Chapter 81-85

Chapter 81

Adrian's POV

Three days! It's been three days since that incident happened and she had been numb. She barely ate, she barely slept, she barely spoke to anyone which frightened me, to be very honest.

It was my fault for allowing her to get closer to the rogue. If I had stood my ground and told her that she couldn't follow me into the dungeon, she wouldn't have witnessed what she did.

I had forgotten what happened when Ennia wanted to confess eight years ago. It wasn't that gory so imagine my shock when I saw human remains splattered all over my beloved mate..

I should have refused to allow her into the dungeon with me. She seemed to be a shadow of herself. Even when Lyla and the check girls came to check up on her, she was still the same and I did not know what else to do about the situation.

Mom was always checking up on her whenever I had to go do something important and couldn't stay by her side. Daxon was speaking to Jasmine because she wasn't affected by the whole incident. Only Lola was affected and I was starting to take out the frustration in everyone else.

This morning, Dad ordered me to go work out instead of sitting around her, waiting for her to give a positive response. I had to be held down by 5 warriors when I almost beat my sparring partner to a pulp. I did not even realize I was hurting him until I was held back.

Nathan dragged me to a deserted area and gave me a bottle of water to calm down before he started speaking.

Chapter 81

"Not to be rude, Adrian, but what the fuck do you think you're doing? You could have killed Dennis if no one had held you back", he started, "I know that you're being affected by what's going on with Lola but you need to get a motherfucking grip", he said.

I sighed before running my hands through my hair in distress. "You're not going to understand, man. I was just getting to know her and it breaks my heart to see her so.....well, so docile and useless”, I said before sliding down the wall that I was leaning on.

“The pack doctor said she’s fine and would return to her normal state. in about 2-3 days. You should know by that she’s a strong woman that can pull through anything”, he said before sitting down beside me.

“I don’t know, Nathan. Even Jasmine can’t communicate with her, her mind is blank and it just like she’s an empty shell. I’m slowly losing it, I don’t know how much more I can take before I go on a killing spree”, I lamented.

“You’re losing it already, you’re not on the road to that”, he said and I glared at him. It clearly wasn’t a time to joke around. “You know, we’ve all been so focused on Lola, we forgot a very vital information we got from our questioning with the rogue” he spoke up beside me after a while and I turned to look at him.

“What might that be? I don’t remember that rogue talking about anything important”, I said. “He definitely said there was a traitor in our midst and we’ve got to be careful”, he said as that was when I remembered that he actually said so.

I had been so focused on Lola, I totally forgot about that little vital information.

“F uck! I totally forgot about that. We should inform Dad and probably hold a meeting about it”, I said before standing up from where I sat.

Chapter 81

“Adrian?” The angelic voice that belongs to no else other than my mate rang in my head and I froze for a while. Everything went silent after that and I felt that I was hallucinating. It’s been 3 days I heard her voice so I must have made it up.

“Adrian”, the voice spoke again, more clearer this time around. “Baby?” I asked just to be sure I wasn’t hallucinating. “I need you, Adrian”, her shaky voice came through and my heart broke more.

I did not wait to talk to Nathan before I changed into my wolf form and dashed towards the house. I did not bother to change into my human form before I bound up the stairs towards my room where I left her in the morning.

I changed at my door and opened the door to find her curled up on the bed, her body violently shaking from crying. I was sad and happy at the same time. I was happy that she was finally doing something other than being numb. but I was sad because I couldn't stand seeing her in tears. I rushed towards her, forgetting the fact that I was naked. I pulled her into my chest as she kept sobbing. "Hey, hey, it's okay, baby. I'm here now", I cooed to her like a baby as I rubbed her back. "It's okay, it's okay, you're okay now". i whispered gently into her ear.

"Is, is he really dead?" She asked and even though I knew what she was talking about right away, I decided not to answer. I couldn't bare the thought of her relapsing again.

She raised her head up to look at me and I finally saw life in her eyes. Her tear stricken face looked so beautiful. "It was all a dream right? The rogue is still waiting to be questioned in the dungeon, right?" She looked at me with hopeful eyes which changed when I shook my head.

"Oh my goddess, I should have listened to you", she cried. "I should have gone back when you asked. He wouldn't have died if I hadn't questioned him. I'm the worst", she cried bitterly and I held her close to me.

"He was manipulated. If he had found a good pack like this when his pack failed him, he wouldn't have followed that psychopath", she continued crying while I just held her.

As I kept holding her crying body, I knew that I had to do something and I had to do it fast.

No one gets to hurt my mate like this and go scot free.

Chapter 82

Lola's POV

After crying for what seems like infinity. I stopped crying and slowly lifted my body from his to find him stark naked. I gasped and my face. turned red before I looked away from him.

"Adriannnnn". I squealed, "why are you not wearing any clothes". I asked him as I covered my face with my hands. Through the hole in my fingers. I peeped to see him look at his bare body before he facepalmed.

He stood up, walked into his closet and came back after a while. dressed in a sweatpant and tank top that hugged his body perfectly.

He took a seat beside me and lifted me to sit on his laps again. “Why were you naked?” I asked him after a moment of silence. “I’m sorry. I did not mean to startle you. I ran here in my wolf form immediately I heard your voice in my head. I wasn’t really thinking. Daxon either”. he explained and I felt bad.

I wrapped my hands around his neck and cuddled closer of him. “I’m sorry for worrying you. I really am”. I whispered and he nodded. “It’s fine. my queen. It was my fault for allowing you into the dungeon. I should have stood my ground”, he said but I shook my head.

“I remembered being pretty adamant. I thought I could handle it but I was wrong. Next time. I’ll just let you do the hardwork while I wait to be updated on what’s going on”. I said into his k and his whole body vibrated with laughter.

“Anything my queen wants, my queen gets”, he dropped a kiss on my forehead afterwards. “Let’s get you fed, yeah? You’ve barely eaten for 3 days” he stood up with me in his arms and walked downstairs.

Chapter 12

He had barely sat me down when Rose came running down the stairs. “I thought I heard Lola’s voice as you came down the stairs”. she said. as she reached the base of the stairs.

“Hi. Rose”. I greeted from the kitchen and she ran into the kitchen. She paused when she saw me and I stood I to greet her. “Hi, Rose”, I said again and she teared up.

Her tiny frame hugged me tightly and I was moved to tears. “Don’t ever do that again. In fact. I forbid you from doing anything pack related. You keep giving me heart attacks every full moon”, she said sternly after moving back from me.

“I can’t totally cut off pack matters. I happen to be the next Luna of the wolf world”, I said with a grin. She sighed and pinched the bridge of her nose. “Fine. But you have to be careful. I can’t have you getting hurt at every turn. I might grow old faster than I should because of you, young lady”, she said dramatically and Adrian laughed from behind us.

“Mom, she has to eat before you attack her like that”, he spoke and Rose pouted like a child. I swear those two are alike in every way. “She barely ate for 3 days, would you want her to pass out again?” He asked her and she quickly nodded her head before turning back the way she came from.

“Finally! Good to have you back. human”. Jasmine spoke through our mindlink, making me smile. “Missed me?” I asked her and felt her roll her eyes. “Like hell I did. I did not miss you one bit”, she said but I did not believe a word.

“Don’t ever do that again, Lola. I was worried”, she said gently and I sighed. “To be very honest, I don’t know why I acted like that. In all my years of hardship. I never thought there are people who had it worse than me, after all, there’s nothing as shameful and hurtful as being the omega of the pack”, I said, “but knowing that that life was lost because he did not get the love of a true pack shook me. It could have been us. We were in that same situation but we managed to find the perfect place for us with our mate. It was quite a lot for me. I think my body did the shutdown to avoid breaking”. I finished with a sigh.

“You should eat, baby”, Adrian’s voice reached my ear as he placed a plate filled with lots of food in front of me. “Oh, wow. When did you whip up all of this?” I exclaimed. I did not expect him to do that much in a little time.

Awww. I have the best mate ever.

I ate hungrily. I did not know I was so hungry until I took the first bite. I can swear that I’ve never eaten as much as I did since I was birthed. I patted my stomach and placed my head on the counter.

“Oh goddess”. I groaned out, “I feel so full”. “Do you want me to get you another plate”. Adrian asked and I looked at him sharply with a death glare. “I’m pretty sure I said that I was full”, I squinted my eyes at him and he held up his hands in surrender.

“Oops, I just have heard wrong”, he said innocently before laughing. He looked so happy so I let him off the hook. “I’ll get you one day”. I told him but he brushed me off, carried my plate and went to wash the plates. I made to get up to help him when he spoke again. “Sit your pretty as s down, baby. I can handle this myself”. “Yeah, yeah”, I mocked him. before sitting down again. Watching him do basic things in the kitchen. gladdened my heart.

I don’t ever want to lose this man.

“Adrian?”

“Yeah?” He turned back to look at me after wiping his hands. “Is something the matter?”, He came closer and sat beside me. Clearing. my throat, I asked the question that has been on my mind since I went through the event of the other night in my head.

“Who do you think the traitor amongst us is? Have you given it a thought?”

Chapter 83

Lola's POV

He looked at me for what seemed like eternity before he sighed and looked away. “Lola. I thought you were not going to involve yourself in things like this anymore?” He asked as he rubbed his hand over his face and I pouted.

“I said I was going to stay away from the dangerous parts, I did not say I wouldn't ask for information and updates”. I crossed my hands over my chest.

“I haven't been able to give it much thought. I've been occupied by you and your condition. I've been totally useless for the past three days”, he said..

“We can do it now then. Let's go meet with Jayden and talk to him”, I stood up and took his hand in mine. “I should contact Nathan and tell him to be here with his father as soon as possible”, he said but I stopped him. “No”, he looked at me quizzically. “No, you can't call them here”, I rushed out. “But they're the Beta and next in line for the Betal position”, he tried to explain to me but I wasn't backing down.

“And the rogue clearly said the traitor is someone amongst us. That means we can't trust anyone, no one at all, Adrian. You should know that”, I argued with my hands crossed over my chest and he sighed. “You're right”, he said before his eyes glazed over indicating he was mindlinking someone.

Arghhhh! The nerves of this Alpha.

“Dad is in the study”. he said after his eyes became focused again. Oh! “Oh, okay. We should go and see him then”. I actually thought he was mindlinking Nathan after I told him not to.

“No, I wasn't. Have some faith in me, baby”, his voice rang in my head. and I became slightly red from embarrassment. Who was I kidding? I was totally red from being caught.

We left the kitchen and went towards Jayden's study. Adrian did not knock before he entered and I just followed behind him. Jayden gave me a smile with a little head nod when I entered the room which I returned with a bow. It's the second time I'll be entering the study and it still amazes me.

"It's nice to see you're back with us, Lola", Jayden said when we finally sat down. "This one right here almost went on a rampage". he pointed at Adrian whose car tips became red. "I'm so sorry for causing trouble and worries every now and then", I gently apologized and he waved me off "You said you were going to discuss something important", he faced Adrian who nodded before speaking. "Yeah. I totally forgot about it until Nathan reminded me today", he started. "The rogue we caught said we have a traitor amongst us". Jayden growled at the word 'traitor'.

"Who would dare to give out important pack information to a common rogue?" He asked no one in particular. "Dad, I'm sure we'll find a way around this. Let's hold a mating ceremony for Lola and I", Adrian said and I looked at him in shock.

"We definitely did not discuss that. Where is the mating ceremony coming from? What is a mating ceremony to start with?". I asked him. through our mindlink. "Can you trust me baby? We'll definitely find the traitor, I just need you to trust me", he replied and I went silent. My mind wandered to what a mating ceremony might be. He already marked me, what is a mating ceremony then? No, it can't be.

Jan Vouchers

"A mating ceremony is not what you told me, right?" I asked, referring to the part where I mark him too and he chuckled in my head. "No, of course not, baby. I only want to keep your beautiful moans of pleasure for my cars alone", I looked at his face and he smirked briefly at me before turning back to Jayden like he did not just say something naughty. "It's decided. We're going to hold it in two week's time. I'm sure everyone would like to meet their new Luna also", Jayden said, giving me a small smile and I smiled back even though I was freaking out on the inside.

Everyone would like to meet their new Luna? What did I miss? How did we go from looking for the traitor to me suddenly being in the spotlight?

“You’re overthinking this. I’m getting dizzy from listening to your thoughts”. Adrian said and I glared at him. “That serves you right. You should stop listening to my thoughts then”. I nearly poked my tongue. out at him but I remembered we were seated in front of Jayden and put myself in check.

“It will go well. baby. The people are going to love you and be happy to have you as their Luna”, Adrian assured me through our mindlink and I hummed in agreement.

“We’ll take our leave if that will be all. I’m sure Mom will have a field day with this news”, Adrian stood up as he finished talking and I stood up too. “Lola better be prepared for what’s about to come”, Jayden joked and I gulped.

Deep down, I knew they were right. Rose was going to make a big deal. out of this. We had barely reached the living room when she came downstairs, really excited.

Chapter 83

I looked at Adrian with wide eyes but that traitor shook his head before backing away slowly. “You’re leaving me with her? Oh, come on!” I said but he kept backing away. “Sorry, you’re alone in this “, he turned. away and went upstairs, not looking behind once. “You’re going to pay for this!!!” I called out after him but he did not respond.

“Lolaaaaa”, she squealed excitedly and I put on a smile. I wouldn’t like to offend her and it definitely looks like a big deal to her. “Jayden just told me your mating ceremony is in 2 weeks”, I nodded at her words, making her squeal like a teenager.

“Finally! Ouuuu, we’re going to have so much fun planning this”, she said. “First, we’re going to.....”, the rest of the day passed by in a blur. An appointment was set up at Serena’s spa, she made me choose from a series of hair designs, clothes were not left behind either. It was crazy and if I thought Lyla was crazy when it comes to picking clothes and fashion, Rose was definitely crazier.

When I finally escaped from Rose after dinner, I was ready to pass out. Who knew sitting down, just listening to someone talk your ear off and make decisions could be so tiring? Well, it definitely is.

I gave Adrian the cold shoulder and just went to sleep straight. I was tired and slightly annoyed he left me alone so I ignored him and slept. I'll deal with it in the morning.

Chapter 84

Lola's POV

It was a new dawn and I thought the craziness would have died down but it got worse. The little bit of peace I had was before I went down. for breakfast.

"Lola, we're going to be going to the pack house later today", Rose started speaking when I stood up to do the dishes on which I refused Adrian's help because I was still annoyed with him. "Why do we need to go?" I asked, dreading her answer.

"Girl. I don't want to see so many confusing colors and designs again. I'm still recovering from doing such yesterday", Jasmine whined in my head and I totally agreed.

"Lyla and the girls will be there, we'll need to decide on the foods, decorations theme and a lot more. Everything needs to be picked out and sorted", she replied, happily wiping at the counter she was cleaning.

"It's still like 2 weeks away, can't we just take it one at a time and chill out?" I asked. I made the mistake of looking at her and saw that she was already glaring daggers at the back of my head.

"Of course we should do everything on time". I laughed nervously, "I should go and get ready once I'm done doing the dishes", I rushed out and continued doing the dishes.

"You made the right choice, pumpkin. Delaying decisions like this can cause a large minute disaster. Your day has to be perfect, just the way you are", she came over to pinch my cheeks before leaving the kitchen.

"Oh, be ready before 12pm". With that, she walked the kitchen and I sighed. I did not know how I felt about the whole thing

First off, I did not know what the mating ceremony is about and we're planning a huge party because of it. And I'm also thrown into the preparations that come with it.

“I guess we’re not getting away today also”, Jasmine whined. Yes, yes. Jasmine. We’ll be thrown into the frenzy for the next two weeks”, I told her and she growled.

Adrian came back to the kitchen when I was almost done with the dishes and hugged me from the back, making my heartbeat speed up.

“You’re still mad at me?” He whispered huskily in my ears. I almost forgot what he did until he bit my cartilage to bring me out of my thoughts.

“Isn’t that obvious?” I managed to croak out and he chuckled. “I’m sorry, baby. There’s nothing I could have done to get you out of that situation. Mom can be scary when she’s planning a party”, he said. Before his mouth wandered to my mark to place a kiss on it, making pleasure course through my veins.

How can I stay mad at this man when he keeps doing that?

“Trust me, I’ve witnessed it firsthand. But you could have said I was still recovering”. I breathed out. “And stop doing that, you’re not being fair”, I moaned out but he kept on kissing the same spot.

This man will be the death of me.

I remembered that I had to be at the pack house with Rose in a few hours and pushed him away from me. He gave me puppy eyes but I neglected him and tried to finish washing the plates in record time.

“What’s the time?” I asked when it looked like I won’t be able to finish it before she said it’s time to go. “Huhhhhh, it’s 11:13 am. Why do you ask?” He said from where he sat after I pushed him away from me.

Oh shit.

“Can you please finish this up for me? I have to go get ready”, I hurriedly rinsed my hands and ran out of the kitchen. “Hey, this is not fair”, he called out. “I love you, I shouted back before dashing into my room.

I was about to enter the bathroom when I remembered that I said I loved him. Oh no, what did I just do? My cheeks heated up and I covered my face.

What if he thinks I’m obsessed with him or crazy? What if he thinks it’s too early to say the L word? I screamed internally.

“Don’t you think you’re being too dramatic?” Jasmine asked in my head.

“He’s our mate, Dumbo. These words should have been exchanged since we first met. And how are you so sure he doesn’t feel the same for you?” She said.

“Besides, he worships the ground you walk on. You shouldn’t have any second thoughts about how he feels about you”. Jasmine was right, I shouldn’t feel embarrassed for telling my mate that I loved him.

“Just a little reminder that Rose will be calling for you any moment from now and you will be in deep trouble if she doesn’t see that you’re ready to go”. That was all the reminder I needed to bathe at the speed of light and dress up quicker than a lightning passes through the sky.

I settled on a deep red blouse with cream coloured maxi skirt and finished it off with a black sandal. I left my hair down in waves and used a black headband to keep it in place.

I picked up my phone in Adrian’s room and opened it to find tons of messages from Lola and the girls which I did not bother opening or replying to. They’d chew me out when we finally see each other but I could live with that.

I reached the living room the same time Rose decided to call me. “You look gorgeous, baby”, Adrian complimented me. “Thank you”, I said as I shyly brushed my hair behind my ear.

“Now, now”, Rose said, breaking up the moment. “it’s nice to see you being cute with each other but we have to go now if we’re going to get anything done”, she spoke before reaching over to carry her bag that was lying on the sofa.

Adrian looked like he was going to say something but decided against it. He hugged me closer to his body and placed a gentle kiss on my forehead.

“I’ll see you later, baby. Be good and have fun”, he pulled back from me after that. Rose took me hand in hers and we left the house together.

It’s going to be a long day, especially when I have to face the girls.

Chapter 85

Lola’s POV

Lyla. Lotana and Avianca were the first people I saw as we got closer to the pack house. I’m definitely getting chewed up today, I thought. Rose must have sensed the direction my thinking went because she chuckled beside me.

“I told them to wait outside the pack house for us. And I definitely warned them against blowing up on your face”, she said. At the mention of ‘blowing up on your face’, my breathing became rapid and I I felt like I was being choked. Memories of that rogue blowing up came to the forefront of my mind and I gasped.

“Oh my gosh. I’m so sorry: Oh goddess. I’m so sorry. I shouldn’t have used those words”. she said apologetically and I wanted to tell her that I was fine but I couldn’t speak up. It felt like my lungs were being pressed on.

Panic attack? But I was fine up till that moment.

Lola. Lotana and Avianca must have seen the scene or Rose must have summoned them because they ran towards us and supported me.

“Let’s get her inside, she must be experiencing a panic attack” she ordered the girls and they looked at her in confusion. *Why is she suddenly having a panic attack?” Lotana asked as I was being taken into the pack house. “I might have said something regarding the incident that happened recently. Quick, let’s get her to a room”, she ordered and they all led me to our hangout space in the pack house, Lyla’s former room.

I could hear them perfectly fine but I found it difficult to speak. It took 218 Nouchers a while before I could regain my speaking ability. They all looked worried and I felt so bad. All I seem to cause nowadays is worry for people around me.

“I’m sorry for causing worry for everyone”, I spoke lowly and their expressions changed. Their initial frowns were replaced with large smiles and excited sounds left their lips. I was pulled into a group hug and I laughed heartily.

How I’ve missed this with my friends.

“You are going to suffocate her if you don’t break up the hug”, Rose said.

“Lyla, be careful, you’re pregnant”, she said sternly before we eventually pulled away from one another, the smiles on our faces were huge and bright nevertheless.

“I’d come back later to check on you once you’re well rested”, Rose spoke, looking at me directly and I nodded. She left the room after what she said. We waited for a while before we all burst into excited squeals again.

Lyla was the first to hit me. “Ouch, what was that for?” I asked while rubbing my shoulder. “Don’t you ever do that again. You scared us”, she said. I smiled at her and held her hands, "I'm sorry, ladies. It wasn't my intention to make you worry at all", I said as I looked at all of their faces. "I won't allow that to happen anymore, okay?" I did a puppy face as I looked at them expectantly.

"Fineeeee, you better not do that again", Avianca was the first to break. "Lyla almost lost my god daughter from worrying too much", Lotana added. Avianca turned to face her with her hands on her hips, "uhm, excuse you miss. This right here", she pointed to Lyla's belly. "is my god daughter".

They kept arguing back and forth. Lyla sat down beside me and we kept looking at them. "At least, you're a bit sane, these two almost drove me insane with their constant talks and banter", she said at the same time they stopped bantering and looked at her with a glare. Oops. "You guys did not miss me? You've been fighting non-stop since I got here. Fill me in, did anything happen when I was gone?" I asked. These girls made me love tea so much and I wasn't even talking about real tea.

"Girlllllll. Fay has been the new Luna". Avianca went around telling people she's going to be piped up. "Like, I was shocked by the nerves of her. She's no longer limping and now she acts like a queen. She doesn't do that when Adrian is around though", Lotana added.

"It's like she knows something that everyone doesn't know. I bet she's going to go crazy when she knows you're having a mating ceremony", Lyla clapped excitedly and the girls joined in.

"I swear, I'm going to have that bitch's head on a pole and hang in the center of the pack. She's getting on my nerves", Jasmine growled in my head but that wasn't what I was focused on.

A traitor is amongst you. A traitor is amongst you. The rogue's word kept ringing in my head. I contemplated telling Adrian but I felt like I was just overreacting.

Sure, she might be an obsessed psychopath but she can't be crazy enough to sell out the pack she wants to rule over. Right? I sighed and rubbed my hand over my face in frustration.

"By the way, I love the clothes combination. Looks like Lyla awakened the fashionista in you. Girl, you look so hot. How did Adrian let you out of the house?" Avianca, always energized spoke rapidly and Lotana nodded.

"I particularly like her top, did you get this when we went to..... Oh goddess, you got marked?” Lyla shouted. That was when it dawned on 11:39

me that I did not tell them about the mark.

“I knew her scent changed but I did not even think about her getting marked at all. Ouuuuu, who knew our innocent baby girl had it in her?” Lotana added and my face became red.

“No, it’s definitely not like that. We haven’t completed the mating process”, I covered my face after speaking and they all laughed. “Yeah, yeah, it’s just a matter of time before it gets done”, Avianca patted my back and I glared at her making everyone laugh.

“Guys, I know Rose said you should rest well but I can bet on Nathan’s left ear that she’s going to barge in here anytime and pull us out to prepare”, Lyla said as she stood up. “Now, let’s get our butt out there before Rose comes to look for us”, she pointed towards the door and we all grudgingly left.

We passed Fay on our way out. She was with her minions and tried to look intimidating but I did not spare her another glance.

The possibility of her being the traitor weighed heavily on my mind but I decided that I was going to trust Adrian and allow him take charge of fishing them out.

With that in mind, I went about my day with my girls.
