

Love Rats 801

Chapter 801 Please Come with Me to See Grandma

"Cameron, what do you mean?" the girls couldn't wait to ask.

Cameron glanced at them before turning his gaze back to Penelope, "She gave up the opportunity to come to Class One and went to Class Seven by herself."

Penelope was first confused, then her face turned slightly pale.

The girls who were just talking all froze collectively, and their first reaction was to refute.

"How is that possible? Class Seven is so bad, how could someone like Selena give up a good resource to climb up and choose to go to that waste class?"

"Yes! A woman like her who has never seen the world would definitely not give up the opportunity to climb up. There must be some conspiracy!"

"I know, she wants to blame her absence from Class One on Penelope, make the Riddle family hate Penelope. Selena is such a vicious woman!"

Penelope immediately stood up, looking scared, "Cameron, is it really because of me..."

Cameron frowned, about to explain, when suddenly a faint sneer came from behind.

"I guess she didn't want to come to Class One because she knew that there were people like you there?"

Everyone turned to look, but when they saw who was speaking, their faces changed slightly, seeming to want to refute, but were too afraid to do so.

"Hamish, what do you mean?" Penelope gritted her teeth.

Hamish closed the book in his hand, lifted his eyelids, and his cold gaze swept over Penelope's face, "Because you guys are really annoying!"

After speaking, he picked up his backpack and walked away.

He had just walked to the door when he bumped into the class teacher who was coming to Class One.

"Hamish, class is about to start, where are you going?"

"I went to the library to study, but there were too many flies in the classroom, it was so noisy!"

The faces of the girls standing still turned pale at the same time.

Penelope, whose face was already pale, turned almost deathly white. "Cameron, I..."

Cameron furrowed his brows, glanced at the group of girls behind her, and after a moment, raised his hand to touch Penelope's hair, saying softly, "Selena chose to go to Class Seven, it has nothing to do with you, don't think too much about it."

...

News of Selena's arrival at Capital University spread throughout the school in just one morning. After all, as the first person to openly challenge Capital University and successfully disgrace the prestigious school that had stood for a hundred years, it was hard for students of Capital University to forget her name. Especially for the elites of Capital University who had never lost before, being defeated in the last medical school enrollment competition left a deep impression of Selena's name on their minds.

Now that the news of this student who had nailed Capital University to the pillar of shame had entered their school, it was bound to cause a sensation.

So at noon, when Selena was taken to the cafeteria by the Cooke sisters for lunch, she encountered all kinds of onlookers.

"Is this Selena, the one who disgraced Capital University? She's really beautiful..."

"She's much prettier in person than in the videos. And who said Selena was coarse and vulgar? Forgive me for saying this, but her temperament is absolutely amazing, right?"

"As a fan of beauty, I bet a truckload of spicy sticks, we need to change our school belle!"

It was Selena's first time eating in the school cafeteria, and she looked around curiously.

Leia followed her, looking around as well.

The Cooke sisters took her to the third floor and into a private room. There were already a group of people from Class Seven sitting inside and they had ordered several tables of dishes.

As soon as the four girls walked in, whistles sounded all around.

Nova rushed in excitedly, pointing at the dishes on the table and saying happily, "Selena, this is the welcome banquet we've prepared for you. Order whatever you want, today I'm treating!"

"How can a girl pay for it?" A boy came over with a smile on his face. "I'll pay for everything. school belle, come sit here!"

Selena walked over with a smile on her face.

Leia followed her, curious about why Selena would come to the cafeteria in such an unusual way.

After all, this leading lady was extremely delicate. Even when she was in Creephia, she had never seen her go to the cafeteria, let alone eat with other people.

But Selena seemed to be very interested in Capital University.

Just as Selena had just sat down in her seat, the door of the private room suddenly opened from the outside.

A group of people subconsciously turned their heads and collectively froze.

They looked at Selena, then at the woman at the door, with complicated expressions.

Nova whispered to Candy, mouthing the words, "The viper is here!" while making a scared expression. Then she was heavily knocked on the head by her older sister.

Penelope leaned against the door frame, panting and holding her chest, as if she had just caught her breath. She smiled kindly at the students present and said, "I'm sorry to disturb you while you're eating. I have something to discuss with Lady Selena. May I?"

The students looked at each other in confusion.

Some who didn't know the relationship between Penelope and Selena looked curiously at the two women, who looked somewhat alike, and asked around about their relationship.

When they found out about Selena and Penelope's relationship from someone who knew, there was an extra hint of strangeness in their gazes towards Penelope.

Penelope slightly clenched her fists and walked towards Selena, saying with some humility, "Lady Selena, I came to apologize for yesterday's incident. Please believe me, I really didn't know that the Turner family was holding a banquet for you yesterday. My grandparents didn't know either, so they didn't go to see you. Please... don't blame them..."

Selena tasted the cafeteria soup with a spoon and found it too far from what the Anderson family's chef made. She put down the spoon, wiped her fingers with a handkerchief, and looked up at Penelope.

Under the gaze of the crowd, Selena's dark eyes were hazy, without any extra emotions, and she asked, "And then?"

Penelope lowered her head, seeming embarrassed, but still persisted, "My grandmother felt guilty for missing the Turner family's banquet last night. She is sick, so could you please visit her?"

She seemed afraid that Selena would not agree, and lowered her posture even more, "Lady Selena, it's all my fault. You can vent your grievances and anger on me. Please don't blame my grandparents. They have... actually missed you and Aunt Nevaeh all these years..."

After listening to Penelope's words, not to mention how many people were hiding outside to watch the excitement, just the people in the private room looked at each other, then turned to look at Selena together, waiting for her reaction.

"Lady Selena looks so kind, she should agree, right?"

"After all, it's her grandmother, so she should."

Only Nova was desperately shaking her head at Selena, indicating that this woman had ulterior motives and she couldn't agree!

Selena looked at her expression of being on guard against a great enemy and chuckled lightly...

Chapter 802 Who do you think you are?

Selena looked at Penelope and curved her lips slightly, "Miss Penelope, do I look like I lack affection?"

Penelope's expression froze, as if she didn't understand why Selena would ask such a question.

Selena raised her hand and pinched her chin, with a tone that was both smiling and harsh, "Answer me!"

Penelope shrank her body, her face slightly pale, "No... I don't think so..."

Although Selena had no parents, she had delicate features and was raised like a pampered girl.

Moreover, everyone in the upper class circle knew that it was Mr. Anderson who loved and pampered her.

Selena tightened her fingers and her smile became more pronounced, "Then is it because I look poor, uncultured, and unable to hold my own in high society?"

Penelope clenched her fingers and her face turned even paler, "No... that's not it."

Selena's beauty and temperament were well-known, and no one could lie about that.

In addition, after the Turner family's deep background was revealed last night and the identity of the Anderson family's future daughter-in-law was confirmed, Selena was now the most prestigious and wealthy young lady in the capital.

Penelope vaguely guessed what Selena wanted to say, and she seemed to be trembling uncontrollably.

Selena's smile faded slightly, and a look of confusion appeared on her face, "Then it can only be that I did something to the Riddle family that made Miss Penelope so certain that I have a grudge or dissatisfaction with them..."

She let go of the hand holding Penelope's chin, picked up a tissue to wipe her fingers, and looked at Penelope arrogantly, "Tell me, what did I do to the Riddle family to make you have such a misunderstanding?"

The room fell silent.

Penelope's face was ashen, and cold sweat dripped down from her forehead.

It was well-known that Selena had never had any contact with the Riddle family before, and she had not even visited the Riddle family's mansion since she returned to the capital less than a week ago.

The only people in the Riddle family who had any contact with her were Leon and Hattie.

Penelope lowered her head and spoke in a cold tone, "I'm sorry, Lady Selena, it was a slip of the tongue on my part. It's just that my birthday party coincidentally clashed with the Turner family's party last night..."

"And after Hattie returned from Creephia, she refused to talk to me, my grandmother, and my brother. Last night, my brother returned from the Turner family's party and my grandmother fell ill because of the harsh words you said to her..."

"I didn't mean anything else, I just hope that as granddaughter, you can go and visit her..."

Selena took the water cup Leia handed her, propped up her legs, and nodded, "I understand. To sum up what you said, it's that I deliberately scheduled the Turner family's party on the same day as your birthday party, and instigated Mr. Riddle and Miss Riddle to openly oppose Daphne for my sake, causing her to get sick..."

Penelope's eyes flashed with a hint of resentment, and she clenched her teeth as she denied, "That's not what I meant!"

Selena's eyes were pitch-black, and she smiled mysteriously. "Then what did you mean?"

Penelope's fingers trembled with anger as she tried to deny it, but she couldn't find the words to say.

Selena stopped smiling, tested the temperature of her water glass with her finger, and said, "Forgive me for being blunt, but what exactly are you? Are you worthy of the Turner family personally targeting you?"

With just a light sentence, Selena's words were extremely cutting.

Penelope's face turned pale with anger and hatred, and she almost couldn't help but rush forward to tear Selena apart.

She never expected Selena to be so shameless in such a setting. Didn't she care what others thought of her as being unreasonable and disrespectful to Mr. Anderson?

Whether they were watching from outside or sitting inside the room, everyone was stunned.

Although Selena's words were unpleasant, they were actually true. Penelope was just an adopted daughter of the Riddle family, and the Turner family, as a top capital aristocratic family, with the support of two major military regions, Penelope's worth was probably not even equal to a fraction of Selena's nail.

How could Penelope think that the Turner family would lower themselves to target her?

Penelope was too full of herself...

The entire room fell into an awkward silence. Selena looked at Penelope's pale and embarrassed face and raised her eyebrows. "As for inciting Hattie and Leon to oppose Daphne..."

She sneered, her eyes filled with coldness. "Doesn't Hattie dislike Daphne because Daphne sent her to juvenile detention when her mother died, not only endangering her life but also preventing her from attending her mother's funeral?"

"Daphne did such a heartless thing, yet she still doesn't reflect on it, and even blames her inability to get close to Hattie on me, an outsider... Huh!"

The unfinished sentence was full of coldness and sarcasm.

Penelope's face turned pale suddenly.

The whole scene was instantly in an uproar.

Some people of noble birth suddenly remembered that they had indeed not seen Miss Riddle at Mrs. Riddle's funeral.

Almost at the same time, a new Mrs. Riddle and a pair of twins suddenly appeared in the Riddle family.

Shortly thereafter, news broke on the Internet that Miss Riddle had been beaten in Creephia.

When Miss Riddle was beaten, there was no movement from the Capital Riddle family, as if no one even thought of her...

“Oh my god... is this really a grandmother? Miss Riddle is only thirteen years old, how can such a cruel old lady exist?”

“Her mother just died, and she sent the daughter to the detention center and openly brought back a stepmother and a pair of younger siblings for her... Can people really do such things?”

“The old lady of the Riddle family is really a weirdo. She doesn’t want her daughter, doesn’t care about her granddaughter, and doesn’t recognize her granddaughter. Instead, she is holding Penelope, her adopted daughter. Is she insane?”

“If I were Miss Riddle, I would definitely not be close to her anymore. According to Penelope, the old lady of the Riddle family pushed all the responsibility onto Selena’s head? I think she’s really sick!”

“I heard a rumor before that Mr. Anderson used his connections to bring Miss Riddle out of the detention center. In this case, it was obviously Selena who saved Miss Riddle. It’s normal for sisters who truly care about each other to be close, right?”

“With all due respect, if Mr. Riddle were a person who could be instigated, the Capital Riddle family wouldn’t have reached this height...”

“As an adopted daughter, Penelope actually openly accused the three true bloodlines of the Riddle family without any self-awareness. Disgusting! This kind of behavior is really disgusting...”

Chapter 803 Strong Aura

How could Penelope not hear the sneering looks around her? Although her face still maintained a look of being hurt, her hand hanging at her side had already clenched into a fist.

She had never been in such a sorry state before! From childhood to adulthood, the two biggest losses she had suffered were both because of Selena!

One day, she would surely repay Selena for the shame she brought her, a thousand times over!

Selena looked at Penelope’s reddened eyes and sneered, speaking in an increasingly casual tone, “Don’t tell me Daphne’s just sick, even if she’s dying, it’s none of my business. Let me go see her... what is she?”

She had abandoned her own daughter, didn’t care about her granddaughter, and who had almost killed her granddaughter, how could she ask her granddaughter go to visit her?

The Riddle family now had only Hattie, who had a psychological illness, of their three daughters. Originally, if they had shown Selena bit of care and attention, she wouldn’t have had such a difficult time while she was alive, let alone died.

Penelope’s mind was blank, staring at Selena in disbelief, unable to believe that she would dare to say such cruel and almost blasphemous words in public.

Didn’t she care about her reputation at all?

Selena seemed to understand the look in her eyes, smiling with a cold and domineering tone, “Hasn’t the new Mrs. Riddle told you that you’re far inferior to Leah? You’re just playing with what she left behind now, and I've almost played her to death. I'm not interested in playing with you anymore, so you'd better stay away from me, or else..."

She leaned in close to Penelope, pinching her chin and forcing her to look up, laughing coldly and forcefully, "I don't mind letting you and Daphne both experience everything that Hattie and my mother went through!"

With that, she gave a cold sneer and threw Penelope far away.

"Get lost!"

Penelope stumbled back a step, and if someone hadn't caught her in time, she would have fallen down in a miserable heap.

Penelope's face was pale, and she wanted to speak, but the person who caught her suddenly grabbed her hand, "Penelope!"

Penelope turned her head and looked at the person behind her.

The person who caught her was Cameron.

Penelope's tears immediately fell, as if she had suffered a great grievance, "Cameron, I... she..."

Cameron's face didn't look good, and he glanced at Selena, who was elegantly sitting in a chair and looking down at her phone, pursing his lips. "Let's leave here first."

With that, he took Penelope by the hand and turned to leave.

After Penelope left, the private room became quiet again.

The students of Class Seven stared in amazement at the beautiful and imposing girl with full aura, finally starting to connect her with the genius who had "challenged Capital University throughout history."

Nova looked on in admiration, emitting excited screams. "Wow, my Selena is amazing, with a strong aura!"

Candy seemed unwilling to admit defeat, but still smiled and complimented her. "I underestimated you. You're really something!"

"Lady Selena, do you need a girlfriend? The doctor said my stomach isn't very good, so I can only eat soft food... I'm willing to marry you with all my father's wealth!"

Selena chuckled, put away her phone, and elegantly stood up. "I have a boyfriend and cannot marry someone else. He's waiting for me outside the door. Thank you for your hospitality. Goodbye."

As the group watched in regret, Selena left with Leia and walked out.

...

At the gate of Capital University, Osvaldo leaned against the car, his eyes lazy as he looked at his phone.

As an incredibly handsome man, it was hard not to attract attention, and almost everyone who passed by looked at him.

Some even looked at him so intently that they forgot to watch where they were going and ran into a telephone pole.

“Who is this man? He’s so... attractive.”

“Having seen such a beauty, how can us plain-looking girls ever hope to get married?”

“Why don’t we... go ask for his number?”

After exchanging glances, a group of girls summoned the courage to approach him. The most beautiful one among them stepped forward, her eyes shining, and almost glued herself to Osvaldo’s face. “Um... can I have your number, sir?”

Suddenly, the man in front of her lifted his eyelids and looked in her direction.

The girl met his deep, dark eyes and her mind went blank. For a moment, she almost forgot where she was.

The next second, she saw the man put away his phone and step toward her.

The girl stood there at a loss, blushing and her heart pounding so loudly that it felt like a beast were screaming inside her chest.

She opened her eyes wide and watched as the man approached step by step. Just as she felt like her heart was about to burst, she saw the man walk straight past her and go toward the girl behind her. In an instant, the sense of distance between them disappeared. The handsome man with nothing left but the concept of beauty on his face smiled and hugged the pretty girl’s waist. In a flash, the feeling of being high above disappeared.

Selena looked at Osvaldo with a sweet smile on her face, but then turned her head and saw girl standing in the middle of the road, staring at them blankly. Selena blinked and looked at Osvaldo’s exquisite and handsome face, then at the girl in front of them who looked embarrassed, and secretly pulled Osvaldo’s sleeve.

The man smiled slightly, looking at Selena’s warm eyes, and spoke gently, “I’m sorry, I’m married, I need to keep my distance from other girls.”

The girl immediately breathed a sigh of relief, realizing that she had made a mistake, and blushed deeply. “I’m sorry, I didn’t know...”

She stopped talking halfway, suddenly remembering that Selena had just walked out of the gate of Capital University. But there seemed to be no such person at Capital University. If there was, she couldn’t be unknown with such beauty.

She stared at Selena carefully for a while, and suddenly screamed, “Ah! You’re Selena? The one who hacked the whole network?”

Selena’s lips twitched, and she met the abnormal excitement in the girl’s eyes, explaining softly, “I am Selena, but I didn’t hack the entire network.”

She was a law-abiding citizen.

The girl was excited to confirm that she was indeed Selena, and suddenly shouted loudly, "Come and see, Selena is here!"

As soon as she shouted, a group of people seemed to hesitate for a moment and then ran over collectively.

"Selena?"

"Is it the Selena I know?"

The group rushed over quickly, and when they saw Selena, they all covered their faces and gasped in shock.

"Oh my god! It really is..."

Chapter 804 The Gentleman who Soothed the World

"Lady Selena, is it true that "AI" has really been successfully researched by people?"

Facing a group of probing eyes, Selena was slightly surprised. "AI?"

"During the last Weibo purge, someone claimed to have seen the emergence of intelligent "AI" with their own eyes!" The boy asking the question was almost unable to contain his excitement. "Is it true? Do you know the genius who researched the "AI" intelligence?"

Selena stared at the group of young people.

The group suddenly realized that their tone was too eager and immediately restrained their emotions. However, their eyes remained intense as they looked at Selena.

"Lady Selena, please don't misunderstand. We are from the Computer Science department of Capital University and have been researching "AI" intelligence for a long time..."

Selena nodded to show understanding. "If the "AI" you are referring to is a silver robot, then it has indeed appeared."

The group of young people immediately let out an excited scream.

"Then where can we see it?"

Selena whispered, "On a forum." She also mentioned the website address.

The group of young people immediately took out their phones and searched for the forum. A minute later, they all lowered their heads, busy and engrossed.

Selena smiled and followed Osvaldo to the car.

As they walked, Leia looked back curiously and asked, "Madam, what are they doing?"

Selena replied calmly, "It's an upgrade forum. You have to answer all the questions to upgrade to the next level. If they want to see the AI, they probably have to reach the highest level."

As for how long it would take to reach the highest level, she didn't know.

After speaking, Selena suddenly looked up at Osvaldo.

Their eyes met, and Osvaldo's captivating black eyes were also fixed on her.

Selena squeezed her fingertips and prepared for the questions that men would ask.

Osvaldo's lips curved into a smile. He didn't ask anything and simply said, "If you ever want to tell me, I would be happy to hear it."

Selena was taken aback.

Osvaldo reached out and pinched her waist, feeling dissatisfied with the barely-there touch of her slim body. Selena was already thin, and after living in the Turner family for a few days, she had become even thinner.

He stared at the delicate and fragile body of the young girl, thinking about how to fatten her up a little.

Selena stared at his face without blinking for a long time, then smiled slightly. "Well, I'll tell you in the future."

Osvaldo's lips curved up, and he led Selena onto the car and back to a cozy and elegant villa.

The butler of the Anderson family and the previous servants were already waiting here, expressing their longing for Selena as soon as they saw her.

Seeing the familiar people and environment, Selena breathed a sigh of relief.

After enjoying a delicious lunch and taking a nap, Selena went to the library at Capital University in the afternoon.

Standing outside a large library, the administrator who brought her here said, "The things in this library cannot be borrowed. If you want to read them, you can only come here from 8:00 in the morning to 6:00 in the afternoon every day."

Selena nodded and walked to the first bookshelf curiously, flipping through a book.

To Selena's surprise, what she saw wasn't printed books on paper or ordinary knowledge points. The content leaned towards individual perception and sublimation, as if it were someone's in-class notes.

Looking at the familiar handwriting, Selena froze in place. "Everything in this room was left by Dean Turner," came a low voice from beside her.

She turned to see a young man standing by the window. His lips were pale, his figure slender, and he greeted her with a slight nod when their eyes met.

"But with such scattered information, many people wouldn't be able to understand it, right?" Selena said with a smile.

"That's why there aren't many people who come here," Hamish replied in a low voice.

Selena flipped through the notes page by page and became more certain that without sufficient knowledge and strong logical thinking, reading them was like reading hieroglyphs.

As Hamish watched Selena's dark eyes scanning Callum's notes, he saw no hesitation or confusion, only a reassuring calm.

"Dean Turner left a lot of experimental data back then, and to tackle them, the school established a research group consisting of the top talents in the Capital University medical department," Hamish explained with a raised eyebrow.

Selena's slender fingers paused for a moment, then she shifted her gaze from the notes to the young man. "Just based on some theoretical data, they can make those geniuses listen obediently?"

"Of course not," Hamish shook his head, a hint of deep regret in his eyes. "The biggest reason is that Dean Turner did indeed succeed back then."

Selena sighed in regret. At that time, Callum probably had already figured out the specific experimental process, but the incident had happened too suddenly, and he hadn't had time to leave more information behind. Both the Turner family and he were gone. The people who came after could only rely on these things he left behind to piece together the path he had walked.

Selena thought of the man with the gentle temperament and kind eyes, and her lips curved slightly. He was a truly gentle man in this world.

Her expression softened, and she lowered her curled lashes, focusing on flipping through the notes in her hand.

Hamish didn't speak again and sat in his position by the window, engrossed in another book.

Time passed by second by second, and after a while, Hamish stood up, returned the book in his hand to the shelf, and walked towards the door.

Before leaving, he turned slightly and glanced at Selena, who was still standing in front of the first bookshelf, except that the book in her hand had been replaced with another.

Hamish withdrew his gaze and walked out of the library. He went straight to the principal's office and knocked on the door.

"Come in."

Hamish pushed the door open, and in addition to the principal, there were members of the experimental group and several teachers present in the office.

After the last member arrived, Principal Chow began to speak, "I called you all here today because there is something I need to announce."

"Selena, a student from Creephia University, was admitted to Capital University this morning. You have all heard about her helping thirty students from Creephia get into medical school. I want to invite her to join the experimental lab. Would you be willing to accept her?"

After Principal Chow finished speaking, there was a moment of silence in the room.

The faces of the three leading teachers suddenly became somewhat unpleasant.

Brian turned the ring on her hand and sneered, "The members of the experimental lab are fixed. We have enjoyed various top resources since childhood and have achieved what we have today through our long-term collaboration. How can anyone be replaced easily?"

Winnie frowned, her face showing a hint of displeasure. "Principal, being the daughter of Dean Turner cannot be a reason for Selena to enter through the back door!"

Chapter 805 Let Selena be an Assistant?

The five members of the lab are all from Class One, so the homeroom teacher of Class One is also present.

Penelope is her proudest student, so when Principal Chow transferred Selena to Class One, she was unhappy.

And Selena was even more ungrateful, abandoning Class One and transferring to Class Seven, which hurt her pride and made her even more unhappy.

When she heard Principal Chow's words, she immediately stood up with a displeased expression, "Principal, I object! I know you're doing this to compensate for Selena because of Dean Turner, but this woman is notoriously difficult to control and doesn't listen to anyone... if you put her in the lab, I'm afraid the whole lab will be disturbed by her."

Several leading teachers were also unhappy. "She just entered Capital University today, and we don't even know what level she is. If she is allowed to enter the lab like this, how will other students think?"

"Principal, I have looked into Selena's information. Except for being the top scorer in the college entrance examination, her performance at Creephia University was extremely poor! She has only been in contact with the lab for three months, so how can she have any level? Such a person, besides slowing us down, I can't think of what other use she could have."

For a while, the entire office was filled with voices opposing Selena's entry into the lab.

Principal Chow's eyes darkened a bit, and he looked at the person standing in front of him, "Cameron, you are the captain of the experimental group, what do you think?"

Cameron frowned and subconsciously looked at Penelope standing next to him. Penelope's face was pale, and the humiliation Selena had inflicted on her at noon had a big impact on her.

As if sensing Cameron's gaze, Penelope raised her red-rimmed eyes and shook her head at him. Then she seemed to realize that her behavior was inappropriate and hurriedly lowered her head.

Cameron withdrew his gaze and said lightly, "We have no understanding with her."

One sentence expressed his position.

He did not want Selena.

Principal Chow looked at him, and a hint of disappointment passed through his eyes imperceptibly. "Well then, forget it. You all can leave."

Everyone turned around and was about to leave when they suddenly heard a voice.

“Wait.”

Everyone was stunned and subconsciously turned back to see Hamish, who was standing at the door and walking towards the desk in front of Principal Chow.

“Principal, I apply to withdraw from the lab.”

As soon as he spoke, everyone’s expressions changed.

As the first person of Capital University, Hamish’s position in the lab is crucial, especially since the International Experimental Competition is about to begin. Hamish’s withdrawal at this time will cause a great blow to Capital University.

Winnie stared at him coldly and asked, “Why?”

The homeroom teacher also advised, “Hamish, let’s sit down and talk it out. Don’t act impulsively!”

Principal Chow frowned and asked in a deep voice, “Can you explain why?”

“I want to promote Dean Turner’s ideas in our own hands in H Country,” Hamish’s tone was cold, but there was a hint of determination in his eyes. “But the team at Capital University now gives me no hope.”

Cameron raised his eyes and stared at him. “Hamish, what do you mean?”

Looking at him, Hamish retorted coldly, “Do you really not understand what I mean?”

The atmosphere on the scene suddenly froze.

There seemed to be some emotion flashing in Cameron’s eyes as he spoke in a cold tone, “I do not deny that Selena is excellent, but she has too little time in the lab and cannot compare to Penelope.”

At these words, Penelope’s face suddenly changed. She looked up at Cameron, unable to believe that he was praising Selena as excellent.

With Selena’s terrible grades and her awkward personality, where was she excellent?

And according to Hamish’s implication, they had privately discussed wanting Selena to replace Penelope?

Penelope’s face became even more unpleasant to look at.

Brian clenched his fists. “Hamish, do you know what you’re saying?”

Winnie sneered, “What a Selena! She just came on the first day and hooked away the soul of our top student at Capital University. She really deserves to be Nevaeh’s daughter!”

Hamish withdrew his gaze, seeming to ignore their taunts. “I’m sorry, Principal, for causing you trouble.”

Principal Chow waved his hand. “Let’s leave it at that for now. We still have some time. Cameron will find some new team members and build team chemistry in the lab. As for you, Hamish... let’s talk about it later.”

Hamish nodded. “Thank you, Principal.”

After speaking, he turned and walked away.

Penelope looked at Hamish's resolute attitude, then at Cameron's gloomy expression, and suddenly spoke up, "Hamish, wait a moment."

Hamish slightly turned his head and looked at her.

Penelope looked at Principal Chow, gritted her teeth, and said with a humiliated look, "Principal, Cameron and Hamish are Capital University's best seed players. Once they are separated, H Country's overall strength will be greatly reduced. For the sake of the overall situation, we can compromise a bit."

"We agree to let Selena into the lab, but she must first join as a reserve member. As for whether she will become a regular member and replace the lab's main team members in the future, it will depend on her performance. Is that okay?"

Candidate members were roughly equivalent to serving tea, cleaning, and assisting the main members off the court.

Let Selena assist Penelope...

Hamish looked at Penelope's face, which was already very generous and aggrieved, and sneered.

Principal Chow's gaze on Penelope gradually gained something.

Penelope met Principal Chow's gaze, as if seeing through everything, and an inexplicable sense of guilt rose in her heart.

Seeing that no one was speaking, a hint of annoyance finally appeared on Winnie's beautiful face.

"Hamish, we have already made concessions. What else do you want? When we all first entered the lab, we all assisted a few professors. Can Selena not do it?"

Hamish withdrew his gaze and said sternly, "I just feel that you seem to have gotten one thing wrong from beginning to end."

Winnie was slightly puzzled. "What is it?"

Hamish's voice was very light, with obvious sarcasm, "Based on Selena's style of doing things, she has always only done it when others begged her to. Even the principal needed to use favors to get her into the lab... Where do you guys get your sense of superiority? Do you think she would be eager to join this team?"

At this remark, Penelope's face instantly became particularly embarrassed.

The others also remembered the incident at the cafeteria at noon, and compared to Hamish's words, they could not refute it.

If it were someone else, these high and mighty geniuses would definitely be grateful and agree to let them into the lab, but with Selena's personality...

Everyone remembered the spectacular scene where she publicly threw a paper at a Capital University teacher and provoked the entire Capital University. Even Winnie, who was proud, dared not speak...

Chapter 806 You're really bold to dream!

Selena will definitely agree.

Penelope's beautiful face showed some unwillingness and her emotions were a bit out of control. "But... just because Selena is arrogant and unwilling to be inferior, I have to unconditionally give way to her and give up all my efforts for so many years?"

Among the members of the laboratory, Penelope is the lowest in both status and achievements.

If Selena joins, she will inevitably be the one who is replaced.

In this way, it is really unfair to Penelope.

The homeroom teacher immediately spoke up, "Principal, I know that you value Selena very much because of Dean Turner, but this decision is too unfair to Penelope. If Selena has any outstanding achievements or has won any high-value awards, there is still room for discussion, but she has nothing. She even scored 0 in the medical school entrance examination... I absolutely disagree with her replacing Penelope!"

Principal Chow looked at Cameron and said in a deep voice, "Cameron, now is not the time to act emotionally. You have to think clearly. We don't have much time left."

This statement... seemed to have a hidden meaning.

Cameron held Penelope's hand, his face was a bit cold, and he didn't speak, but he had already shown his position.

Principal Chow was very regretful.

Cameron and Hamish are the best medical students at Capital University, especially for the data left by Callum's group back then, they seem to have a preliminary conclusion.

If Selena is added, these three people can work together, and there is a great hope to break through this year.

But it seems that this wish is about to fall through now.

Principal Chow was about to wave his hand and let everyone leave, but Penelope suddenly grabbed Cameron's hand and raised her head. "Principal, why don't we ask Selena in person? Dean Turner is her father, maybe she will agree with my suggestion for the sake of her father?"

"As long as she can prove in the next month that she is indeed better than me, then I am willing to withdraw."

In other words, if Selena is just a façade, Penelope can still claim the position with confidence.

Cameron frowned slightly and looked over.

Penelope shook her head at him, "The principal has a point. This is not a matter that can be influenced by emotions. I cannot let you lose the cooperation with Hamish for my sake."

Cameron furrowed his brow but didn't say anything.

Principal Chow hesitated for a moment but ultimately decided to call Selena.

Winnie watched the scene and furrowed her brow.

Compared to Selena and Penelope, she was the true princess, born with a silver spoon in her mouth and showered with endless love and attention.

She felt uncomfortable after seeing the grandeur of the Turner family's banquet last night.

This morning, she learned that Selena had come to Capital University, causing quite a stir.

And now, there were so many outstanding people waiting here specifically for her.

The thought made Winnie even more uneasy, so she spoke up and said, "Principal, you decide and let me know the result when it's out."

With that, she turned and left.

Not long after Winnie left, Selena arrived. She pushed open the door and saw so many people standing in the office, but her face showed no special emotions. She smiled and asked, "Mr. Chow, is there anything you need from me?"

Principal Chow looked at her and briefly explained the situation.

After he finished, everyone in the office, except for Hamish, glared at her with an unpleasant expression, waiting for her decision.

Selena smiled and, without any hesitation, said firmly, "I refuse."

The already unpleasant expressions on everyone's faces became even more unsightly.

Penelope's face turned white, with a touch of despair.

Brian sneered, barely suppressing his anger. "You refuse? On what basis do you refuse? Who do you think you are? You came here and expected others to make way for you. Selena, what right do you have?"

Selena seemed not to have heard him and just turned her icy gaze towards Penelope. "Miss Penelope, you clearly don't like me, but you seem to be doing everything you can to contact me. What do you want?"

Penelope's face turned slightly pale, and a fleeting look of guilt flashed in her eyes. "You're overthinking it. I'm doing this for Cameron. Hamish and Cameron were originally the best partners, but because of you, they are now parting ways. Do you know how much damage this will cause to Capital University and H Country?"

Selena raised her eyebrows. "But I don't even know those two people you mentioned. What does it have to do with me that they're parting ways?"

Penelope angrily said, "If you're willing to join the experiment as a substitute, this wouldn't have happened."

Selena's eyes flashed with cold light, and she curved her lips, staring at Penelope. "Let me... be your substitute?"

Penelope felt a bit uneasy, but she also felt that this was an opportunity to crush Selena. She smiled softly, "I have been in the lab for two years, much more experienced than your three months in Creephia. For the time being, Lady Selena, can you please help me as my assistant?"

Selena looked at her with cold eyes and tilted her head, saying with a smile, "Penelope, you really dare to dream!"

Penelope clenched her fists and was about to continue to accuse Selena. Suddenly, she saw Hamish look up at her and speak coldly, "Leaving the lab was my personal decision and has nothing to do with anyone else. If you must know the reason, it's because your skills are too poor. You not only hold us back but also drag Cameron down. You are the real culprit!"

Penelope's lips turned white in an instant.

Cameron's voice became cold, "Hamish!"

Hamish looked away.

Selena was not interested in the drama that had nothing to do with her and looked up at Principal Chow with a smile, "Mr. Chow, since I have entered Capital University, I will definitely not disappoint what my father left behind. You will soon hear the names Callum and Nevaeh being well-known internationally again."

She will restore the glory that belonged to the Turner family and make the name Selena shine.

Everyone looked at the black and calm eyes of the young girl in a daze, somewhat stunned.

At this point, even Principal Chow could not force the issue. He saw absolute confidence in Selena's demeanor and remembered what this girl had done in Creephia. He relaxed and smiled, "I understand. It's getting late, so go back and rest early."

Selena blinked, "Before that, Mr. Chow, can I borrow the notes in the lab? I promise not to damage them..."

Her time was too tight, and she had to seize every moment.

Principal Chow chuckled, "The original notes are definitely not allowed, but there is a printer in the library. If you want, you can ask someone to make a copy and take it with you."

Chapter 807 Do You Know Who I Am

Selena walked out of the principal's office and went back to the library to print out some notes. Then she went downstairs.

Leia was waiting for her downstairs.

When the little girl saw Selena coming out, she ran over, bouncing and skipping, and took the notes from Selena's hand. "Madam, are we going home now?"

Selena nodded. "Let's go home."

Leia took her to the car, and Selena sat in the back seat. Her slender back lazily leaned against the sofa, and she closed her eyes. There was a hint of fatigue in her eyes.

Leia hadn't seen Selena so tired for a long time. Looking at Selena's lazy face through the rearview mirror, she frowned.

Since that night when she watched the video at the Creephia villa, Selena's mood had been off.

Leia had told Osvaldo about the content of the video, but after their young master watched it, he was silent for a long time. In the end, he didn't say anything, but the dark color in his eyes became even more terrifying.

The car drove all the way back.

During the time Selena was resting with her eyes closed, her phone in her backpack suddenly vibrated.

She took it out and looked at it, then pressed the answer key.

Patrick's voice came through the speaker, "How do you feel today?"

Selena sounded a bit lazy as she said, "tired, but it's okay."

Patrick was silent for a moment. "Rest early when you get back. If you really can't adapt, call me."

Selena smiled, but didn't explain. She just said okay and hung up.

The car returned to the villa, but Osvaldo hadn't come back yet. After dinner, Selena locked herself in the study and continued to study the information left by Callum.

The thick carpet covered the floor, and Selena, with her hair down, barefooted on it, lazily lay behind the desk, one hand propping up her forehead, and the other flipping through the materials in her hand.

She read very fast, almost at a glance. She skipped over many things directly, and occasionally pulled out one or two pages that needed careful consideration and put them aside.

The atmosphere was very quiet.

The sky outside gradually darkened.

When the sky was completely dark, someone pushed open the door of the study silently.

Osvaldo walked in.

The messy drafts were scattered on the desk and the floor, the thick medical books were piled up everywhere, some were already flipped through, and some were only halfway through.

Selena was asleep, curled up on the desk with her slender body, black hair covering her back, and her curly eyelashes hanging down, casting a silhouette on her fair face.

A man approached silently, squatting in front of her, staring at the pale and tired eyes of the girl, motionless for a long time.

It had been a long time since Osvaldo had seen Selena in such a state, except for the first time they met in Creephia. He watched her transform from pale and cold to bright and confident, fascinating him.

But it was he who had torn off all her disguise and evasion, forcing her to face the brutal reality and fall into her current situation.

Osvaldo's slender fingers slid over Selena's delicate cheeks without touching them, his voice so light that it was almost inaudible, and his eyes were dark. "Selena, will you hate me?"

He imposed the fate of the Turner family on her and forced her to bear all their burdens.

The man's ghostly eyes grew dim, and his fingers brushed over her pale eyes. His voice was so gentle that it sounded devout, "But I can't let you go..."

If he let her go, what would he do in the future?

He gazed intently at her pretty face, suddenly smiled, and his smile was tinged with a hint of paranoia and pleasure. He spoke softly, "See, I've kept you, haven't I?"

Even if she knew the truth in the future and hated him, it didn't matter.

Before that, he would always make her fall in love with him.

Osvaldo lowered his head and lightly kissed her forehead with his blood-red lips. "Don't be afraid."

He always had to make her learn to like him, fall in love with him, depend on him, and then... never leave him.

The sleeping girl seemed to sense something, frowning slightly and trembling, as if she would wake up the next second.

The man moved his hands, hugged her whole person into his arms, leaned down and lightly rubbed her forehead, his voice full of laughter and unbelievably gentle, "Sleep, I'll be with you."

Selena heard the familiar voice in her dreams, her consciousness briefly clear, then became muddled again.

She leaned on the man's chest, feeling the warm breath that was familiar and comforting, and fell asleep even deeper in the next second.

Osvaldo's eyes showed a hint of satisfaction, he picked up Selena and walked out of the study, heading to the bedroom.

As usual, Osvaldo skillfully placed her on the bed, took off her shoes, covered her with a blanket, and then sat closest to her, quietly accompanying her to sleep, as he had done countless times before.

During the days Selena stayed with the Turner family, Osvaldo had never returned to the Anderson family. With her sudden return, the capital became chaotic, and coupled with his and Christ's previous behavior, the pressure on the Turner family was even greater than Selena had imagined. He had to take action to suppress it.

It wasn't until the Turner family banquet, with the intervention of the two major military districts, that the situation finally stabilized. Patrick did not tell Selena about these things, and of course, neither did Osvaldo.

He gazed quietly at the beautiful face of the young girl, his eyes full of love and obsession. Before meeting Selena, Osvaldo had never known that there could be someone in this world who could make him feel so heartbroken. At the moment he saw her, his heart skipped a beat.

He couldn't help but reach out and gently brush over the girl's delicate eyes, thinking of the bright and cold light that shone in her eyes when they were open. Every time she smiled, he wanted to pluck all the stars from the sky and give them to her.

Osvaldo's gaze fell on her tender red lips, and his eyes suddenly became profound. He remembered the deep sweetness and softness he felt every time he kissed her, which made him unable to resist but also forced him to endure it.

This girl must have been sent by heaven specifically to torment him...

As this thought crossed Osvaldo's mind, Selena suddenly raised her hand in her sleep, grabbing his arm with both hands and hugging his hand tightly to her chest. The young girl didn't sleep well in the darkness, and after hugging him, she seemed to have held onto something warm, unable to resist snuggling closer.

Osvaldo's eyes grew dark, and he remained silent for a long time. Suddenly, he lowered his head and leaned close to Selena's ear, whispering, "Do you know who I am?"

Chapter 808 The Real Brother

As the man asked the question, his deep gaze remained fixed on Selena's face, and his pure black eyes were shrouded in a daunting shadow.

The sleeping girl seemed to sense danger and turned around, trying to escape. But the man caught her chin and held her in his arms, tilting his head slightly and pressing her down.

Osvaldo smiled and his delicate fingertips slid over her delicate red lips. He used a gentle tone that made her heart race to ask again, "Who am I?"

Selena felt uncomfortable being suppressed and furrowed her brows slightly. Her red lips made an unclear whimper, "Osvaldo... it hurts..."

The feeling of suffocation that filled the air disappeared instantly. He gently raised his eyes, his heart full of boiling joy and pleasure. He lightly touched her forehead and cheeks and sighed, "Good girl..."

Selena curled up in his arms, her eyelashes trembling, as if she was about to wake up. Just before she opened her eyes, the man's slender hand moved away from her face, down along her slender shoulders, and finally landed on her back, gently patting her.

Suddenly, a gentle and sentimental song echoed in the pitch-black night.

"Even if you take away my eyes, I can still see you. Even if you block my ears, I can still hear you. Even if you break my hands, I can still embrace you. Without memory, I still only love you..."

The sleeping girl's eyelashes stopped trembling, curled up in his arms. After a while, she fell asleep quietly again.

...

Leia, who was carefully hiding at the door, patted her chest and stiffly slid down from the wall to the floor. She couldn't imagine what would happen if Selena called out another man's name like she did last time. No one could save Selena tonight...

Luckily!

Oswaldo's long companionship and efforts finally paid off.

Leia wiped the sweat from her face and breathed a sigh of relief.

...

From that day on, Capital University suddenly had some rumors. The news spread from an unknown source that Selena was arrogant and domineering, and on her first day at Capital University, she wanted to enter the laboratory.

The school made an exception and gave Selena a one-month probation period, but Selena, being proud and unwilling to be inferior to anyone, insisted that Penelope give up her position for her. After being rejected, she relied on the identity of the daughter of Dean Turner to seduce Hamish and caused the friendship between the two medical geniuses at Capital University to break apart, leading to a significant decline in the overall strength of the laboratory.

The students at Capital University already had mixed feelings towards Selena. Upon hearing this news, they became even more displeased with her.

Who hasn't started from the bottom in the laboratory? Everyone else can do it, so why can't Selena?

For a while, angry voices denouncing Selena could be heard throughout the entire campus.

In the afternoon, the Cooke sisters came to the library with their milk tea to talk to Selena about the situation. Nova angrily said, "The news was spread by a group of gossips. It must be Penelope's doing!"

Selena lazily flipped through a book, leaning against the window with the afternoon sunlight casting a warm glow on her.

Candy sipped her milk tea and saw that Selena had been reading all along. She sneered and said, "Selena, aren't you going to go out and explain yourself? No one liked you before, and now they hate you even more..."

Selena smiled faintly, not lifting her head, and said, "I'm busy, let her be."

The Cooke sisters exchanged a glance. Nova blinked and was about to go over and "harass" Selena, but Candy grabbed her collar, glared at her, and threatened in a low voice, "You better study well, or I won't bring you here next time!"

Nova had ranked last in the last exam, which was dangerous in Capital University as it could result in being advised to leave.

Nova retorted, "Sis, why are you picking on me? You ranked second to last!"

"So I'm studying here now, aren't I?" Candy tapped her on the head, opened her own notebook, and placed it in front of her sister. "Selena looks like a good student at first glance. If you get expelled, how will you still be friends with her?"

Reluctantly, Nova put down her milk tea and took out her notebook. Candy rolled her eyes and took out her pen, sitting in front of the desk and starting to study.

Selena hadn't heard any noise for a while. She looked up and saw the twin sisters sitting at the desk, the younger sister glancing at the books, her eyes wandering, while the older sister was studying and urging her sister at the same time. The whole scene looked extremely warm.

A hint of envy flashed in Selena's eyes. She was an only child, and her siblings in the family were not close to her.

Although Patrick was very good to her, he was still brother of the real Selena and couldn't give her the same sense of intimacy as a real sibling. If only she had a brother...

Selena's lips unconsciously curled up with a hint of longing smile.

...

At the same moment.

In a huge palace on the other side of the earth, a pair of deep and beautiful eyes suddenly opened in the darkness.

The night wind carried the fragrance of roses and blew in from the huge French windows.

A person was sitting on the quiet terrace.

He was a young man with long black hair draped behind him like icy silk, interspersed with a few strands of dazzling white. His skin was as pale as snow, and his perfectly shaped lips had a hint of pallor.

His facial features were astonishingly beautiful, a natural elegance and nobility radiated from his bones, and he was captivating.

As if sensing something, the man raised his black-hole-like deep and cold eyes and looked in the direction of H Country.

...

The rumors and gossip outside had no effect on Selena.

Since arriving at Capital University, she had plunged into a frenzied state of studying.

Every morning, she went to the library, and trained at night. Except for eating and sleeping, all her time was spent on the materials left by Callum.

The whole capital seemed to have temporarily calmed down.

But how much turbulence was hidden beneath this calm was unknown.

Selena didn't go to class and stayed in the library all day. With the principal's approval and support, no one had any objections to it.

Most of the students at Capital University didn't like her, despite the rumors and gossip, no one dared to confront her openly.

One day, two weeks later, Selena finally finished reading the written materials left by Callum.

She stood in front of the French window, looking at the campus outside, lost in thought.

The Cooke sisters came to visit Selena whenever they had free time, claiming to be afraid that she would get bored and brought her food.

Leia didn't stop them since Selena seemed to like the two girls very much.

Nova came in holding a cup of bubble tea and shouted before entering, "Selena, I'm here to study again..."

Upon hearing this, Selena turned around and smiled slightly, "Where is the Capital University laboratory?"

Chapter 809 Treasure Hunt

Nova blinked and shook her head frantically. "The people in the lab have all been bribed by Penelope. They are very hostile towards you. Don't go there, they will make things difficult for you!"

Selena looked at her and smiled. "It's okay. Why don't you come with me?"

Nova tilted her head. "What are we going to do?"

Selena's eyes showed a hint of anticipation and amusement. "We're going on a treasure hunt."

With that, Selena took the lead and walked out.

The Cooke sisters looked at each other and followed her out unconsciously.

Candy asked, "There's no treasure in Capital University, right? What kind of treasure are we looking for?"

Selena pushed open the door with a smile on her face. "I found a map in the library's archives. Maybe we can really find the treasure by following it."

Earlier, Patrick had mentioned that Callum had left something for her at Capital University. Selena had asked Principal Chow, but he said there was nothing.

All of Callum's things were in this library.

After going through all the information, Selena pieced together the map.

If they really found the treasure...

Callum was truly an interesting person.

Selena led the three girls downstairs and met Hamish on the way.

Hamish often came to the library, and he had met Selena several times. He knew that the girl had been reading in the library lately, and he was curious when he saw her come out.

“Lady Selena, where are you going?”

Before Selena could speak, Nova eagerly spoke up. “Selena is taking us to the lab to search for treasure. She said there might be treasure in the lab...”

“A treasure hunt?” Hamish’s calm eyes showed a hint of surprise, but he didn’t ask anything. He just turned around and said calmly, “Most of the lab is dangerous and off-limits. I’ll take you there.”

Entering the lab required card-swiping and a series of identity verifications. Selena was not a member of the lab, so she planned to go find Principal Chow.

Upon hearing Hamish’s words, Selena nodded her head. “Thank you.”

Hamish led the four girls towards the Capital University lab.

It was lunchtime, and many people saw the scene of Hamish walking with Selena. Originally, many people didn’t believe that Hamish had left the lab because of Selena, but seeing this scene with their own eyes, they had to believe it.

But Selena remained calm despite those strange looks, and Hamish didn’t care either, while the Cooke sisters chattered away.

Leia smiled as she looked at the unfriendly students, thinking that if anyone dared to pick a fight, she wouldn’t hold back with her fists.

Selena had been holed up in the lab reading books lately, and it was starting to take a toll on her. However, the students at Capital University clearly had high standards, and even if they were unhappy, no one dared to openly cause trouble.

The laboratory at Capital University was built underground, and it occupied a large area. Hamish led a group of people to the entrance and scanned his fingerprint, and the door opened. A blast of cold air hit them in the face.

Nova instinctively moved closer to Candy and asked, “Why is it so cold in here? Don’t they turn on the heat?”

Hamish replied indifferently, “Temperature can affect many experiments.” This explained why the laboratory had no heating.

Nova stuck out her tongue, shivering with cold, and Candy told her to go back. But she was too curious about what Selena’s treasure was and wanted to follow them.

The fact that Hamish had openly brought Selena to the laboratory was soon known to others.

Brian, who had just finished a surgery, threw away his disposable gloves and washed his hands with a cold face, “What does Hamish mean?”

Before Selena came to Capital University, the two of them didn’t know each other at all.

But as soon as Selena arrived, his attitude changed, and even gave up Cameron, his partner of many years.

Cameron was washing his hands in another sink and didn't answer Brian's question. He just asked, "Did they say what they're here to do?" The backup member of the laboratory standing next to them said, "They didn't say specifically what they're here to do, but it seems like they're helping Selena find something..."

Cameron paused his hand washing, "Find something?" Selena had never been to the Capital University laboratory before, so there was no way her things could have been lost here. So what was she looking for?

Cameron's heart had a momentary irregular beat. He pursed his lips, wiped his hands clean, and suddenly said, "Let's go take a look."

Brian frowned, "What's there to pay attention to about Selena, who hasn't even been to a real laboratory?"

Cameron glanced at him, "I suspect Selena is looking for something that Dean Turner left behind."

Brian looked shocked, "You mean... Dean Turner may have left something specifically for her in private?"

By the end, there was a hint of displeasure in his tone.

Callum had a very high reputation at Capital University and in the entire medical community.

If he really kept his research results hidden privately for his daughter, it could only mean... that he was not as good as they thought he was.

Cameron didn't say anything, he just walked over.

Brian immediately followed.

Selena was getting familiar with the environment in the laboratory at the moment.

She had a bit of a directional impairment, especially when it was her first time in a place, she could hardly remember anything.

Hamish led Selena around the laboratory, causing many people to be dissatisfied.

Penelope, wearing a white coat, stood in front of Selena and pursed her lips, "Hamish, this is a place for experiments. It's against the rules for outsiders to enter. You brought so many people in... it's a violation."

After speaking, her gaze fell on the four people behind Hamish, and her eyes focused on Selena.

Hamish ignored her and just turned to ask Selena, "Any clues?"

Selena looked up at the various door numbers, walked from the head to the end of the corridor, seemed to measure something, and suddenly asked, "Is there any place here where there are corridors on all sides, but only one door out?"

A hint of surprise flashed in Hamish's eyes, and he said lightly, "Yes, but it has been abandoned for a long time and hardly anyone goes there."

Selena's eyes brightened slightly, "Let's go take a look."

Penelope suddenly stood in front of her, "Selena, you are not a member of our laboratory and have no right to walk around here. Please leave immediately!"

Selena raised an eyebrow lightly and was impatient, "Move aside!"

But Penelope stubbornly blocked her way and sneered, "What qualifications do you have to make me move? I am the owner here, you are just an outsider. Only I can drive you out. If I tell you to get out, you have to get out!"

The head teachers came out from around the corner and sternly scolded, "Penelope is right, this is a laboratory ground, and entry and exit of outsiders are strictly prohibited. Hamish, what's wrong with you? You even let any Tom, Dick, or Harry come in?"

Those who followed behind Penelope also spoke out.

"Selena, who do you think you are? Is the laboratory a place where you can come and go as you please?"

Chapter 810 Apologize to Selena

Faced with the malicious expulsion, Selena's eyes flashed with a hint of darkness. She turned around calmly and said, "Fine."

Her easy decision to leave stunned Penelope, who had prepared for Selena to throw a fit. Penelope's gaze then became even more guarded as she watched Selena leave.

If Selena was really that easy to deal with, she wouldn't have survived until now.

Seeing Selena walk away so easily, the others hesitated for a moment before laughing scornfully.

"I really thought she was so arrogant, but it turns out she's just a softie... It's so ugly to see her hitting herself in the face like that!"

"She dares to provoke us without any ability, it's laughable!"

As the group continued to mock Selena, a voice suddenly came from behind.

"Wait a minute!"

Penelope heard the voice and turned around to see Cameron and Brian walking towards her.

"Cameron..."

Cameron patted Penelope's shoulder to comfort her, then looked at Selena's back, pursed his lips, and unexpectedly said, "Let her in."

As soon as he spoke, Penelope froze.

The others were also stunned.

Penelope's face turned white. "Cameron..."

The headmaster frowned and said disapprovingly, "Cameron, Selena is not a member of the laboratory, but she still broke in and acted as if she was above everyone else. This is against the rules. Even if it reaches the principal's office, we are still in the right and there is no need to respect her!"

Seeing that Selena showed no intention of stopping, Cameron frowned and had no choice but to speak up. "Lady Selena, please stay."

Selena paused, turned her head and glanced at him coldly. "But I don't want to go in now."

After speaking, she looked up at Hamish. "Let's find another way."

Hamish calmly nodded and pushed open the door.

Cameron clenched his fingers.

Brian's heart also skipped a beat.

If Selena really came to find what Callum left behind and they didn't follow her, those materials could easily be taken by her and Hamish alone. The loss would be immeasurable!

Seeing Selena about to step out of the door, Cameron strode forward and stopped her. "Lady Selena, it was wrong of Penelope earlier. I apologize to you on her behalf. Please come in."

Cameron's move stunned Penelope, who looked at him in disbelief, as if she had been hit hard. "Why, Cameron?"

Cameron didn't say anything, just stared at Selena.

Selena looked impatient. "Step aside!"

Cameron's brow furrowed even tighter. "Who was disrespectful to Lady Selena earlier? Everyone here should apologize to her now!"

Everyone present's expression changed.

"Cameron, why should we apologize to Selena? She..."

"Enough!" Brian suddenly interrupted her words with a stern voice, looking coldly at the group of people. "If you don't apologize, get out of the lab!"

If it weren't for these women being noisy and meddlesome, there wouldn't be any trouble now. A group of people who can't get things done but always mess things up!

The group of people standing next to Penelope had their faces turned white with fear. Even if they were unwilling, they had to come over and apologize to Selena through gritted teeth.

"Sorry, Lady Selena, we were wrong just now. Please don't take it out on us!" Soon, the others came over too, leaving only Penelope and the head teachers still standing there.

The head teachers' faces turned pale with anger, grinding their teeth and saying, "What? Selena still wants the teachers to apologize to you?"

Selena's impatience was even more apparent on her face. She really was a person with a good temper, and didn't want to waste time on these boring people and things. She looked at Cameron, suppressing the urge to just knock the person out of the way directly.

This was Principal Chow's prized student. If things got shabby, it might make the old man unhappy...

Leia suddenly said with a smile, "How is the teacher from Capital University who went to supervise the exams in Creephia last time? Is she still teaching at Capital University?"

At the mention of Tylor, the head teachers' faces changed completely. Tylor was dismissed by Capital University before she even returned to Capital, and had never been seen in Capital since then. And often, the unknown is the most frightening.

After a stalemate for a moment, the head teachers finally walked over with stiff faces and gritted their teeth, "Selena, I'm sorry, I misspoke just now!"

Penelope looked at all the people who had been helping her just now and were now apologizing to Selena, and her heart was filled with hatred. With red eyes, she said, "Cameron, Selena is the one who did wrong, why should the teachers and classmates apologize to her? It's not fair!"

Cameron gave her a glance, "Penelope..."

Penelope covered her ears with both hands, her voice sharp and loud, "I won't apologize to her, I absolutely won't apologize to Selena!"

Brian had thought that Penelope was considerate, but now seeing her so oblivious to the situation, he felt inexplicably annoyed, "Selena is here to pick up something her father left for her. If you drive her out, no one will be able to see Dean Turner's things!"

Penelope froze in place.

The whole room was in an uproar, everyone looked up in shock and gazed at Selena with astonished eyes.

Selena's calm and indifferent expression made Brian more convinced that Cameron's guess was correct. And by mentioning this in public, it meant that Selena could not monopolize the information left by Callum.

Even if Cameron's guess was wrong, Selena would still be the one feeling ashamed, and there would be no loss for them.

With so many eyes staring at her, Selena didn't show any special expression, she just raised her hand and rubbed her forehead.

She didn't admit it, but she didn't deny it either.

After a moment of silence, everyone turned their eager eyes to Penelope. "Penelope, apologize to Selena and then let her take us to find what we came for!"

Penelope tasted the feeling of being "abandoned by the crowd" in an instant. She stared at Selena fiercely and exclaimed, "You did it on purpose! You could have said it from the beginning..."

If Selena had said that she was here to find what Callum left behind, she would not have brought so many people and made such a fuss to stop her.

Selena glanced coldly at her and said, "You're really annoying!"

After speaking, she rudely pushed past Cameron and walked out.

The other people in the lab watched Selena leave and felt uneasy. They couldn't help but reprimand Penelope. "Penelope! You were in the wrong from the beginning. You said Selena didn't say anything at first, but did anyone even ask her? You just told her to leave as soon as you saw her. How could you expect her to take the initiative to tell you? You're dreaming!"

"Penelope, you started the name-calling. Isn't it only right to apologize to her?"

Everyone stared at Penelope with disapproving eyes, and she stared at Selena's back, clenching her fists in her palms.

In the end, she lowered her head and said, "I'm sorry..."