

Lucky Bride 62

Chapter 62: If You Want To Live, Stay Away From Her

Liu Sanniang ran to the door of her house and quickly opened it. She entered and closed the door. Leaning against the door, she took a deep breath.

Liu Shun was an evil person. His words made Liu Sanniang shiver and she was extremely afraid.

At the thought of Liu Yinniag marrying such a person, Liu Sanniang hoped that Madam Bai would listen to Madam Wei.

Liu Shun passed by Liu Sanniang's house without stopping.

With a smile on his face, he placed one hand behind his back. In this life, he had to have a taste of Liu Sanniang.

Liu Shun came to Liu Yinniag's house.

Matchmaker Xu was beaming with smiles as she continued to praise.

"Madam Bai, you are really lucky to have such a good son-in-law. He's so generous with the betrothal gift. He really cares about Yinniag."

Madam Bai smiled like a blooming flower. When she had asked Matchmaker Xu to match her daughter and Liu Shun, she didn't have much hope of it succeeding. But it turned out that Liu Shun agreed.

Now that Liu Shun had become a scholar, his status and salary had taken a leap as well.

Madam Bai was very satisfied with this marriage, so Matchmaker Xu's flattery made her feel even happier.

With a smiley face, she said, "I have to thank Matchmaker Xu. You helped my daughter put in a good word in front of Liu Shun."

Matchmaker Xu smiled. "This is fate. They are destined to be together. All I did was deliver some messages."

Liu Shun listened to the laughter and flattery from outside the door. He raised his hand and knocked.

Matchmaker Xu stood up and clapped her hands. "Madam Bai, I think your future son-in-law is here to greet you."

Madam Bai hurriedly got up. "Why is he here? Isn't he in the school and too busy to come?"

Liu Shun walked into the courtyard and bowed to Madam Bai. "Mother-in-law."

After sending the betrothal gift, the marriage was pretty much a done deal. All that was left was the date of the wedding. When Liu Shun bowed to Madam Bai, she was exhilarated.

Tonight, Liu Yinniag made many dishes to treat her future husband, but she did not eat them together with them, as was the tradition.

The betrothal gifts were in the courtyard. There were high-quality clothes and jewelry as well as 30 taels of silver.

Liu Yinniang smiled happily. But now and then she could remember Liu Sanniang telling her that Liu Shun was not a good person.

At the thought of this, Liu Yinniang couldn't help but wonder why Liu Sanniang thought so.

What exactly happened? After all, Liu Shun had proposed to Liu Sanniang before, and it was Liu Sanniang who rejected him. If Liu Sanniang didn't refuse, she wouldn't have gotten this chance.

What was it that made Liu Sanniang refuse him?

Liu Yinniang felt a little sad. This marriage was really too good. If she missed it, she would never meet such a good man again. If she married a scholar, she could even become an official's wife in the future.

Liu Shun looked gentle. How could such a man not be good?

She wanted to use her lifetime of happiness to make Liu Sanniang believe that she had misjudged and given a great man to someone else.

At night, the matchmaker and the others bade farewell happily.

Liu Shun also stood up and left. He was slightly drunk.

Madam Bai sent Liu Shun to the entrance of Willow Alley and said with a smile, "Take care."

Liu Shun raised his hand without looking back. Why did he want to marry Liu Yinniang? It was entirely because he wanted to take revenge on Madam Wei for rejecting him.

Madam Wei was a capable woman. In the Liu clan, people looked up to her.

None of the other women were as capable as she was.

After drinking, Liu Shun staggered home. Liu Sanniang's beautiful face appeared in his mind. In his opinion, a woman like Liu Sanniang was suitable to be a toy that he played with once in a while.

Her skin was fair and smooth, and her figure...

He had to get the woman who had been his dream for a lifetime.

In his dream, Liu Sanniang had also rejected him. He did not know the reason, but he had been thinking about Liu Sanniang for his entire life. When Liu Sanniang was a girl, she was very gentle and beautiful. He had only seen Liu Sanniang once when she was in her twenties.

After that, she entered his dreams almost every day.

That gentle and beautiful woman with a slender waist had to be his.

"I..."

Liu Shun's vision suddenly went dark. With a shudder, all the thoughts in his mind disappeared. Before he could shout, he fainted.

With a dark and expressionless face, Chu Yan dragged Liu Shun out of the street.

After waking up from the faint, Liu Shun cursed in his mind. "Damn it, who assaulted me behind my back again?"

However, he did not dare to make a sound.

It was already dark, so Liu Shun could not see things clearly. However, under the moonlight, he could vaguely see a tall figure through the gap in the sack!

Chu Yan looked at Liu Shun coldly. "Scum, you finally woke up."

It was good that Liu Shun had woken up because Chu Yan didn't like hitting people when they were unconscious.

Liu Shun's heart skipped a beat when he heard this cold voice. He hastened to beg for mercy. "Please, don't hit me."

Chu Yan punched Liu Shun's thigh. Liu Shun subconsciously arched his body and let out an excruciating scream.

He leaned close to Liu Shun's ear and said, "If you want to live, stay away from her."

After saying that, Chu Yan stood up and left without looking back.

Liu Shun screamed. "Help, help!"

Hearing the threat, without thinking, Liu Shun knew for a fact who the man was.
