

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 36 - Tips

0 7 minutes read

It was the third day and he was out of his mind already, the progress was taking too slow since Shani insisted on taking every precaution to make sure that he was safe.

“Shani, please I really need to get back to Madison,”

“Ralph, you know this already...she’s better off without you near her. Your entity attaches himself to you, and we need to make sure he keeps on lingering here.”

Rain was helping her with the protection spell, his king of hell had been sending his minions to fetch him back to his kingdom and Rain has been sending them home. Repeatedly.

“Look, I want this thing to be done soon too, I don’t want Ranulf coming here with his wrath. He might kill your entity with just a flick of...” Rain was annoyed with the wait also but they needed to be smart about it.

“Maybe we should call him instead?”

“Ralph, be patient...we need to resolve the issue once and for all. We need to make sure that this thing won’t happen again in the future.” Shani said while she kept on flipping her spellbook and getting all the correct colored candles and plaques. Rain was helping her with the sage and Walter was still talking to Suzy who was getting antsy with all the human talk of bad entities.

It took Shani another hour before she was ready for their final seance. In the last two seances, they have had the entity cornered and managed to seal the dark matter in the abandoned house on the realm where Ralph seemed to be taken back over and over again.

“Walter you stay here with Shani, I will accompany Ralph, and Suzy will cover us from the other entities.” Rain explained as he was lighting up the candles and chanting the spell. All of that while he kept on circling the space with the burning incense.

Walter nodded, while Shani kept carrying on with her preparation until a portal was opened and she signaled to Ralph and Rain to keep their distance to Suzy. The young teenage ghost looked a little tenser than her usual careless self but she kept quiet as the three of them were passing through the portal.

Rain walked confidently beside Ralph and they reach the abandoned house in just a few minutes. They could hear the entity growled and grunted, and Rain was fast to his front and put down his satchel bag.

He was methodically making the ritual circle on the dirty-looking floor of the abandoned house, candles were placed, while he chanted the old language which Ralph didn't recognize.

But then he was mesmerized as he saw the entity slowly became smaller, his black hairy body turned human-like. Ralph was amazed by its transformation and he didn't realize it until Rain tugged and pulled him inside the circle.

He reached the circle on time while Suzy hovers behind them looking scared in her already pale ghostly looking skin. The entity breaks out of his oversized binds and lunged at them but then was thrown back by the protection spell surrounding the circle made out of the black chalk.

"I know him, Fvck! it's you!" Ralph was about to jump him when Rain shouted at him and hold his body down with all his strength and it wasn't easy with all the adrenaline and sudden anger which were running through Ralph's body.

"Who's he?"

"My uncle, I remember everything now," Ralph's eyes were glassy from the sudden turmoil of sadness. He finally couldn't take it and sit down on the dirty floor, while Rain was back to chanting his spell.

The candle flames were higher as if Ralph's uncle was in such rage that he was able to summon the changes.

"You! you killed my parents!" Ralph shouted and the pure rage made him released himself from Rain and ran to the entity, which smirked knowing that the human had fallen into his own trap.

"Fvck! Ralph! come here!"

Rain was too late when the young man was possessed by his so-called uncle. He hovered above the ground, while Rain was busy with his chants while spreading various colors of dust and burning more sage until finally Ralph was dropped to the ground and Rain could see the blood sipping from behind his head.

Rain took all the energy that he got, all the power that he possessed, and let out his very dark energy that he had mastered from the demon witch. His tutor down in the kingdom of hell.

The entity vanishes in an instant, and Suzy was to Ralph's side immediately.

"No...no..." she kept on voicing her words until Ralph was pulled back by Rain who looked equally bad as him.

"Come on Suzy, we're leaving this place for good."

The portal opened behind them and more chaos awaited them as he saw the familiar black wing of his king of hell, Ranulf.

"Maven, please... call him here!" Rain pleaded to his lover while carrying Ralph who was bleeding from the back of his head.

Rain knew that he would never survive with human medicine, he needs a supernatural intervention and Rain only know one being that could save him.

"I will deal with you later." Everyone could feel the kings' rage when the ground shook as if there was an earthquake. But the king of hell turn and headed out to the portal behind Shani's yard.

Arkael was shaking his head looking at his heelish best buddy who still couldn't control his possessiveness towards his little wolf witch.

"Arkael?" Shani looked at her husband making sure that Ranulf was coming back with his demon witch.

"He will be back, he'd do anything for his little wolf. But you better clean up his wound while we're waiting for Maven."

And that was when she noticed his burnt hands, then she cursed and told him to sit on the couch and let Walter and Arkael move Ralph to the guest bedroom.

"I swear your king is going to kill me when he's back with Maven." Shani cleans his hands with a damp cloth which made him hiss in pain.

"How did you do this to yourself? this burnt wound looked like you just put your hands inside a working furnace." Shani tried to put more embalming fluid to his hand, but it looked like he needed more than just the embalming fluid.

"I was trying the demonic energy release that Maven taught me, but seemed that I haven't mastered it quite well."

"You think?"

"But I destroyed the entity, it was his uncle by the way. Ralph said he remembered everything and it was his uncle who murdered both of his parents."

"Oh, damn!"

"Yeah, look don't worry about me. Maven can heal me you know that." Rain smirked knowing that Shani was loving his demon witch lair and had experienced his healing method when she was hurt back in hell.

"...you should make sure Ralph is still breathing when he gets here..."

But his words were interrupted with another shake on the ground signaling that his king has arrived with Maven.

"Shani, show him to the wounded," Ranulf entered the room and his wing flapped in annoyance telling Maven to go with her then back to them soon to heal Rain's hands.

"Don't look at me like that, you will get punished my little wolf. Why do you always defy me anyway?"

"Mm...maybe because I like your punishment?"

The king of hell couldn't help to chuckle at his words.

"You are one sick witch wolf."

"But you love me anyway,"

“I do,” he closes their distance and pulls his handsome human for a deep passionate kiss.

“Boys, nice to see that you’re back to loving each other again,” Arkael said smiling as he takes a seat on the sofa, he was just back from checking on his kid who still sleeping peacefully.

The three men talked casually while they were waiting for Maven to tell them the good news.

After two hours of waiting Maven finally came out looking his usual self not giving any indication of Ralph’s condition. Walter was sipping his coffee while Shani was resting her head to her husband’s chest. Ranulf was leaning his back to the wall with Rain to his front resting himself to his possessive king of hell.

“He will sleep, in your term, I put him in a coma. The swelling in his brain needs to go down before I could heal the crack in his skull. But basically, he will heal just needs time, longer than usual. I already put protection spell and leave my balm to be applied to the back of his head two times a day.”

Everyone relaxed back and smile at each other.

“I will be back in two days to heal the crack in his skull. My King...” the demon witch asked for his king’s permission to touch his mate’s hands, making Rain rolled his eyes but waited for his lover to say his confirmation.

It didn’t take long for the demon witch to heal Rain’s hands and the process of it still amazes Shani as she watches how his hand was turning back to his previous ones.

“Ah... good as new, thank you, Maven, you’re dismissed.”

And like Maven, Walter was the first to excuse himself and go back to his family. Suzy vanished the moment Walter walked out of the door. Then Ranulf and Rain went back to hell in the most dramatic exit making Arkael laugh at his friends.

“He’s such a show-off, but I’m glad everything is okay. That you’re okay...” The previous king of hell wrapped his beautiful wife and ushered her back to their room, leaving Ralph sleeping peacefully in the guest bedroom.

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 37 - Tips

0 5 minutes read

“Ralph?”

“My beautiful Madison, I love you.”

“Wait, when did you come in, how did you find me?”

“I’m Ralph babe ...I know things.” He smiled at her and kissed her temple.

Madison woke up in the middle of the night with Ralph to her side. His explanation was a bit shady, and she didn’t realize that she missed him.

So much.

Ralph’s short reply convinced her and she thought she’d ask him in the morning. His hands slithered underneath his t-shirt that she’s been wearing every time she falls asleep at night.

“I like that you’ve been stealing my t-shirts and sleep in them.”

“I’ve missed you...” she whispered pulling herself closer to his embrace.

“Me too, so much more.” He was rubbing her back and kissing her hair.

“How’s your session with Shani?”

“It was tough, but it’s finally done. The entity was my uncle, it was all coming back to me. After years of being stuck in another realm, he manifested to the dark hairy monstrous figure.”

“Your uncle? but why? I thought your biological parents didn’t have any relatives, that’s why...”

“I had an uncle, didn’t know what happened to him, must’ve died. That’s why he became the entity.”

Madison kissed his arm that was holding her possessively, then she told him to continue his story.

“I saw it, remembered how he stabs my dad in the stomach, then my mom...I can see her wearing a long white dress. She was holding him, trying to save him.”

“Oh god...the abandoned house...”

“That was my old house...”

“...and my dream, that was...”

“Yes, my parents. Shani sent me and Rain there with Suzy, it was messy but Rain managed to destroy him. And now I’m back.”

Ralph pushed her down and started kissing her, stating his love for her. She was cherished while her mind wanders to the baby inside her.

“Ralph, I need...to...tell you...”

“Sssh...later baby, I’ve missed you too much.”

He smirked then suddenly vanished under the blanket, parting her legs, and started ravishing her where she longed the most.

“Ralph...” her moans were needy and full of desire and he kept on having her until she climaxed.

“I love you.” He whispered as he trailed his kisses higher, he took off her top and started licking her nipples.

Her fingers were to his hair while she spread her legs then move her hands to pull down his pants. She was telling him that she loves him too then arching her back wanting more of his sweet little kisses. Her legs wrapped his back and they both moans when he entered her slowly.

The lovemaking was erotically slow, yet it was so sensual that they never felt so high in love before. They were tangled in each other, high on lust, cherishing each other. The two lovers moaned in ecstasy when they reached their climax simultaneously.

That night she slept peacefully in his arms.

*****

Morning came and Ralph was gone, she remembered last night he said something about going back to his place. Madison texted him, but he didn't reply. So she carries on with her day, thinking that he must be busy.

And that morning she was glad that he was not there to watch her throw up her breakfast. Madison also made a doctor's appointment after she talked with Kendra. She decided to tell Ralph about the doctor's appointment thinking he might want to be there for her.

It was night when she finally falls asleep from reading her book, and just like the night before Ralph showed up and they made love. He didn't want to talk he just wanted her, wanted to love her.

She felt something was off the morning that she didn't find him by her side. And Madison decided to call him instead.

"Ralph?"

"Madison? it's me, Shani..."

At that moment she felt her whole world falls apart, she knows exactly that something had happened to him. She was speechless, she could feel her body was getting cold, it felt her heart was beating slower, the numbed feeling was flooding her brain, all while she stood in silence still listening to Shani.

"...something happened to Ralph,"

"No...no...he was here last night and the night before..."

"Why don't you come here? he's being treated at my place."

Shani didn't know what Madison meant when she said that Ralph was there the last two nights.

"I'm on my way."

Madison ended the call, she sits down and wiped her tears, her hands felt cold and her throat was suddenly parched. But when she gets up she had the sudden urge to throw up. She was still teary when she washes her face, then changes her clothes.

She was out of the door ten minutes later, she took a deep breath and set her GPS to Shani's. It was going to be a long drive and but she needed to see him.

Tears fall as she was stuck in traffic. She has been on the road for more than an hour, the desperation was real and she finally pulls over when she saw the small diner where she went with Ralph the day they went to Shani's.

The meal tasted like nothing, her senses were gone and all she wanted was to get to Shani's as soon as possible but she knows that she needs to take care of the baby that's growing inside her.

"Is everything okay miss?" the older woman looked at her with concerned in her eyes.

Madison wiped her tears away and smiled at the waiter.

"I'm okay, hormones." She tugged her lip and put a hand over her still nonvisible pregnancy belly.

"Oh...don't worry the feeling will pass, I'll get you some vanilla ice cream for the nausea."

It wasn't long until she came back with a small bowl of vanilla ice cream.

"Let me know if you want more." She smiled softly and took away her empty plate.

It took Madison another fifteen minutes to force herself to finish her food, then she paid the bill and leave the waiter a generous tip on the table and continue her journey to Shani's.

The coastal air reminded her of the argument that they had the first time they visited Shani. Her vision was blurry and she was so upset that she didn't realize her car was swerving to the right and almost hit another car. Her heart beats so fast when she was trying to avoid the car from the opposite direction.

She didn't know what happened next, but she was hearing the loud crash and was quick to feel the pain when her forehead and chest impacted the airbag.

Madison's last view was the coastal skyline, it was beautiful, it was perfect, but then the peacefulness was interrupted by a tremendous pain to her right side.

She shed her tears thinking she won't be seeing her Ralph anymore, and that she had killed her baby. The bright sunny sky slowly dimmed as she closes her eyes and shed another tear.

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 38 - Tips

0 5 minutes read

The accident had made the afternoon traffic stopped. People were coming out of their car to take a look, while others were busy calling for help.

Madison's car was turned to the side making any emergency rescue by passerby more difficult.

In the middle of the hectic situation, twenty minutes away from the freeway where the accident happened, one man who had been unconscious for days finally opens his eyes.

"Madison!"

Ralph jerked himself awake calling out Madison's name. His voice was throaty and he was struggling to get up.

"Hey Ralph, glad you're awake Maven has been waiting for you to come back from your coma to start healing your skull."

Ralph tried to get up, but he was hurting so bad. It felt as if someone had slammed his skull against the wall.

"...what are you, stop it! Ralph, don't get up! Arkael! HELP!"

Shani was quick to call her husband and he helped her hold Ralph down.

"Listen to me, Ralph!" Shani tried to calm him down.

"Madison, she's in trouble...I need to call her." His head was pounding and he felt so tired after the adrenaline fades out, but he was so worried about Madison that he was still breathing heavily and his eyes were wildly looking at his surroundings.

“Madison is fine, she’s on her way here after she called hours earlier,” Shani explained, hoping that her words were not a lie since she didn’t know for sure.

“My phone, please...I can feel it, something is not right.” Ralph voiced out his concern but resting back to the pillow as his body had seemed to lose its power.

Arkael had let go of his hold on him and gave Ralph his phone that was on his side table.

Shani was answering her phone seeing that it was from Walter. Her heart beats a little bit faster knowing that his wife Florence is a clairvoyant.

“Shani, is Ralph awake?”

Shani cursed on the inside knowing Ralph might be right.

“Just tell me, what did Flo say?”

“Shit! Okay...she said a young woman had an accident on the freeway, Flo had never met her so she’s not sure but the way she’s describing her it might be, and she said that the woman could be Ralph’s girlfriend but she’s not sure.”

“Oh God, he’s calling her mobile right now. I’m summoning Maven first, Ralph needs to be healed before he can walk around looking for Maddie.”

“Okay, I’m on my way right now.”

They ended the call and Shani decided to tell Ralph about her conversation with Walter, thinking he would find out eventually anyway.

“Ralph, that was Walter...”

He looked at Shani and put his hand on the back of his head. His head was still pounding and he was beyond tired. He finally put down his mobile since he couldn’t seem to get through to Madison.

“It’s Florence isn’t it?”

“Yes, look Arkael will search for her to the nearest hospital. But I need to contact Maven, you need to be healed you won’t be able to walk in your condition.”

Arkael agreed then put their toddler in his playpen so Shani could keep an eye on him while she’s contacting Maven.

Ralph was still trying to get himself seated on the headboard but still couldn’t. He was breathless and his head was still in so much pain until he finally gave up and lay back to the pillow.

Maven showed up moments later, he was in his usual still expression. And the demon witch went straight to examining him without letting out his words.

He worked quietly and Ralph didn’t mind at all as long as he could get out of the house soonest and be with Madison. But then he gr0aned and his hands grasped the sheets when he felt as if the base of his skull was being molded back together.

“Hold the pain, I’ve already put the numbing agent in the balm but it’ll still hurt especially for humans.”

He looked like he was about to die. Trickled of sweat was trailing from his forehead, he was grinding his teeth and grunting in pain. Shani was to his side and giving him her healing energy, she relaxed a little bit when she saw that he started breathing regularly.

It took another couple of minutes but then Ralph said he felt better, good as new. And that was when he thanked everyone and asked if Shani has heard anything from Arkael.

“Get dressed, I’ll take you there.”

Shani ushered Maven out of the bedroom and he was out of the back door without even a word. She just shook her head knowingly and continue to get her little son and call Arkael asking where he was.

They all arrived at the hospital in less than thirty minutes. Arkael was already waiting for them by the lobby, he took their son from Shani when Audric was yelling for his dad.

“She’s still in surgery. If anyone asked I’m her uncle okay. They won’t let anyone but relatives in the emergency unit.”

They all nodded, but Ralph was quick to ask more questions.

“Will she be okay? is she critical?” Ralph was tense but Shani put a hand on his trying to comfort him.

“She’s out of the danger zone, they’re patching her up. She has a deep laceration on her right side of her body but I’m sure my wife can fix her up faster with her remedies. If not then we’ll call Maven once she’s out of the hospital.”

“Right.” Ralph was pacing back and forth still looking nervous.

Walter joined them half an hour later, he was giving Ralph his support and trying to calm him down.

It was another hour later when a doctor confirmed that Madison has been moved to a recovery room and a nurse was waiting to usher Ralph to see her. The nurse reminded them by saying until confirmed by the doctor only one visitor is allowed in her room.

Shani and her family decided to get back and Walter followed them, he told him to keep in touch and Shani said she’d be waiting for Madison.

“We can heal her faster, she’ll be just fine,” Shani whispered while hugging him.

“I know, thank you. For everything.”

They finally parted and Ralph followed the nurse but he was not ready when he saw her bruises, on her beautiful face and her arms were cuts, small laceration in several places. The nurse said they were from the broken windshield glass. The beeping sound from the machine was the only indication that she was still alive.

“Your fiance...she’s a true fighter.”

“Thank you.”

It was the only way he could stay and accompany her, he had stated that he's Madison's fiance, and luckily because it was a small hospital they didn't check anything further.

He thanked the nurse and go to her side, he took a seat then waited for her. It was not until late at night when she opened her eyes.

Madison could feel someone was holding her hand, her throat felt dry, her body felt as if she has been hit by a ton of bricks.

"Ralph..."

"Hey, you're awake..."

She wakes up to Ralph who looked pale and thinner than the last time she saw him.

"How are you?" his question made her think about the situation, how she got there, why was she in an accident, how was she able to foresee Ralph's incident.

Her eyes were teary as she saw the state that she was in. Her healthy hand was to her stomach and she stared at him.

"My baby, how's...our baby?"

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 39 - Tips

0 6 minutes read

Ralph couldn't believe his hearing when Madison asked about the baby.

"Baby? what do you mean?"

"Ralph, please...you gotta get the nurse. I need to know..." she said keeping her hand to her belly.

Madison was frantic, her breathings were getting irregular then the machine starting beeping faster.

"Oh sh!t! Madison, stay with me... I'll get someone, just....calm down." Ralph k!ssed her temple and hurriedly headed to the nurse's station while his mind was busy thinking about her words.

Ralph was back within moments with one of the nurses, she was quick to adjust Madison's IV drips before she answered any of her questions.

"Please my baby?"

Ralph was to his lover's side lowering himself to her, wrapping his arm, and letting her rest to his side.

"Regretfully we couldn't save your baby, the impact was too massive. Your body couldn't endure the force, the doctors tried to save it but the pregnancy was too young..."

Ralph couldn't hear the rest, what he felt was a tremendous sadness that Madison let out. She sobbed and all he could do was wrapped her in his arm, being extra careful with her wound, telling her that everything would be okay.

"I'm so sorry, I should've been more careful..."

"Sshh...we have each other, we will get through this,"

The nurse looked at the young couple then decides to excused herself and gave them more privacy.

"I love you Madison, I didn't know. I'm so sorry, but I'm here for you now."

Madison kept on sobbing, she didn't let go of his arm and cry until she falls asleep. While Ralph was back to blaming himself for not taking her with him in the first place.

"You know it's not your fault right?"

Ralph was surprised when he hears Suzy's voice.

Maddie was sleeping while he was standing looking outside the hospital window, thinking about the baby.

Their baby that they just lost.

He didn't know how to feel, he was sad for her, regret deeply that he wasn't there for her when...

"Ralph?"

“Yeah, I don’t know Suzy. I’m still feeling overwhelmed right now.”

“You’re meant for her, you know that right? maybe the situation will bring both of you so much closer together?”

“Or makes us fall apart?” he said looking at his personal teenage ghost.

Suzy shrugged then telling him it would all depend on him and how he’d handle the situation.

“I guess you’re right.”

“I am, look...just be there for her.”

“I think my baby was why my uncle’s ghost tormented her, she was more sensitive because of it...”

“Look, you need to talk it out with her. Talk to Walter and Shani, if they can make it work with their husband and wife, I’m sure you can too. You love her right?”

“I do.”

“More than anything in the world?” the young ghost hovered around him.

“I do,”

“So man up and be there for her. Don’t let any lame ghost break you up.”

Ralph tugged his lips and finally back to her side.

“Thank you, Suz didn’t know you can be so wise. I will keep that in mind.”

“You’re welcome, now...I’m going to scare some nurses and leave you two lovebirds alone.” She grinned at him and walked through the walls of the hospital recovery room.

Ralph took his seat and back to hold her hand. He couldn’t sleep, but he holds her hand and caresses her ring finger knowing for sure that he was going to buy her one, once they’re out of the hospital.

*****

The sun was shining, he could feel the warmth ray to his back and he could also feel Maddie's hand caressing his hair.

"Morning."

"Morning." He smiled at her and kissed her hand lovingly.

He could sense that she was about to shed more tears when he hugged her and told her that he'd be there for her. He wouldn't know what she must be feeling at that time, because he was still coping with the idea that she was pregnant and that she was having his baby.

"Madison please, we will grieve for our loss. But for now, please concentrate on your recovery. Okay? I can't lose you too."

She nodded and tried to sit up but then winced from the pain.

"Slowly, you will be better soon. Shani will be here later on today, she'll give you some healing remedies you'll be out of here soonest."

"Tell me?" her voice was raspy and Ralph reached out for her glass of water and let her quench her parched throat.

Ralph knows exactly what she was referring to, and to keep her mind from their recent loss, he started telling her about his theory and what had happened to him.

"I think I'm seeing the connection, we will confirm it later with Shani and Walter, but we have found out about the entity. It was my uncle from my mother's side, he was the one who killed my parents. Rain, Suzy, and I went back to the abandoned house couple of days ago."

Ralph paused his words making sure Madison was listening.

"This was because me and Suzy saw the entity was back to drain your energy. I didn't know why at first, I was confused because you have been cleansed by Shani but now, I know the connection must be from our baby."

Madison's hand was to her stomach as if to feel the baby that was once there. Ralph took her hand and kissed her, telling her that he loves her.

“Please continue...”

“Well, Rain finally destroy the entity, though I got hurt in the process and Shani told me that Maven put me in some kind of coma for the next two days. Yet, I remembered clearly that I was having the most two happiest days of my life with you.” Ralph smiled sweetly at her, rubbing her knuckles, and kissed her hand.

Madison suddenly blushed when she was also taken back to those two nights of their most intense and beautiful lovemaking.

“You came to me, I didn’t know how. But I thought you were there, and on the second day, I realized that you weren’t there again in the morning. It was not like you at all to come and go like that. Then I had a bad feeling. So, I started to panic and call Shani and that’s when I found out that you were wounded. I was on my way to you when...”

Her tears fall when Madison remembered the day like it was yesterday.

“Madison, I’m here, good as new. My uncle’s ghost is gone. We’re going to make it.”

Ralph wiped her tears and kissed her lips softly.

But their intimate moment was interrupted by her doctor who was clearing his throat signaling his arrival. They must not hear the opening of the door, and both pulled away looking at him awkwardly.

“I see that you’re feeling better already?”

The doctor greeted them with a warm smile on his face, while Madison smiled back at him and nodded. The older man discussed her condition, he also expressed his condolences for their baby and told them that she will be monitored and should be able to come home in the next few days.

Ralph was relieved to hear about her condition, aside from the major laceration to her right side the doctor emphasizes that she should be cared for mentally as well because of her loss, and Ralph was in agreement with the doctor.

Shani and Walter came later in the afternoon, she was sad for their baby and she was making sure that Madison was coping with her loss and that Ralph was there for her.

“Thanks for keeping the news from him. I was on my way to tell him, I was going to tell him when he visited me but he wouldn’t let me.”

Shani learned about Ralph’s astral projection and laughed it out with Madison saying even in his coma he makes sure that she was loved.

“Gosh...Shani, thank you... I needed that.”

Ralph was out with Walter for some coffee he hasn’t left Madison’s room since he arrived. Shani also brought his change of clothes and she was managing Madison’s personal belongings from the accident.

“I know you’re strong Maddie, but remember that I’m just a phone call away, okay?”

Madison nodded when Shani and Walter said their goodbye two hours later.

“I can’t wait to get all better. I want to go home.”

“Me too Maddie, I just want us back again. These past few weeks have been so intense.”

“I love you.”

“I love you more,” Ralph whispered when he kissed her softly before she drifted off to sleep.

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 40 - Tips

0 6 minutes read

“Maddie, babe...don’t tell me that you ate all the pepperoni?”

Madison laughed and take the last piece of pizza while trying to get away from him. But Ralph sighed exaggeratedly and sits back on the couch.

“The things I do for the woman that I love.”

“Aww, thank you!” Madison sits on his lap and feeds him the pizza, telling him that because she loves him too much she’ll share the pizza.

Things have slowly been getting back to normal and that day was actually the first day that Madison spends less time with her usual blank expression.

The first few days back from the hospital were the toughest. They went to Shani’s soon after she was discharged, and Maven was already there waiting for them. After a few incantations, Shani helped Maven applying the balm remedy that quickly heals Madison’s laceration. She was a trooper, she holds tightly to Ralph’s arm but never once whined from the pain.

That same day they spent the night at a nearby cottage for rent where Madison cried herself to sleep in his arms. Ralph offered her to stay longer but she refused, she was wanting to get home and sleep in his bed.

The next day she spent most of her time looking into the television without even watching the movie, but Ralph didn’t say anything. He didn’t even try to cheer her up, he was just there for her, by her side holding her and grieve with her. Ralph was just glad that Madison was eating and sleeping regularly.

On day three Ralph has started leaving her for the campus for a couple of hours just to turn in their assignments.

She has been staying at his since they’re back from Shani’s and he didn’t want to leave her alone in her apartment. Not yet.

And it was day five when she started watching the television and started complaining about the lack of quality of the movie, just because the leading man didn’t have chiseled abs. That day she also asked to eat out and from there he knows everything would be just fine.

Though sometimes she would still lean into him and suddenly stop saying a word, he was just glad that she didn’t drown in her sorrows.

A couple of days later he decided to wake up early to get her special coffee blend, from her favorite coffee shop and make some french toast with extra honey.

He has been carrying around the diamond ring, he had bought it the day before on his way back from campus.

Madison was still sleeping when he put the ring on, stripped back to his boxers, and slipped back under the covers after placing the coffees and toasts on her side table.

Ralph pulled her into his embrace kissing her hair and let her snuggled in closer for his warmth.

“I love you, Madison.”

“Mmm-hmm...I know, I love you too.” She said as she puts her head to his chest.

“I got your favorite coffee.”

Her eyes open at the mention of coffee making him chuckled.

“You’re an easy woman to please aren’t you?”

“I am.” She sits and drinks her coffee, she was about to reach for his coffee when she saw the ring on her finger.

“Ralph?” she puts down her coffee, turned to him, and showed him the beautiful diamond ring.

“It’s a good fit, isn’t it? I thought I might need to resize it, it looks good on you...”

“Ralph...”

“Oh yeah, I almost forgot.” He took her hand in his and asked the question.

“Madison, will you marry me?”

“Ralph,”

“Erm...you’re supposed to say yes, but I’ll take it.”

“Ralph!” she pouted adorably making him pulled her into his bear hug.

“I love you Madison, always has been and always will. I’d like to be your handsome husband and spend the rest of my life with you, watch you grow old and stuff.”

She giggled but her eyes were glassy, and he stops her from shedding her tears by holding her neck and put his lips on hers.

She hasn't given him a yes, but he didn't want her to force it. He was nervous that she might say no. So he did the best thing he knew and seduced her for a yes.

He was on top of her and they were kissing heavily when she was starting to moan his name. It was the first time their kiss turn heavy since the incident. He has been missing her, but he didn't want to pressure her. He loves her too much to push her into sex, not when she was still in her fragile condition.

Ralph retreated and lay to her side, giving her time to take in his proposal. He was caressing her beautiful supple body when she looks at him with a calculating look.

"I won't pressure you to anything Maddie, well maybe to get to come home with me for the holidays. But the ring is my pledge to you, that I want to be your husband. We've been through so much and I believe we can go through anything together. I need you in my life Madison."

He was back to kissing her when she didn't reply to his words, she just looks at him and bites her lip. She wanted him, he knows her look and when she pushes him back for a deeper kiss he knows she has given him the answer.

"I love you." That's all she said when she started kissing him eagerly.

"Mm...must be something in the coffee," he joked in between his kisses and she smiled while kissing him back deeper. He was hard, so fucking hard but he waited and let her take the lead.

He could feel her nipples through his t-shirt that she's wearing and he knows for sure that she was wet already. He was caressing her body lightly and moaned her name when she got on top of him.

"I love you." She moaned.

"...so much more," he whispered huskily.

Madison backed away and slumped to her side of the bed, and he pulled her back onto his chest and kissed her hair while rubbing her arm. He was silently telling her that everything would be okay, that he'd wait until she's ready.

That morning they spent kissing each other lazily while drinking coffee and having their breakfast. She was in his arms and he was content with his life.

Having her right where he wanted the most.

She was watching Netflix when he decided to take a shower and release himself. He was stroking his dick under the warm shower when she entered the bathroom.

He looked at her, his hand was still stroking his length while his other hand reached out to her, inviting her to join him. She was wearing nothing but his t-shirt and her cotton panties and the image alone was making him pulsates with desire.

But then Madison decided to take off the t-shirt showing him her perked nipples. Maven had done a great job in healing her, as Madison showed off her perfect flawless body.

She took his hand and stepped into the shower in her panties, he could see the dampness from their previous foreplay.

"Can I?" she asked joining him under the shower looking at his perfectly chiseled body and his arousing erection.

"I'm yours Madison, you can do anything you want...oh fvck!"

He cursed the moment she puts her hand on his dick and pulled him down for a deep kiss. Madison had always been a wild one, but since the incident, she's been distant. Sex would always be a tease until that day come when she was half-naked with only drenched white cotton panties leaving nothing for the imagination.

"Maddie, slow down..." he was trying so hard to contain his arousal but she was stroking him to his liking. And when she pushed her naked body and let him feel her perked nipples on his chest, that's when he lost it.

He was holding her tighter, he was slipping his hands under her panties and squeezes her ass. She moaned and lower her wet panties down and turned off the shower.

“Maddie, you don’t have to...” his words were cut off when she took his hand and slid his finger inside her wetness. She moaned and he follows when she was back to stroking his length.

“Ralph, so good...”

He kept on playing her expertly until she was holding onto his biceps and kept on kissing him until she finally burst and he follows just because her climax was too arousing for him.

His cum was smeared on her, and then he turns the shower back on and started cleaning her and washing her hair while kissing her shoulder lovingly.

He was taking care of her up until she was clean and dried and back on his fresh t-shirt and panties and he was wearing his sweatpants.

That day they spend the rest of the day cuddled up in each other’s arms.