Chapter 117

Aiden was stunned when he heard the way Ruby was screaming, from the sound of it alone, he realized how painful it must be for her, still he refused to enter.

He was still holding onto the taboo, even though, he himself didn't believe that at all.

The smell of blood in the air was very thick, it made Aiden's head was spinning and he felt very sick. He couldn't imagine what transpired inside the makeshift tent.

People were listening without saying anything, even the five representatives had stopped complaining because they had to postpone their return to their packs.

They felt bad for what Ruby had to endure inside the room and they couldn't help but kept staring at Aiden, who didn't seem to be bothered by it, since his expression remained the same. Did he not worry about his mate? Though Ruby was not his destined mate, but at the very least, he had to think about his child, right?

It had been almost half a day since Ruby was crying because the baby refused to come out and the healer had tried everything she could to help with no avail, since she was not prepared for this.

There were a few things that even her power couldn't help and she needed her medicine, which was not available right now. She came here to make sure Ruby was fine, not for helping someone to give an early birth.

This was a messed up situation.

Meanwhile, before midnight, Hunter's entourage had reached the pack and Lilac was still sleeping soundlessly and the alpha didn't want to wake her up, as he wrapped her naked body in a blanket, which allowed him to take her out of the carriage toward their bedroom.

"Is the luna alright?" Raya asked curiously when she saw the alpha carried her. She thought something bad happened to Lilac, but when the alpha and the luna in his arms came closer, she blushed profusely because she could smell this sweet scent and she knew what the cause of luna was being too tired.

"She is fine," Hunter replied lightly, didn't even pay close attention with the way Raya lowered her head timidly, because his main focus was his mate.

After the alpha left, Raya finally could breathe normally, her heart was beating so fast when she watched in silent how careful and gentle the alpha was with his luna.

Her eyes hooded, she stared at the empty corridor until the alpha and the luna left, remained in the same position, as she was lost in her own thought.

"What are you doing here?" Lena suddenly appeared from behind her and this startled the latter.

"You surprised me!" Raya cried, but Lena frowned.

"What are you thinking of while staring like that?" Lena tried to find something that might catch Raya's interest, but aside from an empty corridor there was nothing significant. "You should have known that I was approaching you, right?"

Raya grabbed her hand and dragged her away, she was afraid this friend would find out what she was actually staring at.

"Tell me, what are you thinking of?" Lena insisted to know, but once Raya decided to shut her mouth, there was nothing she could do, she wouldn't be able to pry anything out of her mouth no matter how hard she tried.

Meanwhile, Raya determined to bring this secret to her own grave. There was not a single soul should learn about this.

On the other hand, inside a bedroom, Hunter laid Lilac down carefully and he took responsibility to clean her up, since he was the one, who was the sole cause for her being like this.

Hunter took wet towel and started to wipe her skin carefully, but it was proven so hard. This simple task almost killed him.

His beast became very restless to see her naked skin, he wanted to pounce on her, but Hunter knew better not to do something atrocious like that. She was sleeping after all, if he did it, it was his selfish side, his beast side. He didn't want to do it to her.

Hunter respected her more than that.

"I shouldn't have overestimated my self control." Hunter leaned over and kissed her forehead, he lingered for a little bit longer, letting her scent engulfed him in order to calm the desire within him, to subdue the beast. "You will be the death of me, love." Hunter chuckled.

After such difficulty, finally Hunter could breathe in relief when his mate was clean and he put dress on her.

Once she was cleaned, Hunter went to the bathroom to clean himself and joined her in the bed when he was done. He hugged her closely and squeezed her body in his arms, until she let out a little grunt, which was very cute. This might be the cutest sound he had ever heard, though he didn't like anything cute.

The next morning, he received news about the birth of the first child of alpha Aiden from the Golden Claw pack. It was a boy. The heir to the title was a boy, which meant, they would spoil him rotten. That was what you would do to your firstborn son, since girl couldn't inherit the title.

It seemed his healer had done a tremendous task and accomplished it beautifully. After that, he was informed the healer and the warriors were on their way back to the pack, Lilac was still sleeping when Hunter received the news and he dismissed his gam ma after that. He didn't need to hear this annoying information though, since he couldn't care less about the birth of Aiden's child.

Lilac only woke up when it was close in the lunch time weed the first thing, she saw was Hunter's smiling face. He was being lary twlay, se her eperna hve flene to stare at his sleeping mate

"Good afternoon, deepyheal. "Hunter kived her lips and hugged her

"Good afternoon, sleepyhead..." Hunter kissed her lips and hugged her.
