

Luna Lola-The Moon Wolf by Park Kara

Chapter 96-100

Chapter 96

Lola's POV

Then the line went silent.

I tried calling them again but to no avail. I tried mindlinking Adrian to tell him the new development but his wall was up.

"I have a bad feeling about all of these, Lola. We should go out and help them", Jasmine said anxiously in my head. "I don't know, Jas. Serena said it's dangerous to go out there", I said. I admit that I might be acting like a coward but I don't want to risk sending any pack member into danger.

"Fuck Serena and what she said. Rose and Jayden might be in danger and you still want us to be sitting idly, waiting for miracle to happen?" She growled at me. She was right. These guys are the closest to parents. that I have and I'm just sitting idly when they might be in danger.

Shame on me.

"Nathan", I called him through our mindlink and he answered almost immediately. "Yes, Luna". "Did he leave the pack grounds already?" I asked. "No, Luna. He hasn't been sighted leaving the pack", he answered.

"I called Rose and she picked before it went silent suddenly. Dispatch warriors to the border of the pack and be at alert. She told me they were 30 minutes away from the pack. If they don't get here in 30 minutes, dispatch the warriors", I barked out the order.

"But Luna, what Serena said.....", he tried to go against me. The rage and anxiety inside me skyrocketed and I snapped at him. "Fuck what Serena said, Nathan, follow my motherfucking orders. I'll find Adrian. and explain the situation of things to him, carry out my orders now or there'll be consequences", I allowed Jasmine's aura to slip into my command. "Yes, Luna", he replied and I cut off our link.

I tried to call Rose's number afterwards but it wasn't going through. I tried to reach Adrian but his wall was up too. I was so frustrated and angry that I threw my phone, smashing it in the process.

What could have gone wrong in the span of 5 minutes that I spoke to Rose? Where could Adrian have gone to? Did he leave before I could pass the order? I couldn't sit down. I kept pacing up and down, praying as hoping that they were all fine.

My bond with Jayden was getting weaker by the second and that did nothing to help me. "Adrian?", I tried our mindlink one more time. "Baby", his voice sounded broken and I was more worried. "Where are you, baby?" I rushed out, forgetting the fact that I called him baby. I just wanted him to be okay.

"Our spot", he said and I immediately knew where he was. I ran outside and immediately changed into my wolf when I got outside, holding the clothes I picked up with my teeth. I ran towards the path we went the other day on our date. I ran blindly just allowing my senses to lead me.

I didn't stop until I reached the lake. I saw him curled up by the lake, still in his wolf form. I dropped the clothes that was in my mouth and trotted towards him, making him lift his head slightly to look at him. He looked amazed when he saw me and that was when I remembered that he had never seen me in my wolf form before.

"Jasmine?", his voice came into my head, "is that you?" He asked. "Yeah, it's me", I replied to him. "You look so magnificent and beautiful", he said in amazement, making me chuckle while Jasmine puffed out her chest. Such a silly wolf. "I know I'm so amazing to look at", she said with pride and I rolled my eyes at her.

"Why are you here alone? This is our spot, we should be here. together", I said as I sat down beside him. He dropped his head on the floor in sadness, the excitement gone from his eyes. "I'm scared and anxious, Lola. What if Serena is right and I lose both of them? I wouldn't be able to live with the fact that I didn't at least do anything to save them", he seemed to get dejected as the minutes passed by.

"I later tried Rose's number a she picked up", I said and he raised his head rapidly. "What did she say? Where are they?" He asked. "Well, she said they were 30 minutes away from here but the phone suddenly went off when she screamed for Jayden", I told him.

"I already dispatched warriors to the pack boundaries with the order that they should leave the pack grounds if they are not sighted in 30 minutes", I said, hoping it would calm him down and it seemed to work. "I should go with them too. I will be devastated if they actually encounter a situation we could have easily overcome if we were larger in numbers", he said as he stood on all fours.

I was about to speak when I felt a bond being severed in my chest, causing me a tremendous amount of pain. I looked at Adrian's wolf form through my pain and my heart broke more. He knew who the bond belonged to. He let out a very loud howl which was echoed by pack members. It was an howl filled with pain and anguish and all the pack members felt the broken bond too.

I was about to speak again when Nathan's voice came into my head. "They came in the car, Luna", he said and I breathed a sigh of relief. Why was Adrian sad though? Which bond got broken?

"But only Luna Rose came in alive. She was seriously injured and has been taken to the clinic", I closed the mindlink and got closer to my mate. "We should go. Adrian. We need to go and see Rose, she needs us the most right now", I said solemnly.

"Yeah, we should", his solemn voice rang through our mindlink and he nodded his wolfish head. I was so heartbroken and sad and I did not know how to comfort him.

I'll find out what happened and deal with this later, Rose is the priorityChapter 97

Lola's POV

We left the lakeside together but we separated when we reached the town. He went towards where the car was and I went straight to the hospital. I changed just before I got to the clinic and ran all the way to the clinic.

Lyla, Lotana, Avianca and Nathan's Mom were all there. I rushed in, panting and out of breath. "Wh-where is she?" I asked immediately I reached where they were all standing.

Lily, Nathan's mom was the first to speak. "We haven't been able to see her either but it very ghastly according to the people that brought her in and witnessed the scene", she explained but that did nothing to ease my worries.

I wanted to scream but I reined it in, running my hands down my face instead. "Where's the motherfucking pack doctor?" I asked as I looked around for him. My voice was shaking and my breath was getting ragged. It just hit me hard that Jayden was no longer with us and Rose was fighting for her life just because they went on a trip that Adrian and I should have been on.

"Where's the pack doctor?" I asked softly this time around, the energy in me was suddenly drained and I had no idea what I was doing. I just wanted to see Rose and that was the only thing on my mind.

Like magic, he appeared out of thin air and I rushed to meet him. "What's the update? Is she fine? What was used on her? She's going to make it right" I asked him tons of questions at once. Rose's bond was growing weaker in my head by the second which scared the s hit out of me.

She was the closest I have to a mother and I was sincerely scared of losing her even though I did not really show it on the inside. It was breaking me and I knew it was going to break Adrian more.

He lost his sister to these rogues, Jayden was no more and Rose was on the verge of death. They've taken too much from us, way too much. I needed to put an end to all of these and fast too.

I shook myself from my thoughts and focused on the doctor in front of me. "She's alive but she's not stable yet. She sustained a lot of injuries. and she would have healed but the wolfsbane in her body prevented her from recovering fast", he said. "The wolfsbane can be removed. from her body, right? You have a way to do that, don't you?" Lily asked from beside me and we all looked at the doctor in anticipation.

"It could have been possible if it were a normal wolfsbane but this one is stronger. It's probably infused with black magic. It's slowly spreading through her body and numbing her organs. It's only a matter of time before her body stops repelling the magic", he explained.

Those damn rogues and their fucking witch.

I remembered how I was able to cure the warriors even though I blacked out after. "I have to see her", I said but he seemed reluctant. "I demand to see her as your Luna and you won't disrespect me by denying me the chance to see her". I said, allowing my powers to slip into my voice which made him bow in submission.

I did not like having to coerce people into obeying me but they all seemed to not want to respect my decisions in some circumstances, especially matters relating to the pack and it pisses me off.

"This might be harder to remove unlike the time Alpha Adrian got shot", he tried to speak but I wasn't having any of it. "I demand to see her right now", I repeated to which he led the way to the room she was in.

I took a deep breath before I entered her room but I wasn't prepared for what was in front of me. My legs almost gave out under me, thankfully, I was still holding onto the door handle and that was my saving grace.

She was unrecognisable. Her veins were black and protruding. Her once clear and pale skin looked sickly and dark. She looked dead, save the fall and rise of her chest, it looked painful for her to breathe. I did not know when a tear slipped down my cheeks, giving way to others that flowed freely.

I looked towards the doctor and he shook his head like he meant he was sorry. His eyes were sad and he looked tired too. The whole pack. was very silent also. I couldn't hear anything for miles to come. The atmosphere was sad and depressing.

I slowly moved towards her bed and the doctor excused us, gently closing the door behind him. My limbs were shaking. I didn't know how I managed to get to her bed without crumbling.

A part of me wanted to call Adrian because I needed the assurance and strength he gave me. Neither Jasmine nor I could bear the thought of her dying on us because we couldn't do anything.

I slowly took hold of her hands that felt so cold to touch. I closed my eyes and tried to reach for my purity like I did the last time. I found the white light and held tightly to it, I then channelled the energy into the hands I was holding.

The more I held onto her hands, the more I felt like my blood was being replaced with molten lava. It felt hot but I refused to let go of her hands, I wanted her to survive so bad. No, I needed her to survive. It did not know how Adrian was going to turn out when he found out that both his parents passed away when I could have helped.

"You know he's not going to think about you that way. It's about time.

we fully trusted Adrian, he's proven himself over and over", Jasmine said in my head but I couldn't reply because I needed my full concentration to be able to neutralise all of the wolfsbane.

I suddenly felt like I was being pulled into the white light. I refused. and held on but I kept slipping and losing consciousness. I felt my name being called but I couldn't answer the voice, it was event unrecognisable.

"You can let go now, child" an angelic voice said in my head and I allowed myself to be pulled into the world of darkness.

OChapter 98

Lola's POV

"Open your eyes, Lola", a voice said and I slowly awakened. I gasped and sat up when I saw the face behind the voice. A very beautiful woman was standing above me, her eyes were the colour of nature, a beautiful, alluring shade of green. Her hair was pure white, the same shade as the white gown she was wearing. Her skin looks milky and amazing and I was just shocked by her beauty.

"Se-selene?" I asked with a stutter and she nodded her head with a smile. "Selene? Oh my goddess. it's really you?" I asked in a shocked manner and she laughed. "Yes, it's me Lola", she chuckled softly and the sound was melodious and magical to my ears.

I had never seen her face do it came as a shock to me that someone could look so magical. "She's not human, dummy", Jasmine said in my head making me roll my eyes at her. "Oh, shut up", I retorted.

I remembered what I was doing before I got pulled into the darkness. "Rose. How's she? How's Rose? Was I able to take the venom away from her body completely? Is she okay?" I asked her strings of questions rapidly and she gently put her hands on my shoulder.

"She's fine, Lola. You did well, you saved her", she said and I breathed a sigh of relief.

She's saved. She's okay. I was so relieved I could cry but strangely, I did not feel the need to cry.

"Why am I here?" I asked her after a while. "You have to take a rest from the land of living. You already did too much, the wolfsbane was very strong and it could have killed you if you had held on much longer", she explained and I nodded.

That explains why I felt like I was burning from inside out. I made to stand up but Selena held my shoulder and made me lie down. "You still need to recover, that's why you're in this garden", she said.

That was when I realized that I wasn't in the garden. I was in a room that was pure white, it was almost blinding to look at. I was on a bed that felt like heaven and I didn't feel like standing up. I looked at my hands and it had black veins on it, identical to the ones on Rose's body.

I remembered that whenever I leave the human world, I spend a whole lot of time. "How many days is it in the human world? Adrian must be worried sick. I have to go back to him, he just lost Jayden, I don't want him to worry over me again", I stood up abruptly. Selene sighed before speaking. "Yes, he's worried sick because 3 days. already passed but you still have to make sure your body is healed perfectly before you go back to the realm of the living", she paused after saying that like she wanted the words she just spoke to sink into my head. I looked at her without saying anything and she continued what she was saying.

"You still have a whole lot of work before you, Lola. You can't afford to be weak or unprepared when the time comes", she said. I felt anger riding within me as she spoke. I agreed that I wasn't prepared for the war but she has no right to tell me that I wasn't strong enough.

"Weak?" I asked in surprise and looked at her like she'd grown another head. 'I did not ask to be out through any of this, Selene. It's always been placed in my hands, every fucking thing has always been placed in my hands", I raised my voice slightly at her.

"Surviving on my own after my parents died, finding my way out of the pack after being bullied and abused for years, growing on my own after my mate almost rejected me, finding my own powers on my own and now you say I'm weak?" I wanted to scream and cry but the most it could do was slightly raise my voice at her.

"Lola", she tried to speak but I wasn't having any of it. "Selene, please. I just want to go back to my mate that must be worried sick. I don't want to leave him alone in this period. I'm sure I can rest perfectly well beside my mate, let me go back to my mate Selene", I pleaded with her.

"I promise you that I never forsaked you in any of these moments, it was all a process to build you", she said softly. I wasn't going to argue. with her, I just wanted to be with Adrian so I just nodded.

"Can I go now?" I asked when I looked down at my hands and the black veins had almost cleared out. She noticed too because she nodded. "I promise that I'm with you every step of the way", she said. before snapping her hands at me. "Be strong, child", I heard as I kept falling into some kind of hole.

I suddenly opened my eyes and closed it almost immediately, a groan escaping my lips. I slowly opened my eyes again and saw a head full of dark coloured hair placed beside me on the bed, holding tightly onto my hands.

The sensation running through me indicated that it was my loving mate. The position looked uncomfortable for him since he had to bend his tall frame. I slowly carried my other hand that had IV in it and gently rubbed it over his head, ignoring the pain that ran through me.

His even breathing changed and I knew he was awake. He stiffened for a while before shooting up into a sitting position. The sudden movement made my hand that was on his head suddenly fall onto the bed without warning.

I closed my eyes and hissed in pain. I slowly lifted the hand with my free hands, trying to hold in the pain but it was hard for me. He stood up, making the chair fall back and came towards me. "Thank goddess you're awake", he said as he hugged me tightly while avoiding my hurt hand.

He pulled back and I could barely feel the physical pain from how much my heart hurt. Adrian's face looked sunken and his frame looked lean. He had unkempt beards and let me tell you, I've never seen any form of hair on that man's face. He looked tired and worn out.

I did not realize that I was crying until he wiped my cheeks. "Please, don't cry. I'm fine, I promise", he said, softly rubbing my chin. Ignoring the pain in my right hand, I pulled him into another hug while crying profusely.

It's time to put an end to all of these once and for all. Chapter 99

Lola's POV

I pulled back and carefully held his handsome face in my hands, scrutinizing carefully while he cleaned my tears that ceased to stop flowing.

"I'm sorry I wasn't there for you when you needed me most. It must have been so hard", I hiccuped before I continued talking. "You must have been so sad yet you stood by my side, I'm such a bad mate. I'm sorry for worrying you, baby, I'm so sorry", I kept repeating while my tears fell.

"Hey, hey, it's fine. I'm fine, you're fine, Mom is fine", he said, looking into my eyes with love and adoration. "Mom is fine because you risked your life for hers. No one, I repeat, no one is as lucky as I am to have you as their other half", he kept rubbing my chin while rubbinh my arm too.

"You're the most amazing person I know. What would I have done if I had lost both of them on the same day to the same incident. You saved. my sanity, baby, and I'll forever be grateful for that", he dropped a kiss. on my forehead before he pulled back and sat on the chair he fell initially.

He refused to let go of my hands and kept looking at me like he couldn't believe I was seated in front of him. "Why are you looking at me like that?" I asked him, feeling shy under his gaze. "Like what?" He asked, still looking at me the same way. "Like that", I mumbled out and he chuckled. I became slightly red and looked away from him.

"Where's Rose?", I asked him. Just then, the door swung opened and the woman in question ran into the room. "There she is, Adrian replied just before she got to the other side of the bed and hugged me tightly, almost cutting off my air supply.

"Rose, can't breatheeeeee", I wheezed out when she refused to let go of me. She quickly pulled back and sat down on the bed with tears in her eyes. "You're fine. Thank goddess you're alive", she rushed out. "I was scared. I was so scared that I'd lose you because you decided to save me", her tears were flowing down her cheeks at this point.

She hit me and glared at me. "Ouch, why did you do that?" I asked, rubbing the place where she hit me. "Why did you risk your life for me like that? Why would you do that? You should have allowed me to go with Jayden. Now, I can't leave you guys until I see that his death has been avenged", she said, calling her fists.

Honestly, I wasn't expecting that reaction. I was expecting her to be in tears and be heartbroken but she was the total opposite of that. She was calm and doesn't look to be grieving. If it wasn't for the bags under her eyes and her swollen eyes, I'd have said she wasn't grieving over her mate.

"You're the closest person I have to a mother, Rose. If I had not done it for you, if have lived with the guilt forever. I'm so glad I was able to go that for you", I held her hands and she nodded in gratitude.

The doctor came in and Rose stood up to make space for him while Adrian refused to let go of my hands through all of it. He said I was ready to go home and within 5 minutes, Lyla, Lotana and Avianca all arrived at the hospital. Lyla was carrying an overnight bag and I figured that it was my change of clothes that was inside it. She looked at me and burst into tears. I removed my hand from Adrian's and walked towards him. "Hey, it's fine girl. I'm fine now, look at me", I twirled in front of her. She dropped the bag she was holding and pulled me into a hug.

"I was so scared when I saw your veins turning black. I was so scared, I thought I was going to lose you", she cried into my neck while I gently rubbed her back, reassuring her that I wasn't going anywhere. "I promised to be the godmother to the baby in your belly, you think I'm going to break that promise? Have some faith in my girl", I said and she burst out laughing.

She stepped away from me and Avianca and Lolana hugged me next. "Don't ever do that again", Avianca said, sniffing her nose and I gave her a smile. "Is that for me?" I asked, pointing to the bag that was on the floor and they all nodded. Lotana picked it up and handed it over to me, "yeah, we're here to take you home".

I got out after getting changed and met everyone except Adrian sitting there expectantly. "Where did he go?" I asked. "I asked him to go and freshen up now that you're awake. We'll meet him at the house", Rose answered.

We left the clinic and the atmosphere was sad. It was obvious that there was sadness in the pack. I could feel it radiating off of Rose too but she tried to be bubbly and cheery like before, although I couldn't see the light in her eyes anymore.

Lotana was not her normal self but I chalked it up to the atmosphere in the pack. She was the most silent in the group but she was extra quiet. Jayden's death really took a toll on the pack members, he was a good Alpha after all. Lotana followed us to the house but excused herself at the door and said she had some things to attend to, so she couldn't be a part of us.

Adrian was in the sitting room when we entered and he looked much better than he did when he was at the hospital. He had shaved off his beards and he looked really handsome, Jasmine might have whined in my head.

She was basically purring like a kitten.

I was bought out of my day dreaming when Rose spoke. "How about I get us something to eat, there's a lot to be discussed", she said and went into the kitchen. Lyla and Avianca followed behind her while I sighed.

It's time to step up and make some decisions.

Chapter 100

Lola's POV

I went to sit down beside Adrian and he pulled me into his side immediately I was seated. He sniffed my hair and breathed out contentedly. I smiled and looked up at him through my lashes, "what are you doing. Alpha?" I asked and he gave me a boyish grin.

"Taking in the lovely scent of my mate and making sure you don't ever leave my side", he pulled me impossibly closer and placed a kiss on my forehead.

I kinda like the forehead kisses from him, they give me reassurance and make me feel safe and protected. "What do you think Rose is going to talk about?" I asked him and he shrugged. "I don't know, baby. We're about to find out". he responded.

I knew deep down inside me that I wasn't going to like the discussion. Nothing has been going fine in the pack for a week or so, I wasn't expecting her to announce a party or something. I suddenly felt bad for making them toil in the kitchen, especially Lyla who was pregnant, while I lounged around.

I made to stand up but Adrian pulled me against him. "No, you're not going in there", he said huskily and I rolled my eyes at him. "Don't catch an attitude with me, princess, or there will be consequences", he whispered the last part in my ear, making me shudder in pleasure.

I cleared my throat before I spoke again. "But they're cooking while I'm seated. I'm really not comfortable with that idea", i tried to argue but he wasn't having any of it. "They know you're just recovering and that's why no one is going to say anything. Now, you'll sit your pretty ass down while they cook. I'm sure they will chase you if you go anyways", he said with so much confidence that made me want to smack him in the back of his head. "I'll go and see that for myself", I argued and he allowed me to stand up, smirking at me.

Lyla was the first to spot me when I entered the kitchen. She dropped what she was holding and placed her hands on her waist. "What do you think you're doing, girl?" She asked with a raised eyebrow. I looked at her sheepishly before looking down at my fingers. When I finally looked up, three pairs of eyes were on me, waiting for answer.

my

"I came here to lend a helping hand to you ladies", I said with a bright smile, hoping to convince them. "No one asked for your help, pumpkin". Rose was one who spoke up now. "Yeah, Lola", Avianca chipped in. "no one asked for your help. You just escaped a near death experience so you need to rest", she said and I pouted.

"So did Rose, and she's still here in the kitchen", I argued weakly. "I've been awake for 3 days, pumpkin, it doesn't count. You just got discharged, so you should go back and rest without feeling guilty", she dismissed me and got back to work.

Adrian was smirking when I went back into the sitting room. He was about to open his mouth but I glared at him. "Don't you dare say a word", I said. "I told you so", he teased me, disregarding my warning.

"Come here", he opened his arms wide and I reluctantly walked towards him. I straddled him and he wrapped his hands around me. Just then, Jasmine decided to rear her horny, wolfish head.

"I just want to eat him up, he smells so good and amazing", she purred to which I rolled my eyes. "Yeah, I know he smells amazing but can your horny as s tone it down? It's not really the time for this", I chastised her.

"I wasn't going to do anything, durhhhh. Is it a crime to compliment my mate?" She asked. "It's not a crime at all, Jasmine", Adrian answered and I became red with embarrassment, making him laugh lowly. "Stop listening to my thoughts", I mumbled. "Keep me out of them, then. I can't help but overhear your conversations with Jasmine. She has to be the most amazing wolf I've ever seen", he complimented her to which she purred in my head.

Sometimes, I don't know if I have a wolf or a cat with the rate at which this wolf purrs. Rose came into the sitting room to announce that food is ready. My stomach used that moment to growl loudly, making me red with embarrassment. Adrian stood up with my legs around his waist and my hands around his neck and carried me to the dining area despite my protest.

He set me down and sat beside me while Avianca and Lyla made different eyes at me. I resisted the urge to poke out their eyes with a fork and just went on eating.

"You look so cute together, I'm so glad you found true love", Lyla's voice rang in my head and I smiled a little. Lunch wasn't like it used to be. Rose's normal chattering was reduced and the tension was there. It was almost like everyone was trying not to talk the wrong way, lest it upsets Rose. Even Adrian was just trying to be fine, I could see it in the way he would do out some times and his eyes didn't light up at the dining table like it used to.

The girls and I did the dishes after we finished eating. Everyone tried to protest but I was really bent on helping out so I got my way. I washed, Avianca rinsed and Lyla dried it. I decided to bring up Lotana's strange behaviour earlier as we worked.

"Am I reading too much into it or is Lotana acting strange?" I asked. and it was like the wind became still. Lyla sighed before speaking, "to be very honest, she's been acting weird and all. She hasn't found her mate and it must be taking a toll on her. That's what I chalked it up to", she said and Avianca nodded in agreement.

"She hasn't found her mate? I thought she wasn't of age yet, we did not even do a coming of age ceremony for her", I was shocked by this information. How was I not informed?

"It was during that time that you were asleep for a week after the whole fiasco with Fay. She said she did not want a coming of age ceremony since you were on sick bed, so it was cancelled", Avianca explained.

"We could have held it after I woke up. Why was I not informed?" I asked, feeling guilty. "She specifically requested that you shouldn't be told because she knows you're going to carry the guilt on you head", Lyla explained and i sighed.

"But lately, she's been super weird and secretive. I hope she's going up to us soon". Lyla finished and I sighed. I felt bad that she had to cancel her most important day because of me.

We wrapped up the dishes and went into the sitting room where Rose was silently crying while being comforted by Adrian. I ran towards them and knelt down in front of her.

"Rose, what's wrong? What's the matter with her, Adrian? I asked worriedly.

"I saw him. I saw the rogue king", she hiccuped through her tears.
