

Lusting For Ralph Chapter 43 - Tips

0 7 minutes read

“I didn’t know that you owned a mountain cabin.”

Ralph smirked at her and ushered her into his man cave. He used to bring girls there, he never took Madison because he’s afraid that she would accuse him of flaunting his assets and decided that he was too rich for her taste. Because what she didn’t know was Ralph is actually richer than the Richardson.

“It’s from my real parents. I have several properties.”

“Right, let’s not overwhelmed me with your houses. One step at a time, okay?” Madison said while she was looking around at the beautiful mountain cabin.

“This looks more like a bachelor pad, with the pool table and all...wait don’t. I don’t want to know about all the women you’ve brought here.”

Ralph opened the balcony door and took her with him and let her hands rest on the railings while his hands slithered to her waist, keeping her close to him while he kissed her hair then lower to her cheek.

“You will be my last.”

He whispered, making her smile and all warm on the inside.

“But, I thought this was a family vacation? I thought we’re staying with your parents?”

“Maddie, I know everything is all good with my mom since the last breakfast we had at my parents. But this vacation had been planned and knowing my mom, she would not cancel on the guest lists. So, I told my mom that we’ll be there but we will be staying at my cabin.” He kissed her hair again and started slipping his hand naughtily under her blouse.

“Ralph! we just got here.” She scolded him but carry on with her words.

“...so you’re saying your other future wife will be staying at your parents.”

The young stud was trying to keep her distracted with his kisses but Maddie could be very persistent.

“Madison, I’ve missed you.”

“Ralph, you’re always horny. Not that I mind, but…”

“Don’t you want me satisfied before going to my parents’ cottage? don’t you know these women are vicious?”

Madison laughed at his excuse but she kissed him back anyway and push him to the outdoor couch where they make out until Ralph took her inside and they finally ended up naked on the bed, packets of condoms fell out of its box, and clothes scattered on the floor.

“Do you think I should be back on birth control pill?” Madison asked as they were cozying up to each other.

“I’ll wear the condom, or maybe smear my cum all over your body,” he whispered while she slapped his chest playfully.

“I’m just saying, that way when we decided to have a baby we can go right ahead. But it’s up to you, do you want to have a baby right away? do you want us to get married soon?”

His mom asked her about the wedding on the first breakfast that they have together, and Madison honestly said that they haven’t discussed it.

“I don’t know, how about after we finish college first? with your mom, I can already imagine what kind of wedding she’s going to plan, and I’m going to avoid that as long as I can.”

“Yeah, I’m good as long as I have you in my bed every night.”

“Ralph!”

“What? look, why don’t you start the bath I’m going to feed the cat. I saw a fat smoky cat meowing on the back porch.”

“Cat? since when do you feed strays?”

“Babe, I love you…but you still have so much to learn about me. I’m a lover, not a…”

Madison laughed and throw a pillow at him knowing he’s such a sweet talker.

“Hey!” he pretended to look offended but quickly caged her under his body and started kissing her while tickling her at the same time. Madison was screaming and laughing trying to get away from him but he was relentless.

“Stray cat, hungry, need food...” she laughed in between her words until he finally let her go after another hot steamy kiss leaving her breathless.

“Bath...I’ll join you in a bit or we will be late for dinner.”

She sighed but then get out of bed putting on his shirt and nothing else. She went to the bathroom and set up their bathwater.

Madison decided to open a bottle of red while waiting for him.

“Did you find the cat?”

“No, but I put some leftover anyway just in case.” He said taking the glass of wine and sipping the fine taste of it.

They talk some more, then took a relaxing bath before they get dressed and leave for Ralph’s parent’s cottage.

Tyler and Larry were already there, they were talking to three women while his mom was talking to another couple. Their Mountain cottage was an understatement, it looked like a small retreat rather than a family cottage.

“Ralph, Madison...come here, let me introduce you to our acquaintances.”

Madison was dressed like a true socialite, she likes to dressed up from time to time though she steers away from designer clothes but Ralph did praise her taste in fashion.

She was also introduced to the three young women who were talking to Tyler and Larry previously. Counting the number of women, Madison applauds his mom for sneakily trying to be a matchmaker for his sons regardless they wanted the attention or not.

“Madison, you’ve got to save me.” Tyler was to her side and Larry was following his brother a couple of feet behind when Ralph was leaving her at the snack bar to go talk to his dad.

“Guys! I’m still on probation with your mom. She just starting to like me for who I am. Go! mingle, I need to... oh, sh!t! she’s coming.”

“Boys, what are you doing suffocating Madison with your presence, look at those young women. I’m sure they would appreciate your attention more than Maddie here.”

The guys groaned but nodded at their mother, mainly because they love their mother a little too much and they know at least after the family vacation their mom would rest and most likely thinks that her other two sons were too helpless.

“So, Maddie have you think about the big day? I’m thinking of a summer wedding, or if you prefer white you can go with a winter wedding.”

“Mrs. Richardson,”

“Maddie, please call me Nancy or mom. I’m considering you as a family already, it’ll be just about time until you’re married to Ralph.”

Madison smiled warmly and finally called her Nancy, thinking it’ll be too awkward and putting more pressure on the wedding when she calls her mom.

“Nancy, Well... I’ve talked it out with Ralph and we’re going to finish school first. So that I can be more at ease with the wedding preparation.” She was giving his mom the promise of her involvement in the wedding preparation. While in reality, she wants nothing more than to eloped and forget about the invites and just live happily ever after with her man.

“That’s good then, education is very important. Then, right after hopefully another year or two then?”

Madison nodded and Nancy hugged her and told her about the beautiful-looking woman named Jessica Robinson, who was looking a bit too awkward for the crowd.

“... she’s Tyler’s and Larry’s new business partner. We buy out their company a few months back, I thought Dale was going to be here. But he canceled last minute, she’s Amanda’s sister-in-law from her previous marriage.”

“Oh yeah, I’ve heard of her. She lost her parents and her only brother, Amanda told me.”

Madison felt sorry about the woman, so she told Nancy that she would talk to her.

“Thank you! I know she’s older than you, but she’s too shy, so I thought she might enjoy your company.” Nancy hugged her and told her that she’s going to check on the dinner preparation.

Madison walked to the said woman with two glasses of champagne in her hand, then offered one to her.

“Looked like you could use a drink?”

Jessica was resting against the balcony railing looking out the magnificent view of the mountainous region.

“Thank you, it’s beautiful, isn’t it? I don’t go out of my office walls often.”

“It is, it’s my first time here,”

Jessica looked at her ring and congratulated her.

“...so, who’s the lucky brother?”

Madison laughed at her and Jessica blushed.

“Oh, I think I’m going to like you!”

Jessica tugged her lips, not realizing that she had just made a lifetime friend.

“I’m Madison, the brothers called me Maddie. And I’m lucky to snatch the youngest one, Ralph.”

“He’s a catch,” she looked at Ralph, who was busy talking to his dad and some of his friends.

“Thanks, and who did Nancy set you up with? I’m kind of a last-minute addition to the party.”

She laughed saying probably no one, that she was just there for the business side of the family.

“Amanda said you’re very smart.”

“You know Amanda?”

The two women hit it off right away, not realizing that there is a certain CEO of the company who kept looking at them and secretly admiring the fragile beauty in front of their little Maddie. He didn't know that she has the most captivating smile and most wonderful laughter he had ever heard in his entire life.

"Dude! are you even listening to what I said?" Larry asked annoyed at his older brother.

"Sorry, I was just..."

"Yeah, you're drooling over her. I don't get why you keep fighting with her?"

"She's...argh, what do you even know about women? you don't even know half of the name of the women you fvck."

"Hey! soft sp0t bro. Not cool." Larry shook his head and decided to leave the matter at that.

"I'm going to get more drink and check on mom, I'm starving already. How long do we have to wait for dinner? I'm a growing boy, I need my food..." Larry walked out on his brother but then gr0aned with one of the fl!rty women stepped in front of him.

"Alright people, dinner is served."

Nancy announced from the dining area and told Larry who was a meter away from her to go get Madison who was still outside with Jessica.

"On it, mom..." he smirked looking at his brother who was still lurking over their business associate, Jessica.

He was going to annoy him and ushered her to sit by his side, and maybe he could fl!rt with her just to get back at his brooding brother.