

Chapter 19 Hang out with him

The words made Joey immediately surprised. He instantly remembered the last time he was in her car, and to be honest, it was not so memorable at all.

It was like sitting on a roller coaster, up and down, but he had no room to resist.

Joey's retreat made Elena sneer, "Get in, or I'll go down and kick you in. You can take your time. I'm not in a hurry."

Joey looked at the school gate not far away and started thinking about the time it would take to run from here to there.

At this time, Elena's demonic voice came again, "Of course, you have every right to run far away, and if you don't want your roommates to think you're out for sale, you better behave and do what I said."

After hearing this, Joey trembled and raised his hand to point at her, "You, this, this is illegal!"

Elena bared her teeth at him, "What's illegal? Coveting a boy's body?"

Finished, her big eyes flashed. At that moment, Joey felt that she was a soul-seeking vixen and the kind that ate people without spitting bones.

Lightly exhaled, he nodded, "Don't grope me. I'll just go with you."

He could see the seriousness in Elena's eyes just now. It was obvious that she was the kind of person who could do things by any means. You wouldn't want to mess with her. He was still very aware of that.

After getting into her car once again, he found that there was a surprising change inside.

Those previous jewelry pendants were gone, and the car was clean inside, just like a new car driven out of the store.

He couldn't stop chattering, "Where is that little doll hanging here?"

"In a trash can." Elena's words were emotionless.

"You just threw it away?" He thought that the doll must have been expensive.

Elena noticed his disapproval and said, "That's something Alston doesn't want, so why should I keep it anyway?"

"Uh, okay." Joey looked at the sarcasm flashing in Elena's eyes as she said this.

Without topics, he was a little panicked and said, "It's still early, are you going to hang out with someone?"

"You!" Elena said with an expressionless face, scaring Joey out of his soul.

He hurriedly waved his hands and said, "No, no, no, I'm not fun at all, Miss. I'll recommend some games to you. You'll like them!"

"Heh," Elena puffed out loud, "how meaningless the games are. You are rather more interesting."

Joey: "What the..."

Joey wanted to cry.

However, he was relieved when Elena pulled over.

Because this was a mall, with people coming and going, very lively.

One look and you know that it is definitely a place Elena has never ventured.

He clearly saw Elena's frown.

But this time he learned a good lesson and kept his mouth shut.

Finally, after ten minutes of sitting in the car, Elena got off with him.

Joey surreptitiously checked Elena's face, thinking: no wonder she is a big shot, getting prepared so quickly!

The nonchalant Elena grabbed Joey's arm to hide her nervousness at seeing too many strangers.

At the same time, she was thinking that if Joey dared to shake off her hand, then he would be absolutely dead.