

Chapter 141

Chapter 141

Lilac felt a little bit of pity for Luna Jasmine and Aiden, because Hunter could be very ruthless if someone crossed him and since Aiden was his target now, there was no way he would be able to leave unscathed after what he tried to pull on the alpha lycan.

There were so many sides of Hunter. The side that other people saw was this taciturn and strict alpha, but he could be very cruel and wicked, yet whenever he was with Lilac, he was this sweet, goofy man, who loved to tease her.

“No! There must be a mistake here!” Luna Jasmine screamed on the top of her lungs and this annoyed

Aiden. His eyes fixed on Hunter and they filled nothing, but murderous intention, where the alpha lycan held his fierce glare calmly.

Out of her desperation, Luna Jasmine swallowed her pride, this must be the first time for her to do this when she went to pick the necklace from the floor that she had thrown earlier and went to Lilac instead.

“Here, this is the necklace that you want, right? You won. Now tell him to stop this craziness!” Luna Jasmine was literally trembling. She understood the dread of the situation and how her precious son was in danger if this was continued.

Luna Jasmine shoved the necklace to Lilac’s hand, forced her to take it, which made her a little bit flustered because as far as she knew, Luna Jasmine had never been like this. But, from the look of it, she had lost her mind and threw away her pride out of the window.

“Enough, mother!” Aiden roared, he didn’t feel good when his mother tried to save the situation, when both of them already knew there was no saving it. If anything, his mother only humiliated him further.

“Al, take my mother to her chamber, she needs to rest!”

“No!” Luna Jasmine was trying to make Lilac talk to Hunter, but Aiden growled at her to stop.

“Al! What are you waiting for?! Are you trying to defy my orders?!” Aiden glared at his beta, which made him scrambled to get Luna Jasmine away from Lilac before she embarrassed herself and her son even more.

“LILAC! How could you do this to your mother? I always treat you like my own daughter! Is this how you will pay me? Is this how you will for everything I have done to you? He is your mate! No matter what had happened, the moon goddess has chosen him as your mate! The mate bond is a sacred bond!”

Luna Jasmine was losing it when Al and two more guards tried to take her out of the main hall. “LILAC!”

Lilac stared at Luna Jasmine until her figure disappeared and her scream faded away, “Okay?” Hunter touched her cheek, which drove back her attention toward him.

Lilac smiled softly at him and nodded. “I am fine. No need to worry, just finish your business and let’s go back home,”

Hunter leaned over and kissed her lips in front of so many eyes. He put his hand on the back of her head to deepen the kiss, he even pried open her mouth so he could slip his tongue and taste her. The kiss didn't last for long, but it was very intimate. "Just for a while," he whispered against her Lilac blushed when Hunter did that. She knew this man couldn't care less about their surroundings, out to actually kiss her in front of hundreds of people we wouldn't Lilac was too preoccupied by Hunter's bold kiss, she didn't even realize that Grace was crying and howling on the top of her lungs when she witnessed that. She couldn't accept Hunter to kiss another woman right before her eyes.

Yet, once again, Hunter ignored her completely, treating her as air, as if her existence was not relevant to him at all.

"Take them away," Hunter ordered the three warriors that came with Rye to take Grace and Tania. They would live in the dungeon of their pack from now on. "And the three of them will be the proof of alpha Aiden's crime."

Hunter talked a little bit more with Rye and the other five alphas to discuss how the trial would go and during that time, Aiden would stay inside his bedroom. There would be special guards, the representative of the other five packs and the lycan pack to make sure he couldn't take a step out of his bedroom, until the trial was held.

They agreed the trial would happen within a week time.

And once everything had been settled, Hunter went to Lilac and help her to stand up. "Let's go back home," he said.

Home.

That was a magical word, something that Lilac thought she would never have, even when she was still in this pack, she didn't feel like she truly belonged here, but when she was with Hunter, it was different.

Probably home was not a building, but a feeling when you finally found what you needed, where your desire and comfort met, these feelings Lilac found in Hunter.

Maybe, he was her home...

"Let's go." Lilac grabbed his arm and grinned at him, as Hunter escorted her to their carriage, where Ryan had been waiting for her.

Once they were inside the carriage, Lilac immediately sneaked into Hunter's arm, she looked so sleepy and tired.

With her eyes closed, she tried to pull her hair tie to loosen it, but it was too tight.

“Come here, let me help,” Hunter said. He carefully loosened her hair tie and let her soft, silky hair loose against her back. “Sleep, little one... you must be very tired.”

Lilac didn't need to be told twice, because when Hunter mindlessly played with her hair she had fallen asleep...

What happened in the main hall was very exhausting and she only wanted to sleep away all the trouble, it was very comforting to have Hunter cradled her like this.

However, in her sleep, what Luna Jasmine told her echoed in her mind, about how Hunter had slept with so many women.

“Ssh... sleep, love.” Hunter cooed at her when Lilac was whimpering in her sleep, patting her back gently, lulled her back to her slumber.

“Your brother will stay in Golden Claw pack for the next few weeks,” Hunter replied to Raya's question about her brother.

Chapter 142

Chapter 142

Raya stared at Lilac in Hunter's arms, she looked so pretty with her lilac color dress, even though her hair was a little bit messy. Her cheeks were red and she was sweating a little bit. This must be because Hunter had been hugging her the whole way back to the pack, since she looked a little bit pale earlier.

“Good night, alpha Hunter, rest well.” Raya lowered her eyes, she pried her eyes away from Lilac and continued to walk away, but when Hunter didn't notice, Raya glanced over her shoulder to stare at the alpha's back, no one knew what was in her mind right now.

On the other hand, Hunter took Lilac back to their bedroom and laid her down, he smiled softly to see how his woman was curling her body like a little girl and he couldn't help, but to pinch her cheek slightly. She was adorable....

“Why do you look so pretty even

you are snoring?” Hunter giggled to himself, it was amusing. to watch her sleeping like this, forgetting everything and put her guard down completely, knowing she was with him. This made Hunter elated.

“My beautiful woman...” Hunter lowered his head and kissed her lips.

However, he needed to stop himself, because if he didn't, he might end up disturbing her sweet sleep and they would do something else.

Sighing deeply, Hunter went to get wet towel and clean clothes, where he would take care of his mate.

Doing this for Lilac was something he liked, though she would feel embarrassed the next day, but the heavier thing to do was not when he had to clean her up, but the time when he had to suppress his own desire whenever he saw her naked body.

It took everything in him not to bother her and make her moaned his name, pleased her over and over again, until she was sweaty and tender, where her scent would mix with his and the room filled with their desire...

Hunter then carefully undressed her and once Lilac was naked, he felt like he was a hungry beast that had a feast before his eyes, but couldn't touch it.

"This is so hard..." Hunter scrunched his brows, as he started to wipe her body. This was not the first time he did this, but obviously, he would never get used to it. "My woman... my little woman" Hunter wiped her arms thoroughly, so did her legs, her neck, her breasts...

The next morning, his little woman was waking up feeling better after her nightmare, she felt so fresh and immediately knew that Hunter had cleaned her up and even changed her dress.

However, Lilac couldn't find Hunter anywhere. It seemed, he had woken up so early, or maybe he didn't sleep at all and then went to finish whatever business he had.

On the table beside the bed, Lilac saw the necklace that Luna Jasmine gave to her, she reached out to that thing and stared at it for a while.

"It is not so pretty..." Lilac mumbled to herself. When she didn't have it, the necklace looked very pretty and dazzling, as if she would do anything to get it. She remembered how she was thinking that she would treat the necklace like a treasure when Luna Jasmine gave to her.

But now, she didn't feel the necklace was important. Yes, it was pretty, but the way she saw it was different now it belonged to her.

Was it how Aiden felt when he thought he already had her? He didn't care much about her when he impregnated Ruby?

What about Hunter? If the sacred mate bond couldn't stop Aiden from cheating on her, what could stop Hunter when they didn't have that kind of bond between them?

Lilac shook her head, she had to admit that she was being a little bit dour when she saw the necklace and then remembered what Luna Jasmine told her. Her words bothered her even in her sleep.

"This is not good." Lilac put down the necklace and then went to wash her face. She was going to have a breakfast, it must be because of her empty stomach that caused her to think something ridiculous about Hunter.

With that thought, she went to the dining hall, where she met with Mira. She was the woman warrior, who trained her at the beginning.

Now, Lilac was not under her, but occasionally they would meet in the training ground, since Hunter insisted for her to keep training, so her beast side would be stronger after such a long time to be suppressed, but then, she was still not a match for the lycan no matter how strong she could be.

“You look awful,” Mira said when Lilac sat next to her.

“Thank you,” Lilac replied nonchalantly, even though inside she cursed herself for choosing this seat.

Why would she want to sit next to her in the first place?

The relationship between her and Mira couldn't be said as good, but most of the time they would ignore each other because it was easier that way when you didn't get along with someone.

Therefore, Lilac thought, she wouldn't initiate a conversation.

“I guess your visit to your pack last night was full with surprise, because I heard this morning your group brought back Grace and Tania.” Mira put down her cutleries and focus all of her attention toward Lilac. “Before you left, the alpha also arranged three hundreds warriors to march toward your pack after he found three men tried to set Kellan free.”

Lilac had been in a bad mood since this morning and now she had to face with this conversation. “I don't know what do you want. Can you talk straight to the point?” Lilac put down her cutleries too and faced her.

This woman shouldn't have bothered her when she was having this kind of dark mood.

I only wanted to say that I am still thinking you are not a suitable woman for the alpha. Ever since you

Mira opened her mouth, but then she closed it again, swallowing back whatever words she was going to say.

And after that, she left when she saw someone was approaching them. It was the beta, Darren. He had been looking for Lilac and someone told her that she was here.

"Have you finished your breakfast? Darren asked, he used to talk very polite and had the opposite personality from Rye. He was like the mild version of Hunter. "Hunter wanted to talk with you."

"Yes, I am done." Lilac didn't have the appetite to continue eating.

Chapter 143

Chapter 143

Lilac knew it was hard for some member of the pack to see her as their future luna, more when the ceremony between her and Hunter had not been held, she was well aware that most of the pack member thought their alpha would find another woman.

After all, he was not a celibate man either and he had that record on him. Not to mention people knew Grace and Kellan’s family longer than they knew Lilac. They must be preferred her if this incident didn’t happen, added that to the fact they disliked an outsider like Lilac. She was not a lycan, which could be said that she didn’t belong here.

“Did Mira bother you?” Darren asked when he saw Lilac was a little bit out spacing out, as if there was something that she was thinking deeply.

“Uh?” Lilac shook her head and then smiled. “No.” There was no way she would tell what was in her mind right now, because it was a little bit messy.

anyone about

She didn't think much about it when she talked to Luna Jasmine, but now her words affected her, as if it hit her deepest insecurity and she couldn't shake it off no matter how hard she tried.

If the sacred mate bond couldn't keep Aiden to be loyal to her, what would happen if there was none?

Just like what happened between her and Hunter. Everyone knew that the alpha could find any women that he liked.

Was his nice treatment all this time because he still liked her? Aiden treated her nicely too in the beginning, as if he could die if they were separated, as if he couldn't live without her, but then looked what he had done?

Would Hunter be like that too a year from now?

Lilac simply couldn't imagine the heartbreak she would suffer then. She didn't have anyone here and

Mira had made it very clear to her that she didn't belong to this place, if she didn't have Hunter then she wouldn't have anyone.

Once again, she would return to her routine. To where she was when she was still in the Golden Claw pack. An insignificant person. It was Aiden back then, who had lifted her from such place and now it was Hunter.

Lilac felt like her life was only rotating around a high status man, but she had nothing to her name.

"Are you sure, you are okay?" Darren had noticed Lilac's gloomy mood and he felt concern, after all, he had a hunch of what Hunter was going to talk with her.

“I am sure, I am fine. Thank you! Lilac replied almost immediately it didn’t sound convincing at all.

Darren narrowed his eyes, but he didn’t ask further because he knew it wouldn’t do any good, since she had said it that she was fine then she must be fine, right?

With that in mind, the two of them continued walking toward the training ground, where the beta took her to the strategy room, this was the place where Hunter used to give an order to the warriors, especially during war.

Hunter was talking to one of the warriors when Lilac and Darren entered the room and the warrior left after he talked about Kellan. Lilac didn’t pay close attention to what he was talking about and sit silently near the window, staring at the pine trees out there.

“Thank you, Darren, you can leave too,” Hunter said, making the two of them left after he talked a few things with his beta as well.

Once it was only the two of them, Hunter approached Lilac, whose focus was still on pine trees out there. She looked serene and beautiful with such background.

“Have you eaten your breakfast?” Hunter asked, he sat down next to her and tucked strands of her hair behind her ear.

“I have.” Lilac smiled at him, concealing the turmoil inside of her. This uneasy feeling was not something she wanted him to know.

Hunter pulled her closer and hugged her. He caressed her back and breathed in her scent. This was very intoxicating and if he didn’t remember there was an urgent matter he had to tell Lilac, he would have laid her down on this sofa.

However, Hunter was well aware that his woman was too tired and she was a little bit off this morning.

“Something is bothering your mind.” That was a statement, not a question.

“What’s wrong?” Hunter

could tell that much. He even could sense it when her mood was sour. “Was the breakfast not up to your palate?”

“Don’t be ridiculous.” Lilac giggled. She had eaten something more bland than that in her life, who she was to complain about the pack’s food?

“I am not.” Hunter kissed her head and squeezed her body, which rewarded him with her cute moan, as she snuggled closer against his chest. He liked this closeness between them, it felt better than anything else that had ever happened to him.

“So, what is this thing that had been occupying your mind?” Hunter changed his question, but it still demanded the same answer.

“Nothing,” Lilac mumbled.

“Someone was bothering you?”

“No.” Mira did.

“Something made

you worried?"

"No." Yes, and it's you.

Lilac stared straight into his eyes and then realized how wrong the way she said and she became a

"I didn't mean that I can't trust you, that's not what I meant, I know..." Lilac talked very fast because she was afraid Hunter would misunderstand what she was saying.

"Don't worry, I understand," Hunter said to reassure her that everything was alright. "I am fine. You don't need to worry about it."

Hunter sighed deeply and kissed her forehead again, he was looking for the right word to say because this topic was very sensitive and if he chose the wrong word, it would only sound insincere.
