

Chapter 141 It was always Augustus

141

AMALTHEA'S POV

"Well, what do you want to hear, Amalthea? Do you want to hear that it was destiny that brought us together and that I was meant to be saved by you? Do you want to hear how grateful I am to you? Or do you want to know if that's the reason I fell in love with you? Is it because I can't get over this heart of yours? Or do you want to hear that I have been looking for you for a long time too?" He asked me while massaging my hand and I raised my brows at him.

"You were looking for me?" I asked and he nodded his head.

"Don't you think I should have tried to find the girl who saved me and made my parents so grateful? I just wanted to thank her by making sure her pack has our Lycan support from whatever wars they may encounter in the future. That's what my parents would've wanted too if they were alive. But who would've thought that the girl I had been looking for would find me instead and I will fall crazily in love with her," he said and I smiled at him.

"So when did you come to know it was me?" I asked and he smiled.

"When we went a bit ahead with our make-out session for the first time. When I saw the faint scar on your abdomen, I was suspicious that it might be you. The mother of that girl had shouted the name Amalthea only. I didn't want to take my chances and that's why I used to ask you about your childhood. When you said you have no recollection, I was sure it was you only," He said as he tucked my hair behind my ears and I looked at the love and compassion in his eyes, such strong emotions scaring me a little.

"You have no idea there were so many times when I wanted to tell you everything, but thinking it might trigger some back memories too and traumatize you, I always controlled myself. There were so many times when I just wanted to treat you so good and say that, I, as the Lycan king would take all your acts of revenge because that's what I should do as your lover and because this life, my heart and body are yours, but knowing all too well, you wouldn't love it, I stopped," He said as he smiled softly without looking at me.

0.0%

22:50

"What else do you know about me?" I asked as I felt my love for him getting stronger with each loving look he was giving me.

"What else? Why don't you ask your wolf if she is ready to tell you everything?" He said as he stood from his place.

"Where are you going?" I asked, not wanting him to go.

I didn't have enough of looking into his eyes. I wanted to look more. His drowning in eyes that looked like they were filled with a pos of love, I wanted to drown in them.

"Where would I go, my love? I am just coming to the other side of the bed. Let's rest a bit?" He asked and I nodded as he lay beside me, pulling me to his side.

"What is it that my wolf should tell me? Every time I ask her something, she says she is afraid I won't be able to take the pressure of the energies and powers. She annoys me, honestly when it comes to answers like these," I said as I placed my head on his chest, his intoxicating scent making my mind a bit messy again.

'You seriously can't wait to shame in front of them, do you?' Crystal asked me and I shrugged.

'If you care so much about something like this, why don't you tell me all the truth in one go? Things would become easier for me and I won't have to ask and meet others for clarification,' I said and she rolled her eyes.

'Crystal,' I said after some seconds as Augustus was roaming his fingers through my hair.

'What is it? Haven't you had enough?' Crystal asked and I smirked at her.

'He smells so good and devouring that my jaws are hurting me again. And I dare you to make me unconscious this time. I want to do it. I think my feelings for Augustus are way more than I can handle. This is not just mere likeness or attraction. I love him so much that it hurts when I have to see him trying his best to keep himself in control,' I paused.

'No matter our human forms and self-control, we are animals who have strong animalistic instincts. It shouldn't be a crime to act upon those instincts, right? I saved him when I was five too. We were meant to meet. This is destiny and fate. The moon goddess wouldn't have paired me with the strongest wolf alive on earth right now if she didn't have any plans, right? Besides, my original plan was to live alone all my life after the revenge plan, right?' I asked Crystal and she hummed with squinted brows.

'What are you thinking?' Augustus asked me as he turned around and looked into my eyes, making me do the same.

'It's nothing. I am just wondering if this was really what the moon goddess wanted for us. She sent me to save you when we were little. When I was dealing with my broken heart we met again in the council chambers. We fought and we separated. I didn't know we would meet each other again, but we met again when I was near your kingdom. I almost ran away for three days and then you came looking for me. If this isn't destiny and fate, then what it is?' I asked Augustus and he looked at me before smiling.

'It is indeed destiny. You are my destiny,' Augustus said as he placed his lips on mine, making me place my hand on his neck as I pushed myself closer to him to feel his body touching mine.

Feeling desire clouding my mind, I went over him before looking into his eyes as he looked at me with raised brows.

'Amalthea, why are you behaving like this? What are you talking about? Answer me first. You never mentioned things like destiny and fate ever before. I get that you love Augustus. I love Kyle too, but what is this all about? Why are you mentioning these things all of a sudden? Is this about the memories that you saw in your dream? Is it because you feel the urge to have a pleasurable time? Or is it because you want to be loved?' Crystal asked me and I smiled at her.

'You love Kyle too? Well, this is the first time you have mentioned his name like this. You only liked Blake's wolf. As far as I remember, you used to say you never felt strong feelings for him, right? Should I take this as a positive sign?' I asked and she raised her brows.

'Now why does this have to do with me? I am asking what the hell are you thinking right now?' Crystal asked, an urgent look on her face and I smiled at her.

'My jaw hurts, Crystal. My nose is wanted because of his alluring scent,' I said and she widened her eyes.

'You are not thinking of doing what I am thinking, right? There is no way in hell you will act irrationally like this,' Crystal said and I pouted my lips before shrugging.

'I have been acting calculative and cautiously for so long. Can't I have a moment of slip-up? Besides, this is what I want to do with my utmost desire. I want Augustus to be mine and mine only,' I said and she stood from her place.

'Stop right there! If you dared to take over or do something, I am not going to go easy on you,' I said and she snarled at me.

'What are you thinking, Amalthea?' She growled and I smiled at her.

'I want to bite, Augustus, Crystal. I want to bite him so hard that he remembers it for the rest of his life,' I said and Crystal looked at me with a cautious look.

'It's just a simple bite, right? There is no meaning to it, right?' Crystal asked me and I smiled at her.

'Well, it depends on what I want to do to him,' I said before I closed my eyes as Augustus placed his lips on my neck.

Feeling my canines elongating again, I grabbed Augustus's hair in my fist before tilting his head.

'It's just one willful desire, Crystal,' I said before licking Augustus's neck.

Taking a deep breath of his scent, I was about to sink my teeth in his neck, on the area I want to mark as I felt a pool of heat building in my core when Crystal stopped me with her words.

'It's Augustus. The person that you weren't supposed to meet and Antonio and his friend are so worried about. It's him,' Crystal said and I felt all my desires dying immediately.

'What did you say?' I asked her before raising my head and looking into his eyes, which were looking at me curiously.

