Chapter 111

Hunter chuckled to see how cute his mate was, because currently, Lilac was pouting, she felt wronged because she was being bullied.

Not only Hunter was insatiable, but because he still teased her not to tell her anything about the discussion between him and Aiden.

He had gotten what he wanted, but he didn't keep his promise!

"To be fair, I didn't promise you anything, right?" Hunter caressed her cheeks and swollen lips, but Lilac swatted his hand away, glaring at him with dissatisfaction in her beautiful eyes. She was annoyed.

He was right in a sense, because he didn't say anything, but took the matter into his hand and Lilac assumed that was his 'condition'.

Well, to be honest, Lilac wouldn't mind it, since she enjoyed it, but she would never admit that, because Hunter would be more unstoppable if that was the case.

"Fine, I will never ask you again!" Lilac was pissed, she pulled the blanket to cover her face and give her back to Hunter.

Only then, the alpha stopped with his teasing game and hugged her. He kissed her forehead over the blanket and then started telling her about the discussion.

"There is nothing important, Lilac. Trust me. He only asked about my father. He wanted to know whether it was me, who had killed him or not," Hunter said lightly, he talked about this as if he was talking about the weather.

"What?" Lilac pulled down the blanket and stared at him. "What did you say?" Actually, this topic was something she wanted to ask him, but she didn't know how, yet Hunter asked about this very casually. Was this alright to ask more about it?

"He asked whether or not I was the one, who killed my father," Hunter said, he stared at Lilac with his hooded eyes, as if his lust for her was boundless and he was barely able to keep his hands off her.

Lilac bit her lip, there was this complicated look in her eyes when she was trying to decide whether or not it was alright for her to ask, while Hunter watched her struggle with delight because the expression on her face was completely adorable. He wouldn't want for other people to see this side of her.

"... Did you?"

Finally, that was the only words that she could blurt it out. Lilac promised that she wouldn't assume anything, until Hunter really gave her a definitive answer.

"Yes, I did," Hunter admitted it openly and lightly.

Lilac was dumbfounded when she heard that. She thought Hunter would deny the claim. After all, killing your own alpha was already messed up, let alone your own father.

After knowing the truth, Lilac was not sure what to ask anymore because from the look of it, Hunter didn't think this was a big deal, he treated this matter very lightly, as if it was the matter of other people, who didn't involve him at all. How he could be very casual?

"Don't you want to ask me anymore?" Hunter asked her, he stared deeply into her and kissed her lips to snap her back to reality.

"Hunter..." Lilac pushed him lightly and furrowed her brows. "Were you messing with me?"

"I am not, little one. I did kill my father." Hunter kissed Lilac, but she pushed him away, she widened her eyes in disbelief, but actually, she was still trying to gauge him, whether or not he was telling her the truth and the look in her eyes was very captivating for Hunter.

"Are you scared of me now after you learned the truth?" Hunter asked, he looked very patient. He didn't want to hide anything from her. He intended to not say anything about this matter to his pack member and only his gamma and beta, who knew about this.

But it happened because they were important people for Hunter, just like Lilac. No, she was more...

Lilac couldn't answer that. Was she really afraid of him?

"You must have a reason for that."

After some thought, Lilac knew that she was not afraid of him, but there was a deep reason why Hunter was doing this. There was no way he killed his father without any strong reason at all and did it for fun only.

No matter how bad Hunter was, he had never shown any indication to act recklessly or impulsively. Well, aside from when he was being with her...

Lilac had seen him taking a few important decisions and he thought about everything thoroughly.

"Yes, I have." Hunter kissed her forehead, glad that she was asking and didn't jump straight into her own assumption.

"What happened?" Lilac asked curiously. "May I know why?"

“He is going to make our pack suffered a great setback because of his thirst of blood,” Hunter replied, he was about to tell her about the truth, but then the carriage stopped. This put Hunter on high alert, after all this place was known to shelter countless rogue and he didn’t want to put his mate in life and death situation anymore.

Hunter didn’t wait, he immediately opened the window and saw one of his warriors was standing at the carriage door, hesitated to knock on its door.

“What happened?” Hunter asked with a frown. “Why we stopped?” He wanted to leave. this place before night fell.

“Alpha,” the warrior spoke hesitantly. “The alpha from the Golden Light pack is here, he said there is something he needs help from you.” said there is something h

Inside the carriage, Lilac was frowning too when she heard that. What did Aiden want to do now? He and Hunter had just had conversation, even she herself had not yet known about the whole context of their conversation, but Aiden was already here again and demanded to meet with Hunter?

Hunter was also curios about this situation. “Stay here, okay.” Hunter leaned over and kissed Lilac’s forehead before he went out of the carriage immediately.
