

Chapter 14 You really have to be so cruel?

Before Joey could refuse, he saw that Elena had already started the car and the school was getting farther and farther away from him.

At this moment, he tilted his head to the sky, "Miss, what exactly do you want from me?"

"I am taking you to my house!" Elena was kind enough to explain to him.

Joey scratched his head, "But this is not right, I can't take advantage of you, although you are good-looking and rich, you are still a girl!"

Elena was stunned for a moment. She did not expect Joey would say so. She thought that when she forced a man into this kind of thing, the man should be screaming to resist her to death.

Stroking her chin, Elena laughed: "Huh, you're so considerate. Then it seems I've really found the right person!"

This comment made Joey speechless for a moment. He realized that this woman was not easy to mess with, so he chose to shut up.

Elena didn't say anything more either and drove the car into the gate of her new villa.

Joey got off after her, "Miss, this place looks so new!"

Elena was speechless for a moment, "At this time, shouldn't you worry about your own safety?"

At this moment, from the darkness came out of a man, whose whole body exuded cold air.

"Elena, what do you mean?" Alston was breathing heavily at this moment and looked at Joey in disgust.

Joey was frightened by him and hid behind Elena.

This caused Alston to sneer, "You just use this to piss me off? Elena, I've been patient with you enough. You'd better throw this person out immediately.

Otherwise"

"Otherwise, what?" Elena asked curiously as she blocked Alston.

Joey frowned, "Sir, you are too disrespectful to her!"

Elena turned her head and glared at him, "Shut up and don't talk."

Joey was a little upset, but still shut up. After all, it seemed to be a matter of those two people, and he'd better not be involved.

Looking at Elena's reaction, Alston was thrilled, thinking, it seemed she still cared about me.

At this moment, Alston could almost be sure that if he played soft, he could make Elena come back in his life again.

However, he had long been spoiled by her . When he tried to do so, he had no idea what to say. Alston was frustrated.

While his thoughts were flying around, Elena spoke, "Mr. Rivers, this is my private villa, and I have no intention of opening it to outsiders. Please leave."

In an instant, Alston's face looked uglier, "Elena!"

Elena did not give way, "Mr. Rivers, I have been with you for fourteen years. You know what I got in the end. I think no one can still come back to you after so many years of being shut out."

These words were more or less heart-breaking, making Alston speechless for a while, his chest rising and falling rapidly!

Elena mocked, "I suggest you try to calm yourself down, otherwise, I will not call an ambulance for you if you faint."

"Elena, do you really have to be so cruel?" Alston couldn't believe this.
