

Chapter 148 Boston is on the run

Chapter-148

AMALTHEA'S POV

"Oh, so you are the infamous Boston. Well, I thought I would be looking at someone worth meeting since you killed Ace's mother and have been hiding from him for so long, but what is this? Ahh, I got excited for nothing," I said as I looked at Throb, who smirked at me.

"Amalthea Jade, I don't remember a time when I crossed paths with you or came in your way for any reason. Can I know why you came here looking for and are causing this ruckus?" Boston asked me and I pouted my lips.

"Why? Didn't you hear it? I am the Justice in the area," I said before blinking my eyes innocently.

"You have disappointed me. I thought you had the capabilities to take care of yourself, but it looks like, you just know how to take advantage of other people and use them for your benefit," I said before smiling at Boston.

"I am the killer of the rogues who have killed many rogues terribly and now that I know you are the one who killed Ace's mother, I am here to capture you alive. You guys can try to protect him from me, but I would like you to think twice," I said as I looked at the shapeshifters around us.

"I don't see why you are here for something that happened more than 10 years ago. What is your purpose? Is it about money? I can give you more money than he is offering. Besides, what will he do about me now? His mother is already dead, isn't she?" Boston said and I hummed.

"Do you really think you are someone important? Why am I here? Well, that's because I want something from Alpha Ace and what can be a better bargaining option than the person he has been looking for so long. Besides, do you think you are in a position to inquire about these things?" I asked before scoffing.

Looking at Alpha Walter and his beta, I smiled before walking towards Boston as he took a step back.

"Luna Jade, you can't come here and cause a ruckus like this. We might be in need of the Lycan's help, but that doesn't mean we will let some outsider bully us," Alpha Walter said and I squinted my brows.

"Alpha Walter, I understand what you are saying, but there is something that is troubling me. You are so against me coming here and stirring up trouble, but you are okay with a rogue living with you, even after knowing he is just using you guys for his benefit? Don't you think you are showing double standards here?" I chuckled before leaning my body on the wall.

"You are ready to stake the safety of the whole pack of shapeshifters because your so-called beta's daughter loves this bas*ard? Well, if you are having trouble making decisions just because of her, let me start with killing her. I can feel that she is not pregnant and there is no other way I am letting this prick go from my hands," I said before rushing to that girl with a speed of light as I held her head and placed my dagger on her neck.

"No!"

"Walter!"

"My baby!"

I heard collective shouts around me and I looked at Throb, who looked at me impressed as he waited there with a calm expression on his face.

"This girl, are you seriously going to let so many people die because you fell in love with a jerk? If yes, then you are way more selfish than I had thought about and I don't see why a selfish girl like you should get to live ,” I said before pressing the knife on her neck.

”I am not the only one who loves him. He loves me too. He is not a jerk and has not caused any problems for us. In fact, he has been helping us fight against the rogues when the Lycans are not helping us,” the beta’s daughter said, and I closed my eyes before chuckling as I felt like rolling on the ground with laughter.

”He loves you? Shouldn't he surrender or try to surrender if he loves you? Shouldn't he be trying to dissolve the matter rather than thinking about running away?” I asked before grinning at her as I pressed the knife more firmly, drawing a trail of blood.

”Oops, it's blood,” I said with wide eyes before looking at her father, who was looking at me like he was seconds away from losing his mind.

”Don't blame me if she gets killed today. Plead, baby. Plead to your love to save you. I want to see it too. If he surrenders for you without you forcing him, I would let you both go,” I whispered in her ears and she widened her eyes.

”Are you serious?” She asked and I shrugged.

”I don't have the entire day,” I said and he nodded before looking at Boston.

”Boston, please surrender to Luna Jade. Our whole pack's safety is on the line. Please save me, baby. She'll kill me. I don't want to die. I am scared. She said if you'll surrender, she'll make sure you don't get killed,” She paused before starting again.

”Maybe if we show Alpha Ace how much we love each other, he might leave us? Please save me and surrender,” The daughter said and I waited patiently as I looked at Boston, whose gaze indeed flickered.

'Will you really leave him and let this mission go down the drain?' Crystal asked and I hummed.

'Only if I see he has really changed and loves her,' I said and Crystal nodded.

"Boston, what are you thinking about. I am so scared. I don't want to die like this. Please help me. Please save me. Only you can save me by surrendering to her," The daughter said again and looking at her, I knew she wasn't acting.

She was saying all those words from the bottom of her heart. Every emotion she was showing right now was what she was feeling. There wasn't a slightest tinge of fakeness and I couldn't help but feel my heart aching for her.

"Boston, aren't you going to help me around? What are you thinking so much about?" The girl in my arms asked, horrified, as I pressed my knife deeper.

"Well, you don't have much time left," I said to her.

"Wait," Boston finally said and I looked at him with intrigue.

Was he really going to surrender to save her? Will he give up on hiding and announce he is ready to come with me because he wants to protect the girl he loves? If that's what he wants, I will just find another way to repay Alpha Ace.

"What is it? Are you surrendering?" I asked Boston with a smirk.

I noticed how he took a step towards me before smiling.

"Babe, I love you. You want me to protect you and surrender? You want me to give up my life for you? Well, if that's what you want, I am ready to do it. I'll surrender so she does nothing to you, babe. I will protect you. Don't be scared. I am ready to die a thousand times for you," Boston said as his gaze wavered and I loosened my grip on the girl's head, ready to leave her.

However, as I was about to remove the knife and let her go to Boston, he started speaking again.

"Babe, is this what you wanted me to speak? You know, I really love you, but there is something that I love the most in the world. And that's my freedom. I love myself more than anything in the world. Do you really think I am going to put myself in a complicated situation just to save your ass?" Boston asked.

"You are beautiful and everything, but you are not the only girl in the world. It was good while it lasted, but I guess, it's time for me to leave this place and hide somewhere else. You were pretty much easy to use and I am not sure if I'll be able to get someone like you again. You have my respect there," Boston said.

Blinking my eyes as I looked at the guy in front of me, I couldn't help but feel what a jerk he was. And Blake's father protected a guy like this for the sake of money.

Just how soiled his Character is? And why the hell was I never able to see it?

Was I that blind?

"Kill me," the girl in my arms said and I raised my brows at her.

"What did you say?" I asked her and she placed her hand on my hand.

"I said, Kill me. That's the only way you'll get to him. I don't want to live anymore. My pack suffered so much and not only my dad but my alpha had to get along with this bas*ard," she paused before chuckling in self mockery.

"To him I was nothing more than an escape from the outer world and a haven to keep him safe so that he can continue his bad deeds while hiding with us. He was sure no one would find him here. Luckily, you came here or I would've continued to let my people suffer," The girl said as she pressed the knife harder on her neck and I looked into her eyes.

Holding her hair in a tight grip, I tilted her head, forcing her to look at me.

"You want to die? Because of this jerk? If you are really ashamed of your actions, then become strong and avenge those people who wronged you rather than dying like a coward. Your father and alpha did so much for you and you are just going to choose an easy death to escape the reality?" I scoffed before twisting her hand and breaking it, making her scream.

"This should be enough to make you realise what pain feels like," I said before standing.

"Well, you are not going to kill her? All of this was just a drama to expose me? Too bad. I was hoping to see some good blood shed here," Boston said as he took a step back and I looked at him closely before turning my head to the girl, who nodded at him.

"Amalthea, the smoke bomb!" Throb said and I raised my brows at Boston who immediately rolled the bomb towards me.

The smoke bomb exploded and soon there was nothing I could see. Because of the strong smell, it was hard to even smell the rogue scent.

It was a plan. They were tricking us. This girl, I looked at her, as she cried with a broken look on her face.

"I can't believe you helped him even after he did that to you. You are the epitome of foolishness," I growled at her before nodding at Throb who ran towards the borders of the pack

"So what! So what if he doesn't loves me as much as I love him? Do I let him die at your hands? Do we not know what kind of person Alpha Ace is? I am not a fool to believe you. I loved him with all my heart and that's why I let him go," That girl said and I took a deep breath before looking lat the Alpha.

"You can say goodbye to any help from anyone starting today," I said.

"I was really thinking of letting it go, Amalthea Jade, but I think you have threatened my alpha and my daughter enough," the beta of the pack said as he jumped on me, making me growl at him as I threw him away before standing as I looked at all of them closely, who looked like they would attack me any second.

"You are making a mistake by attacking me," I said and the beta laughed out loud.

"Well, I don't care about it. I'll show you a lesson today. Whatever Boston was, my daughter was happy with him. But you came along and destroyed her happy family. You destroyed everything," the beta said and I really couldn't believe my eyes.

Were they really saying this? Can't they see what's going on here? That jerk rogue kept her happy? Didn't they see how he ran off at the first chance he got
