness.

The atmosphere in the room fell into a dead silence.

Angie covered her face, in front of the solid evidence, she no longer had that arrogant and domineering look, trembling with fear. She did not dare to turn around, did not dare to look at everyone at the scene, let alone to look at Dominic's face at this moment.

Leah's pale face and furrowed brow showed how uneasy and angry she was at the moment.

After a few seconds of dead silence, a middle-aged woman in the crowd stepped forward, slapped heavily on Angie's face.

With a loud slap, Angie was knocked off her feet and fell to the ground.

She let out a heart-rending scream.

Chapter 172

This scream broke the stagnant atmosphere of the scene.

The woman who hit her gasped and laughed coldly, "I have a heart condition and my doctor has told me not to get angry, but I'm so angry that if I don't slap you, I'll get sick, so I'll have to hit this vicious bitch to take my anger out."

The venue erupted in thunderous applause.

"Well done!."

"Good job, Madam. If you don't slap her, I'm afraid I really won't be able to resist losing my qualities as a university student and curse the whole Walson family with all the vicious words."

"How can there be such a bitchy and vicious person? The Walson family has raised such a son and a daughter who are not aware of right and wrong. I really rich such a family go finish."

The middle-aged woman was so strong that Angie's face was swollen. She prostrated herself on the ground and cried her heart out, but not a single person in the room went to help her and sympathise with her, and everyone looked at her with endless disgust.

When Leah saw Angie being beaten, her face turned paler, her legs went weak as she stood unsteadily and staggered back a few steps.

Although there was no evidence on screen that directly proved her involvement in the affair, that last phone call from Angie saying she was going to call her got her involved.

She could not clear her name now.

Selena sneered at the scene, "As for that person who imitated my handwriting and joined forces with Angie to wrongfully accuse me, I believe that the police uncle will soon be able to investigate very clearly, next."

Her eyes fell back to Leah once again.

Leah's nerves tensed as she was stared at, and she looked at Selena with a vaguely frightened look in her eyes.

"Leah, let's talk about the cause and aftermath of the cold violence on campus, and in this regard, I'm sure the entire class 10 and those few students who were expelled from the school for watching the hilarity will have a lot to say to confront you."

Leah was once again poked at the weakest point in her heart, her face so pale that she forgot to even cry at this time.

Class 10 students received stares from the entire school and, encouraged by their parents, collectively stepped forward.

The Class 10 leader spoke first, but instead of speaking to Leah, he looked at Selena and said sincerely, "I'm sorry, Selena, we've been sorry to you for the past year, please forgive us."

When he finished, all those students behind him bent down to Selena and sincerely asked for forgiveness.

Selena's gaze glowed coldly, a sneer creeping up to the corners of her lips as she said softly, "I will not forgive you."

The one person who could forgive them was now dead.

Hearing her soft but determined words, everyone at the scene froze, and the group of students in Class 10 looked straight at Selena, their faces bleakly white.

Selena's black eyes were extremely cold, although her voice was soft, but it carried a touch of resounding meaning, "So you should remember well that you have hurt a girl named Selena, she is kind and tender, never hurt anyone, it is each of you who owes her, keep this matter in your heart and never forget her."

The real Selena was dead, in a corner where no one knows about it.

This was the sin of every one of them.

So Talon cannot be the only one to remember her, everyone who has hurt that girl has an obligation to remember her forever.

Chapter 173

In the corner, Talon raised his head, looking at Selena's cold eyes, his lips tinged with bitterness and relief.

And only such a gentle and kind girl could deserve her gift.

Everything that his beloved girl did not have when she was alive will be achieved by the hands of this girl, who will make the name "Selena" the most dazzling pearl of all.

Although all the parents of Class 10 found this request somewhat inexplicable, after thought, they felt that Selena probably wanted to make this group of children who had gone astray to remember the lesson and learn from it, so that they could not be easily taken advantage of again.

A spur, as opposed to a word of forgiveness, is clearly more beneficial to the future development of this group of children.

A parent looked at her own child, still trying to chase after seeking Selena's forgiveness, sighed and stroked her hair, "Your apology has been accepted by her, but remember, in this world, it is not the case that if you apologize, you will have to be forgiven. If you want to make yourself feel better mentally, remember what Selena said and don't forget her."

"But Dad, Selena doesn't forgive me, I..."

"In this world, some mistakes can be easily forgiven, but some mistakes, once you make them, you lose the qualification to be forgiven. You will feel guilty and have a heavy heart, it means you are a good girl. Selena doesn't forgive you, but she doesn't make it hard for you either, if you feel bad, then use your actions to atone for your sins."

After that parent finished, he turned his unkind eyes towards Leah, "All Selena wants is justice, how you wronged her in the first place, tell the truth today in front of everyone and give her justice."

Leah, faced with the eyes of an entire class looking over at the same time, completely panicked and frantically shook her head in denial, "No, no, no. It's not like that... I didn't..."

The Class 10 leader said coldly, "You didn't lie to us? You didn't deliberately mislead us that you and Mr. Walson were the pair, and Selena was mistress? You didn't mislead us that Selena was always bullying you and stealing your things by virtue of her status as eldest young lady? You didn't join forces with Freya to mislead us there is nothing wrong with collectively isolating and bullying Selena, everything is her fault, she deserves it for our rejection of her, we are taking it out for you, we are doing a good deed?"

"Leah, are you going to confront us one thing at a time? From the first day of freshman year, you invited the whole class to a dinner party, that was the only group activity Selena attended with us. At that time Selena was helping a classmate to serve hot soup, you followed her over to take the bowl of soup from her hand, some students witnessed that, when you were about to take the bowl of soup, Selena suddenly let go for some reason, the soup spilled all over you, your arm was burned, but Selena was unwilling to apologize. The bad impression everyone had of her started at that time."

As the group of students said one sentence after another, Leah's face grew whiter and whiter, "It was really Selena who burned me. I didn't ask her to apologize."

She shouted hysterically, tears welling up in her eyes.

Selena's gaze was icy as she said in a cold voice, "Have any of you been stabbed by needles and yet managed to keep thing in your hands from falling off? It's obvious that you were the one who was stabbed and hurt, yet you were forced to apologise, will you be you willing to apologise?"

Class 10 students were shocked to hear that, and several girls couldn't help but physically tremble.

"Looking back now, Selena's trembling expression at that time was clearly more painful than Leah's."

Chapter 174

"Selena at the beginning looked at Leah with defensiveness, when she picked the seat, she picked the place furthest away from Leah. When she took the soup, she was not willing to let Leah close to her, it was Leah who had to forcefully take the soup."

Some details, when deeply considered, were their stupidity and Leah's malicious intentions.

Leah shook her head with a pitiful expression, "It's not like that, Selena made it up. Selena deliberately set me up."

Class 10 students, however, would never believe her again, and someone asked, "So, is Selena sick, deliberately splashing you with hot soup in public and then refusing to apologise to make us all hate her and alienate her?"

Leah's expression suddenly froze, sniffing and crying in anguish.

"You are always like this, presenting a pitiful face, a few tears, a few words of aggression, some specious explanations, and you succeed in putting all the fault on Selena, and we all become your accomplices."

"Leah, you always say that Selena is your sister, you are very tolerant of her, then let I ask you, you are the group leader of the class group, it is true that we hated Selena, but is anyone really say a word to you that don't get Selena in? We all don't have her contact information, but don't you, as a kind and tolerant good sister, have her number?"

"Charlotte locked in the classroom for a night, why didn't you, as her family, come out to her when your sister didn't come home? You didn't even make a single phone call. If you really cared about her and made a call to her, she wouldn't have been locked up in a classroom in the dark all night."

"When Selena was wrongly accused of cheating, you and Freya were in the same boat. Freya said with certainty that Selena had cheated, you said that it was impossible for Selena to have cheated, you looked so anxious at that time that you were on the verge of tears, which made some students who were originally moved by Selena's cries to have compassion discouraged from asking for the truth. After that, you said in front of the whole class that you would plead with the seniors of the student council and would beg them to be lenient and not to let Selena be completely ruined. But which one had you beg, will you ask him to come out?"

"Beg for Selena's mercy?" Amber sneered, raising his chin and took a glance the faces of all the members of the Student Council one by one, "Which one of you has received a plea for mercy from Leah? Tell me about it."

"No."

"No."

"Never heard of it."

Amber laughed coldly, “Frankie, you are the first year student representative of the medical department and have the best relationship with Leah, has she ever pleaded with you for her sister?”

Frankie’s face was pale and his eyes were full of coldness when he looked at Leah, “No. When Freya reported the two cases of cheating, she repeatedly emphasized the bad circumstances, that Selena still did not repent. The department was ready to expel her, but for the sake that Selena is Leah’s sister, I asked her privately if she needed our help.”

He stared at Leah, looking at her white face, and said in an angry voice –

Chapter 175

“But Leah told me that even if Selena is her sister, she can’t bend the law for personal gain, the school should punish her as they see fit. As an older sister, she didn’t teach her sister well, let Selena bring shame to Creephia University and cause us trouble, she felt very sorry for us, for this reason she even sent us a gift to express her apology. She said that even if Selena was really expelled, she wouldn’t blame anyone, and that she would persuade and comfort Selena, so that she would return to the right path. All of us, at that time, felt that she was kind and generous and fair and strict.”

“Full of lies. She has a vicious heart, just like her mother.”

“Such a good education at Creephia University has not even awakened a bit of conscience in her, so it is evident that she is really bad from the roots. People of such bad character do not deserve to attend Creephia University, after today’s incident is over, we will jointly write a petition to make sure that Leah and Angie are expelled from campus. I will definitely not let my children stay with such two bad girls in school.”

Leah’s face stiffened at her lies were exposed in public, her fingertips pinched dead into her palm, and the look in her eyes at Selena was filled with panic and hatred.

Selena smiled coldly and looked down on her with a look that was even slightly cruel.

Frankie continued, “But in fact, Selena’s cheating incident, according to the school’s practice, is a record, no degree, but she can still graduate with a diploma, but Freya said she had a bad attitude, refused to admit her mistakes, and contradicted the teacher, so she had to expel Selena. The medical department listened to her, withdrawal notice were printed out. Leah said she was worried about Selena would not be able to bear the blow and personally came to the office to collect the notice of withdrawal for Selena, saying that she would hand it to her personally, and that she would comfort Selena. When she was talking to Freya, she happened to be overheard by Ms. Amber Prince, who was from an outside department and the medical department was not under her control, but she still personally called the headmaster and forcefully replaced the notice of withdrawal with a demerit according to the original rules.”

“She called to inform Zachary to collect the punishment, so that he personally handed it over to Selena, so this matter only ended up not passing through Leah’s hands. Freya holds a grudge against Ms. Prince because of this, and often makes up to people in private about her meddling.”

“How can a teacher be so vicious? Is she here today? Tell her to get her ass out here and explain.”

“She’s already been arrested for taking bribes. I heard that although no money was found, she has several properties of unknown origin, and the parents of the Class 10 are going to sue her en masse, so she won’t be able to get out for the next few decades.”

“Serves her right. Such a person with corrupt morals should be locked up so as not to plague the next generation.”

Amber lifted her chin and looked at Leah, asking, “Leah, do you need to confront your teacher about the truth or falsity of this matter?”

Leah’s face was as pale as a ghost, and she forced herself to calm down, but the scornful and angry curses coming from all around her disturbed her thoughts, making it impossible for her to concentrate.

Moreover, she was confronted in front of the students and teachers, and in broad daylight, even if she had a hundred mouths, she would not have been able to fool them.

So she could only grit her teeth and shiver as she felt the humiliation and pain of being publicly executed.

What was there to say in defence of her gloomy face and her silent appearance?

“Fortunately, I didn’t let Leah go and send Selena a notice of withdrawal at that time, or her vicious and sinister mouth would have driven Selena to suicide.”

“In order to take away Selena’s things, she set up Selena’s head. I’ve never seen such a malicious and brazen woman.”

In a flash, everyone’s perception of Leah changed forever, and they looked at her with a strong sense of disgust and contempt.

Chapter 176

Dominic was thrown into a corner by the bodyguard, dazed and confused as he listened to the overwhelming curses.

In his mind, everything in the past was Selena’s own doing, she was the one who wasted his patience on her, she was the one who shamelessly joined hands with others to cuckold him, so she deserved to be dumped, repented of her marriage and end up with nothing but a notorious reputation.

But everything he had seen today was telling him in a tangible way that in many things, Selena was in fact the innocent victim.

The domineering and vicious one was Angie.

Leah was not as kind and wonderful as he thought she was.

Even if he could deny all the words, what Angie did on that video, domineering and vicious, was something that could not be denied in any way, which was echoing in his mind over and over again.

So many times in the past, every time Angie ran to him in tears saying that Selena had bullied her, and he blamed Selena for all the mistakes without even asking because of his preconception.

But the truth was like a ridiculous, huge slap in his face, telling him how cruel and stupid he really was.

He wronged and hurt Selena time and again, so Selena didn't want him at all and she married another man.

The frustration and entanglement in Dominic's heart almost spilled out, his expression blank, as if he did not want to believe this fact.

He looked at Selena on the high stage in a daze, and he could not wait to grab her and ask her in a hateful voice if she was really married to another man.

How could she marry another man?

But the truth was, he could only be pressed in like an insignificant clown, looking up at Selena, who didn't want to hear his voice and didn't even bother to give him one glance in disgust.

When did the girl who used to chase after him and love him get so far away from him?

Far away as if no matter how much he chased, he could never catch her up again.

When this thought broke into his mind, there was suddenly a place in Dominic's heart that was empty that he was scared, panicked, and even uncomfortable beyond description, as if the most important thing in his life was lost, and then, never to be recovered.

His face was pale, and for the first time in so many years, he did not bother to pay the slightest bit of attention to Leah on an occasion where Leah and Selena were both present, and only stared at Selena in awe.

Selena's lips curved in an icy arc as she looked down at Leah, asking in a cold voice, "Leah, do you still want to continue confronting these students? Tell me every single thing you have wronged me and schemed me with in detail. But I don't think there's much point, after all, there's they already know what a piece of shit you are. As I said, I'd peel off that skin of hypocrisy from you layer by layer. Today is just the beginning, I wasted half a day sitting here playing with you, but you're unbearable, let me down."

Chapter 177

All of Selena's cold and cruel words combined were not as heartbreaking as this one.

Leah's face was bloodless, and she staggered back a few steps as if she couldn't take the blow, staring at Selena with a deadly stare, wanting to pounce on her and skin her.

Selena's eyes were cold, "In the past so many years, you always so smugly thought that your methods were superior and stepped on me to the point of being unable to turn over, see, leaving those dirty and despicable thoughts, you are weak and powerless to fight back. What qualifications do you have to compete with me since you are inferior to me in every way?"

It was the first time that Leah had been treated with such contempt, and Selena looked at her as if she was just an insignificant bug who was out to clean up after her because she had angered her. In normal times, she wouldn't even have the qualifications to get her attention.

Leah could not bear the feeling of being looked down upon by Selena, who was clearly her defeated opponent and who had robbed her of everything, and when her anger reached the extreme, she calmed down instead.

Her face was pale, covered with teardrops, her eyes stored full of tears looked distinctly pitiful. She opened her mouth, her voice carried a hint of calmness, "Selena, you are so cruel."

As soon as she spoke, she instantly focused everyone's eyes on her.

Selena sneered, "This is a public execution, and you have the right to justify yourself."

Leah took a deep breath and tears came out in big gush, "Yes, I did lie and wanted you to leave school because I didn't like you, was jealous of you, and envied you."

She took a deep breath and in the next second, cried at the top of her lungs, "Why is it that from a young age you were the high and mighty Miss Riddle, while I had to live with the reputation of being an illegitimate daughter? My mother and father met first, they were the first love, but in the end my father became your father, I became the illegitimate daughter that no one wanted, all the best was yours. Selena, what about me? Everywhere I go, people point at me, call me a daughter born of a mistress, say I shouldn't even exist. You can call out for your father openly, but I have to be called a fatherless child."

She wiped her face, as if trying to swallow all that anger, but couldn't control it and let out a whimper, "Selena, you're better than me in everything, you're prettier than me, you come from a better name than me, you're smarter than me, you get better grades than me, you have the best childhood friend who loves you and pampers you. Everywhere we go, the first person everyone looks at is you, I can only ever cower behind and watch you. I don't have anything, I can't help but be jealous. I just don't want to stand in the same situation as you."

This cry was heartfelt and sincere, and as they watched her cry, many people's hearts felt compassion once again. It was indeed not easy for a child who grew up with the reputation of being an illegitimate daughter.

Some people began to ponder whether the previous one-sided accusation was too much for Leah.

After all, the positions are different, and anyone with such a complex family has their own pity.

After all, you can't choose something like birth, and no one wants to be a bastard.

When some people looked at Leah once again, there was more than a vague sympathy.

Chapter 178

Selena let out a snort and narrowed her eyes slightly, "I asked you to defend yourself and all you said was the reason why you did what you did. Leah, are you not going to refute this and just admit to all the charges above?"

Leah's teeth clenched. It was truth that she had wrongly accused, how is she going to defend herself?

“Yes.” Leah’s eyes were red and she was trembling with tears, “I did all that. I am willing to accept any punishment.”

Selena slightly inclined her head, facing Leah’s backlash, her tone was light, “Alright, then let’s talk about your problem. You said that Mr. Riddle and Mrs. Riddle were first love, and it was my mother stole Mr. Riddle that caused you to be reduced to an illegitimate daughter, is that what you mean?”

Leah choked once again, her face instantly blushed pale once more.

Molly, who was being pressed by Dr. Lynn to save her, roared, “You’re talking nonsense. Leah, Leah didn’t mean that.”

Selena asked suspiciously, “Isn’t that what Leah’s words mean?”

The crowd was stunned and carefully recalled what Leah had just said. She was crying so pitifully that everyone’s attention was focused on the suffering she had endured, and they didn’t see anything wrong with what Leah had said.

After Selena had made such a point, and after thinking about it, they thought Leah meant that the reason she became an illegitimate daughter was because of Selena’s mother.

“Shit. This woman is too scary, I almost fall into her trap. The same words, coming from her mouth, is easy to lead people to another way. I finally understand how the students in that class are led to a wrong way.”

“I had sympathy for her just now, it is a waste that this woman doesn’t become a cult to brainwash people. She is very scheming.”

“Bullshit. Who doesn’t know what Selena’s mother’s status is? She was the daughter of a noble family in the capital, but Selena’s father was just a working man who had nothing, she disgraced herself to marry him, and you said she stole your father, destroying his relationship with your father, causing your in illegitimate daughter. How do you have the nerve to say that, Leah?”

“Even if your father and your mother were childhood sweethearts, did they get married? But it is obvious to all that your father and Selena’s mother got married. If your father got married with your mother, then he is guilty of bigamy. Without a license, who are you to say that Selena’s mother broke your parents’ childhood love?”

“Leah, are you stupid? Don’t you know how many people chased Selena’s mother in Creephia back then, and there were people who chased her all the way from the capital to Creephia, trying every possible way to marry her? Don’t you know how many charities Selena’s mother has done in Creephia and how many people she has helped? She ended up marrying your father instead of anyone else, and the scene of your father proposing to her was seen by many people and became a good story in Creephia. He didn’t say he had a childhood friend, and there was no sign of being forced. How dare you make up false accusations against Selena’s mother, bitch?”

“It’s all because of the last Mrs. Riddle that the Riddle family is what it is today. On the contrary, it was your father, who betrayed her by popping up a daughter like you after marriage. Selena’s mother was kind and left you behind, if it were up to me, I would have let you not even have a chance to be born.”

“Too shameless, you guys hog the family property left behind by Selena’s mother, bully her daughter, and try to smear the reputation of a deceased person, Leah, shame on you.”

Chapter 179

Surprisingly, Leah’s remark seemed to have offended the public, and most of the older people present spoke out to rebuke her.

This scene stunned a group of young people.

Even Selena had a slight surprise.

When Selena’s mother died, she was still too young to remember much, only vaguely remembering that she was a very gentle and beautiful woman, but not expecting that even after all these years of her death, she would still have such a high popularity in Creepia.

Those who were about her age were surprisingly defending her.

That woman was not a simple character.

It was a pity that after her death, her only daughter was left unloved and uncared for.

Leah didn’t expect this situation. She had only wanted to make these people sympathise with her by slandering Selena’s mother, but she hadn’t expected that not only had she failed to achieve her goal, but that it would backfire and make people dislike her even more.

Leah’s face turned even whiter and her body became shaky.

She only vaguely knew that Selena’s mother came from the capital and had a prestigious status, but for so many years, no one from her mother’s family had come to see Selena, so she had long ago treated Selena as a wretch that could be bullied with impunity, but in no way did she expect that her just casually mentioning something about that woman would cause so many people to resent it.

This situation was unbelievable.

Selena smiled, “The fact proves that the reason why you are reduced to an illegitimate daughter is the result of your father being unfaithful to his marriage and your mother seducing a married man, my mother is a victim from the beginning to the end. You are not qualified to blame your illegitimate daughter status on her, the one you should blame is your mother and your father, one of them cheated in marriage and the other one became a mistress.”

Leah bit her lips to death, she was about to explode with anger.

As she listened to the condemnation and angry scolding, Molly was so angry that she rolled her eyes and almost passed out.

Selena looked at Leah’s face and her eyes became even more sneering, “As for what you said later, because I was good, you were jealous of me and that’s why you did such an evil thing. Leah, according to your logic, I kill you and then tell you that it is because I dislike you, so I can become justifiable? Do you think you can even defy the law since you have played many mind tricks?”

Leah's face was ashen, "Selena, you said I was hypocritical, that I baited them with my words, but what about you? I clearly didn't mean that, it was you who deliberately distorted my meaning."

Selena raised her eyebrow and asked rhetorically, "Then what do you mean?"

"I... I..."

"That's clearly what she means, trying to exploit our sympathy for the weak and fade down her hypocritical and vicious image. I almost fell into her trap just now."

"I almost believed her crap just now and had sympathy for her, I must have a problem in my mind."

Selena seemed to feel that it was not thorough enough, and raised a cold smile, "Leah, you have explained, now it is my turn. Because you are illegitimate, so you have a bad life, you are jealous of me, just do so many evil things, then excuse me, have you seen which illegitimate daughter has a good as you? You have love from your parents, beautiful, kind, talented, and I, the real miss, don't have a mother, my father cheated within marriage, my home was occupied, my fiance cheated on me and I become infamous. You called yourself grievance. Does it serve me right that you have robbed me of everything and hurt me?"

Chapter 180

The last sentence struck Leah's heart like a deafening blow, and when she met Selena's azure black and cold eyes, she staggered back a few steps, explaining almost incoherently, "No, no, no. I don't mean that."

Selena's eyes were creepy, "You said you were jealous that I was prettier than you, so you took advantage of my previous weakness of liking Dominic and joined forces with Angie to set me up, saying he liked women with flattering looks."

"You said you were jealous that I came from a more legitimate name than you, so all these years at events within the noble circle, Molly never brought me, and every time only you were present. Before the wedding, the whole of Creephia only knew that you, Leah, were Ms. Riddle, and I, the legitimate daughter, was only the nymphomaniacal and foolish Second Miss."

"You said you were jealous that I was smarter than you and got better grades than you, so Molly threatened me that I couldn't get higher than you in my exams. I did well in my A-Levels, and when I went to university, I suffered from campus cold violence and being vilified for cheating."

"You said you were jealous that I had the best childhood friend, so my childhood friend went to bed with you and became yours."

"You said you were jealous that the first person everyone looked at was me, and you could always cower in the back. How can you have the nerve to say such things?"

As Selena said each word, Leah felt as if each word was a heavy slap on her face, and the way she looked at Selena became frightened.

She had a sudden, belated and clear moment of recognition.

She could not play lip service with Selena, in front of her, absolutely not to say too much, or there would be more mistakes.

And those words of Selena were clearly transmitted into the ears of everyone at the scene, they felt the anger in their hearts was completely ignited little by little.

Every single thing Selena said was an irrefutable and well-known fact. Leah had done so many evil things, yet told her so-called grievances in front of Selena, the victim she had robbed from.

Compared to what happened to Selena, her grievances were nothing.

“Leah, how can you be so shameless? Please know that, it is you and your mother and father who owe Selena. Even if Selena treats you badly, beat you and scold, you deserve it, where do you get the never to frame and slander Selena out of jealousy?”

“You are aggrieved to lose the moral bottom line you should have just by being calling you an illegitimate daughter, then Selena has lost so much, who will bear her aggression? The three of you owe Selena and her mother, how dare you frame Selena in such a justifiable manner? The reason is even more ridiculous, just because you are jealous of her, so you stole everything from her. You are so vicious and selfish that you are worse than an animal.”

“It’s disgusting, how could I go to the same school as such people? Leah and Angie get out of Creephia University.”

Leah shook her head in panic, tears rolling down her face in big puddles, she wanted to explain aloud that the slander of Selena for cheating was clearly done by Angie and it had nothing to do with her. The school violence could only be said to have been caused by her, there was no solid evidence to blame her.

But her reputation was already in tatters, and no matter how much she cried or how much she explained, no one would believe her at this point.

Selena the vile villain used the public opinion to ruin her, she thought, to make her take all the blames.
