

Love Rats 601

chapter 601

No one paid any attention to her.

Isabel became even more terrified, shaking as she cried out, "Let me make a phone call to my brother..." Still no one paid any attention to her. The police dragged her to the front of the car and threw her in, then a group of police cars whizzed away.

Only a series of terrifying and ear-piercing screams were left behind.

...

In another villa.

Leah was frightened by the virtual bloody scenes that jumped out from the screen, and dropped her phone.

She turned pale and a bone-chilling cold spread from her body layer by layer. She was both angry and anxious, and her face twisted in pain.

Damn it!

Why did Weibo switch to real-name registration?

Before she could come up with a reason, she heard the maid's puzzled voice from downstairs, "Mr. Walson, you just arrived, why do you have to leave so soon?"

Leah was startled, and after realizing what had happened, her face changed dramatically.

She hurriedly chased after him and caught up with Dominic just as he was about to rush out the door. From behind, she hugged him and said, "Dominic, please listen to my explanation..."

Dominic turned around to look at her, with a haggard face and a terrifyingly gloomy expression. "Fine! You explain, I'm listening!"

Leah trembled as she met his gaze. "Dominic, I... I..."

As she spoke, tears started to fall down.

Dominic looked at her in disbelief, with a mix of sarcasm and disappointment in his eyes.

"How do you want to explain? Saying that Light Snow is not you but a mistake by Weibo system? You hypocritically told everyone that Selena would not be a third party, but at the same time, you viciously cursed Selena as a shameless third party and incited others to curse her..."

Leah's face lost all color, and she wracked her brain for a long time but couldn't find a reason to deny it. She broke down in tears and cried pitifully, "I'm sorry, Dominic, I was just too angry. Selena made me lose my mother, lose the runner-up, lose my home, and end up in this situation. I couldn't help it. I was confused for a moment..."

Dominic closed his eyes.

He dared not look at the face of the woman in front of him.

Scenes of Light Snow's vicious words under Selena's Weibo flashed before his eyes, and he couldn't understand how a "gentle and kind" rich girl could say such cruel words.

He thought Leah was just hypocritical, but he didn't expect her to be so double-faced.

Too ugly!

Dominic shook off Leah's hand and walked away.

Leah cried and hugged him, "Dominic, I was wrong. I will never scold Selena again. Please, don't leave..."

After coming back from M City, Dominic never came to see her again.

Angie was like a nightmare, torturing her day and night with various malicious methods.

Mrs. Riddle is in prison, exhausted both physically and mentally, but no one cares about her. It was not easy for Dominic to come and see her, but he happened to stumble upon this scene. Leah hates Selena so much.

Dominic's face turned cold as he shook her off and strode out.

Leah was caught off guard and pushed to the ground by Dominic.

She held her stomach with one hand and cried out, "Dominic, my stomach hurts so much..."

Dominic's footsteps came to a halt, and he clenched his fists tightly.

Leah could see his struggle and cried even more pitifully, "Dominic, save me, save our child..."

Dominic listened to Leah's weak pleading voice in his ear, but his mind kept replaying another matter.

If Leah had not fallen ill on that day, clinging to him and preventing him from keeping the appointment, he would not have broken his promise, giving Mrs. Riddle the opportunity to harm Selena and ruin everything between him and Selena.

Dominic's forehead veins bulged and he exclaimed, "Get her a doctor!"

He left without looking back after he finished speaking.

Leah watched as he decisively walked away, resentment welling up in her eyes. Suddenly, she screamed out, "Selena!!!"

...

Vivian saw Lady Lauren's name appear in the comments below, and her mind went blank.

How is this possible?

How could a noble lady like Lady Lauren possibly bother with such trivial matters as following Weibo?

She hates Selena so much that it's even less likely for her to go out of her way to defend her!

This must be fake!

But immediately after, she saw her own name appearing after the ID, Isabel, Cindy, Michelle's video... everyone's real names were revealed!

Vivian's face turned pale.

She...

"She actually dared to tell Lady Lauren to get lost just now?"

Beads of cold sweat dripped down from Vivian's forehead.

Then what made Vivian even more desperate was that she not only saw Lady Lauren, but also saw Osvaldo...

They all saw it!

They saw the intentionally misleading and blackening words she posted about Selena.

Vivian was so angry that she smashed her phone on the spot.

Damn Weibo, why did it become a real-name system?

...

Olympus Group.

The crowd stared in amazement at the sudden and large-scale car accident scene, and it took a long time before they came back to their senses.

"What's wrong with Weibo... it's been blocked?"

"This is fucking about time for this to happen. All the mentally ill can hide and run anymore!"

"Hahaha!! Miss, you're so awesome!"

"This move is awesome. How did she come up with such a method? It can be called the biggest car crash scene in history..."

"Hahaha! It's so funny! How many fake friendship crashed on the spot!"

“Damn it! After all the trouble, it turns out that stupid Isabel was behind it all. Now, Lady Selena doesn’t need to do anything, that idiot messed up everything completely!”

“She has been in trouble twice and was rescued both times. I don’t believe she can have such good luck again this time!”

“She has committed a major offense this time, and all the evidence is conclusive. Moreover, she is in the eye of the storm. I don’t believe that her backers can save her!”

Luke’s lips curled up as he saw numerous large car-crash scenes on the phone screen.

This rascal never fails to disappoint!

The outrageous things Isabel did were publicly exposed by Selena all at once. Even if Christ could still save Isabel, the reputation of the Collins family is doomed to be ruined.

At this moment, Mrs. Collins’s departure from the Collins family with Michelle adds insult to injury. the Collins family is finished!

She really kept her word, if her husband was cursed, she’s going to curse their whole family!

“Mr. Jordon, how did Lady Selena pull it off?” someone asked curiously, “It can’t really be that Weibo has gone crazy, can it?”

It is impossible.

Weibo has been around for many years, but never before has such a big bug occurred, and it happened at this critical moment. It is clearly caused by human intervention.

The girls in the PR department remembered the last time in public opinion about the Riddle family, there was a big shot who helped Selena to deal with both the Riddle family from the capital and the hacker alliance...

Confirmed!

Lady Selena is a woman protected by big shots!

She can’t be provoked!

chapter 602

And at this moment on Weibo, after Isabel’s name was exposed, no one dared to speak up for her anymore.

The black fans who previously helped Isabel accuse Selena of being a third party immediately made the decision to delete their comments and leave as before.

But those comments are like roots that cannot be deleted no matter how they try to manipulate them. Not only can’t they delete it, but their phones seem to have caught a virus, and it’s stuck on the Weibo page and won’t exit.

They can only curse while looking at the account with real name and bearing the wrath of angry netizens.

Some people switched to another phone, logged in with a different account, and reported to the Weibo backend that the real-name system had infringed on their privacy.

The customer service representative replied with a smile, “Dear, we suggest that you refrain from speaking temporarily here, as the system is continuously crashing and we do not know what else might crash out.”

The person kept cursing and reporting, but a cheerful voice came from the screen.

“A violation of account operation has been detected. We hereby notify you that your account has been blacklisted. Based on your past speech records, the estimated time for unlocking your account is “74747474” hours...”

“Legal society, harmony first, please take it as a warning, be civilized.”

“No! I have kept this account for several years! I rely on it to make a living!”

The same collapsing and angry shouts erupted at the same time in different cities.

Those accounts that remained on the page and could not exit also gradually received notifications from the system that they had been blacklisted.

...

In a quiet study room.

The notebook on the table lit up on its own, and a palm-sized imaging robot appeared on the screen page.

It raised its right hand to its chest and bowed gracefully, saying, “The ‘Clean Net’ campaign has ended. A total of 568 accounts were found to be in violation.”

The red eyes looked around the study and twisted once, “Not here?”

It finally turned toward the direction of the bedroom and bowed as a gesture of farewell, saying “Good night.”

Then it disappeared silently.

The next second, the computer screen went dark, and the study returned to complete silence.

...

At this moment, Selena was being led by Osvaldo to the basement.

She was looking at the handsome profile of the man beside her with smiling eyes that hinted at a playful teasing.

A man like Osvaldo actually reads Weibo.

The style of the comments is still so... unique?

Selena tugged on Osvaldo’s sleeve.

Osvaldo’s deep gaze turned over, his black hair pressing against his eyebrows, and his pale complexion made his expressionless face look particularly handsome. “Yes?”

Selena gave a light cough and said, “Please thank your mother for me...”

Osvaldo smiled and pinched her nose with his slender fingers, saying “It’s okay.”

Holding her hand, he continued to move forward, “She likes to watch the fun.”

Selena was speechless.

This son... seems to have some suspicion of “not filial piety”?

...

Isabel was taken off the car and pushed towards the police station.

This is her third time being incarcerated in Creephia.

Every time is thanks to Selena’s grace!

Isabel hates Selena to death, but more than anything, she is afraid.

Her drug trafficking was exposed by Selena, and coupled with her recent displeasure with Christ, the man warned her many times not to provoke Selena again.

Before she knew it, she had caused such a huge disaster.

Even Isabel is not sure if Christ will still care about her this time.

Isabel was horrified beyond words and was cursing Selena through her gritted teeth when a stone hit her on the face.

Blood splattered on her forehead immediately, and Isabel fell to the ground, screaming in pain.

This sound was like a signal, and in the next second, a storm of stinky eggs, rocks, and rotten leaves erupted and rained down on her head.

“Die, bitch!”

“Why can such a monstrous animal be released?”

“This time, we absolutely won’t give up until we see this animal die with our own eyes!”

Isabel’s legs were useless, unable to dodge. In an instant, she was covered in bruises from the blows and looked very embarrassed.

She lay on the ground, hands covering her face, crying out loud, and dared not look at those faces that seemed to want to devour her alive.

Finally, it was the police who blocked those people, thus preventing her from being smashed to death on the spot.

...

Christ received the message in the middle of the night.

At that time, he was sitting in a club, drinking, and heard his subordinate say that Isabel had been arrested and taken to jail.

Christ opened his eyes.

“Sir, the situation is different this time. Miss Isabel is dealing drugs, and not only that, to persuade those people to work for her, she even promised to use your identity to smuggle goods for them, and also to use your connections to expand their business in capital secretly...”

As soon as these words were spoken, a thick anger and disgust appeared on the faces of everyone in the box.

This woman...

Christ’s expression became colder and colder, and he kicked the table heavily, sending it flying.

Everyone present was stunned by the man’s fierce expression.

The long-accumulated resentment can no longer be restrained and bursts out uncontrollably. “Sir, please stop worrying about that woman, she will eventually cause your downfall!”

“If Miss Collins really cared about you even bit, she wouldn’t have repeatedly ignored your warnings and caused so much trouble! Please, don’t bother with her anymore!”

This time, in order to seek revenge, she dared to use your connections to smuggle drugs. Next time, if someone asks her to kill you, she will not hesitate to do it. Please stop dealing with her!”

Everyone knelt down and begged Christ not to intervene with Isabel anymore.

What’s so good about such a selfish and vicious woman that Christ has to tolerate her again and again?

Christ remained silent and simply pulled out his phone, navigating to Selena’s Weibo page.

He stared at the photo of the two embracing and kissing, the chill in his eyes gradually penetrating deeper.

Osvaldo took away the woman he desired and made the person he protected suffer so miserably, while his own woman continued to live so arrogantly and recklessly...

Why does this scene make him so angry?

The oppressive atmosphere was suffocating.

Christ laughed coldly and said, “Go tell Olivia to bring me Selena’s news of death tomorrow!”

Everyone looked up in surprise.

Kill Selena...

It’s like completely tearing off the face of the young master of the Anderson family, and then...

A group of people shuddered collectively.

They privately felt that Isabel deserved her fate, but Christ clearly did not think so.

Or perhaps, Selena's consecutive provocations completely angered him. Even if Isabel is not good, she is still someone he is protecting. Selena not only stepped on Isabel, but also on his Christ's self-esteem. The man stood up and walked out with a cold and ruthless demeanor.

chapter 603

Selena woke up the next morning, and as soon as she walked downstairs, she saw the butler walking in with a smile.

"Madam, a person sent by the lady brought something for you. Come and see if there is anything you like."

Selena blinked her eyes.

She remembered that Lady Lauren said yesterday that she was going to send me a few boxes of diamonds to use as weapons. Did she really send them over?

Selena walked down with a bit of curiosity and saw several small boxes neatly placed on the table. The maid approached and opened them one by one.

In an instant, the whole room was filled with sparkling and dazzling brilliance, almost blinding to the eyes.

The box is filled with beautiful diamonds of various colors, each of them priceless.

Selena's lips twitched heavily.

She thought Lady Lauren was just joking, but she didn't expect that she would actually send it over.

Selena felt amused, "Noah, I have no use for these things..."

"It's okay," the butler seemed particularly pleased about Lady Lauren bringing gifts for Selena, "You can just throw them around for fun. The Anderson family doesn't have much else, except for plenty of diamonds."

Selena was stunned.

"Alternatively, you can take it to give to your friends. I see that you have received many small gifts from your classmates, so it's only fair to reciprocate."

He noticed a long time ago that Selena isn't very good at understanding social cues.

She rarely makes friends, so they must not disappoint. They should help her who has never experienced the care of friends to make more good friends.

Selena looked up, pondered for a moment, and seemed to understand something as a faint smile appeared on her lips.

Could it be that she's not thinking what she thinks?

Selena turned around and picked up her phone from her backpack. She took a photo of the boxes of diamonds on the table, then opened her Weibo account.

Weibo crashed last night and was finally restored to normal this morning.

Selena's Weibo page has disappeared a group of negative comments and accounts, and all that remains is a group of genuine girls who really like and support her. The overall atmosphere is much more harmonious and peaceful.

Selena posted the photo and added a sentence.

Thank you, Mom.

Lauren almost replied in seconds, "You're welcome. Go ahead and play, and I will give you some more after you finish them."

Indeed, this is also a vindictive master who holds a grudge.

Due to the Weibo system crashing last night, many people were checking Weibo early in the morning. Therefore, as soon as Selena posted this photo, it was immediately seen by people who were waiting for it.

“I’m going crazy! I’m going crazy!!”

“Oh my god! Don’t scare me like that early in the morning, I almost had a heart attack!”

“Selena rarely posts on Weibo, but when she does, it can cause a huge sensation. Why is Lady Selena’s mother-in-law so remarkable?”

“Last night those idiots were mocking her for not being able to afford a Crown car. Today, Lauren casually gave her daughter-in-law a few boxes of diamonds. Hahaha, it’s so hilarious!

“I am so jealous!”

“I bet Weibo hot search will crash within 10 minutes!”

“I ask those idiots from last night and that Vivian who told others to “get lost”, do you feel ashamed?”

After Selena posted the picture, she was about to turn off her phone and go to class when she remembered what the butler had said earlier.

All the black fans have been cleared out, and only this group of girls has been consistently supporting her.

Selena remembered the time when she shared a picture of her boyfriend and received no blessings.

These girls were busy squabbling, and so far she hadn’t heard a single word of blessing.

It clearly became a thing on Selena’s mind as well...

She left a message on the page again.

“Comment section giveaway, 99 diamonds, while supplies last.”

After that, she logged off.

“...”

After a few seconds of silence, Weibo successfully crashed again.

...

Early in the morning, Luke received a call from the Weibo manager, who was crying on the phone.

“Mr. Jordon, please persuade Selena. She is always causing a stir on Weibo hot search every day, and we can’t handle it anymore...”

Luke’s lips twitched, “Lady Selena is trending on Weibo, bringing you traffic, isn’t that a good thing?”

The words were spoken correctly, but...

“...but our system can’t withstand constant crashes like this...”

Luke, “...”

...

After finishing breakfast, Selena put down her phone and casually grabbed a diamond and placed it into her backpack. Osvaldo then escorted her to school for her classes.

Before entering the school gate, Osvaldo raised his hand and pressed her lip corner, “If you have troubles, be sure to call me.”

Selena knows that the man is worried about her.

She sent Isabel to prison three times in a row, which is equivalent to trampling on Christ’s self-esteem and pride.

The fact that the man can endure until now without laying a hand on her makes Selena feel strange.

She smiled at Osvaldo and said, “Okay.”

After speaking, he turned around and walked towards the inside of the school.

Oswaldo focused his gaze on the slender figure as it walked farther and farther away, silently bidding farewell.

...

Selena had just entered the campus when Zachary ran towards her with a worried expression on his face, "Lady Selena, are you okay?"

Selena smiled slightly and said, "I'm fine, is Billy okay?"

Zachary let out a sigh of relief, "My brother is okay, just his expression looks a bit weird, probably just scared..."

Selena looked up and saw a group of girls standing behind Zachary, all with teary eyes and looking at her.

Jemima's eyes were red, "Lady Selena, you scared me..."

She didn't sleep well all night last night.

Thinking that if she hadn't seen it, or if the student council had arrived late, Lady Selena would definitely have been taken away by those bad people... that would be too scary.

Selena saw her haggard face and chuckled a bit, realizing that she must have been the one who went to fetch someone yesterday.

After all, she grew up in an ivory tower and hasn't experienced many social ills. It's unavoidable that she would be frightened.

Selena smiled and took out the diamond from her backpack. She placed it in Jemima's hand and said, "It's all right now. Thank you all for the gifts. This is my return gift, please help me give it to everyone."

After speaking, she patted Jemima on the shoulder and said, "Study hard and make sure to do well in the second mock exam."

After speaking, Selena turned around and lifted her foot towards the experimental building.

Jemima held a diamond in her hand, her expression was dull.

Whatever fear there was, it instantly vanished into thin air.

...

Selena followed Zachary towards the laboratory, explaining the problem they couldn't solve last night as they walked.

The phone in the bag vibrated.

Selena casually took out her phone, but her gaze froze as she saw the new message on the screen.

The footsteps going up the stairs also stopped.

Zachary noticed her strangeness and looked at her doubtfully, "Lady Selena?"

Selena lifted her eyelids, her dark eyes revealing a hint of indescribable meaning, and spoke softly...

chapter 605

A long and powerful hand reached out from the front and grabbed her wrist.

Selena lifted her eyelashes and looked over.

Black Crow was extremely disgusted and said, "Where did you provoke so many ugly monsters?"

Selena's eyes twinkled with a hint of mischief, as she grinned and said, "They're just jealous of my good looks."

The waitress standing by the table realized something and drew out a knife from her body, fiercely stabbing towards Selena.

Black Crow first tightened her neck and smashed her head heavily onto the desktop.

With a “bang”, the skull hit the hard wooden board and instantly shattered into pieces, it sounded painful even just listening to it.

Selena’s bag fell down together and got covered with orange juice.

Just as she heard the phone ringing, she frowned and went to look for it.

Black Crow caught her first and looked disgusted, “So dirty!”

Selena let out a faint sigh, and picked up a chair, swiftly and accurately knocking down the person who had attacked her.

Black Crow grumbled and lifted its long leg, kicking several people who rushed towards it heavily and forcing them out.

He threw something to Selena and said, “Stand back!”

Selena took over, it was a beautiful sachet, pure black, with only a small white flower embroidered in the middle.

With a refreshing and invigorating aroma.

Selena opened it and took out a piece of osmanthus candy and put it in her mouth, instantly refreshing the air.

The phone is still vibrating.

Selena looks down.

Black Crow must have stopped her from picking up the phone not only because of cleanliness.

She looked carefully and found that there were a lot of dark things on her backpack.

Gathered right at the spot where the orange juice was spilled.

Selena’s gaze fixed for a moment as she looked carefully.

Then she shuddered.

Nine out of ten women are afraid of insects, and considering that she also has a phobia of being in close proximity to others, it’s not surprising.

Selena’s face turned white.

If it were not for the candy in her mouth, she would definitely lose her cool and make some irrational moves.

Bastard!

Mom...help me!!!

It seems that Black Crow sensed Selena’s breakdown, and he slammed the last man he was holding onto the wall heavily, then walked towards her with a gloomy face.

He took off his coat while walking and threw it to Selena, saying “What are you afraid of? Those things dare not approach you!”

Selena took a deep breath while holding his coat and forced herself to calm down. She spoke coldly, “Burn down the coffee shop. As long as nobody dies, it’s fine. I have money and can afford to compensate.”

Black Crow looked at her cowardly appearance disdainfully, but didn’t say anything, turned around and went to look for fire.

These harmful things should be left here. If they are not fully cleaned up, they could harm others.

Burning is the easiest way.

Selena’s face turned cold and she asked, “Where is the person who released the bug?”

Black Crow sneered and looked like he wanted to kill someone, “He ran away.”

He thought it was a small fry and didn’t pay attention, but he didn’t expect it was actually coming for Selena.

If he had known earlier, he would have just pinched it to death!
Other people in the cafe ran out as soon as it got noisy.
The other party should have been the one who came out together at that time.
Although she don't know who specifically did it, it was definitely someone sent by Christ to kill her.
Selena secretly held a grudge against Christ in her heart.
When she cursed Christ, she heard Black Crow say, "Stay still and don't move."
Selena nodded her head.
Black Crow found the wine in the shop and poured it all over the floor.
There are no gas cylinders here, just avoid the lines.
Selena heard the continuous shaking of the bell in her backpack and raised her hand to press on her forehead.
The phone must have been dialed by Osvaldo.
He must be very worried as she hasn't answered the phone for such a long time.
But with so many deadly bugs on her backpack, she simply couldn't reach for her phone.
She can only call him after she gets out.
Selena's expression turned cold.
Black Crow slid open the lighter and threw it onto the floor. In an instant, except for the spot where Selena was standing, the entire coffee shop was engulfed in flames.

...

Osvaldo drives while talking on the phone.
Selena's phone has a GPS tracker installed by him, so he can know her whereabouts anytime he wants.
The positioning system is still on, but her phone remains in an unanswered state.
What kind of situation would prevent his wife from even having the chance to answer the phone?
The expression on the man's face is becoming increasingly cold to the bone, as if his entire being has been stripped of humanity, leaving only a paranoid and dark shell.
Osvaldo drove the car at the speed of an airplane, rushing towards the airport with lightning speed.

...

At this moment, Isabel finally woke up from a coma after being unconscious for a night.
She opened her eyes and looked at the snow-white ceiling above her head. After a while, she realized that she was in a hospital.
While being taken to the prison last night, she was attacked by a group of passersby and was hit, causing her to faint on the spot.
And at this moment, if she can appear in the hospital, it can only be because Christ has come.
Isabel's tears immediately fell down, and she instinctively wanted to complain to Christ, but when she looked up, she found that Christ was not even in the room.
And this is not a deluxe ward either, it is just a very small, rudimentary ward.
If it weren't for the two black-clad men she had seen by Christ's side at the door, she would almost doubt that Christ had ever been there.
Isabel cried and shouted, "Where is my brother? I want to see my brother..."
No one answered her.
Two black-clad bodyguards looked at her with an unusually cold and disdainful gaze.
Isabel's back was filled with cold, and even her lips were trembling.
She had always known that Christ's subordinates didn't like her, but they still showed outward respect.
This time, however, they made no effort to disguise their hatred towards her.

Such cold and hateful eyes, as if they wished she were dead!
Isabel felt a bone-chilling fear rising from the depths of her heart.
Christ knows!
Only he knows what she has done.
“No... no... no!” Isabel disregarded her injuries and felt like she was falling into an ice cave.
Subconsciously denying, she said, “I just lied to them, I never intended to harm my brother...”
Two black-clad bodyguards remained completely unmoved, but their gaze towards her contained not only coldness and disgust, but also a sense of looking at an idiot.
Isabel was just an idiot?
What is the identity of the young master from the Anderson family?
She can't even be considered as a thing in front of him.
But with such a stupid thing, not only did she escape his marriage arrogantly, but also thought that him was not worthy of her.
What's even more ridiculous is that she has such a notorious reputation, yet she still arrogantly imagines that the young master would care about her and beg to come back to marry her...
There is no bigger idiot under the sun!
It is extremely embarrassing and shameful!
Not only is it embarrassing, but it also offends people excessively!
Isabel cried for half a day, but still no one paid any attention to her.
She cried out in despair, “Where did my brother go? I want to see him, please tell me, where did my brother go?”

chapter 606

Isabel's loud cries were extremely piercing and annoying, and one of the bodyguards said coldly, “Young master is going to kill Selena to help you seek revenge, so could you please calm down?”
The bodyguard originally thought that Isabel would react as usual upon hearing this news, with a smug and sneering expression.
Unexpectedly, on the scarred face of hers, there was not a trace of excitement, but instead a huge look of horror appeared.
Two bodyguards looked at each other, and both saw something unusual in the other's eyes.
If it were usual, Isabel would be extremely excited that Christ killed Selena for her.
But since Isabel learned that Selena is the girl Christ likes, she no longer dares to have such thoughts.
She has been trying every possible way to obstruct Christ from learning about Selena.
For Christ to go and kill Selena, it means he will inevitably meet that woman.
As soon as Selena speaks, Christ will know the truth.
Knowing that she had concealed Selena was the girl he had been searching for and wanted to bring back.
Knowing that Selena was the woman he set his sights on from the beginning, she still wanted to harm her repeatedly.
And there's also the red jadeite...
Isabel's face was pale, and she was trembling.
What should she do?
A completely unrecognizable woman lay paralyzed by the bedside, completely submerged in fear. She couldn't think of anything else, and there was only one thought in her mind.

Must not let Christ see Selena!

She nervously turned her head, her gaze slowly resting on the sharp corner of the table. In her one intact eye, a hint of madness flashed by, as if she was making a last desperate gamble.

...

Across the tea house, Christ stood in front of the French windows, coldly watching the coffee shop opposite burning down.

Thick smoke is rolling, and the whole street is covered in it.

The alarm sound is earth-shattering.

There is a woman standing behind him.

The woman has a high ponytail, wears a black tight-fitting outfit, steps on pointed high heels, has brown skin, a high and straight nose, deep facial features, and looks like a mixed-race person.

Her gaze also fell on the burning place, with a cigarette between her fingers, "I suspect Selena is connected to the tribunal."

Christ's eyebrows twitched and he tilted his head slightly.

Olivia chuckled, "My elder sister once saved her, I don't believe in such a coincidence."

Painted with smoky eye makeup at the outer corner, emanating a smoky charm from the eyes, "She came to Creephia with a mission at first..."

Christ's gaze turned cold, "Matilda?"

Mentioning that name, Olivia's smile became even more pronounced, but upon closer inspection, her gaze became cold. "Yes."

Christ turned his gaze away, his tone cold. "The tribunal belongs to no power, especially not Matilda. She will not be used by anyone, she is only an accident."

Olivia tightened her finger holding the cigarette, but her face did not show any unhappiness. She smiled and said, "If you kill Selena, the young master of the Anderson family, the Turner family, the Riddle family from the capital... will certainly not give up easily."

Lady Selena is really lucky.

More than half of the decision-makers in the capital now have a connection with her.

Christ let out a cold laugh.

Olivia was fascinated as she stared at this cool and crazy man.

She enjoys his indifference, loves his cruelty, and obsesses over his innate madness and bloodthirstiness. So as long as it's something he wants to do, she will definitely make it happen for him.

Even if it means violating all principles and morals.

Amid the blaring sirens, a black sports car rushed forward like a bolt of lightning and appeared in front of them in an instant.

The piercing sound of brakes shatters one's eardrums.

The car door was knocked open, and a man in black rushed out.

The handsome face, with a cold and pale color, rushed towards the burning cafe without any hesitation.

Christ coldly snorted at the sight of Osvaldo's current appearance.

To lose all basic rationality for a woman, such an opponent is truly unpleasant.

Another car stopped downstairs.

Luke, who was a step behind, opened the car door and saw Osvaldo's figure rushing over with determination, his face turning pale.

He was about to follow after tearing off his tie from his neck, but seemed to sense something and turned his head abruptly to look over.

A cold and excited gaze toward Christ.

Luke sneered, his face filled with ridicule and pity. "If Lady Selena really gets into trouble, you will surely regret it!"

After speaking, he turned around and followed.

Christ startled and then coldly laughed.

Did Selena have an accident... is he regretful?

It's impossible!

The crazier that man becomes, the more excited he gets, even if he eventually dies at the hands of the other person, he will not regret it.

In this world, there is nothing that can make Christ regret.

Olivia watched as two men rushed towards the fire scene, one in front and one behind, and a trace of anger rose in his eyes.

She has never met Selena.

But this does not prevent her from feeling jealous of others.

There is no woman in the world who does not want to be genuinely cherished and loved by a man who would do anything for her.

Her actions will be accounted for by Osvaldo later, and she will likely be the first to be targeted for execution.

Olivia took a deep drag on her cigarette, her expression fierce and cold.

...

In the coffee shop.

Apart from the containment zone where Selena is standing, everywhere else is on fire.

Selena covered her mouth and nose, feeling uneasy as the ringing of her phone in her bag stopped.

She said in a low and muffled voice, "I have to leave here quickly..."

Black Crow searched around again, making sure no corner was missed. Then, it walked towards her with a look of disgust and said, "Someone has not died!"

Selena occasionally looked up at the door, and from the expression on her face, it seemed like she wanted to rush out immediately.

Black Crow looked at her absent-minded expression with tightly knitted brows, and asked, "Have you got a boyfriend?"

Selena, "Yes."

Black Crow became even more disdainful, "What a disappointment!"

Is it just because of not picking up one phone call that you become so cowardly?

Selena didn't defend herself, she just asked, "How much longer?"

Black Crow glanced disdainfully at her and said, "There are plenty of them on the walls around here. If you're not afraid, just go ahead."

Selena took a deep breath and in that moment, she was so angry that she wanted to swear.

Even if she doesn't understand, she knows that it's not easy to raise this kind of thing.

To kill her, the other party released so much at once, which shows that they have invested a lot of money.

Black Crow felt something, turned its head and glanced at the door, and its expression became icy. "I'm leaving."

Selena looked puzzled and asked, "What?"

Black Crow turned around and walked towards the back door of the coffee shop. "Don't lose the bag I left for you."

Taking a pause, he said mercilessly, "Since you have provoked your boyfriend, be serious about it. Otherwise, if he locks you up, I won't come to save you."

Selena, "..."

Does she really have the potential to become a "scumbag woman"?

The departure of Black Crow signifies safety has been ensured.

Selena steadied herself and walked out with a lifted step.

chapter 607

Oswaldo rushed to the door and saw Selena swiftly walking out while holding her nose. Apart from her face being pale, she didn't seem to be injured.

The man's tense expression relaxed, and he rushed over and opened his arms, embracing her fully.

His strength was so great that Selena's body was sore from being squeezed.

She lifted her eyelashes wanting to speak, but the man was holding her too tightly, making it difficult for her to breathe. She could barely squeeze out the words, "Let's leave here first."

Oswaldo's black butterfly-like eyelashes trembled for a second.

During the vacancy of her not answering the phone, every inch of his nerves seemed to be soaked in fear, until this moment, rationality gradually returned to its proper position.

He restrained the violence in his bones, and the strength in his hands relaxed. After taking her away from the fire, he suppressed his emotions and asked, "Are you injured?"

Selena shook her head with Oswaldo's abnormal gaze and said, "It's okay, my phone had accident, so I couldn't answer the call."

Oswaldo looked deeply at her with a sense of profound intensity.

His gaze shifted and landed on her windbreaker.

That is a men's coat, dark and heavy, draped over Selena's shoulders, covering her from head to toe, making her delicate and petite figure stand out even more.

It is apparent that the owner of the clothes is tall.

She lost her backpack, but in her palms, there was a black scented sachet emitting a strong medicinal fragrance.

Oswaldo stared at the windbreaker firmly, and a terrifying storm gradually gathered in his eyes.

Selena blinked her eyes after a long wait for a response and asked, "What's wrong?"

Oswaldo lowered his long and straight eyelashes, his slender body trembling slightly, just as he couldn't help raising his hand to tear off the coat, Luke's voice came from behind the two of them.

"The cafe is about to collapse. Let's leave quickly!"

Oswaldo's slender hand turned, leading Selena as they turned around and took big steps towards the street.

Selena vaguely perceived that the man's mood was not quite right just now. She looked at his expressionless face, thought for a moment, and pulled his sleeve.

"I didn't mean to not pick up the phone. A lot of bugs crawled into my book bag and were also swarming around the doorstep. I didn't dare move without killing them first."

Oswaldo paused his steps and looked down at Selena's pale face.

Leia was clearly taken aback, her dark eyes widened as she looked at him, her gaze penetrating, but revealing nothing of her thoughts.

Oswaldo lowered his head and rubbed her forehead, gritting his teeth as he spoke softly, "It's okay, don't be afraid."

Selena's long eyelashes trembled and a sweet smile appeared on her face.

On the balcony of the opposite second floor.

Christ saw Oswaldo coming out with Selena.

The distance was a bit far, so Christ couldn't see the expressions of the two people clearly, but he could see the girl wearing a white dress and a black coat, exuding a pale and delicate fragrance from head to toe.

She looked up at the man next to her, seeming to be smiling, and even from such a distance, one could feel the transparent and sweet breath.

The hostility in the man is gradually spreading outwards.

Olivia, who was standing behind him, had a perplexed expression on her face.

Did not die unexpectedly?

How could this be possible?

Nobody knows better than Olivia how much she put into that coffee shop, even if Selena had three heads and six arms and was protected by many powerful people, she could never come out alive.

But Selena went in alone, and then came out unharmed.

Why?

Olivia fiercely twisted the cigarette in her hand, gritted her teeth and stared at the girl who looked exceptionally beautiful.

This is the second time Selena has escaped death under Christ's hand.

The first time she turned Christ into a joke by force.

The second time was the same.

He personally came here to see her off, but she still walked out unharmed.

Christ sneered.

He remembered that after all this time, he had never really met Selena.

A sudden inexplicable anticipation rose in Christ's heart.

He wants to see Selena clearly.

The woman who repeatedly caused him to fail.

The man's gaze was dark and gloomy as he stared at Selena, just like a vicious wild beast staring at its prey, full of danger and brutality.

As Selena was about to walk downstairs, Christ's phone vibrated.

He pressed the answer button without thinking, but his face changed when he heard the message from the other end of the phone.

He gave a cold look to Selena and turned around to leave.

And at the moment he turned around, Selena looked up and saw only the back of the man walking away quickly.

Selena's lips curved into a hint of a cold smile.

A slender hand squeezed her chin and turned her face back, "Don't look at him."

Selena smiled at Oswaldo's colder expression than hers and said, "Let's go home."

Oswaldo speedily drove away from the airport with Selena in the car.

Olivia stood in the direction of the second floor, staring fiercely in the direction Selena had left with a grim expression.

How did this woman, who seems like she could be easily crushed by a mere flick of the hand, manage to escape?

She took one final look and then turned around, chasing after Christ.

...

Isabel committed suicide!

She hit her head against the wall in the bathroom. The nurse who was taking care of her heard the noise and ran in to find her lying on the bathroom floor covered in blood.

The nurse was frightened and screamed.

Isabel was taken to the emergency room.

The bodyguards dared not keep it from Christ and immediately made a phone call to him.

Christ brought Olivia to the hospital, looking at the red letters shining in the emergency room with a face as serious as water, making his face frighteningly somber.

Isabel has suffered too many injuries recently, but she was too reckless and Christ didn't pay attention.

Only this time, her life was truly threatened.

Olivia stood behind him, glanced at the emergency room with a hint of disdain in his eyes, and then turned to ask the two bodyguards, "Why did Miss Collins commit suicide?"

Isabel, the vain and vicious woman, would never risk her life if she wasn't pushed to the brink of desperation.

Although she has caused trouble, Christ has not held her accountable yet, and she knows deep down that Christ would not really want to harm her. So why would she resort to suicide?

Olivia keenly sensed something unusual.

The two bodyguards exchanged a glance and then repeated the situation to Olivia.

The light in Olivia's eyes flickered, and he gritted his teeth as he asked, "Does Miss Collins have a grudge against Selena?"

Christ's subordinates treated Olivia with more respect and reverence than they did Isabel. They immediately recounted the grievances between Isabel and Selena.

The sense of unease in Olivia's heart became even stronger.

Christ had warned that Isabel had reached this level, but she insisted on going her own way, seemingly determined to kill Selena.

Did he commit suicide immediately after hearing that Christ went to see Selena?

Olivia squinted his eyes slightly...

chapter 608

Glancing over at Christ who had a calm expression as if he hadn't heard their conversation, she understood.

This man is not unaware that Isabel is hiding something from him.

He simply wants to indulge.

Olivia tightly bit the cigarette, lowered his eyelashes, and his eyes were full of disdain.

How come Isabel has such good luck?

Just because she saved Christ once when she was young, she was now able to be unconditionally loved and indulged by him to this extent.

Luckily, Christ doesn't like Isabel.

That woman is just a brainless girl and poses no threat to her.

Olivia has never paid attention to Isabel.

On the contrary, it was the girl who caught Christ's attention, whom the bodyguard mentioned.

A girl who has a deep connection with the Anderson family...

Olivia tightened her fingers and a fierce look flashed across her eyes.

She snuffed out the cigarette between her fingers and walked up to Christ. "Miss Collins is severely injured and now facing a dead end in prison. I'll go and see if I can do something about it," she said.

Christ remained silent.

Olivia raised her red lips, smiled at him, and walked out in high heels.

A few hours later, the door of the emergency room opened.

Isabel was pushed out.

Christ was sitting still without moving.

The bodyguard approached and inquired, "Doctor, how is the patient doing?" The doctor replied, "The patient has already passed the critical stage and should wake up by tomorrow at the latest."

Isabel was pushed into the ward, but Christ did not go to see her. Upon learning that Isabel was out of danger, he turned and left the hospital.

As soon as he stepped out of the door, it started to get windy.

A chill of icy coldness pervades the air.

Christ looked at the gloomy weather, and frustration began to build up in his eyes. "You don't have to come with me!" he said.

The two bodyguards behind him halted their steps strictly.

Christ got into the car, turned the steering wheel, and the car raced away.

When he came to his senses again, the car had already stopped outside Creephia University.

Christ leaned against the car door and slowly lit a cigarette, looking towards the entrance of Creephia University.

Luke's words ultimately had an impact on him.

If Selena has an accident, he will surely regret it.

Why is Isabel willing to risk her life to gamble rather than let him see Selena?

Christ was waiting without joy or sorrow, his black tangled hair half covering his eyes, with an unclear expression in his eyes.

The weather was gloomy as the rain fell. Under the dim sky, students walked out in pairs with umbrellas.

The atmosphere is filled with the quaint and solemn charm of prestigious schools that have been around for centuries.

Christ leaned against the car without an umbrella, causing the passing girl's face to blush frequently.

She was bold and asked, "Excuse me, sir, who are you looking for?"

Christ stayed silent for a moment before asking, "Do you know where Selena Riddle is?"

The girl being asked met the man's gaze and blushed, feeling uneasy as she looked away. "Lady Selena usually doesn't use the front entrance, her boyfriend always picks her up at the west gate..."

Christ remained silent for a moment, and then calmly said "thank you" before walking towards the west.

Selena had a mishap in the morning, and Christ was not sure whether the woman would come to class today.

He was just feeling restless and decided to try his luck here.

Just take a glance if he can find her.

It's okay if he can't find her.

However, he seems to be lucky. Christ didn't make it to the west gate, but he saw his target for today. Easy to recognize.

The most eye-catching person in the crowd is.

At the moment when Christ saw Selena, he realized that he had unconsciously remembered the woman's appearance.

Perhaps it was thanks to the Mingge dance.

After all, the dance she performs is really very beautiful.

In the drizzling rain, she held a rainbow-colored umbrella and walked into a milk tea shop on the street.

He didn't see Osvaldo around.

He has to say, she has real guts.

Christ's gaze deepened, and he involuntarily pursed his lips.

Selena realized it the moment Christ fixed his gaze on her.

Didn't he try to kill her this morning? Why is he coming to block her again in the afternoon?

Why is this man so determined to kill her?

Selena furrowed her brow.

The girl working in the milk tea shop saw the school belle walking in and her excited face turned red.

"Lady Selena, what would you like to drink?"

Selena smiled and said, "One cup of pearl milk tea."

The girl turned around to make milk tea, while Selena looked at the delicate little ornaments in the store and asked, "What gifts do girls usually give to their boyfriends to please them?"

She vaguely sensed that Osvaldo was not in a good mood today.

It should have to do with what happened in the morning.

The girl handed her a warm milk tea and pointed to the ceramic art table next to them, "Lady Selena, you can make a pair of couple cups and give one to your boyfriend. He'll be very happy for sure."

Selena looked at the mold and her eyes lit up slightly.

She is clever, skilled in handcraft, and learns quickly. Within less than an hour, she made two snow-white ceramic cups.

Delicate snowflake porcelain, with a fine texture that is stunning.

Finally, the names of two people were carved on the cup noodles, and a cartoonish Q-version figure was also drawn.

The girl next to her was originally fascinated and staring at her hands, but when she saw the finished product, she exclaimed, "It's so beautiful!"

Selena is also very pleased with her first piece of handcraft.

Especially two Q-version characters, they were drawn based on the appearance of her Osvaldo.

One is smiling with large eyes, while the other has a cool expression, appearing particularly stylish.

Lean together, strikingly realistic.

"Lady Selena, can I take a picture?" The girl's eyes lit up with excitement. "This is the first time I've seen such a beautiful piece of handcraft!"

Selena nodded generously, "Okay."

The girl immediately took out her phone and snapped more than ten photos from all angles.

After filming, she took out the shockproof box and carefully packed the two cups, putting them inside with great solemnity.

Finally, the bag was handed over to Selena.

Selena paid the money and walked out with the gift for Osvaldo in her hand.
At this moment, the night has already grown dark.
The sky has completely darkened.
Selena thought that after such a long time, Christ should have already left.
Unexpectedly, when she came out, she found that he was still standing there and didn't leave.
Selena's brows and eyes slightly furrowed.

...

In fact, Christ didn't know why he was still staying here.
He watched as Selena went in and came out with a bag in her hand.
She didn't know what she has installed, but he can tell that she is very precious.
The girl ran over from the side. She seemed to have just learned to walk, with a very lively appearance and dressed up like a festive little doll.
The little baby held a beautiful rose with both hands and handed it to Selena.
Selena took the flowers and bent down to kiss her fair and tender cheeks.
The girl laughed happily, not knowing what was said, and shyly covered her face. She then turned around and ran towards her mother in a clumsy manner.
Christ's gaze unconsciously fell on the little girl.
Selena noticed his gaze and turned her head to look at him, her eyes revealing a hint of cold warning.

chapter 609

And at that moment, through the light and shadow of the night, Christ saw Selena's eyes clearly for the first time.

Those were a pair of jet-black eyes, with a cold and sneering light shining through, familiar enough to make him... tremble in fear.

Christ held his breath as a cold chill rushed through his whole body, piercing his heart.

He recalls the brief moment of eye contact, with two voices in his mind warring like heaven and earth.

Someone is screaming violently, saying "Impossible!"

Another one was mocking and said, "Just admit it, that's the truth!"

The doubts about the minutiae sprang up like a chain at this moment.

That girl has a grudge against Isabel.

She heard that he is Christ and therefore so hostile towards him.

Isabel went to great lengths, even gambling with her own life, to prevent him from seeing her.

Disgusted the Riddle family from the capital.

James abnormally spoke out to defend.

He said that she has a boyfriend.

Osvaldo personally came to the door to get someone...

Luke said that if something happened to Selena, he would definitely regret it.

All doubts have been explained at this moment as the most reasonable explanation.

It earnestly presented to him a truth that he had unconsciously ignored countless times!

Christ stared at Selena with a twisted expression on his face, almost unable to hold back his laughter out of anger.

...

Selena was unaware of what Christ had experienced during their brief eye contact. Seeing that he seemed to have no intention of harming the little girl, she withdrew her gaze.

The mobile phone in the backpack vibrates at this moment.

Selena switched her bag to one hand, took out her phone from her backpack, glanced at the number, a sweet smile appeared on her face, and she pressed the answer button.

Osvaldo's gentle voice came from the phone, "It's time to come home."

Selena smiled slightly and said, "Soon."

She carried the gift she had made herself and turned to walk towards the car parked on the side of the road.

And at the moment she turned around, a black car rushed out from the corner and headed straight towards the little girl who was stumbling towards her mother, and hit her.

...

Time rewinds three minutes ago.

Olivia's car is parked outside the gate of Creephia University, and she sees Selena walking out of the bubble tea shop.

She saw Selena.

She saw Christ too.

Why did Christ come to look for Selena?

"Revenge for Isabel?"

Olivia didn't think so.

Especially Christ's abnormal behavior of staring at Selena constantly made Olivia feel an inexplicable sense of unease rising from the bottom of her heart.

Isabel doesn't want Christ to see Selena.

Olivia also does not want to.

She didn't know why Isabel was so eager to kill Selena, but that didn't prevent them from having a common goal.

Because once Selena dies, there will be no possibility for her, whom Christ has taken a liking to, to ever have feelings for Christ again.

Olivia took a puff of her cigarette and sneered, "Crash her!"

The driver looked around and shook his head, "No, it's not possible. There are too many people around that woman protecting her. If we try to get close to her, we will be shot to pieces."

It is obvious that the young master of the Anderson family, who dared to let Selena leave at this time, must have arranged a protection net around her.

In the midst of Olivia's anger, a wisp of smoke drifted out. She gazed at the scene of Selena kissing girl, with a hint of bloody air flashing in her eyes. She smirked coldly, "Then let's change the target!"

The driver's forehead broke into a sweat, "Miss, what do you mean..."

Olivia stared at the little girl who was babbling and laughing, running towards her mother, and casually uttered the cruel words, "Run into that little girl."

The driver and the two bodyguards in the backseat were startled.

"However..."

Olivia's eyes flashed with a sinister look as she glanced at several people, and said in a sharp voice, "Hit them!"

She researched Selena's information, who was dedicated to building orphanages. How could she possibly stand by and watch creature die because it was involved?

This is the best opportunity to kill Selena!

She promised Christ that she would deliver Selena's death news to him today.

There is absolutely no room for failure!

And now Christ stands by watching, he will witness with his own eyes as she kills Selena, is there a victory more fulfilling than this?

The other few people in the carriage were all horrified, but they still dared not disobey her.

The driver gritted his teeth and stepped on the accelerator fiercely.

The huge carriage was like a prehistoric beast, crushing heavily towards the innocent and naive life.

...

And at the moment Selena heard the wind whispering wrong in her ear, her body acted on instinct faster than her rational mind, rushing towards the little girl behind her.

Everything in her hands fell to the ground and the newly made gift made a loud "clang" sound, as if something had broken.

On the mobile phone page in the midst of a call, the man's voice went from calm at the beginning to hysterical towards the end.

Selena managed to leap forward and shield the tender young body just in time before the car could run over it, narrowly avoiding the gory fate of being splattered with blood right then and there.

But before she could react, the car turned and once again headed towards her, hitting her again.

Selena lay on the ground, holding the crying child in her arms. She didn't have time to think, and instinctively threw the child away from her.

She didn't even have time to see if there was someone to catch her.

Screams, cries, roars, and gunshots were heard in the ear.

She abandoned the child, but she never had time to avoid it anymore.

In a critical moment, Selena only managed to raise her eyes and stared fiercely at the person inside the carriage, with a rolling coldness and terrifying killing intent in her eyes.

As the huge wheel was about to crush her, a black figure darted past from the side and pushed her away.

Selena's slender body fell heavily to the ground.

And it was during this gap that the person secretly protecting Selena finally arrived.

"Lady Selena!"

Without a trace, Olive rushed over to see Selena, while the remaining few broke the tires of the car. The car had its tires and engine blown out, and it crashed into the railing on the side.

The air is filled with a strong sense of danger.

The air tensed to its maximum in an instant.

Olive raised his hand to embrace Selena, but he saw the man who embraced Selena first, got up and pushed her away before he could do so.

The man lowered his head and looked at the person he was holding in his arms with some trembling.

Under the dim street light, Selena was soaked through with rain, and no one could see where she was hurt.

She lay motionless on the cold ground, making it eerie quiet.

There is a faint smell of blood wafting in the air.

No one dares to easily touch Selena.

Just as everyone's nerves were on the verge of breaking, a loud slap sounded amidst the dark curtain of rain.

With a "bang", the almost suffocating silence was shattered.

Christ's face was hit and tilted to one side.
He slowly turned his head bit by bit...

chapter 610

Christ's face was gloomy and his voice was filled with furious anger, "Selena!"
In the darkness, Selena seemed to have smiled and her tone was full of ruthlessness, "I thought that even though you were cruel and ruthless, you were at least someone of significance. Now it seems that you are no different from those lowlifes on the street!"

Christ's face turned pale.

If Selena hadn't been lying on the ground, and if he didn't know where she might have been hurt, he would have definitely strangled her!

Selena slowly propped up her upper body. Up until this moment, her voice had been excessively calm, and she calmly arranged the next steps.

"Go see that child, pick up the phone, report peace to your young master, cut off the surveillance, don't let this matter spread and cause panic, and also..."

Her cold gaze fell on the car that had almost hit her twice, meeting Olivia's deep red eyes.

Selena was sitting on the ground, looking disheveled and pale. Despite her apparent weakness, her eyes revealed a dominant and ruthless demeanor, as if she had the power in her hands.

She smiled, a cold and playful glint in her eyes. "My revenge will begin at midnight tonight, and no matter what means you use, if you can survive until six o'clock tomorrow morning, I will acknowledge that you have the value to continue living."

Amid the four cold and stiff expressions inside the car, Selena calmly withdrew her gaze and uttered her final words in an indifferent tone.

"Take me to the hospital."

Without hesitation, Olive immediately picked up Selena, took her to the car, and raced to the hospital.

In the dark curtain of rain, only Christ stood still in place.

The man's face was pale, resembling a statue.

Inside the car.

Olivia's eyes were bloodshot, and his hand holding the steering wheel was trembling with bulging veins.

Christ saved Selena...

Christ will actually go and save Selena...

Why?

The other three people in the car were all scared at the moment.

Actually, during the first time, when they saw Christ rushing towards Selena, they realized that they might cause trouble and immediately stopped the car.

However, Olivia went crazy and grabbed the steering wheel, regardless of everything, and drove towards Selena for the second time.

The result was that Christ almost got hit and killed along with everyone else.

Three people are now trembling with fear, associating Selena's eyes just now and becoming extremely terrified.

Christ closed his eyes, suppressed the raging anger in his heart, and spoke calmly but with a trembling voice, "Go back!"

...

Selena was hurriedly taken to the emergency room.

Ten minutes later, Osvaldo walked in with a cold air around him, his eyes landing on the three red words on the emergency room door, and his slim fingers made a clear sound.

He stood as still as a wooden stake, at the closest point to the emergency room, with a hint of ferocity in his eyes.

The people in the corridor are holding their breath and dare not disturb him at this moment.

Despite the fact that there was no expression on the man's face, almost everyone could sense his repression and agitation.

At this moment, any external stimulation could potentially push this man to the brink of emotional breakdown and cause him to fall apart.

At this critical moment, the door was pushed open from the inside, and a nurse ran out.

"Sir..." the nurse choked upon seeing Osvaldo's face before continuing, "the young lady inside asked me to invite you in."

Osvaldo's emotionless face seemed to freeze for a few seconds before he finally took a step forward and walked inside.

As he pushed open the door, the woman sitting on the hospital bed turned to look at him. A gentle smile appeared on her pale face, which was extremely charming. "It's okay, don't worry," she said soothingly.

Osvaldo's eerie black eyes stuck to her face for a few seconds, then turned and landed on her legs.

Selena is wearing a hospital gown, her hair is loose, and there is a large bruise on her fragile knee, which is especially striking against her skin now stained bright red with blood.

The man's eyes seem to have been stung by the bright red, and his expressionless face adds a touch of paleness.

The nurse is holding iodine and cotton swabs, applying medication to Selena's wound.

Selena felt cold sweat all over her body from the pain, but she frowned and remained silent, only looking at Osvaldo, hoping for a response from the man.

The cotton swab with alcohol touched Selena's wound, and she trembled like an electric shock, her eyelashes curled downwards, biting her lip. A trace of endurance appeared on her face.

"Get out of the way!" Osvaldo spoke in a cold voice.

The nurse at the pharmacy was startled and took a step back involuntarily.

Selena lifted her eyelids, looking bewildered.

Osvaldo walked over with big steps and carefully held Selena's delicate leg, staring at the constantly bleeding wound, with an uncertain expression in his eyes.

Almost everyone in the emergency room had their breath nearly scared out of them by the man.

Selena felt a sudden uneasiness and asked in a soft voice, "What's wrong?"

Osvaldo controlled his emotions, took a cotton swab from the table, dipped it in iodine, and carefully disinfected her wound.

After changing partners, Selena's patience inexplicably decreased rapidly, and several times she couldn't help but want to retract her leg.

But Osvaldo forcefully grabbed her ankle and spread the poison from the wound to the surrounding skin.

After cleaning the wound, Osvaldo applied medicine and wrapped her knee with gauze.

Selena looked at the bandage wrapped around her knee and softly called out his name, "Osvaldo..."

Osvaldo stood up and looked down at her from a high position, but still did not speak.

There was an inexplicable sense of tension in the atmosphere.

The doctor standing aside glanced at the man's slightly trembling hands and seemed to understand something. Looking at Selena, his eyes were filled with envy as he reached out to unbutton her clothes. Osvaldo's sinister gaze swept over suddenly.

He stared at the hand that was about to touch Selena, his eyes extremely menacing.

The female doctor's entire body has stiffened up.

She had no doubt that if it weren't for this girl sitting here, her hands would not be on her own body right now.

The doctor said nervously, "This young woman was just brought in from a car accident scene, we need to thoroughly examine her body..."

There is such a terrifying guardian of the calf. If they dare to let the woman leave any sequelae, the other side will not even hesitate to dismantle the hospital.

Osvaldo stared at her hand and said, "Get out!"

Doctors and a group of nurses ran out as if they were granted amnesty.

In a blink of an eye, there were only two people left in the emergency room, Selena and Osvaldo.

Selena noticed that the man was not in the right mood, so she grabbed his sleeve and was about to speak when she saw Osvaldo's slender and fair hand fall on her collar.

Selena was slightly stunned.

Before she could come back to her senses, she heard a "rip" sound and felt a cool sensation on her shoulder as Selena's clothing was torn.

The collar was completely torn off.

A large expanse of tender skin exposed under the man's eyes.