

Love Slave 219

219 Emergency Call

"Ahh! Yeah...Yeah!" I began moving my hips up and down to ride his cock just like he wanted me to.

My hips squirmed and swayed as I rode his thick cock. The sensation of his cock hitting inside of me from various angles as I continued to ride him faster and harder than before made me scream as my desire mounted again.

"That's it, Rina. Ride me...don't stop..." Ace urged me passionately as his hands moved to caress the sides of my waist.

That night, I rode him until he came hard inside of me.

...

The second day of our trip was supposed to be a relaxing and aimless day where we could just enjoy each other's company while doing absolutely nothing productive at all. It was a lazy day right off the bat with both of us waking up late. The rough and extensive love that we made last night pulled me into a long and deep sleep. When I began waking up the next morning, it was already almost midday.

"Hmm..." I murmured as my body and eyelids were still heavy from sleep.

Automatically, my hands reached out to feel around in search of Ace. I found him sleeping nearby while I kept my eyes closed. There was no rush and there was nothing in particular that we had to do today so I didn't feel pressured to get up. Ace must have felt the same because he was still sleeping peacefully. We had the place to ourselves until much later in the day and I planned to enjoy our time together as much as possible until we had to head back.

"Rina..." Ace murmured my name.

.....

I opened my eyes to see him staring right at my face. My lips immediately curved into a lazy smile as I raised my arms above my head on the bed to stretch.

"Good morning, Ace..." I greeted him sweetly.

Ace pulled me into his embrace, and I pillowed my head on his arm as he held me close and began stroking the small of my back. It felt so comfortable. I wondered if cats and dogs felt this way when their owner petted and stroked them. My eyes felt heavy again and it felt like I was ready to drift off into sleep at any moment.

"What's the plan for today?" Ace asked softly.

"No plans at all. We can do whatever we want..." I replied.

So much for telling him that I would plan the trip. The schedule that I had whipped up for this basically consisted of multiple slots of free and leisure time. I was sure that Ace wouldn't mind being non-productive for the weekend because we needed the rest.

“Sounds great...” he murmured in agreement.

His arms tightened around me as he pulled me closer until I could feel the entire length of his body against me. I wish time would just stop so that I could live like this forever in his arms. My wish was not to be when the sound of Ace’s phone vibrating on the nightstand close to the bed disturbed us.

Reality calls...

I tried my best to suppress my sigh of disappointment when his arms reluctantly loosened from my body. Ace mumbled some curse words with clear annoyance before his arm moved to grab his phone. I guess being the CEO meant that he couldn’t just simply ignore calls even when it was the weekend, and we were in the middle of our holiday.

“What is it?” Ace asked sleepily.

The person on the other end of the line spoke too softly for me to hear and that was probably for the best because I had absolutely no interest in Ace’s work calls. That was until Ace suddenly sat up in bed before swinging his legs down from the bed. I quickly sat up just to see Ace walking out of the bedroom before the door closed behind him.

What...just happened?

Sitting up in bed, I quickly realized that I was completely naked. After sighing and rolling my eyes, I tiptoed towards the closet to pull on a robe before making my way to the bedroom door. Ace seemed a little flustered when he suddenly headed out of the room and that made me worry about him.

Did something urgent come up from the call just now?

That was the only logical explanation that I could think of from the way that he reacted. Ace was probably still on the phone and that made me hesitate to step out of the bedroom to disturb him. The call might be confidential as well. My hand rested on the doorknob without turning it as I debated with myself on what I should do.

Slowly, I turned the doorknob and opened the door a crack before peering out. To my surprise, I couldn’t see Ace in the living room. I opened the door fully open before walking out into the empty living room.

Where did he go?

I sighed when I decided to give up and leave him alone. Ace will be back when he was done with his call anyways. I plopped down onto the sofa before stretching. Maybe we could go for a stroll along the beach together for a bit before having lunch. Then in the afternoon, we could go to the sauna together. If he doesn’t want to do that, there was a small hill to the back of the resort where we could trek up a little to see the sea view from higher up. I read about it on the website about this place and the photos shot from up on the hill looked breathtakingly beautiful. If we could stay late enough, maybe we can even catch the sunset there as well.

Thinking that there was nothing else that I could do but wait for his return, I was fully awake and in a very cheerful mood. I smiled while I hummed along to a random song that flowed through my mind while I waited for Ace’s return.

Suddenly, the door to the living room opened and Ace strode in. His hair was ruffled and the robe that he had on had been tied very loosely. At least he didn't go out there naked.

"Welcome back..." I said with a teasing smile.

"Pack up now. We need to head back," Ace said before he walked past me and began gathering his things.