

Love Slave 298

298 Better and Stronger

I cried out at the mix of pain and pleasure as my hips began moving beneath him to meet his thrusts halfway. His cock felt like it had reached a deeper part of me, and I was crying out wildly from the effects of his passionate attack. His hard love stick beat mercilessly into me until I thought that I would split into two. Ace was being way too rough with me, but I didn't seem to mind it all that much. Each stroke of his cock burying itself into me felt so wonderful. My hips rose up and down from the sofa to meet his thrusts and draw his cock even deeper into me.

His cock hitting against my pleasure spot with each thrust drove me closer and closer to the edge. I knew that I would soon be at my limit, and I would climax once again. I could feel my head getting light and my legs going weak with each thrust. It wouldn't be too long before I lost myself completely to my intense orgasm. I never thought that I could want Ace so desperately like this. He groaned my name again and his cock seemed to twitch inside me. I wondered if he was also close to his release as well. I closed my eyes and moaned his name as I imagined being filled with his hot seed.

"Ace...I can't take it...I'm going to cum..." I moaned sweetly.

My hips lifted upwards and then I lifted my legs up and wrapped it around his hips to keep him closer to me. His cock felt unbearably hot inside of me and with one final thrust, he sent me over the edge. I came so hard crying out his name at my release before my mind went empty. My entire body spasmed beneath him as Ace continued thrusting his cock in and out of my hole.

"Rina...your pussy feels so good..." he moaned before thrusting his cock all the way into me again.

My legs seemed to have lost all of its strength and Ace managed to untangle my legs from around his hips with ease. I let out a moan when he lifted my legs and moved his hips even closer to mine. He reared his hips back again before pumping his cock all the way into me. I cried out at the sensation of his cock hitting hard against my womb. My pussy felt much more sensitive than before after having cum so many times.

"Ace..." I cried out his name just as he thrust his cock into me again.

His rough thrusts felt endless and so did the waves of pleasure that entered my body with every single thrust of his cock into me. Ace's movements suddenly got rougher and more forceful than before. He pounded faster and harder into me and I could tell that he was already close to his release. I clenched my pussy tightly around his cock to heighten his pleasure. Ace let out a low growl and then I felt his cock twitching wildly into me.

"Rina..." he moaned my name when he finally came.

.....

The heat of his release gushed into me in waves as he filled me with his semen. I moaned and whimpered his name as my pussy greedily clenched wildly around his cock. Ace came so much into me, and I was happy to take it all in. I let him fill me up with his seed to his heart's content. He sweated so much that his entire back was wet when I hugged him to me. After a moment, Ace stilled on top of me. I felt so wasted and tired from our rough lovemaking but I also felt extremely satisfied at the very same time. I wondered if Ace felt the same way as I did as I ran my hand slowly across his broad muscular back.

...

I didn't remember how I got into Ace's bed the night before after we made intense love on the sofa. However, since I did wake up in his bed, I figured that Ace must have carried me there after I had fallen asleep. My lower body felt sore and very well used from our vigorous exercise the night before. Ace was no where to be found by the time that I opened my eyes. I could still smell him and that told me that he did spend the night with me in bed. It was still early in the morning, but he was already up and about.

"Ace..." I called for him as I quickly got out of bed.

Not surprisingly, I was completely naked. Grabbing a robe and wrapping it around my body, I made my way out of the bedroom in search for Ace. I wished that luck would be on my side and that he would still be in. There was no doubt that today would be as busy if not busier than yesterday now that the commercial had launched. Because of that, I wouldn't be surprised if Ace was already on his way to the office or already there.

When I arrived at the living room, Ace was already fully dressed in his suit and he looked more than ready to leave. He seemed refreshed and very ready to take on the day. I found myself smiling at the sight of him looking very energetic. There was just so much positive vibe about him that I couldn't help but feel affected.

"You're up very early. Are you going to head to the office already?" I asked although I pretty much thought that I knew the answer.

"Yup. I figured that it'll be better if I get in extra early today. You don't have to rush, though. Just come in on time," Ace replied before winking at me.

That was probably his way of telling me that he wasn't willing to wait for me to get dressed and ready for work. I hadn't expected for him to wait for me or for us to turn up to the office together so that didn't hurt me in any way.