

Love Rats 34

Chapter 34

Selena smiled faintly and asked in return, "What request?"

Dominic's face froze again.

Dare he say in public about Selena holding twenty percent of the Riddle family's shares, and that he had promised to get married with her?

Selena lowered her long eyelashes, her face lost all expression, and her tone was cold.

"Dominic, you always put all the blame on me, but have you ever asked yourself what you have done from the moment I stepped into the Walson family?"

Dominic looked at her face that had lost its smile and was stunned.

What did he do?

He started off by indiscriminately helping Leah berate Selena, telling her to get lost, scolding her for being slutty and shameless and never giving her a single gift.

He told her personally that the person he loved was Leah, and that he would not look at her more than once even if she died.

Dominic recalled what he had done, before he was abruptly shocked to realize that he had given all his maintenance and care to Leah, and to Selena, all of it was indifference and hurt.

"I..." He wanted to say out loud that it was all because she had done something wrong in the first place, and that was why he was so cruel to her, but he could not say it inexplicably to Selena's face, which was without a trace of expression at the moment.

As everyone knows, he can deny all of Selena, but he cannot deny Selena's love for him.

But now, it seems that Selena has really fallen out of love.

When this last thought entered his mind, he was struck by a sour feeling of disappointment.

Selena raised her eyelids, her cold eyes looked straight at Dominic, seemingly with endless accusations and sadness, "Dominic, since you raised your request, do you still remember my request?"

She didn't care about such a scumbag, but she wanted to save her reputation and everything for the real Selena.

Having the truth come out of this man's mouth was more convincing than if she had said it herself.

Dominic looked at that pair of eyes like a complaint, his mind seemed to be compelled, then remembered, Selena seemed to have said that as long as he told the truth about that incident in public, she would get married with him.

As soon as he tells the truth, this stunningly beautiful and noble girl belongs to him.

Leah felt the hand that was tugging at her slowly relaxing from its initial tightness, with a vague tendency to let go.

Her face stiffened slightly, and a cold sweat inexplicably burst out on her back.

What did Dominic promise Selena?

Leah did not know, but she was almost certain that it was bound to be very bad for her.

Damn Selena!

Mrs. Walson's eyes lit up, her gaze rising with a hint of hope. As long as Dominic got Selena, the Walson family and the Riddle family could almost all be his!

Mrs. Walson raised her voice, "Dominic, Selena is your fiancée, you have already done so many things to wrong her."
