

The alphas of Saint wolves pack

Chapter-22

AUGUSTUS DOMINIC'S POV

Delighted. That's what I was feeling right now.

I have never been the type to spy on someone's private matters, but I guess spying on my mate's matter was worth it.

It was a big risk. Not because I was afraid that she would catch me doing so, but because I was afraid I would scare that rogue away, and all their dealings would be canceled without even taking place.

I had never known I would feel this protective for someone. When I saw her breaking the glass in her hand at the dining table, it would be an understatement that I didn't want to punch Harry's face for saying such words that angered her to this length.

That was the main reason why I followed her out of the chambers.

However, I felt something was wrong when I saw her wiping the blood casually and washing it with a bored look as she walked deeper into the forests.

How can someone change her emotions so fast? I know from experience that girls are capable of this skill but to this extent? The more I followed her, the more suspicious I became that she was going to meet the rogue.

I could've gone away without getting noticed once the deal was done between them, but my wolf couldn't take it. He wanted to help our mate, and that's exactly what I proposed to her.

I wanted to go with her for two reasons. One, to make sure she was safe and sound, and second because I wanted to see if the rumors about this alpha were true or not. I have met him quite a several times, and though he acts all nice and obedient, I have always had a bad feeling about him. He is too sweet for his own good.

There is no smoke without any fire, so that's exactly what I want to know by going there personally and seeing things myself.

It took a lot of effort to get her to agree to it, but in the end, it was all worth it. The look on her face when she looked up to me as I looked into her eyes and those rosy cheeks, not forgetting how flushed she was when she fell on my lap, everything made my day, and it won't be wrong to say, it's been a long time since I felt so happy.

Realizing that I was smiling like a fool at nothing in particular, I cleared my throat before fixing the expression on my face back to a neutral one.

'I can't believe you are the same guy who hates women. Don't you think you are getting a bit too involved in my mate's matters?' Kyle suddenly asked me, and I raised my brows at him.

'Your mate? She is our mate, dude. We are one body and two personalities, remember?' I asked him, and he just huffed.

'Whatever, just don't screw things up,' He said, and I scoffed.

'You just wait and watch how I impress her with my powers and influence. I guess she is like this because no one has ever treated her well, but I'll let her know what it feels like when a King has your back,' I said as I remembered how genuinely taken aback she looked when I had opened the car door for her.

'What are you thinking of going?' Kyle asked me, and I just smirked.

'Well, we are at the borders of the Saint Wolves pack. Do you think they'll just let anyone inside? She is bound to face some problems. However, when they'll see the Lycan King is with her, I am sure they'll let her in, and this is going to help me win some credit,' I said, and he hummed.

"Sir, we are at the pack borders. Should I let them know you are here?" Jake asked me, and I was about to tell him to do so when Amy stepped out of the car.

"Amy, you don't need to persuade them into letting you inside. Once they'll see me, they'll let us inside eventually. You can come back inside," I said to her, and she looked at me with confusion before shaking her head.

I observed how she went toward the pack security guard, and I thought she was going to tell them something that would let her inside. However, what I did not expect was for the security guard to get on his knees and bow to her.

"Madam," He said, and Amy just smiled at him awkwardly before helping him up.

"Stupid guys. How many times do I need to tell you not to do this? Anyway, tell your alpha I am here," She said confidently, and it wasn't long before the Alpha of the pack came to the borders.

"What a pleasant surprise! To what honor did I receive a visit from the legendary Jade?" He said the first thing he came, and I looked at their interactions, confused.

Legendary Jade?

Right. How can I be so stupid and ignorant? It's been more than a day since I know she is my mate, and I am yet to ask my men to find out about her.

From her actions, it is clear she isn't going to tell me anything, and if I want to understand her more, I will have to start by knowing more about her.

Shaking my head to get out of my thoughts, I looked at my mysterious mate as she chuckled with the Alpha.

"Oh, I forgot to mention, the Lycan king is also with me," She said.

Me, on the other hand- "..."

'Haha, so much for helping her get inside the pack. It looks like she is the one letting you inside,' My wolf said, and I gritted my teeth before looking at the Alpha who came to bow by my window.

"I am honored to have you here, King Augustus," He said, and I squinted my brows.

Now that I look at him closely, I can guarantee he isn't the Alpha of the pack. And if he is not? Then who is he?

"You are?" I asked, and he scratched the back of his head.

"He is Alpha's twin brother, David," Amy said as she came by our side and smiled at him.

"Did you mention the one who was once crazy for you?" He asked, and she chuckled again before patting her shoulder jokingly, and it won't be wrong to say that it took every ounce of patience inside me to not punch him.

"Jade!" David suddenly shouted, and before I could know what was happening, I saw Amy bending backward as a dagger was thrown past her.

Seeing the dagger hitting the tree, I went down from the car hurriedly to see the culprit, only to come face to face with the real Alpha of the Saint Wolves pack.

"Are you out of your mind? You would have hurt her," I said, and he bowed at me in respect before holding Amy's hand.

"I would be really happy that day when I'll get to hurt her," he said with a smirk.

I could see a hint of sinister look appearing in his eyes, and now that I look at him, maybe some of the complaints I have been receiving about the alpha being torturous are indeed true.

"Do you really think you have the capability to hurt me?" Amy scoffed at him before jerking away from his hand and holding his neck instead.

"Jade, don't forget whose borders are you standing on," Robin, the alpha of the Saint Wolves pack said, and she smiled.

"I remember exactly whose land it is. Wasn't it Thompson's ?" She said, and Robin immediately stopped struggling before sighing.

"I am sorry, okay? I was just joking . I wanted to see if you still have the same flexibility and vigor," Robin said, and she shook her head.

"Now, are you going to invite us inside or not?" She asked, and Robin nodded his head.

"We'll come inside the car," She said before opening the car door and sitting inside.

"Bast*Rd," Amy said as soon as the car started moving, and I couldn't help but look at her comically.

are more than what is allowed, then I'll make David the alpha since he was the best alternative since the beginning. Though this process is long since they are twins, it will be much easier," I said, and she looked at me with wide eyes.

"Seriously? You can do that? That would be great," she said as we stopped in front of the pack house.

"Let's get this over with quickly. I want to go and prepare a dress for tomorrow's ball," She said as she stepped out of the car, and I followed behind her, not minding her mannerless ways anymore.

"So, you didn't tell me, Jade. Why are you here?" Robin came straight to the point, and Amy took out her phone before displaying it in front of Robin and David.

"This girl, I want her," She said directly, and I noticed how the expression on his face immediately changed.

"This girl? What exactly do you want her for?" He asked, and Amy sighed.

"For punishment. I am not sure if you know about her family or not, but she had an elder sister who was married to a warrior male in our pack. She left him, and it led to the demise of that wolf. He was one of my security members, and you know how well I treat my people. I want her to come with me so that I can marry her off with that wolf as compensation," Amy said, and I squinted my brows as I didn't understand any of it.

Wait. Don't tell me she is really going to the extent of making a random story for that wolf.

Doesn't she know that she can get into trouble for this? I thought before looking at her, but the confident look on her face made me second my thoughts.

"We'll discuss this later. Let me attend the Lycan King first," He said dodging the answer before looking at me.

"I have been receiving some complaints about your ill-treatment. We Lycans usually ignore the matters concerning the werewolves and their packs because that's not our duty, but how can I be at peace when the people complaining are sending it directly to our palace complaint box rather than the council?"

I was just strolling around the packs since I was in the area. However, since I am already here, you should know that an investigation committee will be set up to judge your ruling ways, and if there are any problems and issues found, you will no longer be the ruling alpha," I said, and Amy looked at me shocked, probably not expecting for me to say these words directly.

Author's Note- Don't forget to comment and gift if you like this book.