

Chapter 144 I am a Siren too

Chapter-144

AMALTHEA'S POV

"Amalthea,"

"Amalthea, look at me,"

"My love, don't be like this,"

"Okay, I am sorry. Please stop being angry,"

"My love, please," Augustus said and I just kept my back to him, not speaking to him a single word.

"You want me to forgive you? I can't believe you did that to me. Seriously? If I hadn't threatened you to run away from here, how long were you expecting to go on with this make-out session?" I asked, feeling both shy and angered at the same time.

"We just had 6 rounds, baby," Augustus said and I turned to look at him with a baffled face.

"And you say it like they were any less? It was your first time too, right? How long have you been waiting to do that to me?" I asked before closing my eyes.

"You know what, you don't need to answer the question," I said before taking a deep breath.

"It's been 3 hours since we have been doing it and as much as I loved it, I am tired, Augustus. My body is so sore," I said and he smiled sheepishly before pulling me towards him.

"Okay, I am sorry. I will keep that in mind the next time we are into it. We'll take healthy breaks in between, yeah?" He asked me and I puffed my cheeks before squinting my brows when he turned me around.

"What are you doing?" I asked and he sighed.

"I am massaging your body a bit, my love. I am sorry I made you go through that," he said sweetly and I sighed.

"Now stop making me feel guilty. It's not like I didn't enjoy it. I did enjoy and love every second of it, but I am too tired right now and my throat feels groggy from all the moaning," I said and he chuckled at my words as he massaged my back.

"Augustus, seriously, what did I do to get a mate as good as you?" I asked him as I felt a little sleepy.

"Nothing. Because it's my good luck that I got you as my mate, my love. Anyway, can I ask you something?" He asked and my sleepiness immediately vanished.

I don't know if it's a defensive mechanism that my body has built or what it is, but whenever someone asks me if they can ask something, I always feel like they are going to ask something that I won't have an answer for or they would try to peel off my secrets.

"Umm...yeah. What is it?" I asked, unsure.

"Don't get nervous. You can choose to not answer if you don't feel like it," Augustus said and I hummed.

"Just ask away. Your words are making me more nervous like this," I said and he sighed heavily before stopping and laying beside me as I faced him.

"From the moment we marked each other and consumed the mate bond, I am feeling weird darkness in your mind. There is this mental barrier that keeps everyone away from your mind and prying from your thoughts, but there is this hazy dark fog kind of thing that I have never encountered before," he said and I sighed before laying on my back as I looked at the ceiling.

"You don't have to tell me if you don't feel like it. Maybe it's related to your deals with Antonio and why you get those visions and dreams that let you predict the future?" Augustus said and I hummed.

"I am a locker," I said before looking at him and though it was clear from his face that he was confused, I was glad he let me talk.

"Do you remember that after I saved you there was a Siren that came to my rescue?" I asked and he nodded his head.

"Well, she helped me because she wanted my body as the locker for her Siren powers. She was sure that she would take them back once she will be reborn and I would go back to being a normal werewolf," I said and he squinted his brows.

"Back to being a normal werewolf?" He asked me and I smiled at him.

"Do you remember my visions? It's because I have those Siren powers. And it's not because of that only. According to my wolf, I wasn't supposed to meet or kiss my real mate, which means you. That's why everyone was happy when I chose Blake to be my husband," I said and Augustus supported his head on his hand as he looked at me with curiosity.

"My siren powers started unlocking slowly. Do you remember the shapeshifters feud that immediately stopped because of the song? I helped with that. I didn't know what I was doing or why I heard those songs. I had no idea about them until a couple of days ago. That's why I was always quiet regarding the matter," I said and Augustus sat straight before looking at me.

"I was just supposed to be a locker, but now that the powers have started to unlock themselves within me, I can use them a little -"

"Wait a second. You just said that your meeting and kissing me started unlocking your powers slowly, but now that we have marked each other and completed the mating process, does that mean?" Augustus asked me, interrupting me this time, and I chuckled at his expression.

"Yeah. It means that only. I am a Siren with the wolf of the world now," I said with an awkward smile and he looked at me flabbergasted.

"A little warning would've helped, you know," He said and I smiled awkwardly.