Lucky Collision (Evans and Martin Robinson) Chapter 24

Chapter 24 Camaraderie

Evans wanted to resolve Larry's issue, but he did not want to compromise because of that.

The unregulated loans available on the internet must have harmed a lot of people.

Many young ladies were deceived, jeopardizing their future.

Calling the police probably wouldn't bring them to justice.

Evans pondered over the best solution.

Oh, right, why not use the power of the internet and public opinion? Great. That will be the plan.

After discovering a solution, Evans proceeded to withdraw his money.

Adding to the money Kiana had given, Evans would have around ten thousand dollars.

Furthermore, Elmer would also contribute to the fund.

It was not that Evans was unwilling to contribute the total amount. Of course, he could afford it. However, he wanted to let Larry learn from this lesson.

Elmer's money signified a strong friendship.

Kiana's contribution was out of love.

It was necessary to make Elmer remember the people who helped him. Evans wanted to avoid taking the spotlight.

Besides, Evans did not plan to pay so much to the loan company. The amount required for the debt had shot up to 40 thousand dollars.

The loan company was pure evil.

After getting prepared, Evans called Zoe to ask her to meet up.

Zoe had finished showering, giving her hair a refreshing scent.

Evans noticed Zoe was wearing her favorite short jean, and he shook his head helplessly.

Next time, Evans decided to get Zoe long pants to keep others from checking out her slender legs.

"What's wrong?"

Evans did not clarify the matter, but he only asked Zoe out.

Zoe rush to this place without a clue.

Evans took Zoe to a secluded area of the sports field. In the distance, several couples embraced each other under the trees. Upon noticing that, Zoe said anxiously, "You didn't do it when we were in the hotel, so why do you bring me to a place like this?"

"What are you thinking?"

Evans was stunned, "One of my roommates is in trouble. I want to request your help."

Zoe heard it was serious business, and she nodded.

"I will be meeting some people. Call the police if you see something went wrong."

Zoe nodded, but she asked in concern, "Can you handle it?"

Evans replied, "It should be fine. At worst, I will take a beating."

"Remember not to walk over to us no matter what happens. Make sure to keep the evidence safe."

Evans returned to the dorm. The rest of the roommates were present.

Evans took out 2600 dollars and said, "Kiana gave you the money. You know what you have to do. Can you forgive yourself for what you have done to that poor girl?"

"What? Kiana is loyal to love."

Elmer could not help but raise a thumb.

"Kiana is awesome. If you don't want her, don't mistreat her either. It's disgraceful to waste someone's love."

"How about you give Kiana to me?"

Larry glared at the rest of the roommates, "Shut up!"

Larry did not expect Kiana to help him, but she had limited financial resources. The fact that she went to such lengths was already commendable.

Evans said, "Apologize to her after we resolve this. You have to win her back."

"Having such a devoted girl is a blessing in life."

"Enough. Don't talk about it anymore."

Larry ran out of the dorm with bloodshot eyes.

Scott sat there without saying a word since he didn't plan to help.

Evans replied, "No!"

It was already 10.00 pm, but Larry had not returned to the dorm.

It was until the next day that they found out that Larry had gone to meet Kiana. The couple cuddled with each other throughout the night in the park at the back of campus.

In the afternoon, Evans, Larry, and Elmer were prepared to meet up with the online loan company's representatives.

Evans asked Scott, "Are you going with us?"

It was Evans's test on Scott's character. Evans wouldn't want to befriend someone who wouldn't lend a hand in times of trouble.

Scott gave it a thought before replying, "You all should go ahead. I have an appointment with someone else."

"Alright, then we'll be leaving!"

Evans did not bother with Scott anymore. He was done dealing with that kind of person for good.

Evans, Larry, and Elmer arrived at the agreed location, which was a restaurant outside the campus.

Evans got Larry to pick this place to make it convenient for Zoe to record a video.

Six tattooed, burly men showed up. They represented the online loan company.

These people were sent to intimidate Evans, Larry, and Elmer, making sure they wouldn't dare to fight back.

The man leading the group was called Benny. With that fierce look, it was clear he wasn't someone to mess with.

Benny glared as he asked, "Where's the money?"

Larry glanced at Evans without saying a word, so Evans responded, "We brought it."

Evans had a voice recorder on him, and he said seriously, "The online loan doesn't add up. How up.

How

"When we first borrowed money, we asked for ten thousand dollars, but you only gave us nine thousand dollars. How did the debt shoot up to 40 thousand dollars in one week?"

Benny glared at Evans, "Did I ask you to spank."

"Are you asking for a beating? This is between us and him. It's none of your business."

"Shut the hell up."

Evans was already prepared for this. He said, "He is my friend. We will pay back the debt with him."

"If you don't want me to get involved, we will leave."

"Stand right there!"

Benny slammed the table abruptly, "Brat! Who gives you the audacity to act arrogant in front of me?"

Elmer wasn't afraid of them, "Why are you being so aggressive? We only borrow money from you."

"We're not your slaves. We owe money, and we'll repay it. I still have equal human rights."

"We have borrowed money from you, but it's not slavery."

"Hey!" Benny rolled his eyes, "You little brats think you're so hot, huh?"

The underlings were about to attack Evans, Larry, and Elmer. The roommates quickly stood up, and each grabbed a chair.

"Beat them up!"

The underlings, displaying their wicked intentions, were ready to throw punches. Evans shouted, "Hold on a second."

"We're here to repay the money with sincerity. What's the meaning behind your actions?"

Benny sneered, "Fine, pay us back then. However, the debt is no longer 40 thousand dollars but 80 thousand dollars!"

"We have only borrowed nine thousand dollars, and you want us to pay back 80 thousand dollars."

"This is injustice."

Evans shouted, "Which law justifies such an interest rate in this world?"

"As long as you show me evidence, we'll pay you back even if it's 800 thousand dollars."

Benny snarled, "I'm the only evidence you need. With you fools acting like this today, there's no

way you can leave without paying 80 thousand dollars.”

As Evans was about to continue, Benny pointed at him, “100 thousand dollars!”

“Sorry, we don't have the money. We're not paying that.”

Benny sneered, “Cut off one of his arms.”

The underlings rushed over with their weapons. The roommates remained brave.

They exchanged glances before charging at the leader, Benny.

No matter how vicious the enemies were, they would focus on one target, Benny.

Benny had more men, but the roommates were not scared.

They had decided to bring one person down no matter what.

Benny did not expect the brats to attack him in front of all his men.

Before Benny could react, three chairs had smashed on his head.

It was a heavy blow!

Benny had fallen to the ground. On the other hand, the underlings had thrown the roommates to the ground.

As the underlings were about to continue their assault, police sirens blared outside.
