

Luna Lola-The Moon Wolf by Park Kara

Chapter 46-55

Chapter 46

Lola's POV

I was aware when he placed me inside the car because I started feeling hot all over when he left me for a moment. He soon entered the car and placed his hands on my body, sending some kind of relief through me.

I wanted to ask what was happening to me and why I was feeling this way but all that came out of my mouth were groans of pain. It was nothing like I've ever felt before. I know what it felt like when Adrian and Grayson had sex with other she-wolves but this was totally different.

It was a pleasurable kind of pain. It sent heat to my core and I felt my attraction to Adrian multiply by ten folds. As much as I wanted to stay away from him, I also wanted to jump his bone. It wasn't helping that Jasmine was restless in my head.

"You're not being helpful, Jas. I need to stay away from him till he acknowledges me as his mate. I'm not going to throw myself at him just because of your horny ass", I said gently through our mindlink but she seemed to not hear any of what I said.

"I want mate! We need mate!" She kept chanting in my head so I tried as much as possible to block her out. Adrian's hands never left my body and for that I was thankful because it was the only reason I wasn't in as much pain as I was initially.

If only he could roam his hands down my body and..... Lola!

Snap out of it! I chastised myself.

I managed to open my eyes and saw that we were driving through nothing. There was no sign of life, just an eerily silent forest but I felt at ease with Adrian. I just knew he wasn't going to hurt me.

"Where are we and what's going on with me?" I finally managed to croak out. He looked at me so fast, we'd have swerved off the road if he wasn't holding the steering wheel.

"Hey, it's fine. You can go back to sleep, I'm going to get you to where you'll be comfortable soon enough. You don't have to worry your pretty head", he said breathlessly and L wondered what was going on with him.

It wasn't until I looked down that I saw the bulge in his pants. The urge to make him park the car and take me right there was overwhelming but I restrained myself.

I took in his side view and my stomach clenched making me release sounds that were foreign to my ears. The sounds seemed to be affecting Adrian because he gripped the steering tighter and clenched his jaw so hard, I thought he was going to break his teeth.

"Are you okay?" I managed to get out through the desires burning in my veins and he nodded. We soon reached a lonely cabin sitting in the middle of the forest. It looked so dark and spooky but it was magnificent. It wasn't your typical small house just sitting in the forest. It was magnificent and reeks of wealth.

“I’m going to get the inside of the cabin prepared for you. I don’t know its conditions at the moment and I wouldn’t want anything happening to you in this state that you’re in“, he rushed out as he held both of my hands in his.

“Don’t leave me alone“, I cried out, hating that I sounded so weak in his presence but the truth is I just wanted him close to me at all times now. I did not know whether it’s the mate bond between us or this stupid heat talking.

“I promise that I’ll be back before you know it. Just hang in there, baby, I’ll be back soon“, my heart fluttered at being called baby and funny emotions erupted in my veins. I managed to nod my head through the waves of emotions that were rushing through me.

The moment he left the car, the pains returned. This time with a force so hard, I found myself screaming again. I wanted to be freed from all the clothes on my body but I couldn’t seem to get them off.

for getting me into this clothes. I’ll get her back for this once I’m okay.

The door to the passenger side soon opened and I locked eyes with a very frightened Adrian. “Hey, hey, I’m sorry for leaving you alone. Please don’t cry“, he cooed as he cleaned my tears before scooping me into his arms and slamming the door shut with his foot.

I did not even realize I was crying until he mentioned it. Fuck, I don’t want to seem like a weakling in front of him.

He carried me into the house and I felt myself being placed on a very soft bed. He was about to leave when I pulled on his arms stopping him from leaving.

“Please let me out of my clothes. They’re so uncomfortable, please let me out of them“, I whispered and he looked taken aback. “Are you sure, baby?” He asked and I nodded my head. That was the second time he was calling me baby that night and it was doing unimaginable things to my body.

He looked to be having a conflict within himself before he eventually started undressing me. He growled when he saw my scarred body but I wasn’t in the right mind to pay attention to that. I’d worry about it later.

It felt so good to have his hands on me and I might have moaned a little, bringing his movement to a halt.

“You’re not helping me angel. I won’t be able to control myself if you keep moaning like that“, he breathed out huskily and I involuntarily clenched my thighs .

“Don’t hold back, then. Please, Adrian“, I begged him on the verge of tears. I never thought I’d have to beg him to be ravished, it was very embarrassing but I wasn’t thinking with my head at that moment.

“If I’d be buried inside you, it will be because you actually want it. Not because you’re in heat, Lola. I am going to make you scream out my name in pleasure when the time comes and you’ll be in your clear mind when I do“, he whispered close to my ear before biting my earlobe, sending waves of pleasure through me.

“Adrian, please“, I begged with tears in my eyes. I was about to open my mouth to say something else when his lips suddenly descended on mine.

It sent fire through my body and it felt so good. He licked my bottom lip for permission and I granted him access into my mouth. I did not know if I was doing well, but he did not seem to mind.

Without thinking about it too much, I wrapped my arms around his neck gently pulling on his hair. His mouth felt so warm and I could not seem to get enough of it. The fire running through me was replaced by another type of fire and I was loving every moment of it.

I did not care that he was fully clothed while I laid bare beneath him. I could feel my body shaking and my lower stomach was in knots making me moan out and pull on his hair harder.

“A-Adrian“, I moaned out. “I know baby“, he said. I felt his hands going to the center of my body while he sucked on the spot where my shoulder and neck meet. “Let it go, baby“, he murmured into my neck and that was all I needed for my body to combust in pleasure.

I screamed out as he kept running the center between my legs. When I could speak again, he pulled away from me, making me whimper from the loss of contact. He came back with a wet towel and cleaned me up.

“Adrian“, I called out to him but he stopped me. “We’ll talk about it in the morning. Get some rest now, my Luna“, he whispered as he kissed my forehead.

I wanted to ask him what he meant by what he said last but I

Chapter 47

Lola's POV

The next morning, I woke up feeling refreshed and fully relaxed. I was not even that relaxed the first day I slept in a very comfortable bed for the first time in 8 years. It was like a weight had been lifted off my shoulders and mind.

I stretched only to find out that I was stark naked. Naked as the day I was born. I was confused for a moment before the memories of last night came rushing back to me. I buried my head in a pillow as I screamed into it

Oh my goddess! What am I going to do??? How do I face him? Why did I allow myself to get so carried away by my emotions and needs? I blame Jasmine.

“Hey, it was all you that begged him to take you. I wasn't in control of your body. I can't say I did not enjoy the moments though“, she yipped happily in my head and I buried my face in my hands again.

She was right. I'd gladly go through all the pains again if it meant I could experience last night again. I screamed into the pillow with my ass in the air this time around. I remembered the feelings he ignited in me when he touched in between my legs.

I slowly dragged my fingers to the same spot his fingers were the night before and rubbed the tiny nub that was there. It felt good, not as good as Adrian's fingers felt, and I moaned a little.

How come I had never done this before? I thought to myself as I rubbed the nub with a little bit of force igniting the same funny feeling that erupted in my stomach when Adrian touched me the night before.

Imagining it was Adrian's hands that were on me, I moaned out his name. I erupted like I did the night before, panting when I finally came down from my high.

"While that was a very sexy sight to behold, I'd rather be the only one to make you feel good" Adrian's voice came huskily from the door and I whipped my head so fast in his direction, I think I broke something in my neck.

"A- Adrian, good morning", I stuttered, clamouring to wrap the duvet around my body. "He saw all of you yesterday night, why do you bother to hide your body from him. Let him ravish your body like he did yesterday night. You don't have to be shy about it", Jasmine purred in my head and I became red from embarrassment.

"Shut your snout, you horny bitch", I screamed at her in my head while trying to keep a neutral face.

Adrian smirked as he came towards and I moved back on the bed as much as I could. "Good morning, beautiful. Hope you had a good night's rest?" He asked and I nodded.

Not wanting to be rude, I asked him if he enjoyed his night too. "How was your night, also?" I asked in a small voice. His eyes lit up mischief as he sat at the edge of the bed.

"Why is that?" I asked curiously but regretted it almost immediately. "Your body kept me awake all night. I couldn't get your moans out of my head and the way your body reacted to my touch tested my patience all night", he said, gently biting on his lower lips while he stared at me.

I buried my face in the duvet and he laughed. I have to admit that his laughter was so masculine and sexy, I wanted to jump his bone.

Stop getting these thoughts into my head, Jasmine. “Girl, you even blocked me out and it’s my fault you have such thoughts?” Jasmine asked in my head and I facepalmed.

She was right. It was all me.

“I made breakfast“, I looked surprised by that sentence. “Don’t look at me like that, I can make simple breakfast“, he said before laughing.

To be candid, I was amazed that Adrian was talking to me so casually. I liked it but there was this nagging feeling at the back of my mind that it wasn’t going to last but I shook it off. Let’s live in the moment.

“Earth to Lola“, his voice brought me out of my thinking. “I’d like to shower first“, i said and he nodded his head but kept on standing there. I raised my eyebrow at him in question and that’s when he realized what I wanted.

“Oh, okay. Of course, no problem. I’d leave out some clothes for you to change into“, he said while scratching the back of his neck. At the mention of clothes, my mood soured. Of course, he’s brought Fay here and her clothes would be left behind.

He must have caught on to what I was thinking because he quickly added, “I mean, mom might have left some of her clothes behind since this is their hideout“, he rushed out and I nodded.

He quickly rushed out of the room, not before I saw the tip of his ears turned red. The big bad Alpha was embarrassed? What a sight to behold.

I slowly got up and walked into the bathroom connected to the room. The first thing I did was check out myself in the mirror and I gasped when I saw the girl looking back at me.

Lately, I've been adding flesh in the proper places so it doesn't hurt to look at myself in the mirror anymore. Save the scars on my body, my body was nearly perfect and I was starting to get comfortable in my skin, but what I saw in the mirror that morning left me amazed.

My scars were almost gone, I could swear that they were still visible when I was dressing up at the packhouse just yesterday. The wolf tattoo over my heart was a very visible white colour but you could miss it if you were not looking from how milky my skin looked.

Let's not talk about my hair and eyebrows, they were completely white and had a glow to them. My glowing blue eyes seemed to have a fire in them that made them seem to sparkle. I could not deny that I looked totally amazing, a complete 360° from the girl that entered the Crescent moon pack a month ago.

I heard footsteps in the room and thought it was Adrian but his scent was different. Probably the scent of the food he was making was what changed his scent. I shook it off as I hurriedly took a shower and left the bathroom. There was a metallic scent in the air that wasn't there before I left for the bathroom and I was confused.

Why is the stench of blood string in the air? I touched in got pulled into a peaceful darkness.

Chapter 48

Dalia's POV

I was still screaming when Adrian ran into the room. Before I could speak, he'd pulled me into an embrace. "Hey, hey, Lola, look at me. What's the matter, baby? What's wrong?" He asked worriedly and I pointed towards the bathroom door where the stench of blood was coming from.

SOON, YOU'LL BE MINE was written boldly with blood on the white bathroom door. "What the fuck?" Adrian swore under his breath but I heard him.

Gently sitting me on the bed, he went to look at the window that was now opened. He slammed his hands on the window sill making me jump in fear. He must have noticed the effect the sudden sound had on me because he came towards me and held me.

"Are you cold?" He asked and that was when I realised that I was shaking.

I remembered that I was in my towel and tried to make myself smaller but he wasn't having any of it. He pulled me closer to him like he was trying to shield me and I felt safer than I'd ever been.

"I understand that you might not want to be alone now but you need to change your clothes so we can leave here before Dad and some warriors get here", he said, still holding onto me tightly. I nodded my head and he let me go.

"You can go ahead to change in the bathroom, I'll stay here. I can't risk any body coming into this room again ", he growled

I picked the clothes and hurriedly went to change into them in the bathroom. The clothes surprisingly fitted me perfectly and it was also comfortable. I walked out to see Adrian sitting there with a glazed eye, indicating that he was sommunivateing though the mindlink.

"I'm sorry I ruined breakfast for us", i apologized and his hard eyes softened a bit. "No, I'm sorry for not being able to stand this madness from happening. You must have been startled. Are you okay, baby?" He asked, worry evident in his eyes.

Was I okay? No, I wasn't but he did not have to know that. Just when I was trying to get my life together, someone shows up threatening to make me theirs and I was supposed to be okay?

"Yeah, I'm fine", i nodded. He saw through my lie but did not push further which I was thankful for. He looked like he was about to talk when cars pulled up in front of the cabin.

Adrian stood up and held my hands by the wrist before pulling me out with him. I was engulfed in hug by Lyla and Rose once I got out of the cabin.

"Why are you here? I asked in surprise. I wondered what they were told that made them come for me on such notice. "What do you mean why?" Rose asked in astonishment.

"Girl, we heard you were in shock so we're here to take you to the pack doctor", Lyla rushed out, I almost did not hear her with how fast she was. “He’d have come with us but he had some issues to take care of today at the clinic“, Rose piped in.

“Did you find anything, son?” Jayden asked Adrian who shook his head. “Just multiple footprints. They must have masked their scent because I sniffed the air and I couldn’t make out anything. It wasn’t until I went into Lola’s room that I smelled the blood. It must have been some kind of magic“, he explained.

Was I the only one that was able to smell what their scent was like. I wanted to talk but I kept it to myself, my senses must be playing tricks on me. If the Alpha King couldn’t sniff them out, who am I to pipe in?

A powerful wolf. One that hasn’t been seen in years. A voice echoed in my head and I got confused. What is Jasmine up to now?

“Jasmine, this is not the time to joke around. The situation is pretty serious“, I snapped at her in my head. “I heard the same voice, human. I was about to ask you about it. Don’t you dare snap at me!” She snapped back and I got more confused.

What the fuck was that sound and what did it mean?

“Nathan, you should take the Luna and the girls home. We’d be right behind you“, Jayden said to Nathan who immediately nodded. Rose and Lyla led me towards the car where Nathan was already waiting for us.

I looked back at Adrian and he looked like he'd rather be the one to drive me back to safety than trust anyone. "Let's go", Jayden said to him. He hesitated before he turned around to go back into the cabin with his father.

To be very honest, I wanted him to be the one to drive me back to the pack house. I feel safest when I'm with him.

Woah, woah, where is that coming from? Was I losing my mind? It probably has to do with the mate bond.

The ride home was shorter than I thought it would be. It was probably the pain that clouded my judgement on the way here. Rose and Lyla chatted with me excitedly but all I could think of was Nathan.

I felt so alone, like something was missing within me. I wanted to be with him at all times. I did not understand this sudden urge to be with him but I kinda liked it.

We drove straight to the pack clinic. The doctor did a quick check up and said I was okay so we went back to the house. Rose offered to make food for me and I agreed, that stupid culprit ruined my breakfast.

I ate a little, thanked Rose then made my way to my room. On the way to my room, I had the urge to enter Adrian's room and sleep in his bed. His scent comforted me and I want to be wrapped in it always.

Instead, I took one of his shirt and made my way to my room. I changed into his shirt and got into bed. When I was alone with my thoughts, it drifted back to the message written in blood and fear shuddered through my body.

Who was the person and why did he want me?

Chapter 49

Lola's POV

The next morning, I woke up with some kind of strange feeling rushing through me. My senses were heightened so much that I could hear even the faintest of sounds from the forest behind the house like the little noises made by the insects in the forest.

“Do you feel it too, Jasmine?” I asked and she made a sound that seemed like a groan. “Can you try not to scream next time, please?”, She groaned again. “I think I have it worse because I’m your wolf side“.

“What do you think is happening?” I asked her in a whisper, I did not want to hurt her if I could avoid it. “If I knew, I wouldn’t be in so much pain. It’s a lot to get used to“, she murmured before she went silent.

She was right, it was a lot to take in. I could hear Adrian’s even breathing in his room. I could hear the clanking of plates and Rose’s gentle singing. I could hear the sound of the newspaper that Jayden was flipping from the living room.

I closed my eyes and took a deep breath, hoping that it was a malfunction of my body that will go once I open my eyes. I opened my eyes but it just got more overwhelming

My phone suddenly rang and I had to cover my ears to reduce the shrill sound, even Jasmine growled a little in my head at the sudden sound.

I checked the phone and Lyla's name was on the screen. I mentally prepared myself before picking up the call. "Hey Lola", her loud voice came through the phone, making Jasmine growl again in my head. I resisted the urge to snarl at her and took a deep breath.

"Hey Lyla. Can you please lower your voice? I have a huge headache right now", I partially lied to her. Well, I did not want to tell her what was going on with me without fully knowing what's wrong with me.

"Oh, I see. I'm so sorry", she whispered. "I wanted to invite you to a gathering that's happening at the pack orphanage today but it seems you won't be able to make it. I was thinking you could inspire them since well, since you told us about your background too", she took a deep breath after that probably thinking she had offended me.

"You know you were supposed to tell me before making me volunteer for such a thing, right?" I asked her and she took a deep breath.

"I'm sorry, I was going to tell you because I just signed up for it the day Avianca turned 18 but then what happened happened and I wasn't able to tell you again and then it is today and I did not want to turn them down and, can you please come for a little while?" She rushed out in her loud voice again and I groaned in pain. "Oh, I'm so sorry. It's going to be a short event, I promise it won't take long", she whispered and I sighed.

"Fine, I'll come but I'm not going to stay for long", I said and she screamed in excitement. "Lylaaaaaaa", I whined and she quickly apologized.

“The event is by 12pm, please be here by 11“, she pleaded. I checked the time and it was just 8 in the morning. “Fine, I’ll be there. You’re lucky I like you, Lyla“, I said as she blew me a kiss. “I love you too, see ya“, and with that, the line went silent.

I flopped back on my bed and laid in a starfish position. I guess I have to go out today. I got up, brushed my teeth and washed my face before going downstairs to assist Rose.

Since the incident with Greg, Rose barely allows me to help her with anything in the house and if I ask her why, she’d just ignore so I stopped asking.

“Good morning, Rose“, I greeted as I entered the kitchen. The clanking of pans and her humming intensified my headache and I had to hold my head to steady myself.

Rose noticed it and ran towards me. “Hey, pumpkin. You okay?” She asked worriedly. I forgot to tell you guys that she’d been calling me pet names and treated me like her own. I wouldn’t be surprised if she asked me to call her ‘Mom‘.

“My senses are heightened this morning, it must have been due to the shock yesterday“, I replied in a faint voice before giving her a smile. She did not look convinced but led me to the kitchen stools and sat me on one of them.

“You should eat and then lie down a bit more“ she said, sorry evident in her eyes and I felt bad for being the one that made her have the look in her eyes.

“It’s fine really. I have to attend a gathering at the orphanage today and I promised Lyla that I’ll be there“, I told her with a tired smile. “I can have the whole meeting rescheduled if you’re feeling a bit under the weather“. I shook my head at her statement.

“No, please. I’m sure I’d be fine once I see my friends and have fun a bit“, I hoped I had somehow convinced her and sent a quick thanks to the moon when she did not argue any further.

I ate as much as I could, thanked Rose for the food and left for my room. I washed my hair and body and got dressed in a cute top and blue jeans. I ran comb through my hair, applied lipgloss and made my way to the venue after bidding Rose goodbye.

I made it to the venue just in time and saw the girls waiting expectantly. Lyla’s eyes lit up when she saw me and they dragged me over to our designated seat.

It was almost time for me to give my talk and my palms were sweaty and I was a bit jittery. My name was soon called and as I made my way towards the makeshift stage, Fay appeared in front of me with her minions.

Lyla was beside me in an instant.

“What do you want, bitch?“ She snarled at Fay, who laughed humorlessly. “I do not have business with you, elf. I only have eyes for freak over here“, she said and her stupid minions laughed like it was the funniest thing in the world.

“What do you want?“ I asked coolly. I wasn’t afraid of her, I just wanted her to be gone out of my sight. “So she speaks, the orphan speaks. I thought you were going to hide under the shadow of your friends forever but it looks like you’ve got some guts“, she said and I just looked at her. She was boring

“Is that all? I have children to talk to and your presence isn’t needed“, I told her and made my way towards the stage. “You really think you’re going to become Luna? Adrian will never choose you, freak. An orphaned freak like you can never be great“, she said and I stopped in my tracks.

If she had said such a month ago, I'd have cowered and cried in a corner but not anymore. I turned towards her and she looked taken aback by the momentum before masking it.

“What did you just say?” I asked and she smirked before talking. “I said an orphaned freak like you can never be Luna because Adrian will never choose you“, she repeated.

“Hell no, she shouldn't have“, Jasmine growled in my head and had taken over my body before I could resist. I heard a few people around us gasp but my focus was on the bitch in front of me.

Before I could comprehend what was going on, she had been flung to the other side of the room and everyone let out a collective gasp.

I took control of my body back and Lyla was beside me in an instant. Before I could ask her what happened, I had been pulled into a world of darkness.

Chapter 50

Lola's POV

I opened my eyes and I was back in that garden again. With the rate at which I showed up in this garden, I might as well stay there permanently. I looked around expecting to see the bright light and hear the Moon goddess' voice but what I saw left me in awe.

Walking majestically towards me was a magnificent silver wolf with blue and golden eyes. The wolf looked familiar and had a striking resemblance to Jasmine, but I was so sure Jasmine was a white wolf so I cancelled it out.

“Selene?” I called out and a scoff sounded in my head. “Seriously, Lola? How do you not recognise your own wolf?” The voice sounded again in my head and I was wowed.

“Jasmine!! You look completely different. Wow! You look. totally amazing”, I gushed and she held her head high in a form of pride making me laugh.

“I know you’ve always been gorgeous, but you look ten times. more beautiful than I remember“, I said and she laughed. “Tell me about it. Up until Fay got me angry, I was just a white wolf with specks of silver. I’m totally loving my fur, girllllllll“, she said in my head as she walked around elegantly.

“Why do you think we’re here though?” I asked her and she shook her head like she was saying she had no idea. I was about to say something else when the bright light that accompanies the Moon, goddess shone.

“Welcome my children“, her angelic voice rang through the garden. “Selene“, I greeted and Jasmine bowed her head in greetings.

“I’m so proud of you two. You’ve come a long way and have shown that you are ready for the prophecy that you were chosen for“, she spoke calmly and I got more confused.

Chosen? Prophecy? What’s going on?

“Prophecy? What prophecy?” I questioned. I shared a look. with Jasmine and she looked confused too. “You’re going to find out soon enough. Now it’s time“, she spoke gently.

The wind around us became still. I was wondering what was going on when my limbs felt like they were being broken and replaced again.

I opened my mouth in a silent scream and Jasmine howled in pain in my head. "What's going on?" I managed to voice out. "The next step in your journey of self discovery", her gentle voice echoed in the still garden.

Fire consumed my entire body and I closed my eyes and waited for the pain to pass.

When I finally opened my eyes, all I saw was darkness but I could hear a beeping sound around me. I was confused and scared. Did I go blind? Am I in a kind of place where souls who have lost their way stay? A lot of thoughts crossed my mind. as I tried to open my eyes to no avail.

I could hear voices too. I know Adrian's voice too well to miss it. He was saying things that were not audible enough for me to make out what he was saying.

Chapter 50

I heard Rose too and she seemed to be crying. I wanted to tell them that I was fine but I was stuck in that dark place.

"Jasmine, Jasmine", I called out frantically. She seemed to be in pain too when we were in the garden. "Sometimes, you need to learn when to pipe down", her voice rang in my head and I breathed a sigh of relief.

"What do you think is going on? I can hear beeping sounds all around me but I can't seem to open my eyes", I whined to Chelsea.

"Maybe you should try again", she said weakly and I nodded my head before trying to open my eyes. This time around they opened.

My mistake was opening them too fast because the light stung my eyes and I groaned out in pain, drawing attention to myself. It was Adrian that came to me first, "Are you okay, baby? Do you need anything? The doctor is on his way. What do you want me to get you?" He asked worriedly.

While I was glad that he cared enough about me, his voice was giving me a headache. My senses were still sensitive, in fact more sensitive than they were before I lost consciousness.

Without opening my eyes, I croaked out, “water please”. A cup was lifted to my lips moments later and I gulped down the contents of the cup in one go.

“Baby, are you good now?” Adrian’s voice reached my ears. and I nodded. I felt like I just woke up from a deep sleep, nothing was actually wrong with me. I did not feel pain anywhere either so I guess that means I was okay.

“Open your eyes, baby. Look at me please“, Adrian worriedly said. I peeled my eyes open and heard Rose gasping, even Adrian looked dumbfounded. I was about to ask what happened when the doctor walked in with his nurses.

He looked surprised too but he masked it quickly. He walked towards me, did check ups before saying that I could be discharged that day.

After he left, I had to change into casual clothes so we could go home. I refrained from asking the questions on the tip of my tongue, I was going to ask later.

Rose offered to help me get changed but I assured her that I could do it on my own and made my way to the bathroom.

I was shocked by what I saw in the mirror. A completely white haired girl with glowing blue and golden eyes stared back at me in the mirror.

I totally have the exact shade of eyes as Jasmine, her right eye was my left eye and vice versa. The greatest shock came to me when I removed the hospital gown and looked at my skin in the mirror.

It was totally flawless like I had never had a scar on it before. My back was all free from scars, my whole body was clean and looked milky. I had not seen my skin so clear since Mom and Dad passed away.

Going into the shower, Selene's words keep ringing in my head. What was I chosen for and why?

Chapter 51

Adrian's POV

A week! She had been sleeping for a week.

The pack doctors could not find anything wrong with her. She looked so peaceful but I needed her to open her pretty eyes for me.

The only reason Fay was still alive was the fact that she was in a worse condition than my beautiful mate. I was surprised when I got the message from Nathan that Lola had fainted again.

I was doing some paperwork in the study when I heard his voice in my head. "Yo, Adrian. There's a problem", he sounded a bit nervous and I sat up.

Could it be another rogue attack? "What's it? Is it another rogue attack?" I asked calmly. "No, man. It's Lola, she collapsed again", he said and I stood up in one fluid motion. from my seat .

"Where is she?" I growled out and I was out of the house in no time. I transformed into my wolf midway and entered the hospital in a hurry. Daxon was agitated and refused to let me take control of my body back.

"Buddy, I need to be in charge if we're going to find Lola" I tried to convince him but he wasn't having any of it. "I need to find mate. Mate is hurt,

I need to find mate!” He kept growling, scaring the nurses and patients in the clinic.

It wasn't until Nathan came out to see that I was the one causing chaos in the clinic that I was able to get control of my body.

“Lola is well. She’s just sleeping“, he said with a bow. Yeah, he has to respect me where there’s a lot of people. He might be my best friend but the pack still places value of respect for the Alphas and Luna’s.

“Hear that, buddy?. She’s awake and you don’t want to scare her when she wakes up to you causing such unrest in the clinic“. That was all it took for him to allow me to change back and Nathan threw a sweatpant and shirt at me.

As werewolves, we station clothes everywhere in the pack. Knowing that we could change at any time and rip off the clothes on our body, we put clothes at strategic points so we won't have to be naked for long.

“What happened to her?” I asked as we made our way into the clinic. “Fay happened“, he said and I saw red. “I specifically told that bitch to stay a way from my mate and she hurt her again?” I growled loudly.

“Take her to the dungeon“, I barked out my order before proceeding forward in the direction I could smell Lola from. “I can’t take her to the dungeon“, Nathan said behind me and I turned to him with anger running through my veins.

How dare he defile my orders, especially when it comes to his Luna?

“Did you just defile my orders, Beta?” I asked, letting my Alpha voice tone slip into my voice, forcing him into submission. “No, Alpha. You should see for yourself“, he said before leading me into a room where I could smell Fay from.

I was shocked when I entered the room. “Did you say she had an altercation with Lola?” I asked and Nathan nodded. I was amazed and I dare say, proud of what I saw.

Her head was wrapped in a bandage and she looked terrible. “What exactly happened? If she’s like this, then what situation would Lola be in?” I asked in awe.

Fay was one of our strongest warriors and had fast healing abilities. It was a shock to me that she wasn’t healing fast, it was a greater shock that she was this way because she went up against Lola.

“That’s what everyone is asking. Lola doesn’t have a single scratch on her and well, Fay is like this“, he said and I sensed pride in the way he spoke. I guess he was proud of his Luna too.

I went to where Lola was and met Lyla and her friends with her. Lyla was crying and kept blaming herself for what happened. I dismissed them and sat with her till Mom and Dad came.

“I heard what happened, how’s that possible?” Mom said. immediately she entered. “Fay is a very good fighter and one. of the finest of our pack. How could she be in such a condition and Lola doesn’t seem to be affected one bit?” She asked no one in particular and we all wondered.

I stayed by her side, only leaving to ease myself. If I had to shower, I just did it in the clinic bathroom. I wanted to be there when she opened her eyes. I was getting angry everyday and I was so close to turning the whole hospital upside down.

I was angry but I needed to be strong for her. Mom would cry but that just pissed me off. I wanted to see her beautiful eyes and her smile, even if it won't be directed at me.

After listening to the circumstances surrounding the event that happened, Dad suggested that we bring Serena in and she agreed to come but only when Lola woke up.

I was so close to losing my shit in the middle of an argument with Mom when I heard her make a sound. I rushed towards her but she had her eyes closed.

I pulled the curtains closed and switched off the light but it was still bright. After giving her some water, I urged her to open her eyes. I was shocked when I saw the color of her eyes.

Her beautiful blue eyes were different from what they used to be. She had one glowing blue eye and one glowing golden eye. I was shocked by this and Mom gasped behind me too. I'd never seen such eyes on any wolf before and trust me when I say I'd seen a lot of wolves.

The pack doctor came in and said she could be discharged after running a couple of tests on her. She seemed like she wanted to ask questions but kept it in. She asked to go change in the bathroom.

Mom and I exchanged looks the moment she was out of sight.

"We need Serena here now", I mindlinked mom and she nodded like she was thinking the same thing.

Lola's POV

I took a deep breath before I opened the door back into the clinic room. All eyes turned on me immediately I entered. Jayden and the girls were already there and Lyla came to me when she got over her shock at my new appearance.

I was glad no one said a thing, it would be so bizarre to tell them that I was in the moon goddess' garden and she made my wolf and I one.

“Thank goddess you're okay, girl. Don't you dare pull that kind of trick on me again“, she pouted and I chuckled softly. “I think I like that atmosphere of the clinic, I might come here. every now and then“, I said with a laugh but no one found it. funny.

They all stared at me with a blank look and I coughed a little before scratching the back of my neck nervously. “Yeah, that wasn't funny. I'm sorry guys“, I apologized with a nervous smile and looked down at my feet.

“Let's get you home to comfort, Lola“, Rose said as she held my second hand and stirred me towards the door. We were already out of the room when I remembered something.

“Where's she?“ I asked and they all exchanged looks. “Who, darling?“ Rose asked me. “Fay“, I answered in a monotonous voice and they all kept quiet.

What's going on? Why are they quiet? Wait, I did not.....

“She's not dead right? Please tell me that I did not kill her“, I pleaded, tears starting to form in my eyes. I might not like her but that doesn't mean I wished her dead.

A hand wrapped around my waist from behind and Rose and Lyla let go of me. “I'll show you where she is“, he whispered and they must have spok en through the mindlink because everybody else left, leaving both of us alone in the clinic corridor.

I felt so safe and at peace in his arms as he led me towards where Fay was, yet I refused to look him in the eyes. I did not know why I felt so shy like I was just meeting him for the first time.

He opened a door and led me into the room. I gasped when I saw Fay's condition, she looked lifeless save the steady rise and fall of her chest.

"I-I did that?" I managed to stutter as I pointed towards her body. I couldn't believe that I put her in the position. before me.

"Yes, you did, Lola", Adrian spoke before me and I turned to face him with bated breath. His eyes did not give away anything he was feeling. Was he mad I made his toy this way? Would he lash out for hurting a fellow pack member?

"You did and I'm proud of you", he said and a grin broke out on his face while his eyes shone with pride and adoration. He was proud of me.

"I'm not happy you hurt another pack member but she had it coming for her. If she had not crossed you, you wouldn't have lashed out".

He said with a smile and I felt my heart tug at his handsome face. He must have felt the same thing because he pulled me closer by my waist while looking into my eyes. It was like an invisible glue was in between us and I wanted to soak in all of the feelings.

“You feel it too, don’t you?” He whispered and I nodded my head. Jasmine was howling in excitement in my head. It felt like the first time I met him all over again. My heart was pounding in my chest and I felt like I was going to fall from the intensity of his eyes on me.

“Mine!” He growled, his eyes turning golden which indicated that his wolf was in control. He gently cupped my chin and I reverted to the back of my mind so that Jasmine could talk to her mate.

“You look totally beautiful, mate“, he said in a husky voice and Jasmine whimpered. I rolled my back at the back of my mind. where I was watching the interaction. A wolf chosen for a great prophecy, my foot.

“I’ve been waiting for you to come to me“, he pulled her closer and Jasmine would have dropped my panties there and then if he’d asked. “I’d have made you mine since I saw you but my human is a fool“, I snickered at that. He sure is, a big fool at that.

Adrian’s eye colors kept changing before he eventually got control of his body back. Jasmine refused to let me take control of my body, demanding that Alexander bring her mate back so she could speak to him.

“I did not get his name, I just want to see him again so he can tell me his name“, she whined and I rolled my eyes at her.

“Jasmine, let me take control of my body“, I asked gently but she refused. I almost screamed but kept it in. Why did I get paired with such an obstinate wolf?

“His name is Daxon and I promise that you’re going to see him soon, in his wolf form“, Adrian cajoled her before she finally allowed me to take control back.

We both laughed softly at the antics of our wolves before I looked towards the bed where Fay was laying and I got serious again.

“Why do you think she’s not healing? She’s a high ranking wolf and one of the strongest in the pack, no?” He nodded and I sighed as I looked towards the bed again.

“What do you think is happening with me, Adrian?” I asked in a low tone and he patted my head before pulling me into a hug. “We’re going to find out soon. The pack sorceress is waiting for us at home“. Home. The word felt nice and I smiled.

Sure, let’s go home.

Before we could get out of there, I tugged on his arm and he stopped to face me. “This means you’ve accepted me as your mate, right?” I asked boldly, even though I was scared of what his answer might be.

“Yes, Lola. I choose you as my Luna, if you’re going to take me back of course“, I nodded. “I accept you as my mate, Adrian. You have a lot of pleading to do though. It will take a while to appease me“, I said with a smile before we walked out of the room hand-in-hand.

Maybe being reborn with a purpose wasn’t a bad idea after all.

Chapter 53

Lola’s POV

I had the option to walk home, but Adrian said, and I quote, “I can’t risk anything happening to you, I’d never forgive myself,” so he decided that we would take a car instead. It wasn’t like anything was going to happen to me if I walked like all the other regular people.

Jasmine laughed in my head, "Yet, you're as red as a tomato," and I wanted to slap her. With a hint of sarcasm seeping through, I remarked, "Jeez, what a supportive wolf you are."

She continued to mock me, and my want to slap her grew stronger. "You're stuck with me whether you like it or not, girl, so get over it," she taunted.

"You're suddenly so energetic after meeting Daxon. Maybe accepting the mate bond was a bad idea", I said into the mindlink, knowing that she wasn't going to take it well.

"Don't you dare say accepting the mate bond was a mistake. My mate and I were already apart for so long because your mate decided to be a jerk", she snapped. I felt bad for even bringing it up and went silent.

"So, what do you say?", Adrian's voice reached my ear and I pulled myself out of the mental conversation and focused on him.

"What?" I managed to get out. He looked at me in bewilderment for a millisecond before he looked back at the road. I blushed furiously and looked down at my entwined hands.

It was definitely Jasmine's fault I did not really pay attention to what he was saying. "Hey, I did not.....", she was about to argue but I cut off the mindlink.

"I'm sorry. I wasn't really paying attention", I managed to get out and he chuckled lightly. "You're cute for thinking that I'd get mad at you because you zoned out", he patted my head briefly before concentrating on the road again.

He soon pulled up at the house and I could feel my heart beating erratically in my chest as he turned off the car's engine and turned to face me.

"I asked if you want to go on a date with me, Lola", said in a husky voice. I blushed furiously as I could not believe my ears.

Adrian wants to go on a date with me? I guess almost dying made him realize that I was his mate.

I looked at him to find him staring at me, anticipation evident. on his face . "I don't know, Adrian. You haven't proven to me that you deserve my love and attention. What if you change. your mind again?" I questioned him .

I wanted to be sure I wasn't digging my own grave by agreeing to be with him. A look of hurt passed his eyes briefly but he masked it.

He held my hands and made me look into his eyes. "Baby, I know I fucked up royally but I can explain everything that has happened. Please give me a chance to prove myself", he pleaded and my resolve softened.

"Just a chance?" I asked in a small voice. "Yeah, just a chance", he whispered and made a move to kiss me when he suddenly pulled back.

"Our presence is needed inside", he murmured and pulled back. I wanted to pull him back to me and lock lips with him but I did not want to look so desperate.

They couldn't have waited a minute more before requesting that we come in? Sheesh..

Like he knew what I was thinking, Adrian chuckled and got out of the car. He came around to my side to open the door and held my hands to help me out of the car.

“I know you are angry for not getting that kiss but I promise you that we’d be doing much more than that in a while“, he whispered into my ear as a shiver ran down my spine.

Good goddess.

We walked hand in hand into the house and everyone seemed surprised at the fact that we were holding hands but no one said anything.

I looked around the room and was a bit taken aback when I saw Serena sitting in the living room with others. What was she doing here?

“Serena?” I questioned in disbelief and everyone except Layla looked shocked that I knew her. “You guys have met?” Adrian asked and I nodded.

“Yeah, the day Lyla and I had a girl’s day out“, I said. “More like a getaway“, Jasmine said in my head and I resisted the urge to roll my eyes.

Chapter 53

“Why is she here and why is everyone looking at me like I have grown two heads?” I asked even though I know why they were looking at me but I did not want them to think about me differently.

“You know why I am here but they do not. I’m here to shed light on that“, she said calmly. What’s her connection to the pack? I thought Lyla only knew her from the spa.

“I’m sure you’re curious about what the moon goddess said on your last visit to her garden“, she said and I nodded even though everyone else in the room was shocked by that realization.

“You saw the moon goddess? Was that why she kept fainting?” Alexander asked from beside me and Serena nodded with a smile.

“What about her appearance?

How did she change so drastically? Even her scars are gone, completely gone“, he asked again and I looked at him in shock. He knew?

Like he could hear what I was thinking, he nodded at me. “Yes, I know your scars are completely gone. I noticed it when the doctor was doing mini tests on you earlier“, he explained and I nodded.

We turned back to Serena, eager to hear what she had to say. I also wanted to know that reason I was like this.

“She’s a part of something bigger. Something the whole of the wolf world has been anticipating“, she took a pause after that and it was obvious that everyone wanted to hear what she had to say.

“You’re the moon wolf, Lola. You’re the wolf with the power of the moon goddess“, Serena said and gasps were heard around the room, even Adrian was shocked.

Moon wolf? Power of the Moon goddess? Me?

I still had no idea of what the moon wolf was and why I was chosen to be her. I also wanted to know why I had suddenly transformed and why my skin had changed completely. Not like I was complaining about that aspect.

“But why am I suddenly transformed and does the whole new skin come with the package?” I asked and everyone turned to Serena at that. I guess I wasn’t the only curious one.

“You’re reborn. The war is upon us and it’s up to you to save all of us“, she replied and the room went so silent that a pin could be heard if it was dropped in that moment.

Chapter 54

Lola's POV

The room went silent and I looked around the room to find various expressions on people's faces but none portrayed joy nor happiness.

"We were just told we were going to lead a war and you expect anyone to be glad about it?" Jasmine asked in my head. and I wanted to scream.

Did I suffer for 8 years just to be pushed into war? And I thought I was going to get a good life now that I have clear skin, I guess I have to do away with that thought.

"What exactly is the prophecy and how am I supposed to lead it when I don't even know what it is about nor what I can do. Is this some kind of joke?" I questioned with a humorless laugh. since I couldn't bring myself to cry about the matter at hand.

"A long time ago, Selene was forcefully taken by the god of Rogues, Hermes. Hermes married her forcefully after he threatened to tear down her city if she didn't comply with him. Selene, being the kind and peaceful soul that she was, agreed to marry him and was taken far away from her people", Serena started and Adrian led me towards a chair as we've been standing since we came in.

"Selene wasn't happy with Hermes but she had no choice if she wanted her people to be safe. Everything in Hermes town was weird and disturbing but Selene couldn't say a thing nor ask anything regarding it if she did not want to lose her life".

"Hermes did not have sex with her, he'd just occasionally come in to draw some of her blood and leave afterwards. She got curious one day and followed him stealthily without him noticing".

“She was surprised by what she saw. In a different part of his town, he had some kind of rituals he was doing to transform men into wild looking animals. They seemed almost wolfish and looked dangerous, their eyes were red and had no sign of life in them. Selene became scared and ran for her life but was soon caught by the men Hermes sent after her“, she took a deep breath before she continued.

“Being someone that cannot stand evil, Selene said she was going to kill herself since her blood was being used for such evil. On hearing this, Hermes promised to let her have a life as long as she doesn’t allow any man to defile her“.

“Selene wanted to know why he was doing such and he told her that he wanted to be the ruler of the whole world. He was going to make enough soldiers to help him achieve that and what other way could he make a soldier that would easily take over that world than making an army of soldiers that everyone will be scared of. Hermes said her blood was a very important factor because she was the purest in the land and her blood, coupled with black magic was enough to create such monsters”

“Selene did not know what to do but she wasn’t ready to lose her life either. She kept getting her blood taken and couldn’t do anything about it. One day, she decided to go to the market in the village and was walking around when she came across the most beautiful man she’s ever set her eyes on ”

“That was when she met Endymion, the man whom Hermes forbade from living in the town because of how beautiful he looked. Endymion was the male version of everything Selene embodied. He was so beautiful, it was almost painful to look at. He was kind, he was a very peaceful man and did not like any form of altercations“.

Chapter 54

“Selene fell in love with him at first sight and followed him to where he lives in a cave in the middle of the mountains. Since that day, Selene would constantly go the market under the guise of buying things and disappear into the mountains to see Endymion“, I was amazed at this story and it seemed I wasn’t the only one who wanted to listen to the story.

“Selene finally made Endymion fall in love with her and she got pregnant with Endymion’s daughter. Hermes was enraged at what Selene did after she had been ordered to stay away from men so ordered that a black witch should perform the magic that would turn her into a feral animal too but the witch failed“.

“How? Why? But she’s no longer pure“, Lyla questioned from her seat and Nathan shut her up affectionately, making her pout. Serena laughed before continuing her story.

“Despite the fact that she was pregnant, her heart was still pure as ever and something around her was contradicting the black magic, but she was still affected. She felt changes in her body, her senses were heightened and she could talk to nocturnal animals“.

“Afraid that she was going to be killed by Hermes, she ran away in the middle of the night and went to live with Endymion in the heart of the mountain. They lived peacefully until one full moon later“. At this point, she requested for a glass of water which Rose readily brought before she continued with the story.

“Hermes found out where she was and came with some of his wild creations. Selene already sensed them and urged Endymion to run away with her but he disagreed. He said he was going to use himself as a bait to save his wife and child“.

“Selene, not knowing the magnitude of her powers, ran but came back to meet Endymion teetering on the edge of death. Apparently, one of the rog ues bit him and he was slowly turning into one of them. Selene kept crying and praying for anyone to listen to her plea and take her instead“.

Poor Selene and Endymion.

The moon decided to bestow its powers upon her but it came at the price of her baby. Endymion’s life was restored but he wasn’t human anymore either. He came back as a werewolf and he became the first Alpha King of werewolves“.

“They did not sit still like that. They started recruiting people to fight in the oncoming war and lots of people followed them. They were tired of Hermes’ menace and were ready to fight him under the tutelage of Endymion and Selene. They knew they were kind and peaceful people and would not lead them into something that will not benefit them“.

*Because their love kept going strong, Endymion had some super powers of his own and they kept turning people who wanted to join the cause into werewolves too and got great strength from the moon, it becomes more enhanced with a full moon“.

“Eventually, the war came about 3 full moons later and the rogues as they were called, were all vanquished by the werewolf army but Hermes’ first son escaped and since then had been creating mini wars and problems in the werewolf world“.

“This story never gets old no matter how much I hear it“. Avianca gushed and the rest agreed. Why did they all act like they were just listening to it for the first time?

“How did I get thrown into the equation then?“ I asked the question that hadn’t been answered and everyone looked at me like I was supposed to figure that out on my own.

Well, forgive me for trying to know why I’ve been suffering for the last eight years without knowing why.

Chapter 55

Lola's POV

“Well, is anyone going to talk?”, I said, looking at everyone’s face. Serena took a deep breath before she continued her story.

“The same goal Hermes had was what his son embarked on too but they never found another one as pure as Selene. He killed a lot of virgins with the hope of getting just one pure soul that could complete the whole process with her blood but he failed tremendously”.

That still doesn’t explain anything but I’ll keep listening to the end. Adrian must have noticed how lost I was and how I was getting impatient with the whole story. He held my hands and squeezed gently as a form of assurance.

“Selene and Endymion thought of a way to make the whole war come to an end but it all proved abortive. When the witch with black magic died with just few offsprings that knew about her collaboration with the Alpha King, Thatos, Hermes’ son decided to find a way to be permanently powerful and conquer the world.

“Thatos found out that Endymion got his powers after getting mated to Selene and made it a mission to get married to a pure soul so that he could be powerful and follow in his father’s footsteps but Selene matched him up with someone he would always love and cherish and he stopped his mission”, she finished saying and I got more confused.

“Since Thatos already forgot about the mission, why am I being thrown into war then?” I asked baffled and tired. Was the stress unnecessary? I was going to avoid it if I could but I needed clarity if I was going to take on the role of the one who brought peace to the wolf world.

“Thatos might have forgotten about it but his mate was someone that was power hungry too. She drilled it into her son’s head and it was passed down generations“, Serena explained.

“Why did Selene not finish this once and for all and why did she wait for all these years to find a saviour?” I was getting more confused as the story went on and it seemed everyone was interested in what explanation she had to give too.

“She could not overtake that evil by herself. When she finally became one of the goddesses of the seven heavens, she was able to birth a pure wolf that hasn’t been stained with anything. The wolf is Jasmine and it was only when you were born that she awakened and that’s why she’s been with you since you were young“, she explained and I was wowed.

Woah, just woah.

“She was made for you specially, Lola. This is your calling. If you could not do it, she wouldn’t have chosen you“, she said to me with a smile and I sighed deeply.

How did we get here, Jas?

“When I met with her, she said I was about to unlock my true potential. What did she mean by that? How am I even supposed to know what to do?” I lamented.

“It’s up to you to unlock your true potential, you shouldn’t the changes that are coming“. How the heck am I supposed to unlock true potential when I don’t even know what I’m supposed to be expecting?

“Also, you have a powerful Alpha King by your side“, she turned towards Adrian who was confused. “He’s the Endymion to your Selene. You have to grow together and unlock your potential together“, she smiled at us and I wanted to smack the smile off her face but I kept my cool.

She kept talking in parables and expected me to understand how to unlock my potential. She stood up and Rose stood up after her but I remained seated. I was still reeling from everything I just heard. I got more confused instead of getting clarification.

Adrian remained seated beside me, gently rubbing my arms. “We’d figure it together, baby. You have a powerful Alpha King beside you, remember?” He teased me and I allowed a smile to show.

“I’d take my leave now, do not hesitate to call on me if there’s anything you need my help with“, Serena said to Rose and Jayden who nodded.

Like hell I would contact you. You barely had any useful information for me, I thought. She was escorted out by Rose and Jayden.

I took another deep breath but was startled when Lyla and the girls rushed me making me jump in my seat. They all looked at me with big doe eyes and I rolled my eyes at their childish antics.

“The moon wolf, huh?” Avianca was the first one to speak up.

Chapter 55

“Girls please, it’s not the end of the world“, I rolled my eyes at them.

“Not the end of the world? It might be the end of our own world if you do not realize your true potential“, Lotana said and Lyla hit her before signaling for her to shut up.

“Jeez, I don’t feel pressured at all“, I said with sarcasm and Lotana looked sheepish. “I have to rest, guys. I’ve had more than enough information to digest for a day“, I yawned and Adrian spoke up.

“I guess you will have to suspend your talks till tomorrow“, he said to the girls and they exchanged weird glances. Turning to me he spoke, “You should get to rest, baby. We’re going to figure this out in the morning“, I nodded at him before looking at the girls and the comical expression on their faces almost made me laugh. Even Nathan looked surprised.

I get it guy, I find it shocking also.

I left them after a quick goodbye and Adrian followed me supporting me the whole way to the bedroom. I wasn’t weak, it just felt good to have him dote on me.

I’ve always wanted my mate and now he’s giving me the time and attention I’ve always wanted. He still stayed with me when we entered the room and I had to chase him out against his will.

I never would have thought he’d be a clingy mate.

“Let me stay with you just for tonight, baby“, he whined from outside the door after I chased him out and I laughed. “Nope“, I replied, popping the P.

“I promise that I won’t touch you. I just want to be so close to my mate. You’ve been sleeping for a week, do you know how hard it was for me?“ He said quietly and I sensed the sincerity in his voice.

I opened the door and he stood there, looking like a lost puppy. His eyes lit up when he saw the door opened. “Fine, you can sleep in here just for today“, he gave me a boyish smile that sent my heart racing.

After we both freshened up, separately of course, we slept in each other’s arms and it was my best night yet.
