Chapter 31

Chapter 31

Diana's pov

“You idiot! You ruined all my plans!”

Avia raised her arm and slapped it heavily on the maid's cheek.

The maid's mouth suddenly overflowed with blood.

However, despite this, she did not dare to resist, just kept apologizing with her head down.

“I'm sorry... I've tried my best... I didn't know she would record... Please forgive me, or... maybe you give me another chance! Next time, I will definitely succeed.”

I sneered.

Sure enough, all of this was Avia's conspiracy.

She knew that I would come to the Galaxy Center to attend the race, so she arranged for this maid to frame me in advance.

The purpose was to make Nathan recognize my “malicious” personality and hate me, in order to solidify her position in Nathan's heart.

But what she didn't expect was that I shattered her plan with just a few words.

She not only failed to make me lose face in front of everyone, but also turned herself into a joke.

“Shut up! Don't fucking cry in front of me!”

Avia was irritable, her facial features twisted, far from her usual pitiful appearance. She still felt angry, so she slapped the maid a few more times.

It wasn't until the maid spat out blood and beaten to the ground that she stopped. "Since you have failed, our agreement will naturally become invalid. You can't even get a penny for your mother's medical expenses."

The maid widened her eyes and immediately pounced on Avia's feet.

"No! Don't... give me another chance! Next time, I will definitely succeed! Please don't take my mother's medical fees! Please!"

The maid's mouth kept gushing with blood.

But her embarrassment did not earn Avia's sympathy.

Avia looked at the maid coldly and paused word by word, "I never give a loser a second chance! You should be grateful that I only took your mother's medical fees, not her and your life. Get out!"

The maid's eyes flashed with despair, tears sliding down her swollen cheeks.

But in the end, she could only limp away.

Looking at the maid's back, Avia screamed wildly with anger.

I rubbed my ears and said irritably, "Stop shouting."

Avia was startled and suddenly stopped her voice, looking at me with a pale face.

"When did you come?" She blurted out.

LO LIU!

"Imagine, if I told Nathan everything you just said to that react?"

"You're not allowed to do this!" Avia screamed.

I stared at her without saying a word.

Her throat rolled nervously, but she pretended to be calm on the surface.

“I’m telling you. Nathan won’t believe you. Even if you just recorded a video, I can say it’s because I’m sick. Anyway... if you want to defeat me in this way, you must be daydreaming!”

I rolled my eyes for her arrogance.

I had no interest in the relationship between her and Nathan, and naturally wouldn’t do such boring things.

I just hated Avia always treating me like her rival.

I had nothing to do with Nathan anymore!

When Nathan casually left me to Isaac in front of everyone, he had nothing to do with me already!

Why was she still dragging me in?

“I’m telling you, Avia. This will be the last time I tolerate you. Take away all your useless tricks. Otherwise, next time, you won’t be so lucky.”

I stared coldly at Avia.

Avia trembled all over with fear in my sharp gaze.

She seemed to want to argue with

,but couldn’t make any sound.

Suddenly, a strange light flashed in her eyes.

Immediately afterwards, she leaned back and fell to the ground, covering her right cheek

“Avia!”

At this moment, a familiar voice rang from behind me.

I saw Nathan quickly rush to Avia and lift her from the ground, his eyes filled with worry.

“Nathan, don’t blame Diána. I just misunderstood her in the hall, and she should have slapped me.” Avia, with an innocent expression, turned to me and said, “Diana, I’m sorry. I didn’t mean to. If slapping me can make you no longer angry, then you can continue.”

Nathan squinted at me with a cold expression.

“Did you hit her?” He questioned.

In an instant, a huge sense of absurdity arose within me.

Sure enough, love could make people blind.

As Alpha of Dark Moon Pack, Nathan couldn’t see through such a clumsy trick.

I smiled sarcastically.

I smiled sarcastically.

The next second, I grabbed Avia’s wrist and pulled her out of Nathan’s embrace.

Then, a slap heavily fell on her face!

Avia let out a scream, covering her face and looking at me in shock.

“What are you doing?” Nathan growled.

I smiled faintly and said, “Isn’t Avia saying that I slapped her? Of course I should make it grounded.”

Avia’s face suddenly changed.

If her gaze could turn into a sharp blade, I thought she might have stabbed me a hundred times already.

Unfortunately, she couldn’t.

I yawned lazily and said, "Alpha Nathan, if there's nothing else, then I'll leave first." "Wait a minute!" Nathan stopped me.

I thought he would revenge for his beloved Avia. I was even prepared to fight against him, but he just patted Avia's shoulder and said, "Claude is in the hall. You go find him first."

"Nathan, I-"

"Just be a lamb."

Avia bit her lips in anger, but ultimately had to leave the parking lot.

I looked at Nathan and asked angrily, "Do you have anything else? Do you want to avenge your beloved Avia? I'm sorry, I-"

"Whose clothes are you wearing?"

I was stunned, never expecting Nathan to ask me this question.

I frowned and glanced at him, "Does this have anything to do with you?"

"No, I just feel that it looks so ugly on you!" Nathan sneered.

I felt he was inexplicable.

"If you think it's ugly, just don't look at it!" I gritted my teeth and said.

Although Victor's clothes was much larger than mine, it was definitely not ugly.

Damn Nathan must have bad aesthetics.

"What are you going to say?" I was getting impatient.

"It was nothing. I heard you participate in today's race," Nathan looked down at me with a clear exploration in his eyes

“You and I have been together for two whole years, but most of the time your attention was on other women. Do you have any desire to learn about what I like and what I excel at?”

Nathan squinted his eyes and said, “You have too many secrets. I just realized that I don’t know anything about you.”

You do have a deep affection for Avia.”

“You don’t have to mock me.”

“It’s rare that you can hear it,” I rolled my eyes. “My game is about to start. I don’t have time to waste on you.

I looked down at my watch.

However, just as I passed Nathan by, I heard the sound of the fabric tearing.

I lowered my head and found that the shirt I had just changed was tightly intertwined with Nathan’s cufflinks.

“You did it intentionally?” I looked at Nathan in shock.

Nathan sneered.

“Do you think I am that bored?”

After speaking, he seemed extremely impatient and tore open the shirt that had originally only a small slit.

I wanted to stop him, but it was too late..

“What are you doing?” I shouted.

Nathan grabbed the half piece of fabric he had torn off in his hand. He seemed to take it for granted.

“Of course I am separating us. What? Do you still want to be with me?”

“But I can’t wear this shirt anymore.”

“Oh, so what? Does it have anything to do with me?” Nathan raised his eyebrows.

“You

I wanted to beat Nathan, but I knew this wouldn’t solve any problems.

There was not much time left, so it was obviously impossible to buy another one.

Did I have to wear that wet T-shirt sprinkled with red wine?

Just as I was in a dilemma, Nathan, standing in front of me, suddenly began to undress.

I looked at him in astonishment and stuttered, “What, what are you doing?”

“I thought for a moment. It seemed that it has something to do with me that your shirt is torn.” He took off his suit and casually threw it onto the Maybach, then took off the white shirt inside and threw it into my arms.

“So, wear mine,” he said expressionlessly.

Chapter 32

Diana’s pov

The shirt in my arms still retained Nathan’s heat, even his scent!

My brain was in a mess.

The shirt in my arms still retained Nathan's heat, even his scent!

My brain was in a mess.

I didn't understand what Nathan was doing!

Just as I was in a daze, Nathan had already put on his suit again.

Due to his excessively excellent physique, his half exposed chest not only did not make his outfit strange, but also added a sense of wild beauty.

Seeing me staring at him, Nathan suddenly lowered his head and approached me. "How long will you continue to look at me like this?"

I felt myself blushing through the heat on my face and retreated.

"Don't flatter yourself." I turned my head and didn't look into his eyes. "I was just thinking you wouldn't be so kind. After all, I just slapped your beloved Avia."

Sure enough, when it came to Avia, Nathan's face suddenly cooled down.

"Avia is still ill. She can't control her behavior."

I was stunned for a moment and then looked at Nathan, "So you know what Avia did just now was her acting?"

Nathan didn't answer, but his expression already explained everything.

'So why do you spoil her like this? Do you just like her so much? So much so that you can't tell right from wrong?"

"I have said it. Avia is still sick. Everything she's doing now isn't her original intention! Besides, my relationship with her is not what you think. I-"

"Shut up!"

I interrupted Nathan irritably.

Every time he talked about Avia's non-existent illness, I was so irritated. I cured her myself, and ran all the tests on her, the results were perfectly good.

"You can always trust your Avia, but one day you will know how foolish you are now.

Nathan remained silent.

After a moment, he moved his gaze from my face and said in a hoarse voice, "You go change your clothes quickly. Aren't you in a hurry to the race?"

I gave Nathan a fierce look and went back to the car..

After changing my clothes, I got out of the car and found that Nathan had not left yet.

He leaned half against the car and looked at me directly.

I didn't know if it was my illusion, his mood seemed to be much better than before.

"Not bad." He raised his eyebrows, "It looks much better than that plastic bag."

I glanced at him and cursed 'childish' in my heart.

Just at this moment, Victor came over after making a phone call.

"Diana, have you changed your clothes yet? We-"

Victor's voice suddenly stopped when he saw the shirt on me, his eyes a bit confused, "Is this my shirt?"

"Of course not. It is mine," Nathan said behind me.

He walked up to Victor, his eyes showing a hint of pride in addition to mockery. "As for your clothes..." Nathan spread out the rags in his palm and apologized without any guilt. "Sorry, I tore them apart."

Victor's expression suddenly changed.

I quickly grabbed Victor's hand and said,

"The race is about to begin. Let's go. Don't forget, I said I will win that sapphire brooch as your birthday gift."

As soon as my voice fell, Nathan's raised corner of his mouth pressed down.

But I pretended not to see it and pulled Victor's wrist to leave the parking lot.

When Victor and I arrived at the competition site, the foot of the mountain was already crowded with people.

The entire path was brightly lit, as bright as day.

Amid cheers, I got into the sports car.

Almost the next second, my heart beat violently twice, and an indescribable sense of unease rose from my body.

Bang!

The deafening sound of gunfire instantly awoke me.

I didn't have time to contemplate where that unease came from. I stepped on the accelerator and, amidst the roar of the motor, drove along with the other nine sports cars on the winding mountain road.

My car was in the backward position, but I was not in a hurry.

I smoothly controlled the steering wheel, taking advantage of the terrain to easily surpass one sports car after another.

Quickly, I was in the second place.

The racer who ranked first was the first to depart.

I assessed the terrain ahead and planned to overtake on the next bend.

However, the sports car running in front of me suddenly began to change lanes and drove in an “S-shaped” way.

He didn't even care about winning or losing, he only focused on blocking my path.

At the same time, several sports cars that had already been left behind by me caught up and began intentionally pushing me towards the edge of the cliff.

It turned out that the unease was not my illusion.

These racing drivers were obviously bribed and wanted to kill me during the race.<

Once again, passing by the cliff, I was in a cold sweat!

If I continued like this, I was afraid I would even fall under the cliff with my car.

After a brief hesitation, I simply stepped on the gas pedal and ran straight into the rear of the sports car in front of me.

Although there might be some danger, it was better than falling off a cliff

The front car instantly deviated from the track and collided head-on with the mountain.

And my car also ejected its airbag under the strong impact!

The other racing drivers braked urgently.

The race was forced to terminate.

Everyone was stunned.

The organizer quickly sent people to check.

In a moment, the ambulance picked up the racing driver who had hit the mountain.

The scene suddenly became chaotic.

The audience were clamoring for refunds, and several irritable people even rushed up to fight with the security guards.

I took a breath in the car and as more and more people gathered outside, I got off.

With just one glance, I saw Avia standing next to Nathan.

She was obviously surprised, as if I shouldn't have appeared here.

I instantly understood everything.

It seemed that this was Avia's plan again.

She not only wanted to defame me, but also wanted me to die in the race.

I stared at Avia, her cold eyes trembling with fear.

She didn't even dare to look up into my eyes and could only try to hide herself behind Nathan.

Strangely, Nathan, who had always regarded her as a treasure, did not notice her panicked behavior.

At this moment, Nathan was staring at me, his expression solemn.

It was like... He was worried about me.

I saw him take a step in the direction where I was.

But immediately, my vision was blocked.

Victor rushed up to me and hugged me in his arms.

“Diana! Are you okay? Blessed by the moon, you’re still alive.”

His voice trembled with fear, and his face was pale.

It seemed that the person who had just had an accident was not me, but him.

“I’m fine.” I patted Victor’s shoulder to calm him down, but he still hugged me tightly.

A warm current surged through my heart.

“If you continue

but by being strangled by you!” I joked, trying to ease the atmosphere.

Victor immediately let me go, his eyes a bit red.

Hour at

“Don’t talk nonsense,” he frowned. “Are you sure you’re okay? Move and legs. There may be some injure you don’t notice.”

I could only turn around a few times and bounced around, “Are you relieved now? There was an airbag. I was fine.”

Victor finally calmed down and went to check my car.

As my gaze widened, I saw Nathan and Avia on his side.

After the panic, Avia's face reappeared with familiar malice, as if regretting why I hadn't died.

"The front lip of your to be replaced," Victor said as he walked up to me and saw me staring at something. "What are you looking at?"

"It's nothing." I squinted my eyes, "I just suddenly realized that I seemed to be too kind to Avia."

Victor was taken aback and said, "Are you saying she caused this accident?"

"You can send someone to investigate. With evidence, we can better confront her." Victor nodded and said, "I'll take you home first."

"Wait a moment." I rejected Victor's proposal, "I said I want to help you get that sapphire brooch."

"Why are you talking about that brooch?" Victor sighed. "The race can't even continue."

"I didn't say I want to get that brooch through the race. If I can't compete, I'll buy it. The organizers must have lost a lot of money. If I offer to spend 50 million to get that brooch, they won't refuse."

"But..."

Victor wanted to say something else, but I had already walked up to the organizer with a worried expression on his face.

When I proposed to buy that brooch, his eyes were instantly lit up.

"Alright! Alright! I'll take you to get that brooch, I-

"Wait a minute," a cold voice interrupted the organizer.

I saw Nathan walking towards us.

Avia and Claud followed behind him.

“How can you resell the prize without a clear winner in the race?” Nathan smiled.

The organizer looked embarrassed, “But the contestants can’t continue to race. If we sell that brooch, we can still reduce some losses.”

“I can help you bear your losses, but I want this game to continue,” Nathan’s voice was unquestionable.

“Sorry what?” The organizer looked puzzled and stood in the same spot dumbfounded.

Nathan turned his head to look at me and curled his lips. “What about this? Miss Reist, are you interested in racing with me? Whoever wins will get that brooch.”

Chapter 33

Diana’s pov

Many people have already cast their gaze at us, and even those who were originally fighting against the guards have stopped.

After all, with Nathan’s appearance and identity, wherever he went, he was the focus of the crowd, the most eye-catching being.

And now, he actually proposed to participate in the competition in person.

This was much more exciting than watching unknown racing drivers racing wildly.

A heated discussion came from the crowd—

“Alpha Nathan! Why does he suddenly want to race?”

“Didn’t you hear that? He wants that sapphire brooch.”

“Ah? But Alpha Nathan is so rich. How could he lower himself to participate in a race just for a brooch.

“I know! Do you see the beautiful girl next to him? It seems to be Avia! It must be Avia who wants that brooch, so Alpha Nathan decided to compete to satisfy her.”

“Oh, by the way, have you heard about it? In fact, at the last auction, the pearl bracelet was still taken by Alpha Nathan. I heard he spent 800 million on that bracelet to give it to Avia.”

“I’m too shocked. Isn’t this Avia too lucky?”

My thoughts returned to the auction with all the discussions. A sarcastic smile flashed from the corner of my mouth.

So... Was Nathan doing it again for Avia?

I casually glanced at Nathan and asked in a cold voice, “Why should I agree?”

Nathan raised his eyebrows, his eyes teasing.

“It’s just a game. Don’t you dare?”

“Just ignore him.” Victor took my hand and said, “It’s a provocation. Don’t waste time on him.”

Of course I knew this was Nathan’s provocation.

If it were at another time, I might mock his childishness and then pay to take the brooch and leave.

But now, something suddenly reminded me.

“Okay, I agree,” I said calmly, “but I want to increase the bet.”

“Sure,” Nathan didn’t hesitate at all.

“Don’t you ask what the bet is?” I looked at him suspiciously.

“Anything will do,” Nathan said with a faint smile.

“You will lose,” I warned.

Nathan casually curled his lips.

“Okay, the bet I’m going to increase is, if I win, I’ll

“Don’t daydream! You can’t win at all!”

Before I could reveal my bet, Claud jumped out to mock me.

“You want to win Alpha Nathan? That’s a big joke! Since you want to increase the bet, we also need to increase the bet.

“Sure,” I said with a nonchalant expression.

“If we win, you must resign from the hospital tomorrow and publicly admit that you relied on your family background and personal relationship with William to take the position of director.”

As soon as Claud finished speaking, Nathan’s eyebrows suddenly tightened.

He turned his head as if to say something to Claud, but I interrupted him.

“Okay, I agree.” I chuckled disdainfully, “but at the same time, you must also agree to my bet,”

“What is it?” Claud asked.

I didn’t look at Claud, but instead turned my gaze to Nathan and hooked my finger at him, “Come here.”

Nathan’s eyes narrowed slightly.

After a moment, just when everyone thought he wouldn’t listen to me, Nathan walked towards me.

When he was only three feet away from me, he stopped.

“Go ahead,” he said lightly.

“Come closer,” I said.

Nathan had no expression on his face and took another step towards me, narrowing the distance between us to within half of his arm.

The crowd suddenly resounded with inhaling sounds.

The sound of gossiping came from all directions, like a tide.

I saw Avia’s face turn red with anger, and her lips were about to be bitten apart.

Remembering all the bad deeds she had done, I smiled coldly in my heart.

“Can you say it now?” Nathan asked.

“Bow your head,” I continued to demand.

Nathan’s eyes finally flashed a hint of surprise.

But he still followed my words and lowered his head.

When our gazes were almost at the same level, he curved his lips and smiled.

By his ear, I said in a voice that only the two of us could hear, “The additional bet is that if I win, I want you to send someone to re-examine Avia. And you must do it without her knowing ”

Nathan’s body tightened instantly, and his amber pupils dimmed.

“Are you just telling me this?” He asked.

“What else are you thinking?” I asked back.

“I thought you would have a hot kiss with me, reminiscing about our past ,” Nathan said shamelessly.

I pushed him away.

“You’re talking nonsense again.” I chuckled sarcastically. “Your and my past are a darkness. Is there any need to reminisce?”

Nathan stared at me with a heavy gaze, unable to see joy or anger in his eyes.

“Do you agree or not?” I asked.

Nathan remained silent.

Just when I thought he would give up the race because of Avia, he nodded calmly.

“Okay, I agree.”

The organizer quickly ordered people to clean up the scene.

Because my car suffered a serious impact and Nathan didn’t drive a sports car over today, he kindly prepared race cars of the same specification for us.

The audience resumed betting.

I knew most people bet that Nathan would win.

In previous races, I have always concealed my identity and used fake names.

Therefore, most people didn't know that the mythical racer who won numerous prizes was me.

In their eyes, I was just an unknown ordinary racing driver.

Choosing Nathan was clearly a more secure choice.

The cheers at the scene were huge.

Nathan and I drove on the track side by side.

With a gunshot, I stepped on the gas pedal and rushed up the mountain path.

And Nathan almost set off at the same time as me.

After several turns, we were still in a state of being side by side.

I have seen Nathan's driving skills before.

I knew he excelled at this.

But I didn't expect him to be so skilled.

Obviously, the last time he retained his true strength for safety on the highway.

If we continued like this, it would be difficult to distinguish the winner from the loser.

For me, the risk would also increase.

Just as I was thinking, a strong wind suddenly flashed in my ear.

Next, I saw Nathan overtake me after a turn,

His car flew out like an arrow, leaving me behind!

Chapter 34

Chapter 34

Diana's pov

I suddenly withdrew my thoughts, focused all my attention on the race, and caught up with him again..

I shouldn't underestimate Nathan... I silently told myself in my heart.

After about ten minutes, the race still had no clear winner.

Then came the last turn!

I immediately released the accelerator, lowered the gear, and chose the optimal route with my familiarity with the terrain.

Then I lightly pressed the accelerator and switched back to the outer lane of the curve after passing the top of the curve.

Nathan was slightly slower than me.

I pressed the accelerator hard. With centrifugal force, the car instantly unleashed its full potential and flew out.

Nathan was indeed excellent.

But he was less familiar with this track than me.

The cars crossed the finish line and I defeated Nathan by three seconds.

I unfastened the seat belt and got out of the car.

When I passed by Nathan's car, he lowered the car window.

"It's over," I said to him. "You lost."

He stared at me directly, his emotion complex, as if he had something more important to tell me besides the race.

After a while, he suddenly asked, "Who are you?"

"What?" I twisted my eyebrows and said, "Don't you know who I am?"

"Nothing," Nathan turned his head and his gaze fell on the steering wheel. "Maybe I was thinking too much."

I didn't go into his words, only gave him a cold look.

"Don't forget our bet."

After that, I left the field.

When I returned to the audience, they were completely silent.

As if none of them could believe that I would have won over Alpha Nathan, their expressions frozen and their mouths wide open.

Claud recovered from his shock and shouted loudly-

"Impossible! You must have cheated! Did you bribe the boss here? How could you possibly defeat Alpha Nathan! I don't believe it!"

As soon as he finished speaking, someone immediately chimed in.

"Yes! We don't believe it! We demand another match."

"Another race! Have another race!"

Many of them bet on Nathan.

They even bet a lot of money because they thought the chances of winning were high.

Now their losses were huge, and everyone was trying to reverse the situation through some means.

I casually walked through the audience.

However, what surprised me was that Nathan would stand up and speak for me.

“The game is fair and just. I lost.”

His voice was not loud, but due to Alpha’s innate aura, it was still heard by everyone.

“Diana, I will fulfill your request,” he said to me.

I didn’t look back, but instead walked up to the organizer and took the sapphire brooch, pinning it on Victor’s left collar in front of everyone.

At that moment, I seemed to feel a burning gaze almost piercing my soul.

Even my wolf couldn’t help but shudder.

Victor noticed my frigid gesture and hugged me into his arms.

I shook my head to sign that he didn’t have to worry.

“Let’s get out of here. I’m tired,” I said.

Victor nodded.

On the way home, I sat in the passenger seat, leaning against the window .

The evening breeze blew over my cheeks, gradually clearing my thoughts.

I started to think about the sentence Nathan said to me not long ago-

“Who are you?”

“Nothing. Maybe I was thinking too much.”

What exactly did he mean?

Was he questioning my identity?

I once competed with him on the road in terms of driving skills. Did he discover my identity?

“What are you thinking?” Victor asked while driving.

“I’m thinking about Nathan.”

And I realized that’s might make Victor misunderstand and explained, “What I mean is, I’m thinking about what Nathan has just said.”

I told Victor about my doubts.

“So are you worried that Nathan might know you’re Healer?”

“It can’t be called a worry.” I turned my head and looked out of the car window. “I just feel that there’s no need to let those irrelevant know about my identity as Healer. It will only add to the trouble. Moreover, if he finds out that I’m Healer, he might even think I’m trying to harm Avia.”

I wrung my lips sarcastically.

About twenty minutes later, the car stopped at the entrance of the villa.

“Thank you for driving me back. Be careful when you drive.

I unfastened my seat belt and prepared to get off the car.

Victor suddenly grabbed my wrist.

“Just now, when you said you were thinking about Nathan, I was upset at the moment.”

I pursed my lips and didn’t know what to say.

Victor continued, “Diana, it’s been a year now. Do you still like Alpha Nathan?”

“I don’t,” I blurted out, faster than I thought I could.

“It’s okay. It’s okay, Diana. You can take your time.”

Victor’s voice paused slightly, and his grip on my wrist tightened slightly.

He stared at me and said in a gentle voice, “But I hope you can occasionally pay attention to others. For example... me.”

“Victor...”

“Diana, I’ve always liked you. I’ve liked you since we were children. You know it, right?”

I dared not look into Victor’s eyes, “I’m sorry.”

Victor stopped and looked at me sadly.

But I knew I had to express my ideas clearly.

I couldn’t let him continue to waste time on me.

This was not fair to him.

“Victor, I have always regarded you as a close friend.”

“We grew up together, studied together, went through hardships together... Why don’t you just like me?”

I couldn’t answer him.

Love was difficult to explain.

For example, when I met Nathan, was it just because of Mate that I fell in love with him?

Maybe part of, but it wasn’t the only reason.

“Never mind. Forget it.” Victor released me with a gentle enough smile. “If answering this question would bother you, then I don’t need an answer.” Victor looked down at his watch, “It’s almost twelve o’clock, go back to rest”

I didn’t say much, got off the car and returned to my room.

The maid came in and asked if I needed to have some midnight snack.

I shook my head.

“By the way, Miss, I have something happy to tell you.” The maid looked excited, “Lionel has already learned how to crawl.”

I was very shocked.

Most babies could crawl when they were seven months, but Lionel only needed three months.

This was amazing!

“I’ll go see him,” I said excitedly.

The maid followed behind me, “But Lionel is already asleep.”

“It’s okay. I’m just going to take a look and won’t wake him up,” I stopped and said to the maid, “You don’t need to be with me.”

After the maid left, I pushed the door open.

A sleeping light was on in the room, and it was dim.

I sat by Lionel’s cradle, quietly watching his face.

The little guy slept soundly with a sweet smile on his lips, probably having some beautiful dreams.

I leaned down and lightly kissed his forehead.

However, the moment I stood up straight, my smile froze!

Lionel grew fast, faster than common babies.

At this moment, with the dim light, I could even see Nathan in him..

One day, it would be discovered that Lionel was Nathan's so

What

Nathan do to me and Lionel when it came?

I didn't know...

But there was one thing I could be sure of.

son.

Once Avia learned about Lionel's relationship with Nathan, she would definitely find an opportunity to harm Lionel.

She was that kind of crazy woman.

I must resolve Nathan and Avia's matter and get them back to the Dark Moon Pack as soon as possible.

as soon as possible.

Only in this way could my Lionel grow up safely.

The night passed quickly.

The next afternoon, while I was processing documents in the hospital office, my door was knocked on.

I said 'Please come in' and then I saw Nathan enter my office.

He seemed to have been awake all night and he looked serious and sinister.

I rarely saw this emotion on his face.

I put down the file and raised my eyebrows.

“What’s up?” I asked.

Nathan’s veins on his forehead jumped.

After a few seconds, he said, “Last night, I sent someone to examine Avia while she was sleeping. The results have come out.

I squinted slightly and said, “What is it?”

“You’re right.” Nathan raised his hand to his forehead, a painful expression on his face. “Avia’s perfectly healthy.”

Chapter 35

Chapter 35

Diana’s pov

There is nothing wrong with Avia’s body, which is a good thing.

But this means that before that, she told lies one after another, and each one of them was vicious and despicable.

This undoubtedly broke Nathan’s trust on Avia.

In his eyes and heart, Avia should have been a pure, innocent, kind and innocent little girl.

The fact that Avia was lying and the Healer was right gave him a loud slap in the face.

But how he feels has nothing to do with me.

I looked down at the documents in my hand again and said, “In that case, please go through the discharge procedures for Avia and bring her home, so as not to waste medical resources.”

Nathan didn’t say anything, but he didn’t leave either.

I can feel the low pressure in the office.

His presence was so strong that I couldn’t concentrate on my work.

I gradually became impatient.

“Why are you still standing here? Please now-”

Boom!

Before I finished speaking, suddenly, there was a bang outside the door.

I quickly walked to the door, opened the door, and saw a female nurse.

“Director,”

“Is there a problem?”

I looked at her and found that her shoulders were shaking slightly, and she seemed nervous in front of an Alpha.

“I’m here to deliver documents to you,” she said, handing me a folder in her hand.

I took it and flipped through a few pages. Seeing that she hadn’t left yet, I asked, “Is there anything else?”

“No, no.”

The nurse raised her lips, smiled at Nathan awkwardly, turned around and trotted away.

When I turned around, I saw Nathan standing there in a daze, and suddenly irritation came to my heart.

Boom!

I knocked on the desk hard twice, and then Nathan slowly looked at me.

“Aren’t you leaving yet?” I asked.

Nathan’s Adam’s apple rolled.

After a while, he finally moved towards the door.

As he passed me, he stopped.

“Diana, I’m sorry for what Avia did to you.”

I sneered, “So, are you going to repay me something for her?”

“What do you want?” Nathan asked, staring at me intensely.

His serious expression made me feel for a moment that he would agree to any request I made, reasonable or unreasonable.

But I wasn’t that impressed.

After all, all he did was to compensate for Avia’s sins.

After all, he loves Avia.

“My only request is that you and your people get out of my Pack,” I said coldly. Nathan’s figure swayed as if he had been greatly stimulated.

He gave me a complicated look and finally left the office.

I returned to my seat and calmed down for a long time before I reorganized my thoughts and started working.

Now that the matter between Nathan and Avia has been resolved, Lionel will no longer be threatened.

And I will soon be able to take over Reed's research with peace of mind.

Everything is developing in a good direction.

Half an hour later, I received a message from Victor.

He told me that several of the racers from last night still refused to admit who had bribed them to kill me.

But one of them was obviously panicked when he saw Avia's photo.

Victor asked me if I wanted to continue.

This "continue" obviously does not refer to interrogation, but is accompanied by some physical or mental punishment.

I thought about it and finally decided to ask Victor to lock up those people first and not deal with them.

If nothing goes wrong, Avia, Nathan, and I will never have any interactions with each other again..

For this reason, I can tolerate Avia's offenses against me these days and not pursue them.

After all, if the quarrel continues, everyone will be entangled again, which will be very troublesome.

And I no longer have the patience to deal with this kind of trouble.

"Director! Director!"

As soon as I sent the message, there was a sudden rush of sound.

A male doctor barged in before he even had time to knock on the door.

His white coat was torn at the shoulders and the glasses on his nose were half broken.

He pointed at the door in a panic and embarrassment, shouting at me -

“Crazy! She went crazy!”

“Who’s crazy?”

“Avia! Avia is crazy! Just now, when the nurse was handling Avia’s discharge procedures, she...she...”

The doctor’s pupils suddenly dilated, as if he was recalling an extremely terrifying scene.

I realized the seriousness of the matter and hurried toward the ward where Avia was located before the doctor finished his report.

When I rushed to the ward, the scene was already in chaos.

The ground was a mess, with torn sheets, broken bowls, scattered tables and chairs... even!

And blood!

Avia was completely out of control.

Her hair stood up, her eyes were as scarlet as blood, and her facial features were twisted and ferocious, vaguely showing the shape of a wolf.

In addition, her nails have become thicker and longer, and numerous red blisters have appeared on her body!

The pain and itching caused her to twist her body and let out a shrill scream.

If Nathan hadn’t been holding her tightly, she would have even killed herself!

As for the blood on the ground, it was her own blood.

Because many of the herpes on her body had been scratched by her, and they were bleeding profusely at the moment.

I was stunned at the scene in front of me.

I know that Avia is definitely not pretending to be ill this time, she is really going crazy.

The doctors and nurses all turned pale with fear, and no one dared to approach Avia.

I tried to take a few steps toward Avia, and Avia suddenly let out a wolf howl.

“Stay away from her!” Nathan yelled at me.

I was startled.

After calming down, I turned to the doctor closest to me and asked, “What happened? How did Avia suddenly become like this?”

“I...I don’t know.” The doctor shrank back, “She was already like this when I came here.”

“It’s not all because of you!”

At this moment, a sharp voice came from outside the ward.

I turned around and saw Claud walking in angrily with a medical kit.

He pointed at my nose and shouted

“I told you that Avia has not recovered. She has mental problems and needs long-term treatment! Why don’t you believe it? Why do you still encourage Alpha Nathan to give her useless examinations? If it weren’t for you, Avia would not be discharged today. You won’t get sick due to sudden stimulation! It’s all your fault! You just want to kill Avia! What qualifications does a vicious-hearted person like you have to be the director of the hospital?”

Suddenly, everyone present looked at me suspiciously!

Chapter 36

Chapter 36

Diana's pov

Following that, there was a discussion around

“It turned out that director ordered Avia to be discharged! Isn't she intentionally harming our hospital?”

“Our hospital is less important than her jealousy. To kill her rival Avia, our hospital's reputation is nothing.”

“Does she has a bottom line of moral? She did all these just for a man? I can't believe she is Alpha Marc's sister.”

I lifted my eyes and calmly looked at the two doctors, a man and a woman, who were insulting me!

Suddenly, I realized something.

Although other doctors were puzzled as to why I discharged Avia, they all kept quiet. After all, we couldn't make a hasty conclusion until everything was clear, let alone-

This kind of statement that would damage the peace between two packs!

However, these two doctors didn't care about this. Their intention seemed to be just to convict me quickly!

It was not surprising that they were students of Claud.

Seeing me staring at them, both doctors lowered their heads in fear.

“Forget it. We’re just a bunch of nobodies. How could we express our opinions?” “Anyway, Alpha Nathan is here. We dare not offend Diana, but Alpha Nathan dares. He will definitely help Avia! Let’s just wait and see.”

I withdrew my gaze and looked back at Avia, who was being held in Nathan’s arms and crying.

This was not the time to argue or even figure out what happened.

The most urgent thing was to calm down Avia first.

Therefore, I didn’t pay attention to Claud’s accusations and turned to a nurse standing not far from me, saying, “Go get a tranquilizer. Give Avia a shot first.”

“Yes.”

The nurse turned around and ran outside, but was stopped by Claud in a loud voice!

“Stop!”

The nurse paused and turned her head with a bewildered expression.

Claud snorted coldly, “Is she a doctor? How dare you listen to her?”

“But... but Diana is the director, and I—”

“She’s just a nominal director, a fool who knows nothing about medicine! Are you also a fool?”

The nurse was trembling with fear and dared not speak again.

I closed my eyes and patiently looked at Claud, asking, “Do you have a better way to calm down Avia??”

“That’s for sure,” Claud smiled confidently. “Since I checked for Avia, I had already expected the situation and had already prepared the specific medication.”

Claud calmly took out a bottle of medicine.

After inhaling with a needle, he walked over to Nathan and Avia.

“Alpha Nathan, please help me hold down Avia. I promise after this one shot Avia would be totally fine.”

Claud’s determined tone made me feel strange.

I didn’t know why I always felt like I couldn’t let that tube of medicine enter Avia’s

I didn’t know why I always felt like I couldn’t let that tube of medicine enter Avia’s body, otherwise it would only lead to more serious consequences!

But I knew that no matter what I said at this moment, Nathan wouldn’t listen.

I could only watch as the potion was pushed into Avia’s blood vessels. Something magical happened.

Avia actually calmed down gradually. And even her body, which had undergone changes, was slowly recovering.

Everyone looked at the scene in shock and exclaimed incredulously!

“Dr. Claud is indeed Professor Reed’s student! His medical skill is excellent!”

“He has cured a disease that even Healer cannot detect! Is he about to replace Healer?”

“There’s a possibility!”

The smile on Claud’s face became even more difficult to conceal. He looked at me triumphantly, as if showing off or mocking me.

“I

did I can treat Avia’s illness! Diana, just admit it. You just wanted to kill Avia. I think we should have a new meeting to confirm if you are suitable for the position of director. After all, you are malicious and know nothing –

“Ah ah ah –”

Before Claude could finish speaking, Avia, who had clearly calmed down just now, suddenly burst into a more painful scream.

I saw Avia’s symptoms reappear. And compared with before, they were clearly more.

severe.

Nathan hugged her tightly and turned his head to shout at Claude, “Why is this?”

Claude was not as proud as he had been just now. He was completely stunned, motionless, and his face was pale as paper.

When Nathan questioned him once again with overwhelming anger, he finally had a stirring reaction..

“No... it shouldn’t be like this! My medicine won’t be wrong! I’ve tried it many times before and it’s okay! It shouldn’t be like this.”

Claude was completely flustered.

Avia’s symptoms were becoming increasingly severe.

I didn’t have time to think about it, so I gave the order again, “Go get the tranquilizer!”

However, it seemed that everyone was frozen in fear, or they didn’t care about my orders. No one moved.

I took a deep breath and shouted loudly-

“Ryley!”

Almost as my voice fell, a tall man in a leather jacket instantly squeezed through the crowd and appeared in front of me.

“Go get the medicine,” I said.

Ryley spread his palm expressionlessly and said, “Already here.”

I blinked, somewhat shocked by his thoughtfulness.

As I took the sedative from his hand, I whispered to him, “Go check today’s surveillance. You know what I want to figure out.”

Ryley turned around and walked towards the door.

I walked up to Nathan with a sedative and didn’t speak, just silently staring at him.

Nathan hesitated for about two seconds and nodded.

I took a step forward and accurately located Avia’s venous vessels, proficiently injecting the medicine.

A hint of surprise flashed through Nathan’s eyes, as if he wanted to say something, but in the end he remained silent.

Gradually, Avia calmed down again and fell asleep.

This time, although her symptoms have not disappeared, at least she would not harm herself again.

Nathan took her back to bed and covered her with a blanket carefully, as if dealing with a delicate treasure.

I squinted my eyes, feeling a bit unhappy in my heart.

In the two years I spent with Nathan, he never treated me like this.

Although I no longer needed it, every time I saw it, I still felt a bit sarcastic.

I sorted my emotions and walked to Avia's hospital bed.

"Avia's condition is a bit strange, I think..."

Just as I was about to express my doubts to Nathan, I realized that Nathan had not listened to me at all.

He turned his head and looked coldly at Claude, as if he was about to dismantle him.

Claud staggered back in fear.

Nathan walked towards him expressionlessly, then clenched his jaw tightly-

"You tried before and there was no problem, but unfortunately it went wrong this time. Did you do it intentionally?"

"No... of course not..." Claud struggled to defend, "I really don't know why this is happening."

Nathan looked at him coldly.

"I'll give you one last chance! What exactly did you inject Avia with? If you can't explain it clearly, you'll die!"

Chapter 37

Diana's pov

Chapter 37

Diana's pov

I thought that under Claude's malicious instigation, Nathan would blame me for all the mistakes.

I was even prepared to meet his anger.

But no!

The first he suspected was actually Claud!

This has completely overturned my understanding of him.

After all, almost every time in the past, whenever he encountered something related to Avia, his IQ would temporarily decline.

What happened today?

Just as I was surprised, Claude trembled and explained, "I... I swear, that's really a special medicine for Avia. I don't know why this happened... the only explanation... the only explanation is..."

Claud's gaze fell on me, with a hint of malice floating in his eyes!

"The only explanation is... that Avia should not be forcibly discharged! I was supposed to give her treatment this morning. But because... you had to discharge her, it... it delayed the best treatment time and caused this! So..."

Claud grabbed Nathan's arm with both hands and said loudly-

"You shouldn't be blaming me, but the person who let Avia leave the hospital! Now we can all see that Avia is indeed sick, which at least proves that I'm not lying! The one who emphasized Avia wasn't sick should be the culprit!"

Nathan slightly twisted his eyebrows, his voice cold.

“If I find out you’re lying, I’ll really tear you down.”

Claud gave a fierce shudder.

But even though he was so frightened, he still gritted his head and assured, “I... what I said is the truth, I swear to the Moon Goddess.”

Nathan withdrew his hand and Claude breathed a sigh of relief.

A few seconds later, Nathan slowly turned around.

He stared at me in a daze, his eyes motionless, and the muscles on his face trembled faintly.

“Diana, do you have anything to explain?”

I sneered.

Sure enough, this charge still fell on me.

After all, I was the one who emphasized from the beginning that Avia was pretending to be sick.

A faint disappointment welled up in my heart, and I said coldly, “I didn’t do anything wrong. Why should I explain?”

you jealous of Avia as Alpha Nathan’s true love? It’s perfectly normal for you to want to kill Avia!”

I still just sneered and didn’t give any explanation.

No matter how much I explained, it was just a waste of words.

Why not waiting patiently for Ryley to come back?

“Why didn’t you refute him?” Nathan walked up to me and grabbed my wrist, his voice furrowing. “Is what Claude said true? Are you really trying to kill Avia out of jealousy?”

His questioning penetrated into my ears. Meeting Nathan's angry gaze, I couldn't control and smiled.

"1-"

"Alpha Nathan, please let go of my boss!"

I was about to say something when Ryley's irritable voice, suppressed and impatient, rang out in the ward.

He shook his phone and whispered, "The truth you want is with me."

Nathan was slightly

stunn

I took the opportunity to break free from his grip and walked to Ryley. "Did you get it?" I asked.

Ryley nodded and handed me his phone.

After seeing the surveillance, I raised my eyebrows and smiled. Before Nathan could ask anything, Claud couldn't hold on anymore.

"What, what truth? What tricks do you want to play?"

I shrugged my shoulders, and my expression couldn't be calmer.

"Nothing. It's just a surveillance video. I think we can share it with everyone. I think there's nothing more realistic and persuasive than the surveillance."

"Impossible!" Claud shouted in shock as soon as I finished speaking, "I have ordered someone—"

His voice suddenly stopped and his expression froze instantly.

Ryley lowered his head and whispered in my ear, "This video was deleted when I arrived there. I had someone fix it."

“I see.” I chuckled lightly and then increased my volume. “Let’s take a look together.”

However, just as I was about to press the play button, my phone was suddenly taken away.

I looked at Nathan in surprise, unable to understand his behavior.

“What are you doing? Don’t you want to know what happened and who actually harmed Avia?”

I looked at Nathan in surprise, unable to understand his behavior.

“What are you doing? Don’t you want to know what happened and who actually harmed Avia?”

Nathan didn’t look good, his fists and veins bulging.

He gritted his teeth and whispered, “Let these people out first!”

In an instant, I realized something!

Nathan indeed wanted to know exactly what happened, but he was worried that there were unfavorable images in this video for Avia.

Once these images were played, it would inevitably damage Avia’s reputation.

He couldn’t bear it!

I tasted a hint of bitterness.

I smiled and waved Ryley to take the others away.

At this moment, only me, Nathan, unconscious Avia, and the trembling Claudi were left in the room.

Nathan closed his eyes and finally, as if he had made some kind of decision, pressed the play button.

Suddenly, a piercing scream came from the phone-

“Ah! Yesterday’s plans all failed! They all failed.

Avia sat on the hospital bed, vigorously hitting the bed.

“I asked that maid to tarnish Diana’s reputation, but she turned out to be an idiot! And the racers you found, why didn’t they kill Diana? Why?”

Avia was clearly very angry, constantly cursing at me.

I couldn’t feel any anger, even a bit bored, to the point where my gaze was drawn to Nathan’s hand holding the phone.

The veins were exposed, and the knuckles turned white.

I suddenly felt a little worried that Nathan would crush the phone.

I opened my mouth to remind Nathan to relax a bit.

However, when I saw Nathan’s gloomy face, I chose to close my mouth.

After all, what was more painful than facing the ugliness of your love?

It was normal for Nathan to be so angry.

So forget about the phone. If Nathan crushed it, I would buy Ryley a new one.

I refocused my attention on the video.

Claud said to Aiva, “Don’t be angry now. Anger won’t change the current situation. Don’t worry, we will definitely bring down that bitch Diana! No one will compete with you for Alpha Nathan, and no one will compete with me for the position of director.”

His eyes sparkled fiercely.

At this moment, a hurried knock came on the door.

I saw a nurse running in panic.

And that nurse was exactly the one who delivered me the documents this morning, and the one who has been watching Nathan.

“Dr. Claud! I just heard Diana and Alpha Nathan talking! They already knew about Avia pretending to be sick!”

“What?” Avia was shocked and turned her head to look at Claud. “What should I do? What should I do now? Nathan knows everything, and he will definitely not forgive me! I’m done!”

Claud remained silent with a serious expression on his face.

Avia rushed out of bed and grabbed Claud’s clothes, shouting frantically, “I don’t care. You must help me! Otherwise, it won’t be just me who will die! Don’t forget, you helped me forge my medical certificate.”

“You calm down first!” Claud let out a low roar and pushed Avia away.

He paced back and forth in front of the window.

A few minutes later, he suddenly stopped and looked at Avia with a strange and dangerous gaze.

“I have an idea,” he said, “but you need to pay some price.”

“Whatever it is.” Avia replied without hesitation.

Claud quickly left the ward and returned with an injection in his hand.

“What, what is this?” Avia asked.

“Of course it’s a miracle medicine that can help us solve our problems.” Claude smiled and said, “Take it, and you will develop very serious illnesses! At that time, not only can you prove that you are indeed sick, but you can also provoke the relationship between Alpha Nathan and Diana! Then I will blame Diana for all the mistakes. I don’t believe she can still be so arrogant.”

‘But... but is this medicine risky?’ Avia asked.

Claud stared at her like a demon.

“Didn’t you say that any cost is acceptable?”

“I...” Avia hesitated, “I said so, but..”

‘Don’t worry. I have an antidote. Once everything is done, I will give you an antidote, and you will be healthy.’ Claude smiled.

“Really?”

“Of course, how could I deceive you? Have you made the decision?”

“Hmm. As long as I can deceive Nathan and kill Diana, I will do anything.”

“Okay.”

Claud lifted Avia’s arm.

Then, the medicine was slowly pushed into Avia’s body..

A loud noise rang out in the ward!

Nathan slammed the phone to the ground and it shattered!

The sound of the video came to a sudden halt!

Chapter 38

Diana’s pov

On the other side

Upon seeing this, Claud lifted his legs and ran towards the door!

But how could he run faster than Alpha Nathan?

He didn't even have a chance to touch the door. Nathan grabbed him and pulled his neck back, throwing him forcefully onto the floor.

“Ah!”

Claud let out a scream.

However, before he could catch a breath, Nathan kicked him again.

Claud tilted and fell to the ground, sliding backwards until he hit the wall

Accompanied by a dull impact, I almost heard the cracking sound of bones breaking.

The walls of the hospital were cracked.

In the dusty corner, I saw Claude holding his chest, curled up like a ball, and spitting blood out.

Nathan turned his neck, his eyes filled with coldness.

He walked step by step to Claud and stepped on half of his face, squeezing his entire face to the ground.

“I've said that if I find out you're lying to me, I'll tear you down,” Nathan said without any emotion.

Claud was scared and began to wail in pain.

“I was wrong! I was wrong, Alpha Nathan! Everything I did was forced by Avia. I... I don't want to do this either!”

But Nathan clearly had no desire to listen to Claud's defense.

He stared coldly at him on the ground, as if looking at a dead body.

you don't want to die tragically, tell me what you injected Avia with and where. the antidote is?"

"I... I..." Claud trembled violently, his face pale. "I don't know exactly what this. potion is. I bought it on the black market. He said..."

"What did he say?"

Claud swallowed and said, "He said there is no antidote, only a sustained – release agent. I just used it for Avia, but... but I don't know why it didn't work."

"How dare you lie?"

Before Claud finished speaking, Nathan increased the strength on his feet again!

I saw blood seeping out of Claud's nasal cavity. He almost screamed to death.

"Since you are unwilling to tell the truth, there is no need for you to tell."

Nathan's gaze changed.

I realized he wanted to kill Claude!

"Wait a moment!" I quickly stopped Nathan.

Nathan looked at me in silence, with cruelty in his eyes that he hadn't had time to retrieve.

"Do you want to save him?"

"Killing him won't solve any problem," I said.

“Letting him be alive won’t solve any problem either. But he must pay the price for hurting Avia! As I said, no one can harm Avia!”

I was stunned.

I looked at Nathan in shock.

I couldn’t imagine how deeply he loved Avia!

So much so that even though he knew all of this was Avia’s fault, he still stood by her without any principles!

I closed my eyes and took a deep breath,

“What I mean is that even if he is unwilling to tell the truth now, it doesn’t mean he will never tell the truth.”

“What does that mean?” Nathan squinted slightly.

“You let go of him first,” I said.

If Nathan continued, I had no doubt that Claud would be trampled to death.

Nathan hesitated for two seconds before finally retracting his foot.

Claud coughed fiercely.

I shouted ‘Ryley’ towards the door and Ryley walked in from outside.

I pointed to Claud, who was dying on the ground, and said to him, “Take him down. No matter what method you use, force him to speak. I want to know where that injection came from exactly.”

Ryley picked up Claude’s collar and dragged him out of the ward like a bulldozer.

“Let’s wait for a moment,” I said to Nathan. “Ryley is skilled in interrogation.”

Nathan didn't speak, but walked to Avia's bed and looked at her quietly.

I sighed and didn't say anything more.

Half an hour later.

Ryley stormed into the ward with a smell of blood, his black eyebrows slightly furrowed.

I suddenly had a bad premonition.

"What happened?" I asked.

"Claud died. He died suddenly, at the moment he was about to tell the truth!" Ryley replied.

I clenched my palm tightly..

"How could this be? What's the cause?" I quickly asked.

"We haven't found out yet," Ryley said.

I frowned, and my brain was in chaos.

At this moment, Avia, who was lying on the bed, had faint signs of awakening and began to wriggle her body again, trying to scratch the herpes on her body.

Nathan immediately took control of Avia's arm.

"Call the doctor!" He shouted at me, his eyes turning red.

Ryley let out a dissatisfied "hiss" and prepared to teach Nathan a lesson.

I held him down.

"Notify all the top experts to consult Avia."

Ryley's eyes flickered with a hint of confusion.

He didn't understand why I had to save this woman who repeatedly tried to harm

1. me.

But in the end, he didn't ask anything and turned around to leave.

I was not the Virgin Mary.

Of course I wouldn't rescue who harmed me.

But I vaguely felt that Avia's illness was definitely not as simple as I imagined.

Moreover, Nathan liked Avia so much that if there was really something wrong with her, he probably would go crazy and harm the hospital.

Since William has handed over the hospital to me, I must guard it well.

Twenty experts gathered around Avia to examine her and discussed treatment plans. However, as an hour passed, they still looked sad.

Nathan lost all patience and grabbed a doctor's collar, shouting, "Is there a way?"

The doctor shook his head in fear.

"A... Alpha Nathan, we've never seen this kind of illness before. Right now... the only person who can save Avia is probably Healer."

Nathan remained silent.

A few seconds later, he waved his hand and asked all the doctors to get out.

as well.

I looked at Nathan guarding Avia and sighed, then left the ward as

My intuition told me that I must do something important now. "Take me to Claud," I said to Ryley, "I need an autopsy."

“Yes,”

In the morgue, Ryley lifted the white cloth covering Claud’s body.

I stared at the body and pondered for a few seconds, then skillfully picked up the dissecting tool and began the autopsy.

Actually, before I came, his dead body had undergone a dissection, but the forensic team did not provide any conclusion in the end.

No one could determine the true cause of Claud’s death.

But soon, I found clues in Claud’s blood.

“It’s poisoning.” I said firmly, “and it’s a specially made poison. People who have it need to take an antidote regularly, otherwise they will die suddenly.”

Obviously, this time, Claud did not receive the antidote from the seller in time.

Ryley twisted his eyebrows.

“What do you mean?”

“I mean, the medicine Claude injected into Avia is probably not as simple as a drug from the black market. There should be a bigger mastermind behind Claud.”

I supported the table with both hands, closed my eyes, and felt a surge of annoyance in my heart.

“It’s becoming more complex.”

Just as I was thinking, my phone suddenly rang.

I pinched my brows and answered the phone.

I opened my eyes and it wasn't that surprising.

Sure

enough, Alpha Nathan ultimately lowered his noble head for Avia and begged the "Healer" he had once blacklisted.

"What's up?" I lowered my voice and leaned against the edge of the table, with a sarcastic smile on my lips.

He remained silent for a few seconds, but then a deep voice came.

"Avia has an accident. I beg you to save her."

"What happened?" I pretended to be surprised, "Didn't you say you found a better doctor for Avia? How could an accident happen? Alpha Nathan, are you kidding?"

"Healer, I won't joke with you about Avia's life!"

Nathan's tone suddenly became much sharper.

I restrained my smile and said, "Is that your attitude to ask for help?"

"So what exactly do you want? How much do you want this time?"

"I've said I'm not short of money." My finger lightly tapped on the table. I thought for a moment before saying, "I want you to promise me something."

"What?" Nathan asked.

"I haven't figured it out yet. I'll let you know later. Don't worry, it won't be something beyond your ability, nor will it hurt Dark Moon pack."

"Okay," Nathan didn't hesitate at all. "I promise you, as long as you're willing to save Avia."

I paused as I tapped on the desktop, and then a deep sense of irony filled my heart.

“It seems that Avia is indeed your true love. You are willing to give up anything for her.”

There was a moment of silence.

I continued, “In ten minutes, I will appear at the hospital, and then...”.

“No, she’s not.”

Suddenly, Nathan interrupted me.

I was stunned for a moment.

“What?”

Nathan explained, “Avia is not my true love. She is my sister. I must save her!”

Chapter 39

Diana’s pov

My mind goes blank.

During the two years that Nathan and I were mates, he never told me that he had a sister!

...So, the reason why Nathan spoils Avia is not because he loves her, but because they are siblings?

“Diana?”

Ryley’s voice brought me back to my thoughts.

“What?”

“You and Alpha Nathan agreed to go to the ward in ten minutes, and it’s already been five minutes.” Ryley reminded me expressionlessly.

I rubbed my face to stop thinking about that nonsense.

“I know, I’ll go right away.”

I stood up and walked out the door. When I was half-stepping out of the morgue door, I suddenly remembered something.

“That’s right.” I turned around and told Ryley, “There are too many mysteries about this Claud. You should have someone check him out. His relationships, family situation, and places where he comes and goes. In short, the more detailed the better.”

“Understood.” Ryley nodded.

I then left with peace of mind.

Nathan has not forgotten my rules for seeing a doctor.

When I arrived at the ward, there was no one else there except Avia, a patient in a coma.

I immediately gave Avia a throughout examination.

When the test results came out, even though I had seen many complicated diseases,

I immediately gave Avia a throughout examination.

When the test results came out, even though I had seen many complicated diseases, I still frowned.

Avia's current situation is very bad, much more serious than I imagined!

The two injections that Claud gave her were not medicine at all, but a virus that I had never seen before!

And this virus has the same characteristics as drugs, both are addictive!

Once she fails to take in enough in time, she will lose her mind and go crazy like Avia did today, until she tortures herself to death.

Right now, even I am helpless until the components of the virus are decomposed.

I can only try my best to temporarily relieve Avia's pain.

Opening the special medicine box, I took out a bottle made of purple glass from the bottom compartment and poured out a white pill.

This kind of pill has the effect of detoxifying hundreds of poisons. Thousands of rare medicinal materials can be used to make just one pill, and the cost of making it can be worth as much as a ninety-eight-foot-long cruise ship.

I never thought that today, I would actually have to use this pill to treat a woman who had framed me several times and wanted to kill me!

No matter how much I think about it, I don't think it's worth it.

I stared at Avia's unconscious face and frowned.

Nathan said Avia was his sister, but I felt there was no similarity between the two.

Moreover, if Avia is really his sister, why is she so hostile to me?

There were too many mysteries that I couldn't think clearly about, so I simply stopped thinking about them.

After taking three deep breaths, I finally dissolved the pills in water and fed them to Avia.

After all, I just made a deal with Nathan, so I can't go back on my word.

Shortly after the pill entered the body, Avia's condition began to gradually recover. By the end, she was no different from normal.

After returning to the office, I changed out of the Healer outfit and made a call to Nathan.

The phone was quickly connected, and Nathan's deep voice came from inside. "Thank you, I see Avia has recovered."

"Don't be happy too soon.

I broke Nathan's joy and told him the true situation.

Avia is not cured, and my pills can only keep her normal for the next half month. If no specific medicine can be developed to target the virus in her body, she will still get sick again half a month later.

I broke Nathan's joy and told him the true situation.

Avia is not cured, and my pills can only keep her normal for the next half month. If no specific medicine can be developed to target the virus in her body, she will still get sick again half a month later.

Nathan's tone became serious, "So, what should I do?"

"You should contact the hospital first to send her to the intensive care unit of the Virus Research Center. I will communicate with Diana for the rest and ask Her to assist me in completing Avia's treatment."

Nathan was silent.

A few seconds later, he suddenly asked, "What is your relationship with Diana?"

My heart skipped a beat, but my tone remained unchanged, “It doesn’t matter, what’s wrong?”

“Maybe I’m overthinking it, but you always give me a very similar feeling.”

“Really?” I smiled, “That must be your illusion.”

After that, I hung up the phone.

I put down the phone, leaned on the back of the sofa chair, and breathed a sigh of relief.

Too many things just happened in one long day.

The next day, I went to visit Avia as Diana.

She was transferred to the intensive care unit.

When I walked to the door of the ward, she had just woken up from a coma and was having a tantrum with the nurse who took care of her.

“Where’s Claud? I want Claud! Why isn’t he accompanying me? Who are you? I won’t eat what you brought! Get out! Get out of here!”

Suddenly there was the sound of broken porcelain in the ward.

I was about to go in to stop Avia’s excessive behavior when Nathan passed by me and pushed open the door to the ward.

I raised my eyebrows and followed him.

As soon as I entered the ward, I saw broken bowls and wasted food all over the floor.

The nurse was standing in the corner, her head down and shaking.

As for Avia, she was yelling at the nurse with all her teeth, but when she saw Nathan coming in, her expression immediately turned innocent and pitiful.

“Nathan, I just woke

Nathan frowned and looked at the nurse and said, “You go out first.”

up and was so scared that I was a little excited.”

The nurse quickly ran out of the ward as if she had been granted amnesty . Avia looked at Nathan nervously, with a flattering expression on her face. But soon, her expression turned ferocious.

But soon, her expression turned ferocious.

“Nathan! Why did she appear in my ward? It was because she forced me to leave the hospital that I became ill yesterday! How could you still let her in? Let her get out! I don’t want to see her, I-”

“enough!”

Nathan snapped.

Avia was shocked.

“Nathan?”

She pulled at Nathan’s sleeves with a puzzled look on her face, but Nathan dodged her.

At this moment, Avia was stunned.

Because she was in a coma, she didn’t know what happened yesterday, so she didn’t know that her and Claud’s sinister plot had been exposed.

In her opinion, everyone should think that I am the sinner who wants to kill her. As for sinners, naturally, they should not be like me now, neither receiving the hatred of Nathan, but still looking leisurely and at ease!

The expression on Nathan's face changed several times.

After a few seconds, he suppressed all negative emotions and said to Avia in a cold voice, "Claud will no longer treat you."

"Why?" Avia immediately became excited when she heard the news, "No! I want Claud. I don't believe other doctors. I-

"Claud is dead!" Nathan said coldly.

Avia's eyes suddenly opened wide with a look of disbelief.

Nathan continued, "Do you know what he did to you? He injected you with a virus, and your life is now in danger! He can't save you! The only one who can save you is the Healer!"

Avia was stunned for a few seconds, then slumped down on the bed, the blood on her face completely drained.

Nathan turned and walked out of the ward.

I was having a good time watching a good show.

However, when Nathan passed me, he suddenly grabbed my wrist and took me out of the ward.

"You are sick!" As soon as I left the ward, I shook his hand away.

"I have something to ask of you." Nathan said to me, with a hint of condescension in his tone.

I couldn't help but raise my eyebrows, "What's the matter?"

"I know Avia has done a lot of wrong things to you, and I am willing to make it up to you for her. I hope you don't mention those things in front of her, so as not to irritate her."

I was stunned at first, and then a sense of absurdity filled my heart.

Chapter 40

Diana's pov

The man in front of me looked around thirty years old.

His skin showed a perpetual pale complexion, and his eyes had a hint of tiredly redness.

However, despite this, his face was handsome, and he carried an innate aristocratic aura

My intuition told me that he was not a very approachable person.

“Who are you?” I asked after a brief moment of confusion.

“It doesn't matter who I am. Answer my question first. What methods did you use to control her condition?” He roared low, with a sharp cold light shining in his pupils.

I frowned.

“I won't answer any of your questions until you clarify who you are.”

The man stood up straight and looked at me.

After a moment, his deep and cold voice rang out in the office.

Scott Moss. You may not have heard of me, but I know you well. Diana, or I should call you Healer.”

A name suddenly flashed through my mind.

I

1 squinted my eyes.

The next second, I chuckled softly.

“So it’s you.”

Scott’s expression relaxed a bit and said, “Do you know me?”

“Of course, you are Professor Reed’s first student.”

Scott Moss, who studied medicine with Professor Reed two years earlier than me, was one of the main members of Professor Reed’s research team.

Professor Reed has mentioned him to me and has also tried to arrange for us to meet.

But because Scott was a medical fanatic, he spent most of his time in the research room and refused all social activities.

Therefore, we have never met before.

My gaze shifted away from his face and landed on the report he had put on the table. Suddenly, my eyes widened.

“The patient you asked was Avia?” I looked at him in surprise.

“Yes. Now, can you tell me what methods you used to control Avia’s condition?” “Sure, but how did you know about Avia’s condition? She...

“Diana!”

At this moment, William’s voice came from outside the door.

He walked into the office and closed the door.

I stood up from the seat and said, “William, why did you come over?”

“Scott, you are here too?” William looked at Scott and turned to me, “Do you remember me telling you about Penny’s research? I hope you will take the lead in restarting this project. But because you are currently busy with the handover, I haven’t explained it to you in detail yet.”

“Of course I remember.”

“So Diana, now I have something important to tell you,” William’s tone suddenly became serious. “The virus Avia is infected with is exactly what Penny has been studying. And it is why this research laboratory was established in the first place.”

I was extremely shocked.

“So, about that virus...”

“Scott knows more about the virus. Let him introduce it to you,” William said.

I looked at Scott and found that he was also looking at me.

After about two or three seconds, Scott’s deep and steady voice rang out in the office.

“Enigma is the academic name for this virus, which has been appearing on a small scale in various packs since about ten years ago. At that time, it was also called ‘Gummy Skull’. It is LSD that is often found in places like bars and nightclubs.”

“LSD?” I suddenly raised the pitch..

No wonder!

No wonder I found out from Avia’s body that this virus had a strong addiction. It turned out to be a drug itself.

“That’s right. It’s LSD,” Scott continued, “However, no one expected that it would gradually evolve into a lethal virus when it entered a werewolf’s body. After seeing such patients one after another, Professor Reed quickly realized the seriousness of the situation and urgently formed a research team. She hoped to find a specific drug for this virus as soon as possible. Unfortunately, before the specific drug was found, Professor Reed passed away. Since then, our project has been stagnant. And now

Scott’s voice paused and he stared straight at me, “You are the only person who has successfully alleviated this virus. So you must tell me exactly what method you have used!”

I was stunned. I thought for a while, digesting the information in Scott’s words.

After taking a deep breath, I said, “I gave Avia my specially designed detoxification pill, but it’s just a temporary solution.”

“The temporary relief is already a significant breakthrough,” Scott’s pupils flashed with a hint of sadness.

My heart thumped twice.

My intuition told me that something even worse was happening.

“So, to what extent has this virus developed?” I asked.

After a few seconds of silence, Scott said, “If it only harms the body itself, it’s

After a few seconds of silence, Scott said, “If it only harms the body itself, it’s actually not a big deal. But the fact is, those who have the drug will have extremely strong infectivity in their blood and saliva in the later stages. That is to say, even those who don’t use drugs will eventually be infected.”

I clenched my palm tightly, my hair standing on end.

If what Scott said is true, then this drug “Gummy Skull” was actually the virus of “Enigma“. It would be likely to bring catastrophic consequences to all werewolves!

I grabbed Scott’s wrist and said, “Tell me! This drug is now under control, right?”

Scott closed his eyes and then shook his head wearily.

“No. We have already locked a large number of infected individuals. Avia is the only patient who has not evolved to the later stage and is currently the only research subject we have access to. Additionally, we have known that there are still some people selling

Gummy Skull’ on the black market.”

I was stunned.

וכן.

“Do they want the entire werewolf world to be destroyed?”

‘In the face of profit, the whole werewolf world is nothing to them.” Scott curled his lips and showed a hint of mockery.

Suddenly, a deep sense of powerlessness swept across my body, and I collapsed into a chair.

“So, what should we do next?” I asked.

Scott cleared his throat and said, “Currently, we only have two options. The first is to work with all packs to find the source of this drug and destroy it. Then... kill all drug users to avoid infection.”

I looked up at Scott incredulously and said, “This is so cruel! You know, many of them were infected inevitably.”

“Yes, so there is a second way. We still need to find the source of trafficking this drug in private. But at the same time, we must quickly develop a special drug so that we can save all innocent people. Diana, you are our only hope. Do you want to... give it a try?”

“Of course, I must give it a try,” I replied without hesitation.

“You should know that being exposed to this virus is very dangerous. If someone with ulterior motives or the mastermind behind the drug trafficking knows about it, even if you are Alpha Marc’s sister, they will try to assassinate you! In addition, you may even be at the risk of being infected.”

“So what?” I smiled nonchalantly, “It’s because I’m Alpha Marc’s sister that I need to protect my Pack! Besides, it’s about the entire werewolf world. I absolutely can’t back down.”

I lowered my head and wrote down the formula for the detoxification pill, handing it over to Scott. “You produce a batch of medicine first. If you don’t have enough money, transfer it from my account. Let’s try this detoxification pill first to see if it works for those infected people.”

“Okay,” Scott took the recipe I wrote. “So, when do you plan to join the research?” “Tomorrow,” I said, “I will join the research from tomorrow onwards.”

From now on, your kenny as Healer must become a secret. Inis is a protection for you as long as no one knows Healer’s true identity, even if they want to assassinate you, it won’t be so easy.”

“I understand. I will be cautious.”

William and Scott left.

I felt exhausted.

After a butet ten-minute break, I went to Avia’s ward as Healer.

Scott was right, Avia was currently the only patient whose condition was controllable.

I must constantly observe her every move and quickly find the breakthrough point for treatment.

However, to my surprise, as soon as I pushed open the door of Avia's ward, a desk lamp hit my forehead.

"Get out! Don't enter my room! Get out!"

I dodged the attack.

The desk lamp fell to the ground, splitting into pieces.

I walked up to Avia's bed and calmly looked at her.

She glared at me angrily, her five fingertips turning white as she grabbed the bedsheet.

"You bitch! It's all your fault! If it weren't for you telling Nathan that I'm not sick, Nathan wouldn't have suspected me and Diana wouldn't have instigated Nathan to do a test for me, and I wouldn't have..."

"You wouldn't have let Claud inject drugs and infect you with the virus in a hurry," I added to her words.

Her expression showed as if she wanted to kill me right now.

I gave a cold smile and said, "You're stupid yourself. How did you have the face to blame others?"

"Bitch! Bitch! Bitch! I'll kill you!"

Avia was furious and rushed over to beat me.

I was momentarily unaware and was scratched on my hand by her sharp nails.
