Chapter 86-95

Chapter 86

Lola's POV

Two weeks passed in a blink of an eye but I wouldn't say the same for the stress that came with it. Clothes were sized and resized, coloured were picked and changed at almost every angle. Rose, I and the girls all made a trip to Serena's spa to get massages. My nails were done and my hair was ready too. Rose was picky over everything and all I wanted was some peace.

The only time I got to rest was in my mate's arms. He would hold me after a long day and rub my legs, back or any part of my body that I complained about. I was so grateful for the gift of him.

Once or twice, the innocent massages turned into something else but Adrian never did what I wasn't ready for. He was attentive, loving and caring.

I eventually figured out what the mating ceremony was about. It was basically an event where the next Alpha marks his Luna before the whole pack to signify that they're one before being crowned the next Alpha and Luna of the pack. But since Adrian already marked me privately because he claimed that it was supposed to be something between mates alone, we were just going to be crowned the new Alpha and Luna.

Apart from the event preparations, I had to visit many elders before that day and introduce myself properly to them. I visited the orphanage and did some charity work too. Half of the pack, if not all, knows that I was going to be the Luna even before the official announcement.

I had met Fay briefly on one or two occasions and she looked like she wanted me dead when I saw her. I totally ignored her but the fact that she could be the one selling out the pack weighed heavily on my mind. Adrian was also making preparations but all he has to do was pick out a suit which he made me do. I was excited for it, I wasn't going to lic but the nerves outweighed my excitement.

Although people acknowledged me as their Luna already, there's this nagging feeling at the back of my mind that it was going to be ruined for me but I shook it off.

A day before the ceremony, Rose insisted that we do not sleep in the same room because according to her, “it’s bad luck”. She said it’s similar to a wedding in the human world and we shouldn’t jinx the ceremony by sleeping in the same room the night before. She’d have made me stay in the pack house with the girls if Lyla still lived there so she made us sleep in separate rooms instead.

I couldn’t sleep all night due to two things. Firstly, I was so used to sleeping beside Adrian, engulfed in his body warmth that it was so hard for me to sleep in my bed. Wearing his shirt so I could be engulfed in his scent did not do much except make me relaxed, but I wasn’t relaxed enough to sleep.

Secondly, I was so worried about the events that might happen. Adrian hasn’t been giving me information on how finding the traitor was going, but I just felt like something was going to ruin the day for me.

“You’re still up?” Adrian’s voice rang in my head and I smiled. “It’s good to know that I’m not the only one having trouble sleeping. Missing me?” I teased him. “You bet I am. Why did Mom have to bring up this superstition to make us stay away from each other?” He groaned into the mindlink and I laughed.

“I can’t wait for all of these to be over tomorrow night so we can be back to sleeping together in each other’s arms”, he said softly and I hummed in agreement.

“You think I can sneak into your room without being discovered?” He asked, mischief evident in his voice, making me laugh softly.

“I’ll see you in the morning. Alpha”, I said and imagined him pouting like he usually did. We talked for a while before I eventually drifted off to a restless sleep.

I woke up feeling slightly on edge. I chalked it up to feeling nervous about the mating ceremony. Rose came to get me before I could see Adrian and led me to the pack house without even getting breakfast. She kept saying it’s bad luck to see my mate before the mating ceremony so I had my breakfast at the pack house. At 12 pm, we started getting ready for the party. My hair was refixed, my make up was done for almost 4 hours and I was fussed over. I almost shouted at Rose but kept it inside.

After the makeup was done, I waited while others got theirs done too. It was fun talking to everyone and laughing even though my thoughts kept going back to the fact that something was going to happen.

At about 5pm. I was asked to put on my clothes and that was the highlight of my day. I fell in love with the clothes that first day I saw it and it seemed to get more beautiful even though it has been altered.

It was a deep red coloured floor length gown. It had a thin strap and showed a bit of cleavage. The chest area was covered with stone. It was body fitting to the knee before it flared out. It stood out against my pale skin and I was wowed by what I saw.

Gasps erupted in the room and words like, “oh my goddess, Lola, you look so amazing”, “you’re definitely going to be the center of attraction. tonight”, and many more were thrown around the room.

Rose walked up to me looking emotional. She took my hands in hers and looked in the eyes. “I don’t know if I’ve said this before but I’m so glad my son came to his senses before he lost you. You’re finally going to be that daughter I lost and I’m so glad I was able to save you”, she said with tears in her eyes.

I understood what she was saying perfectly and that made me very emotional. I hugged her and whispered in her ears, “and I’m so lucky that you found me, Mom”. She pulled me closer and sniffed severally before pulling back.

“Adrian better be wowed and get emotional when he sees you or there would be no mating ceremony Rose joked and we all laughed.

Others got ready too in their different designs of white gowns.

Apparently. I was the only one wearing red since the ceremony was for me.

Eventually it was time to get the show started. Everyone left already for the garden leaving me alone in the room. I would be notified when it was time for me to make an entrance.

“It’s time”, the phone I was holding showed a message from Rose. I dropped the phone and took a deep breath before walking through the deserted house, my red veil in place.

Here goes nothing, I thought to myself as I walked out of the pack house into the prepared garden.

Chapter 87

Lola's POV

Everybody shushed when I entered and my nerves increased. Uh-oh, why is everyone staring at me? Did my clothes tear somewhere? Did I smear my makeup? Is something wrong with my hair? A thousand and ten questions ran through my head and I felt like turning back and running away.

The wheels in my head stopped turning when I made eye contact with my very handsome mate. "Ouuuuuu, has he always looked this edible?" Jasmine asked in my head. "Girllll, he seems to amaze me more everytime I see him. It's like he gets more handsome everyday", I replied back to her.

He looked so amazing standing there in his black three pieces suit. Everyone faded to the background and all I saw was him. He looked regal and majestic, he was the Alpha King after all.

I felt him trying to get in my head and opened our mindlink. "You look breath-taking, baby", his voice rang loud and clear in my head, almost making my legs jelly. "You look totally amazing too", I replied to him and saw a ghost of a smile on his face. "It's so obvious on your face that you think I am", he said co ckily and I scoffed. The nerves of that man!

"But everyone is waiting for you to keep moving forward", I didn't even realize I was standing still until he said so. My face became red and I hurriedly walked as fast as my gown would allow me.

When I finally reached the makeshift stage, he held my hand to help me up the stage, sending waves of pleasure through my body. We faced each other and that was when I saw the tears in his eyes.

"You cried? Thank goddess. Rose said the mating ceremony won't hold if you don't cry", I told him and he chuckled. "Good thing your elegance and aura made me cry then", he joked and I laughed behind my palm.

Someone cleared their throat behind us and we both turned to look at the person, Adrian seemed calm while I was startled. We were faced with Elder Simon. He was one of the people I met with before today so I recognized him.

“Well now begin the ceremony”, he said with an authoritative tone and the whole yard listened attentively. “Today is a 2 in 1 celebration for Crescent moon pack. The next Alpha is going to introduce his Luna to all of us and we’re also going to crown them the new King and Queen of the Alpha world”, he spoke and everyone started clapping. “Now, our next King is going to take the stage”, he bowed to Adrian as he moved forward to take the stage.

He cleared his throat before taking the addresser. “Thank you, Simon”, he bowed to him slightly too.

“Thank you all for coming here to witness this today, not like you have a choice”, he joked and everyone laughed. “Yeah, but I really appreciate everyone that put effort into this one way or the other, it wouldn’t have been possible without you guys”. Everybody had a peaceful and serene look on their faces and it was so obvious that they all liked him, even though he barely related with them.

“I’m sure everyone here knows how long I’ve been searching for my mate, in fact I had lost all hope and picked a chosen mate before I finally met her”, I looked through the crowd, searching for Fay’s but I couldn’t find her.

She must be too ashamed to come to the ceremony.

“Well, after I found her. I made grave mistakes that almost cost me her life but thank goddess that she pulled through and eventually accepted me back even though I have a lifetime of apologizing to do”, he said and the crowd went solemn.

“Let me formally introduce my mate and the new Luna of Crescent moon pack to everyone”, he held out his hand to me and I took it before nervously walking forward. “Meet your new Luna, Lola Ashton, the daughter of the former Alpha of Moonlit pack”, he said and everyone started clapping, some even hooted and whistled.

“Say something. baby”. he said to me and I nodded. I cleared my throat before I started speaking. “Uhm, it’s so nice to finally meet everyone. I promise that I’m going to do my best to rule alongside Adrian. I hope we get along”. I finished my speech and another round of applause. rang from the crowd.

“Now, we have to connect you to the pack. Step forward, Alpha Jayden”. Elder Simon said and Jayden stepped forward. Another person brought a dagger that was placed on a white clothes and I became frightened. Adrian took my hand in his and squeezed it assuringly. “It will be over before you know it”, he said through our mindlink and I nodded. I stretched my left hand and so did Jayden. Elder Simon made a cut on Jayden’s palm and on mine too. “Now, put your palms together”, he instructed and we both did as he said.

All of a sudden, I felt a thousand voices in my head and I would have fallen down if it wasn’t for Adrian that held me up by my waist.

“Ma-make it sto-op-p-p-p”, I groaned. “It will be over before you know it, just hang on for a little while baby”, Adrian whispered as the voices grew louder in my head. I tried to remove my palm from Jayden’s but I was unable to.

When I was finally able to remove my hands, the voices didn’t stop. “It, it keeps getting louder, Adrian. Please make it stop”, I pleaded while holding onto my head. “Try to block it out. Block it out the same way you block me out of your head”, he said gently. I did exactly what he said and eventually I was able to block all voices out completely.

“Good girl, you did it”, he praised me and I smiled at him before turning to the crowd with a big smile. My eyes met with the girls’ own where they sat and it became wider. They gave me a thumbs up before I looked away from them.

“Welcome to the pack. Luna Lola”, Elder Simon said and the rest of the pack took it up. The chants became louder and my smile became wider. This went on for a while until I saw another spec of red in the crowd. I was the only one supposed to wear red because it represents respect for me but a woman in the crowd was also wearing red. I looked closely at the woman and it turned out to be Fay, wearing exactly the same clothes as mine, nothing changed.

I saw her point something at me but before I could process what was going on, a loud bang sounded. I waited for the bullet to hit me but I heard someone fall beside me instead.

I looked down and saw my mate groaning in pain on the ground. Adrian had been shot!

Chapter 88

Lola's POV

Adrian got shot and everyone just stood there in shock. "Mate! Adrian is hurt, Dumbo. Do something", Jasmine shouted in panic in my head and that was what jolted me out of my trance.

Commotion started in the crowd and some warriors went to hold down a very hysterical Fay. "No, no, no, not him. Not my Adrian, not him", she kept repeating. "That bi tch killed him, that b itch made the bullet. hit him. She should be the one being held down not me", she screamed as she struggled against the warriors holding her.

I was shaking as I looked at Adrian groaning in pain. Normally, bullets are not supposed to have effects on Alphas except..... "Wolfsbane! He has been shot with a bullet laced with wolfsbane", someone cried but I couldn't even recognise the voice, I was too focused on my mate.

I knelt down beside him not knowing what to do. I didn't know I was crying until Adrian shakily wiped my cheeks. "H-hey, I'm f-f-fine. It d-does-sn't hurt at all", yet he groaned in pain when someone touched him.

"My mate is in pain and all you're doing is crying? Do something or give me control of your go dd amn useless body". Jasmine shouted in my head, "you're the motherf ucking Moon Wolf for a reason dummy!" She was being hysterical but it was justified.

"Why is he not healing? What are you doing?" Rose screamed at the pack doctor that was kneeling beside Adrian too.

"Allow me take care of him", I said but no one seemed to hear. "I said I can take care of him", I said louder but I still got ignored. "LET ME TAKE CARE OF HIM!!!" I shouted and everyone looked taken aback before moving back and allowing me to take care of him.

I moved closer to him and placed my hands over the affected area feeling the familiar feeling that runs through me when I heal people run through me. I felt a little bit of pain but it could have been the wolfsbane effect. When I finally finished healing him, I felt weak and drained so I sat weakly beside him till he could sit up. Jeez. that's one hell of a wolfsbane. "Are you okay, baby?" He asked after he sat up and I weakly nodded. He pulled me closer to him and a screeching voice pierced the air again. I totally forgot that the psychopath that caused my mate pain was still very much around.

Adrian got off the stage before helping me up too. He looe towards where Fay was and she seemed to calm down a bit even though the crazy look in her eyes was still there.

"Adrian", she smiled through her tears as she struggled to break free.

"Adrian. you were supposed to choose me, remember? We were supposed to be together. I love you I swear", she rambled on as everybody quietly took in the scene.

"I promise you that no one will ever love you the way I do, definitely not this lowlife rogue". she sneered in my direction. "I will cross the seven mountains and rivers for you, Adrian, I'll do anything for you as long as you're mine and mine alone. Don't allow a freak that shouldn't be in the midst of people to come between us", she begged in tears but I just looked at her in amusement.

Jasmine was insulted and demanded that she be let out but I refused because I knew she would tear her into pieces.

"We are royalty, Jas. We shouldn't stoop to her level", I tried to pacify her. It was true though. She was just a power hungry bi tch that was coveting my position. Fighting with her will only bring me to her level. Adrian tried to speak but I held his hand. "Allow me to handle this", I said into our mindlink. I turned towards Fay with a smile on my face. "A freak? A lowlife? That freak is holding the position you've always coveted while you're just nothing but a background noise", I said and heard a couple of gasps from the crowd, someone even giggled. "I've said it before and I'll say it again. You're just a power hungry bit ch that will never be where I am", the fury in her eyes returned and she screamed. Seeing her struggle and fight to be let free knowing fully well that she couldn't do anything brought me a great deal of satisfaction. "Take her to the dungeon and await my orders", Adrian commanded the warriors. "No, no, no, you can't do this to me Adrian. You've been bewitched by that crazy girl. What does she have that I do not? Why are you tossing me aside for her? I even bought the same dress as hers, do I not look prettier? You have to be mine, Adrian, please" She screamed as she was led away but nobody pitied her, not even her minions. "I'll kill you Lola! You'll pay for this!" were her last words before she was completely led away.

Yeah, she went a bit too far.

Everywhere was silent before Elder Simon spoke again. "We'll now crown the new Alpha King and Luna Queen of the werewolf world", he said and cheers erupted in the crowd.

Jayden and Rose stepped forward and hush descended over the garden. The moon shone brightly, almost like the Moon goddess was giving.

her blessings too.

A different dagger was brought forward and I groaned internally. Adrian must have noticed my facial expression because he seemed to be holding in his laughter. Mate of the year.

The ceremony was similar to the one I did with Jayden, only that my palm was joined with Rose's. After the blood vow, I felt more energized and powerful than I usually would be.

It was time to socialize and greet dignitaries from other packs after the formal process. I met a lot of new people who only had nice things to say about me. I was commended on my looks and the feat I performed when I healed Adrian. That went on well into the night but I was so happy to finally be accepted and permanently be part of the pack.

We finally went home about 1 am in the morning but I wasn't feeling tired at all. Infact. I wanted something more from Adrian. I took the opportunity of trying to get out of my clothes to get his attention since I wasn't going to say what I wanted from him. wasn't going to say what I was so shy about it.

"Adrian. can you please let me out of my dress?" I asked shyly and he nodded with a knowing smile on his face. That jerk, he definitely knows what I want. “Baby girl, I won’t be able to do what you really want except you use your words”, he smirked at me and I became red. making him chuckle.

I looked into his eyes and slowly moved closer to him. With every step I took, his pupils seemed to dilate with lust. I placed my hand on his chest sultrily and said./

“I want to complete the mating process and I want to complete it now!”

Chapter 89

Lola’s POV

He looked at me for a while before he moved back from me and turned away from me. I felt hurt but I concealed it. Jasmine whined slowly in my head and I wasn’t sure how to console her. I didn’t even know what was wrong initially.

Was he regretting choosing me? Does he still harbor feelings for Fay? Was he mad I put her in her place? Was telling her to be locked up just an act? I was so sure he loved me. did I read too much into his actions? A lot of questions ran through my mind and I was dumbfounded. I did not know how to strike up a conversation, lest I looked clingy or worse still. get rejected.

“You think he’s going to reject us?” Jasmine whined in my head and I totally understood her, I was hurt too. “He’s just trying to gather his thoughts. He promised he wasn’t going to hurt us anymore. Adrian is a man of his words”, or so I hoped.

After a moment of silence that felt like eternity, he turned to face me again. He moved towards me and looked me in the eyes. “Why do you want to complete the mating process right now?” He asked and I became confused. “Huh?” I asked.

“Baby, why do you want to complete the mating process right now?” He asked again, calmly. “He called us baby now. Does that mean he’s not rejecting us?” Jasmine asked in excitement. “Uhhh, I want to complete the mating process because I want you to be fully mine and I’ll be yours alone”, I answered him and the light in his eyes returned.

“That’s your only reason right?” He asked and I nodded. “I did not like the way

Fay tried to claim you, it made my blood boil”, I started ranting. “If I had my mark on you, she wouldn’t have dared to do that. Who does that bit h thinks she is?” I finished with a huff.

“Do I smell jealousy?” He asked teasingly. “Jealousy? Pffft, I’m definitely not jealous of that psychopathic power hungry.....” I did not get to finish my sentence before Adrian locked his lips with mine.

It felt so good I had to hold onto his shirt for support. His lips felt so soft and sweet and I couldn’t get enough of him. I tried to get closer to him despite being in close contact already. I draped my arms over his shoulder and gently tugged on his hair.

“I like this side of you. Jealousy looks good on you”, he broke the kiss to whisper before locking our lips again. He licked my lower lips and the slickness of his tongue made me gasp. He used that opportunity to slip his tongue into my mouth, instinctively, my tongue collided and danced in a hot flame of passion with his.

He pulled me closer by my waist even though there wasn’t any space between us. He cupped gently. making me my as s in his large hands before squeezing it into our kiss.

I pulled back from the kiss and tugged on his suit jacket impatiently, the fabric was a hindrance to the present that was hidden beneath them.

“Eager, are we?” He teased me with a f ucking se xy smile. His eyes drooped with lust and he gave me a lazy smile which sent wetness straight to my core. “Just get the go dda mn clothes out of my way”, I told him. He looked at me in shock before he helped me in taking it off

“As much as I liked you in this dress, it has to go now. Or do you have a different opinion?” He whispered in my ear before lightly kissing my mark which sent a delicious shudder through me. I moaned loudly and closed my eyes in pleasure. He hadn't touched me and I was already a moaning mess.

The loan seemed to fuel his desires because he kept sucking on it while I held onto his shoulder for support since my legs were jelly from the pleasure coursing through me. I felt the same feeling I got when he touched me when I was in heat coursing through me.

I tugged on his hair and bit my lips as pleasure hit me like a ton of bricks which resulted in my legs shaking violently. The only thing that held me up was my death grip on his hair and shoulder.

He held me till my body relaxed before kissing me again. When he spoke again, his voice was huskier and sexier and I was getting turned on again. This man is something else.

"I know I promised that my first time with you was going to be very special and slow but I'm starting to doubt myself. You make me go crazy, baby", he said, slightly panting. "You make me want to pound. you till you can barely work but I'm trying to refrain from hurting you", he placed his forehead against mine and closed his eyes while taking deep breaths.

I cupped his face and made him look at me. "You're not going to hurt me, Adrian", I told him softly. "How do you know that?" He asked, still panting a little. "You're my mate, silly. I was made for you, to be able to take everything you might throw my way", I flashed him a smile and he returned it with one of his.

"You're right", he said as he slid one strap of my dress off my shoulder, O

"you were perfectly made for me by the moon goddess", he slid the second strap of my shoulder and with a gentle tug. I was totally naked except for the thing I had on. "Perfectly made", he whispered before he held my left boobs in his palm and lightly played with my nipple that hardened on touch.

I was lifted up without warning and I wrapped my legs around his waist as he carried me towards the bed. He laid me down and my thong was lost in the room in seconds. He pulled back while maintaining eye contact and pulled his pants off, leaving him in his briefs that showed just how endowed he was.

The nerves started kicking in and I was starting to have second thoughts. "I can stop whenever you want me to", he said as he discarded his briefs and gently stroked his huge dick. That simple gesture made me wetter than I originally was, even the bed underneath me was starting to feel the impact of my arousal.

“If you want me to stop at any money, let me know, baby. I don’t wanna hurt you”, he said as he stroked his dick more, each stroke harder and longer than the last. I nodded my head since I suddenly went out of words.

He knelt down on the bed with one hand on the side of me while he ran his fingers from my opening to my clit. I felt a hard tip poke at my entrance and stiffened from the strange sensation.

“Relax for me, relax baby”, he said huskily. His length slowly entered me, he’d remove it completely before putting it back again, making it go deeper than the last thrust.

It was a bittersweet feeling and I didn’t want him to stop. When he finally put in all of his dick, he stilled inside me and groaned in pleasure.

“Gosh, this might be sooner than I expected. You feel so good, baby”, he murmured before he started thrusting inside me. It started as a gentle thrusting before he started moving wildly inside me to which I moaned loudly. His dick felt so good inside me and a toe curling sensation started running through me.

“Adrian. I think I’m going to.....”, I didn’t finish my word before he nodded. “I’m coming too, baby. It’s time”, he said and I understood that he was talking about marking him.

Just when I reached my climax, I elongated my teeth and bit into his shoulder, drawing out my orgasm. When I was relaxed. U realized that he orgasmed when I did too.

I felt sticky and wanted to clean up but he held me back. “I know you’re feeling sleepy, go on, I’ll take care of you”, he said and that was when I allowed myself to fall asleep.

Chapter 90

Lola’s POV

I slowly opened my eyes and I was met with gorgeous green and hazel eyes that seemed to see through my soul. It took me a while to remember what transpired between I and the owner of the eyes in the early hours of the morning. And in a total of 0.01 seconds, I was red all over from embarrassment.

“Now you’re hiding from me? I believe that you were so bold and confident a few hours ago”, he teased me. I buried my face in the pillow harder and heard him chuckling above me.

I tried to move away from him but I felt a piercing pain in my core. I tried to keep the sound of pain in but I couldn’t. Adrian noticed and sat up so fast. I wondered where he got his energy from.

“Are you okay, baby? Are you hurt? S hit, did I hurt you? I knew I should have taken it easy on you. Stupid, stupid, stupid”, he kept rambling and blaming himself. Looking at his adorable worried face made me forget what happened to me in the first place.

I couldn’t stop myself from giggling and he glared at me making me giggle harder. “Is this a funny situation to you? I hurt you” He said to me. I tried to hide my giggle behind my palm but I failed at it. “I’m sorry”. I managed to squeeze out through my fit of laughter. “You look so adorable”. I said and he pouted.

“You mean I look so manly and sexy?” He questioned while flexing his muscles, making me laugh harder. “Oh please, stop doing that. You’re making my eyes hurt from such a show”, I told him but he continued doing it.

He stopped after a while and gently placed me on his laps. “I’m sorry I hurt you, I should have been more careful”, he said softly as he stroked my hair. “It’s fine, Adrian. You did not know and besides, I’m not complaining so stop apologizing”.

He opened his mouth to apologize again but I stopped him. “Since you have so much energy to apologize, why don’t you carry me into the bathroom? I need to pee”, he smiled before effortlessly lifting me into his arms and headed towards the bathroom.

He gently placed me down and waited but I chased him out of the bathroom. His words were, “I’m going to wait till you’re done so I can carry you back”, he leaned against the bathroom door. “Uhm, I’m pretty sure I can find my own way back into the room”, I argued but he refused to leave the bathroom and I was very pressed.

I instinctively looked him in the eye and said, “you’re going to leave the bathroom and patiently wait for me in the room till I’m done here”, I said in a voice that sounded strange to my ears. Adrian’s eyes seemed to dilate before he nodded and left me alone in the bathroom.

I did not give it much thought because I had to case myself. I did so with a little bit of difficulty. I washed up and walked out of the bathroom still limping a bit. Adrian's pupils were still dilated until I tapped his shoulder. He looked lost for a while before his eyes focused again.

"You're done?" He asked confused. "I was pretty sure I was with you just now. It feels a little bit fuzzy though. I can't remember anything after the time you told me to leave and I refused", he said and I became more intrigued.

"Well, I told you to leave and you did without asking any questions", I told him, "your pupils were a bit dilated though. It was almost like you were hypnotized", his eyes widened in shock at the information I gave him.

"No way! Hypnotism was definitely not in the book that talked about the Moon Wolf. This is so amazing, baby", he smiled heartily at me and I returned it with a shy smile.

"We should tell Dad about this", he said happily. I swear he was more excited about my powers than I am. I went into my room to change my outfit while he dressed up too. We met at the top of the stairs and went downstairs together.

"If it isn't our Alpha and his Luna", Rose teased us when she saw us coming down the stairs into the kitchen. "Rose, please stop it", I lightly laughed and she joined me.

"I made food for you but it went cold already since you both took eternity to come downstairs", she said and Jayden coughed slightly beside her. I became slightly red from embarrassment. They definitely heard everything that went down between Adrian and I.

"You were not particularly quiet for a house where werewolves live", he laughed as he spoke in my head and I wanted to hit him. "We". "You're so helpful", I retorted sarcastically and he gave me a big smile. As usual.

"You should eat first before we discuss a lot of pending issues", Jayden said and we both nodded. Adrian made me sit while he did everything, he microwaved the food and dished it out.

"How in the world is a man so perfect", Jasmine purred in my head and I agreed. "He looks like Adonis and he knows how to take care of a woman? We got lucky”, I said and she hummed. “You’re definitely right. And he sure knows how to f uck”, she giggled and my eyes widened in shock. “Jasmineeeeeee, you can’t say that”, I chastised her, she just rolled her wolfish eyes at me.

“Why can’t she say that?” Adrian asked as he set my plate of food in front of me and I lightly shrieked. “You can’t keep listening to my conversations like that”. I glared at him. “Then block me from listening to them”. he said before poking his tongue out at me. I swear, I feel like I’m mated to an overgrown baby sometimes.

We ate while conversing. Our conversation was mainly him making me turn to the shade of a very ripe tomato. We did the dishes together against his will. I refused to just sit and be useless while he does everything for me.

Jayden and Rose were still sitting in the living room when we finished. “Mom, Dad, we have something to show you”, Adrian said to gain their attention. Rose turned to face us while Jayden just nodded to show that he was listening.

“Come on, go ahead. Show them”, Adrian urged me while Rose looked at me expectantly. I raised my head and looked straight into Rose’s eyes. “you’ll go into the kitchen and make chocolate chip muffin for the whole pack”. I said. Her pupils dilated and she stood up without asking questions. I had Jayden’s attention at that point, even Adrian gasped. Before Rose could bring out the ingredients she needed, I tapped her gently and she snapped out of it. “Uhm, what am I doing in the kitchen? I already cooked”, she groaned, holding her forehead.

“Lola hypnotized you”, Adrian spoke up. “That’s her new ability. O

Chapter 91
Adrian’s POV

“She can hypnotize now?” Mom asked, intrigued and I nodded. My mate is surely full of surprises. She looked shy and looked down at her hands, wringing them together. With the rate at which she wrung her hands together, I was surprised her limbs were still intact.

“I think it’s high time she started training properly, that way she can improve on herself more and we can discover more of her talents”, Dad said from where he sat. I wanted to disagree with him since I didn’t want her to push herself too hard, but it was necessary.

We might try to ignore the fact that the war was upon us but it doesn't stop the fact that we have to face it sooner or later. For the past two weeks, it's been unusually quiet like he was waiting for the perfect time to strike again.

The ceremony was held in hopes of catching the traitor or at least making him show his face since I was going to be officially introducing Lola as the Luna of my pack. Instead, a hysterical Fay almost ruined our party. Yeah, Fay. I almost forgot..

"Nathan", I called through our mindlink. "Yes, Alpha", he replied in a teasing tone and I shook my head with a slight smile. "Aren't you supposed to be enjoying your time with our Luna right now? What do you want to tell me that can't wait?" He asked. "I'm not on honeymoon and I just got crowned, I need to take care of pack issues too", I told him.

"What does your highness want?" He asked, sarcasm dripping from his words but I ignored him. "What of Fay? Have you checked in with the guards that took her into the dungeon? Has she been questioned or I need to come in?" I asked, a bit aggressive. My blood boiled when I remembered how she almost took out my mate. She might have been dead if I had not taken the bullet for her.

"I was on my way before you reached out. I'll let you know when I get there. Do you want to question her yourself or I should do so and report back to you?" He asked. "I'll come in to question her myself, I'll be there in an hour", I said. "And Nathan?" I called out to him again. "Yes, buddy", he replied. "Check if the Moonlit pack traitors have been fed. Lola still holds a soft spot for them", I said and I could picture him nodding his head. "Sure, I'd get back to you on that". And with that, the midlink closed off.

"Who were you talking to?" My queen asked me when I finally focused on their conversation again. "Nathan. I asked him to report the situation at the dungeon to me", I said before standing up. Lola stood up after me too.

"I'm going to the dungeon to question Fay, baby. You should stay here with Mom and Dad", I said and her face contorted in rage. "If you're going to question that bit ch, I'd like to be there too. I want to know why she thought it was okay to shoot my mate", her voice had changed and I knew Jasmine was coming to the surface.

"Da mn! She looks so se xy when she's enraged", Daxon said in my head.

and I rolled my eyes. Finished wolf. He wasn't lying though, she looked hot as hell.

"You said you wouldn't be stepping foot in the dungeon again. Why are you suddenly changing your mind?" She looked shaken up before she masked it. She was about to open her mouth when Nathan's voice sounded in my head.

"You should come and see this, Adrian. It's urgent", Nathan said with urgency in his voice. "I have to go", I said and left the house.

I arrived at the dungeon in record time and saw Nathan waiting outside the dungeon. The air was thick with worry and I saw warrior's bodies lying on the ground. "What happened here?" I asked him as I got closer. "Fay is gone. The Alpha and Luna of Moonlit pack are dead". he said. with a solemn face. "Fay is gone? Gone as in dead?" I asked. "Gone as in disappeared into thin air. man". he said. "I met the warriors' bodies on the ground when I got here. It was like someone knocked all of them out. When I went into the dungeon, the Alpha and Luna were dead and Fay was gone". he said.

I pinched the bridge of my nose and slowly exhaled. It has to be that man because there was no scent in the air. I moved towards one of the warriors and checked for signs of life and they were breathing, just knocked out.

I walked into the dungeon and almost retched with the sight in front of me. It was a good thing I did not bring Lola along with me, she'd have relapsed into her numb state.

Their hearts were not removed. they were gutted before they got dismembered. A white note peeked out from the mess on the floor. I walked through it and picked it up. The note read thus:

"Good luck finding the traitor amongst you. I'd come for MY QUEEN soon. Alpha Adrian". I squeezed up the paper and let out a loud growl before stepping out of the dungeon.

"Find them! Find every single one of them!" I ordered. Nathan and the warriors that were standing around took off immediately. Deep down, I knew they weren't going to be found but I felt so useless waiting around for my mate to be taken away from me.

“Adrian?” I looked up to find Lola with my parents. She rushed towards me and looked me over. “Are you hurt anywhere? Where did you get blood on you? What happened? I was worried when you left without saying anything, we all were”, she gestured to my parents who were looking at us from afar.

She gasped when she saw the bodies on the ground. “Are they dead? What happened here? Where’s Andrew and Natalia? Where’s Fay?” She fired rapidly and I just stared at her blankly.

She made to enter the dungeon and I pulled her back, holding her against me.

“They’re dead, baby. They were killed”.

Chapter 92

Lola’s POV

It was silent afterwards. They were dead. They were killed. It kept ringing in my head over and over again. I did not know how to feel about it. Sure, they were the reason I spent 8 years of my life in pain and agony but I did not wish death on them. I did not get the satisfaction I thought I would get from the news of their demise.

“Baby, Lola, look at me please”, Adrian said as he gently shook me. I shook my head to get the thoughts that were running through it away before looking at him with what was probably numbness. I wasn’t sure he could read any emotions from my eyes.

“Are you okay?” He asked again and I nodded. “Yeah, yeah, I’m totally fine. Let me see them, I want to see them”, I said and tried to enter the dungeon again but he wouldn’t let me. I knew he was trying to protect me so I did not fight against him. Judging by the strong stench of blood in the air, they were probably murdered brutally.

“And Fay? Where’s she? Dead too?” I asked him and he sighed. “Fay is gone. She disappeared into thin air with no traces of her existence”, he said.

I bent down and placed my head in my hands. I should have known that she was the traitor because why was she taken alive? Adrian made to lift me up but I held up my hand to stop him. “I’m good. I’m good”, I said but he didn’t look convinced.

“We should never ignore our gut feelings, Lola”, Jasmine said in my head.

“You’re definitely right. If I had told Adrian immediately I noticed it, she might have confessed by now”, I sighed into my hands before I gently stood up.

“And the warriors? Will they be fine?” I asked him. He looked taken aback for a while before he answered. “I will have the pack doctor check them out. He’s on his way”, he answered me unsurely.

I understood why he was that way. Everyone probably expected me to act out and cry over the fact that they were dead but I couldn’t, I just couldn’t cry over it. I was more overwhelmed by guilt than sadness. I felt like all of it was my fault and I was angry that I ignored my instincts about Fay.

“Are you totally okay?” Adrian asked in my head and I gave him a lazy smile. “Of course, Adrian. I’m perfectly fine”, I replied to him but he still looked unconvinced. “It’s perfectly okay for you to cry, you don’t have to bottle it up”, he said calmly in my head, making me roll my eyes. “What I feel is more of guilt than sadness. If only I had told you. my instincts regarding Fay, we might have caught the traitor”, I told him.

Just then, the pack doctor came and checked out one of the warriors. “It’s Valerian, Alpha”, the pack doctor told Adrian who pinched the tip of his nose in frustration. “I thought the witches banned those when we made a treaty with them”, he growled lowly and the pack doctor bowed before him.

Jayden and Rose were now beside us and everyone seemed to understand what a Valerian is except me. “What’s a valerian?” I asked. I do t want to be in the dark on matters concerning the pack anymore. It was frustrating.

“Baby, it’s a type of plant that can easily knock werewolves out when inhaled. When the werewolf world and the witches had problems then, the valerian was used on werewolves by witches to protect themselves since they do not have suoer strength or speed to fight against werewolves”, Adrian explained.

“So someone used a plant that has been banned on our warriors?” I asked out loud and the pack doctor nodded. “That rogue definitely wasn’t lying, they have a witch on their side”.

“How can it be countered then?” I asked. “The hop plant”, he said. “The hop plant? That’s also a thing?” I rubbed my temples. Gosh, I feel so stressed out.

“Where do we get it?” Adrian was the one who spoke up. “The same way the valerian was gotten. Witches”, the pack doctor said. “What will happen to the warriors if the hop can’t be gotten?” I asked even though I knew the answer deep down inside me.

“They will pass away in their sleep”, he said. “Serena. Contact Serena and get the warriors to the hospital. I’ll try to see if I can help them with my powers till Serena gets here”, I sprung into action and in a twinkling of an eye, cars that would convey the warriors had arrived and they were taken to the hospital.

“Serena?” I asked Adrian before entering the car. “We’ll meet her there”, he said before we headed towards the hospital. We’ll deal with Fay’s disappearance later. I have to save my pack members first.

My pack members. It sounded so amazing. Not only did I find a pack that accepts me, I became their Luna. I have to protect them, if that’s the last thing I do before leaving this world. I thought about seeing the Moon goddess but ever since she joined Jasmine and I, she hasn’t called me back into the garden. On the other hand, I don’t want to see her because it would mean leaving my mate for some days. It would mean leaving the pack at the hands of the enemy since he’d be vulnerable.

My thoughts were interrupted when we got to the clinic and I saw Serena standing in front of it. “Serena”, I greeted her when I reached where she was standing. “Luna”, she bowed her head but I waved her off. “What’s going on? Why are you standing outside here? Do you not “They’re all going to die? All of them? You’re a motherfucking witch, this should be speciality and you’re telling that I’m going to lose that amount of pack members because you’re not competent enough?” Jasmine snarled in her face but Serena remained unmoving.

“Jasmine, you have to calm down. I’m sure we can find a way around this”, I tried to reason with her but she was blinded with rage and frustration, well mainly with frustration. I was frustrated too but not to the extent of taking out on Serena, she was just trying to help.

“Well, she’s supposed to be the one to know what to do and she already said she can’t. What are we supposed to be able to do?” She asked and I sighed. “Just let me be in control and take care of the situation”, I pleaded with her before she reluctantly allowed me to be back in control.

“I’m so sorry for that”, I apologized to her and she bowed lightly. “I understand where she’s coming from, Luna”, she said softly. All of these interactions was being watched by Adrian, Jayden and Rose but they were mute and did not input anything, it was like they were. putting the whole situation in my hands.

“What do we do? I can’t keep losing pack members because of this motherfucker. Who will I rule over if he kills off my whole pack?” I asked her, no, I pleaded with her. “There’s a solution but I don’t think you’d be able to do it” in harm’s way”, he said and I rolled my eyes. Like he’d be able to stop me.

The urge to protect my wolves was the most important thing on my mind at that point. “What am I doing, Serena?” I asked, completely disregarding what Adrian said. “Baby, you’re not going to be doing it if it’s too dangerous”, he Said in my head and I scoffed. “Watch me do it. They are in that condition because they were protecting OUR pack, YOUR pack, and I should just watch them die? You’ve got to be joking with me”, I told him before putting up the wall to block him out.

I made the mistake of putting down the wall to the pack mindlink and almost got dizzy from the different thoughts going through their heads. Most were grieving for their sons and mates that were part of the warriors, making the rage in me to intensify.

“The valerian is strong but it can be removed with the power of the moon wolf”, she said while looking at me. “That means I have to heal them one after the other right? Let’s get to it then, the earlier we start, the better”, I said before making a move to enter the clinic.

“It doesn’t work like that, Luna. I mean that could also work but we’re running out of time. Their breathing pattern is getting worse and they might stop at any time”, she said. Just then, the pack doctor came out looking worried. “They’re getting worse, Alpha. We might lose all of them soon”, he said.

“What do I do, Serena?” I asked calmly even though I was freaking out on the inside. I hoped it was something I could fix because I just got crowned and I didn’t want the people to be against me. It would affect Jasmine so bad because she was connected to the pack more and she wouldn’t be able to withstand another pack betrayal.

“You have to harness the purity inside you and infuse it with the hop plant. Once they inhale it, they will be free”, she said and I got more confused. Purity? “Purity? How do I harness it? How do I do that? I’m so confused right now, I have no idea what to do, Serena, you have to guide me through this”, I begged frantically. I didn’t care that a crowd.

was starting to gather, all I wanted was the pack members to be saved. “I’m afraid I can’t help you with that, Luna. It’s your power, you have to find it”, she said and walked back into the clinic. “Time is ticking, Lola, time is ticking”, she said before disappearing into the clinic finally. I staggered and almost fell but Adrian held me. I turned in his arm to face him and saw sadness in his eyes. “What do I do, Adrian?” I asked him in a shaky voice, I was so close to tears and I felt so useless. “We’re going to figure it out. Just calm down, baby”, he assured me even though he sounded unconvinced too.

I swallowed the tears that were threatening to fall and went into the clinic, Adrian, Jayden and Rose followed behind me. I sighted Serena trying to cast spells but nothing seemed to be working.

I turned to Adrian. “Stay close to me at all times, it seems my powers become stronger whenever you’re near me”, I told him and he nodded. “Of course, baby. I’ll stand by you”, he responded.

“Pass me the plant, Serena”, I told Serena who handed me the plant.

“Once you’ve harnessed your power, I’ll instruct you on how to infuse it with the plant”, she said and I nodded.

I took a deep sigh and closed my eyes. Purity. Purity. I kept chanting in my head before it felt like I was being pulled through a passage. It was like I was floating around in nothingness after the pulling stopped. I looked around and saw total darkness but amidst the darkness, I saw a white light and floated towards it.

Immediately I came in contact with the light, I felt like I was being filled with some kind of peace and strange energy. From a distance, I heard Serena’s voice. “That’s it. You found it”, she said and I kept.

holding on to the white light.

I felt something being put in my hands and assumed it was the hop plant. I slowly opened my eyes and the plant seemed to be glowing from within. Serena slowly collected it from my hands and recited some kind of spell before the hop plant slowly diffused into the air.

I turned to look at Adrian who gave me a proud smile. I wanted to smile back at him but darkness swallowed me instead.

Chapter 94

Lola'sPOV

I woke up with a very serious headache. I rolled over on the bed, expecting to see Adrian but I was met with nothingness. Jasmine groaned in my head, she was probably feeling what I felt too.

“Hey, girl. Are you good?” I asked her through the mindlink but she just groaned louder. “Lower your motherfucking voice, Lola. It’s killing me. My head hurts, it hurts so much”, she responded.

“I have a killer headache too. I wonder why”, I whispered through the mindlink. “Jeez, it’s crazy. It hurts so much”, she whined before going silent.

I stood up and got dizzy for a while, I had to hold the headboard to steady myself. I looked around and realized that I was in Adrian’s room. His scent suddenly overwhelmed me and I became confused. I was supposed to be able to know how scent before I even realized I was in his room. What’s going on?

It’s been strange since I woke up. First, it was the head splitting headache, then the problems with my senses. I tried to remember the events of the day before and that was when I realized that I had to save some pack members.

That’s true! The pack member.

I tried to mindlink Adrian but his wall was up. That simple act made my blood pressure go over the roof.

Did I fail? Did we lose all pack members? Is that why Adrian is not picking my calls, is he disgusted with me? A thousand and ten thoughts were running through my head in that moment.

I rushed into the bathroom to freshen up before I hastily put on the first pieces of clothing that I saw. It was a black sweatshirt with black ripped jeans. I got a black slippers to go with it and rushed downstairs, hoping to find at least one person in the house.

Imagine my disappointment when I met the house empty. There was not sign of life and everywhere seemed cold. I became more paranoid and ran out of the house towards the clinic.

As I neared the clinic. I saw Lyla’s figure and ran towards her. She sighted me as I was coming and came to meet me halfway. I hugged her gently without hitting her belly as she rubbed my back.

“Calm down. Lola. What’s going on? Is something wrong? Why do you seem to be in a hurry?” She asked worriedly. I took a deep breath before I spoke. “where’s Adrian? Where’s everybody? Are the warriors. okay? Is everything line?” I asked hurriedly barely stopping to breath in between. “Hey, hey, relaxXXX. Everyone is fine. Adrian is in the clinic, the warriors are fine too. You did it, Lola. You saved everybody”, she said to which I breathed a sigh of relief. Thank goddess.

“Is Serena in there too”, I asked her and she nodded her head. “I’ll see you later”, i hugged her again before dashing into the clinic. I could see some familiar faces on the bed behind tendered to. The warriors. were already cured and my leg almost gave out from being relieved.

Adrian saw me and came towards me. “Baby, what are you doing here?” He said, to which I rolled my eyes. “I woke up to an empty house and you know there was a lack crises yesterday and yet you left me without a note or any form of information”, I said with my hands. crossed over my chest.

“You were knocked out, baby. You were out of it and I would have stayed with you but I had to come check up on the warriors”, he said. but I wasn’t having any of it. “What of Rose and Jayden? They were not here when I woke up. What time is it?” I asked when I realised that I did not check the time before I suddenly left the house..

“It’s noon already, my queen. That was why I had to leave to come here. I’m sorry for leaving so abruptly”, he pulled me closer and kissed my forehead, temporarily making me forget why I was at the hospital in the first place. “So where’s Rose? I know she’s going to give me a earful for passing out again”, I said while looking around for her.

“She’s not here at the moment. She left the pack with Dad”, he said. Oh. “Oh, where did they go? Hope there’s no problem?” I asked him and he hesitated before talking.

“Moonlit pack. Someone had to go and tell them that their leaders passed away”, he said while looking at me intently. I was filled with guilt again but I tried to not let it show. “Oh, I see. But is that not our job? We’re the new King and Queen, we should have gone”, I said.

“First off, you were knocked out. Secondly, I figured you might not. want to set foot into that pack again so they volunteered to go on our behalf since they do not have to play their roles as Alpha and Luna in the pack anymore”, he said and I nodded.

“That’s a good thing, I guess”, Jasmine said, “I’d have killed all those that looked down on me on sight”, she growled. Adrian laughed lightly and i glared at him, he was listening to my thoughts again. “Don’t look at me like that, Jasmine is a feisty one”, he said while still laughing.

“Where’s Serena?” I asked, looking around for her. “She’s helping the pack doctor all the warriors back to health. Why do you ask?” He said and I shrugged. I did not know whether I should tell him how I’ve been feeling or not, I didn’t want to worry him.

“I just need to see her concerning some things that happened yesterday. We need to be prepared against next time, although I doubt there will be one”, I said in what I hoped was a convincing tone. He seemed to believe me and pointed me in the direction where he last saw her.

I met her where she sat down gently in a corner, muttering some words to herself. “Serena?” I slowly called out to her but she kept muttering to herself. Suddenly, she looked up and I saw that her eyes had turned all white.

“Death! I see death”, she kept chanting repeatedly while shaking uncontrollably.

Lola’s POV

Death? What’s she talking about?

“Serena! Serena”, I called her as I moved closer to her and tried to shake her out of her state. She didn’t stop shaking uncontrollably and kept repeating death while saying gibberish. I got scared and called Adrian through our mindlink since I did not want draw attention to us.

Adrian came running to where I was and was confused by what she was saying. "What do we do? This is scary, Adrian", I told him. "She'll be fine soon. I hope", he said the last part to himself but I heard him. anyways.

Serena suddenly stopped moving and became quiet which totally scared me. I thought she fainted but her chest was still moving steadily and that was the only reason I wasn't totally freaking out.

"Serena?" I softly called out and she opened her eyes. She looked around and became paranoid. "Where's Rose and Jayden?" She asked as she looked around frantically.

"They went out of town. You know they're out of town, what's the matter?" Adrian asked, suddenly at alert. I was alarmed too. She was talking about death and then asked about Rose and Jayden. What could be the correlation?

"They need to be called back right now. Call them back right now, Adrian", she was becoming hysterical by the moment and I was starting to panic. Serena is a naturally calm person and I've never seen her lose her cool, seeing her become hysterical over Rose and Jayden made me so scared for them.

"Call them back!!!" She was basically screaming at this point. Adrian tried reaching them through the mindlink but he couldn't. "My phone. Where's my phone?" He asked coolly, even though it was obvious he was losing his mind.

"I left mine at the house", I said and he cursed under his breath. I knew he was trying to not freak out but he was doing a very awful job at it.

"Someone should get me a motherfucking phone, goddamnit!!" He growled loudly, making gain the attention of everyone in the clinic.

Nathan, whom I did not notice till he showed up in front of us with a cell phone, brought him his cellphone. He immediately tried his parent's number but it wasn't going through.

He was obviously losing it at the point and I knew I needed to find a way to make him see reason. "How many days does it take to get to Moonlit pack?" He asked Nathan. "It takes a maximum of two hours to get there, Alpha”, he bowed slightly.

“Girl, it took me 3 days to locate this pack and it’s just 2 hours away? Jasmine screamed in my head and I resisted the urge to roll my eyes at her. “Can you f ucking focus? There’s a crucial matter at hand”, I snapped at her before I closed our mindlink.

“Get the car here right now!” He barked at no one in particular and everyone scurried in different directions. “You shouldn’t leave the pack grounds, no one should leave the pack grounds”, Serena said, making everyone stand rooted to where they were.

“Why? You said they were in danger and no one should go to save them?” The colour of his eyes was starting to change and the atmosphere was really tensed. Everyone looked like they’ll rather be somewhere else. Adrian was radiating his Alpha aura more since. Daxon was almost at the surface and it was affecting everyone there. except Serena and I

I subtly placed a hand on his arms DNA and he seemed to relax a bit.

“What exactly are you talking about, Serena? You talked about dwath and then asked about Rose and Jayden and you don’t want us to go and save them? We’re unable to reach them as you can see. What do we do?” I asked her.

“If anyone leaves the pack ground today, they would die”, she said co olly and I almost screamed. Adrian growled loudly before turning into his wolf and running out of the clinic.

ADRIAN! ADRIAN! ADRIAN!”. I called after him but he did not respond.

He kept on running into the woods, probably to save his parents. “Serena said anyone that flies out of the pack grounds will die. Do you think he’s going to go ahead anyways? Daxon has blocked me out”, Jasmine said in my head and I crouched down with tears. streaming down my face.

He’s going to get himself killed. I don’t think I can livee with that.

“I, I can’t do that. He’s my Alpha and it would be deemed rude”, he said, slightly bowing his head.

My anger was rising at this point. “And what am I to you?” I asked him but he remained silent. “When I ask a question, I demand an answer Nathan. What the f uck am I to you? I raised my voice at him, allowing a powerful aura to slip into it. “You’re my Luna”, he bowed his head as he spoke.

“That’s right. And as your Luna, I command you to not allow my mate, your Alpha, step foot out of this pack. Tranquilize him, I don’t care, make sure he doesn’t leave the pack grounds. I’m too young to be a widow”, I ordered him before stepping out of the clinic, the reason I came there initially, forgotten.

I got to the house and went straight to where I left my phone. I dialed Rose’s number but she did not pick it up. I tried it again and she picked up.

“Hi, pumpkin”, her voice came through the receiver and I breathed a sigh of relief. “Thank goddess you’re okay”, I breathed out and she chuckled. “What could have been wrong with us? I missed Adrian’s call too but he isn’t picking up. I was just about to call you”, she said, her cheery voice calming me down.

“Where are you?” I questioned her. “Uh, I think we’re just 30 minutes. drive away from our pack. Why do you sound so worried? Is something wrong?” She asked.
