

Chapter 36 Can't go back

"Ok." Elena nodded and let him go.

After Joey went out, Elena messaged him about the dinner party in the evening, and then went back into workaholic mode.

On the other hand, Elizabeth was threatened by an unfamiliar number and walked out of the villa where she was staying, and the first thing she saw was actually Alston.

Elizabeth was nervous. She understood that the man showing up here was not a good sign, especially since she previously sent a breakup text to him that said she was abroad.

Elizabeth gritted her teeth and lifted a smile as gentle as possible, "Alston, why are you here? Where did you get the news of my return, I was hoping to surprise you!"

"Heh," Alston sneered, "And what a nice surprise!"

He threw the photo in his hand toward Elizabeth, "Go abroad? Break up? Have no choice? Elizabeth, you really played me as a fool!"

Elizabeth's face turned pale, she could feel the intense anger and aggressiveness of Alston when he said this, he really wanted to choke her to death.

She shed tears, "Alston, you misunderstood me, I didn't lie to you. That person threatened me, and I had no choice."

No sooner had she finished than she saw her husband walk out through her tears. Her face now turned iron blue.

Elizabeth's heart jumped to her throat, why did Sam Newton come out, she stumbled back, completely at a loss.

She didn't know what she did wrong and why this happened. She would never want to see this happen.

Sam Newton's face also turned blue, "Elizabeth, you claimed you love me, yet your love turns out to be so cheap. I thought I moved you by my heart."

He let out a bitter smile and said to Alston: "Mr. Rivers, as you can see, I am also a victim. This matter really has nothing to do with me. If she did not act like she was interested in me, how would I think of living with her for the rest of my life?"

Alston's face was still cold. he knew that Sam Newton waso not a good man. He was all for scheme, pretending to be rich to fool the inexperienced young girls.

And it was clear that he was successful. Elizabeth was fooled by his appearance and was completely unaware that all that was a show and all was fake.

But he, Alston, a real rich man, would be dumped by such a stupid girl for a liar, which wasreally unacceptable. How could such a disgusting thing happen to him!

Before arriving here, Alston had already thrown away all the things Elizabeth had given him. He used to treat those things like a treasure, but he never could have thought of this.

Looking at Elizabeth's sobbing face, he couldn't help but feel a sense of revenge rising in his heart.

Because of her, he did not see Elena's dedication to him for years, but after Elena really let him go, he now noticed how good she was.

However, what could he do? The reality showed him that he couldn't go back. Elena really seems to have left him, and her number, he once again couldn't get through.
