

Love Slave 122

122 Impassioned Comforting

“Let’s go...” Ace muttered impatiently as he tugged on my hand for me to follow after him.

It felt strange for Ace to be the one leading me to my own room, but it felt strangely pleasant as well. His hand around mine felt warm and it reminded me of how much I didn’t want to be alone right now.

“I didn’t think that we would get this wet. You should take a warm bath and go to sleep. Don’t over think things, ok?” Ace instructed as he smiled at me.

Ace waited until I unlocked the door and opened it before he waved goodbye to me. I was a grown and independent woman, I told myself silently in my head as I watch Ace turn and walk away.

“Ace!” I called out to him quite loudly before I could stop myself.

It was when I felt something warm and wet against my cheek did, I realize that I had wrapped my arms around him and had pressed the side of my face against his back.

What did I...just do?

“Rina...” Ace whispered my name as he turned his head to look at me.

Suddenly, I felt too embarrassed at my forward action that I didn’t dare meet his eyes. Instead, I buried my face into his back and hugged him even tighter than before.

.....

“Please...stay...” I murmured into his back.

...

The door of my room closed behind us with a loud slam. I didn’t see the door close because all I could see was Ace’s face right in front of mine. It wasn’t long before I tasted his lips on mine again along with the warmth of his embrace. Ace’s arms circled my waist and pulled me hard against his body as his lips sought for mine.

“Ahh...Ace...” I moaned in sweet surrender into our heated kiss.

His lips captured mine and I parted my lips invitingly for his wet tongue to enter my mouth. I moaned softly at the feel of his tongue invading the depths of my mouth. His kiss melted me and made me feel so warm inside. His arms around my body as he stroked my back comforted me and pushed all my fears back. I was such a fool not to know how much I didn’t want to be alone tonight until I was hugging him to me and begging for him to stay the night with me with both my words and my actions.

Ace kissed me sweetly before his kiss got more demanding and aggressive. His tongue teased mine before engaging my tongue in a passionate dance that left me yearning for even more of him. I whimpered weakly into our kiss as he groaned with passion. His manly hands started exploring the curves of my body before he pushed me against the wall.

His lips crushed down on top of mine in a kiss so rough and so desperate that it made my heart skip a beat. I parted my lips seductively before thrusting out my tongue to meet his. Ace's hands stroked the sides of my waist before slipping up to cup my breasts boldly and firmly. I moaned into our ardent kiss from the pleasure of his hands playing around with my sensitive tits.

Although my clothes were wet, I didn't feel cold at all. Instead, my body felt so hot from my desire for him. My core throbbed and a pleasurable knot started forming in the pit of my stomach. Ace continued kissing me and I kissed him back as roughly as he was giving it to me. His hand squeezed my breasts firmly as my hands began tugging at his clothes. I wanted to run my hands along his naked body. I wanted to touch him directly.

His clothes were also wet. Ace paused his attention on my breasts just long enough to partially grant my wish by shrugging off his suit. I pulled on his tie before offering up my lips to him seductively. Ace took my lips in another passionate kiss without hesitation. His kisses felt so good. He's such a good kisser.

I could spend my entire life just kissing him and that would be satisfying enough for me.

"Your shirt is see-through...it's so sexy, Rina..." Ace said when he finally broke our kiss.

I was panting by that time and my chest heaving up and down in my wet see-through white shirt must have been a sexy sight for Ace. His hazel eyes stared down at my chest before his hands pulled roughly at the front of my shirt.

"Ace..." I whispered his name as desire flooded my brain and senses.

Ace's hands were impatient as he tugged and pulled on the front of my shirt. Some buttons were unbuttoned while some were sent flying. I didn't care about anything else anymore when I felt his heated breath against the naked skin of my chest.

"Ahhh...Ace..." I moaned as I cupped the back of his head with my hand.

I thrust my chest seductively towards his face as he buried his face in between my breasts. His warm breath tickled my sensitive skin but that was nothing compared to the wet heat of his tongue. Ace licked the skin in between my breasts and louder moans escaped from my lips. Trapping me between the wall and his large and tall frame, Ace continued to lick and kiss my breasts while I cried out louder and louder from the intense pleasure.

His hand cupped my right breast and squeezed it roughly as his hot mouth moved to suck on my swollen nipple. I cried out his name as my fingers clenched around his dark hair. Ace sucked on my nipple mercilessly as his fingers started skillfully playing with the other one. My pussy throbbed with need as more love honey leaked out of my hole to wet my panties. My core pulsated with need as the heat building up inside of me became unbearable.

"Ace...please..." I pleaded him for more pleasure.

When I wanted Ace to stay the night with me, I wasn't sure what I had in mind. However, the pleasure that he was making me feel proved to be a very effective cure to the stress and other horrible feelings that I had been feeling for the whole day.