

Gina's Luna ceremony

Chapter 65

It is 5 days before Gina's ceremony when we recieved a call from Matt requesting we bring only unmated gay males and females with us as his Delta is looking for his mate and after speaking to another Alpha he discovered his sister was looking for her mate.

He decided that it was harder for gay couples to meet at these events as they usually were not selected, so he wanted it to be exclusively for them.

I agreed instantly, thinking it was a fantastic idea, Lucian had no idea what to say to the pack, and was worried about offending anyone, so I offered to hold the meeting with the pack members. I decided it was best to just be forthright about it and ask straight out and explain exactly why I was asking so no one got the wrong idea.

I sent a pack wide link asking all unmated members over the age of 17 to meet me in the hall after lunch. The hall is packed when I enter, Lucian stands at my side, looking thankful he doesn't have to speak.

"I have called you all here as we have had a request from Alpha Matt whom you have all met. Now, this may sound unusual to some of you, but it is a fantastic idea and opportunity for many members of many packs. I will explain the reason for the request before I ask my question to you all" I say to them.

"Matt and Gina's Delta and another Alpha's sister are looking for their mates, now we have discovered that it is much harder for gay couples to find their mates and they are more likely to keep quiet about their sexuality making it even harder for them to be open about finding their mates. What I need from you all is for all of the gay and bisexual men and women to come forward so we have numbers to give to Matt for the ceremony at the weekend. Hopefully, we will be able to find many people their mates within the different packs. All of the packs have been asked to do this, and from what I have heard, most have been extremely supportive and happy about it" I tell them.

Murmurs start up straight away, I know at least 1 man and women who are gay and also a bisexual woman in the pack who are unmated, no surprise to me they joined me on the stage straight away and start to chat excitedly to me about the chance of finally finding their mate. I know them all from the warrior classes.

Slowly more people join us as some of the straight members leave the room wishing their pack members luck in finding their mates, saying they hope one of them manages to bag the Alpha's daughter, which causes a few chuckles in the room. In the end, we are left with 8 men and 14 women, 9 of the women are gay and the other 5 are bisexual. The men are 6 gay and 2 bisexual.

I get on the phone to Matt as soon as the meeting is finished to let him know our numbers and tell him to give Gina my love and let me know if they need anything at all. Gina has been in touch loads anyway, so I am totally up to date on everything that has happened, including Kelly being kicked out of the pack 2 days ago. I am glad she got her sorted out quickly before she became too much of a problem. She could easily have been another Jessica.

Our pup has started moving, and I have a noticeable bump now that I am 12 weeks, Lucian and Luca love to feel and talk to our pup. They are hoping for a girl. I thought all Alpha's want a boy first, but they want a girl that looks just like me, they both say. I can't wait to find out in two weeks' time at our next scan.

Everyone is excited about leaving for the event. Even the rest of the pack members are happy for their friends. You can sometimes get some jealousy from the people who don't get picked but this time there is none of that, everyone is happy for them and wishing them luck, hoping they will find their soul mate. We really do have a great, supportive pack.

I was speaking to Talia the other day, and she said her pack responded the same way. Her Delta is also gay and her and Emily are bisexual so they are quite an open-minded pack. They have never had any issues so far with prejudice.

With her pack being bigger, she has 32 member going with her to the ceremony who are all excited with the chance of meeting their mate.

I really hope we manage to make a lot of matches within the packs and the couple of packs that were not happy about it well let's hope they complied even if it is to get rid of the members so they can live their lives in a better pack.

When we arrive at the pack, Matt is really excited to show me his new play area that has been built for all of the pups. I have to say they have done a fantastic job in a couple of weeks he also discussed his plans for his assault course that they were building next. He was sad it couldn't be done in time, but he didn't want to wait any longer to make his brother Alpha and Gina his Luna.

Gina was happy to see us all and her family, she has promised to come back to the pack for Shawn's and my pup being born, there is a couple of weeks between our due dates, but with both Lucian and I being Alpha's I could easily go early saving her an extra trip.

Gina's uncle, Shawn's dad, took her father's place to walk her down the aisle to her mates. You could see how proud he was having the honour of doing this for his niece.

Gina looked stunning. The twins were bewitched by her as she walked towards them. I was so happy seeing how well things had worked out for them all. Stuart seems like a lovely guy, and despite our first meeting, Matt is actually a great guy as well and totally in love with Gina.

She was excited to find out Shawn and Julia were having a boy and told me I had better call her straight away once I find out what we are having. She also said she was hoping that after her heat, she would be expecting some news of her own soon and that I would be the first to know after their family.

The event was a huge success. The two less desirable packs did comply with the request it was mainly to get rid of the pack members they were prejudiced against. Around 80 per cent of the unmated visitors found their mates, some were not quite 18 yet, so they will have to wait for a few months until they can seal their bond.

Matts's Delta did find his mate it was a Gamma blood second born from a neighbouring pack, the Alpha's brother also found his mate in a Beta from a close pack so he will be moving to his pack. The other Alpha's sister also found her mate in a warrior from Talia's pack.

We were really lucky that all of our members, bar 2, found their mates. It was fairly even who stayed and went with 11 staying in our pack and 9 moving to their new mates pack. The ones that didn't find mates from the 2 less accepting packs Talia spoke to them and advised them on which packs would be best for them to move to.

I love the fact that her wolf Alina just knows these things and can help so many people. The packs were more than happy to accommodate them and their families if need be.

I made sure I got plenty of time playing with Talia, Emily, Lucian, and my cousins pups while we were all together here. All the other pups that were at my ceremony remembered Talia and I and wanted us to play with them as well with our wind power, so we got to escape the adults and have fun with the pups.

It was sad to say goodbye to everyone again, especially Gina and Lucas. Their pack is so far away from us. At least I know she will be visiting when the little ones are born.

We have to leave early unfortunately as or is such a long drive back, we would have stayed longer but we have so many new pack members to get things sorted for and some of them will be bringing their families with them we need to get back home to start organising things as soon as possible.

Julia and I will also need frequent rest stops with the little ones pressing on our bladders. Before we leave we make sure to exchange contact information with all the new members who are not joining us immediately and also talk to them about how many family members will be joining them and what type of accommodation they will all need. I want to be organised so I can get started making the arrangements first thing in the morning so they can move in as soon as they like.

I see a few other Alpha's and Luna's doing the same thing as myself and also a few sad mates saying goodbye to their partners and arranging when they will see them again and move to their new packs.

Gina has gained a couple more members from our pack, and we have offered to have their things sent to them with their families if they would rather stay. They wanted to say goodbye to all of their friends but asked of their mates could join them at the pack for a couple of days and said that Matt and Stuart had offered them a van to use for their things.

We agreed straight away with their request. They are popular members, so it will be nice to give the rest of the pack a chance to say goodbye properly to them.
