Chapter 171

Chapter 171

Aiden only realized that he was being schemed when he saw warriors chased after him. His escape should be smooth sailing and he shouldn't be chased down, instead these people should help him.

But apparently, they took him as a fool, thus they thought it was easy to trick him.

After he realized what was going on, he immediately tried to escape, but it didn't matter again once he knew that he was surrounded. There was no way for him to escape from the situation.

He knew that he was trapped without a chance to get himself out of the situation, but in his desperate attempt, the lycan came.

At first, he thought these lycan came from alpha Hunter's pack, but when he watched how they fought his chaser and guided him to safety place, he realized it was not part of alpha Hunter's pack.

This lycan must be the one that had worked with alpha Kellan, but he didn't know why they saved him.

However, soon he learned the main reason behind it and now he had to choose what was best for him.

"You need to choose wisely," a woman said. She looked beautiful, but a little bit gloomy with long, black hair that covered her face.

Aiden stared at her, but he couldn't figure out what her main agenda. He was not sure that he was able to make the right decision at time like this, because this decision not only would affect his life, but also his entire plan.

"I need time to think what should I do." Aiden tried to buy himself more time, but the woman didn't seem to be happy with his answer.

"You have an hour to think about it over, if you couldn't come up with a decision, we will decide it for you." She then slammed the door after what she said and then left Aiden inside this small room again without anything, but a bowl of soup and a piece of meat.

From outside, she shouted again, reminding him about the sacrifice that the lycan had done in order to keep his ass safe.

“You have killed a hundred of lycan! You need to remember that! Their blood is in your hand!”

Aiden gritted his teeth. He didn't like to be threatened, but he was not in the position to have a freedom to choose what he wanted.

This place apparently was the hiding place of these lycans. Somehow, Kellan managed to find them and worked together with them to take down Hunter's pack, because they said, that pack was supposed to be their pack and they had been shooed away for almost two decades.

Aiden was not aware of their situation with Hunter's pack or his father, who was at that time was the alpha. If they were really being told to leave the pack, it must be Hunter's father, who had done it.

And right now, they demanded Aiden to help them to get rid of Hunter. Of course, this was a great opportunity. This was Aiden's main goal too. He would accept the offer without a second thought only if what entailed behind it was not really ridiculous.

They demanded him to be part of this pack. No. To be precise, they wanted him to be mated with that gloomy woman and made her his luna.

This was not in his agenda to take some random woman as his luna, more so, he didn't have a pack or any forces to rely on. Why would they want him to be the alpha?

This simply ridiculous and that woman didn't want to explain anything more if he didn't agree to mate with her.

Didn't the lycan not like it when they had to mate with the other shifters aside from their kind? This one thing confused Aiden, but he couldn't voice it out and tried his best to stay alive in their den. Search The Find website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

One more reason why he couldn't take the offer was because he only wanted Lilac. Lilac and Lilac only.

Even if he managed to kill Hunter, he only wanted that woman to be by his side, whether she was willing or not or even if he had to use force.

Meanwhile, Lilac was currently hugging her lovely mate, being a little bit clingy toward him "because she wanted to go.

"Let's go home..." Lilac said, she whimpered, she didn't like to be here. They had been here for two weeks and Hunter had been busy with the newly formed group that consisted with the warriors from all the packs, including the lycan.

This group was created to hunt Aiden down, but alpha James seemed to make things difficult, because luna Jasmine didn't agree with the idea, the luna found this plan horrendous.

"Okay, give me one more week, okay?" Hunter tried to coax her, his heart felt so warm when he heard the way Lilac called their pack as home. It meant, she already thought as part of the lycan pack and not this pack. "I will wrap everything up very quickly. Or..."

Lilac raised her head and looked at Hunter, sulking.

"Or... you can go first and I will come after a week."

"No." Lilac immediately rejected the idea. Recently, her emotions were all over the places.

Meanwhile, her stomach started to grow and she was already showing if you watched it closely, though not many people had noticed this.

“No. I want to be with you.”

“What about I called Raya over so she could spend time with you?” He suggested. He caressed her cheek and kissed her lips.

“Okay.” Lilac liked the idea and two days later, Raya arrived to stay with them.

This was the first time for Raya to be in another pack.

Lilac was more than happy to have Raya here. She didn't really have a lot of friends, even though she lived in this pack for as long as she could remember.

She was close with a few members in the orphan, but Aria was the only friend that was really close with her.

However, after she left the orphanage, she was busy to learn how to be a proper luna from luna Jasmine and didn't have time to make a friend. She also didn't have any interaction with people from the orphanage, aside from Aria, thus it was understandable that they grew apart.

Especially now when she was no longer part of this pack. People in this pack was a little bit awkward with her too.

“So, you are really pregnant?” Raya asked, she glanced at her flat stomach. It was hard to tell because Lilac was still in early stage of pregnancy and her dress covered her stomach perfectly. No one would be able to tell.

“Yes,” Lilac replied. She smiled softly and instinctively touched her belly. “You and Rye are the first people that I inform about this news.”

Raya smiled beautifully. "I was shocked because I was informed about this all of sudden back when we were in the lycan pack. Even now, I still can't believe it that the alpha will have a child."

Lilac giggled.

They were sitting together under a big oak tree, while staring at the clear sky near the river, while warriors surrounded this area, but they kept their distance away, to give them privacy.

This was the place, where Lilac showed Hunter in the mountain, when all of them came to chase after Aiden.

"Yes, I can't believe it too." Lilac felt her heart was so warm with the thought of her little family with Hunter. A child that looked like her and him.

"Yes. It's hard to believe that the alpha finally settled down and have his own family when he used to sleep with so many women."

Lilac's smile faltered, but she composed herself quickly before Raya could notice that. "Yes. I am very lucky to have him," she said, trying to sound cheerful.

"Yes, you are so lucky. The alpha is also lucky to have you." Raya stared at the sky. "He chose someone from outside our pack, something that no one would have expected."

"Yeah, to put it that way... I don't expect it either." Lilac even thought that she would be some kind of slave when Hunter took her back to his pack.

Chapter 172

Who would have thought that everything took unexpected turn.

"Yes. Thought there are so many beautiful women that would be compatible with the alpha, but he chose you," Raya said with a giggle, it sounded like a joke, as if she was teasing her.

"Yes, I am lucky." Lilac didn't know how to respond to that, thus she only kept saying that.

After that, the conversation went like usual and after a week had passed, it was time for them to returned back to the lycan pack, while the other alphas would take care of a few things about the joined warriors that they had formed.

From the lycan pack, they gave ten warriors, while the other pack volunteered to give twenty warriors from each.

The number of the warrior from the lycan's side was not great, but knowing how a lycan could compare to three to four normal shifters, it was fair in a way.

"We are going home?" Lilac asked when she opened her eyes this morning. She still hugged her mate and looked very sleepy when Hunter told her that they were going home this afternoon.

"Yes, love." He liked it when Lilac said the lycan pack was her home, which meant, she already accepted her place in his pack. She thought of it as her home and Hunter couldn't ask for more. "Do you like it?"

"Yes." Lilac nuzzled his chest and wriggled her body, which made Hunter groaned. She didn't think much about her action, but surely the lycan became restless when she kept wriggling to find a better spot in his arms.

"Stop moving around, you turn me on," Hunter whispered to her ear, as he bit her neck.

Only then Lilac realized how he was already so hard and then she was still, afraid to move and provoked him, since she still wanted to enjoy her sleeping time.

However, unfortunately for her, it was already too late if she wanted to act docile, because the alpha needed her to put off the flame that she had lit up.

"Hunter... this is..." Lilac couldn't finish her sentence when Hunter already kissed her. She wanted to struggle and tell him that she was still sleepy, but when she positioned himself between her legs, she forgot what she wanted to say.

Hunter's kiss started with very gentle, but then when the flames burned his whole body, he became impatient.

This week was a very hectic days and he rarely had a chance to be with his mate, thus he had been longing this intimate moment between them too. The connection, the touch and everything in between.

"Lilac..." He breathed her name when he lifted her dress and ripped her undergarment, which made her gasped. She felt his callous hand caressed her thigh and she couldn't even think why she wanted to reject his advance in the first place.

Chapter 172

Fuck with sleep. She could sleep later. She wanted him now.

Lilac had been longing for him too and his touch lit fire within her. She moaned and breathed raggedly when she felt his fingers inserted into her opening.

“You are so wet,” Hunter groaned in approval.

“Ah...” Lilac bit his shoulder when his fingers moved inside and out slowly. She wriggled her waist, wanting him to move faster, but he didn’t give it to her.

“I want to make love to you,” Hunter said.

Chapter 173

Chapter 173

Lilac flustered when she heard what Hunter told her, she felt like her whole body was burning. She felt like she was on fire and she was having a hard time to think of anything else, but his warm breath on her neck and his fingers between her legs.

Hunter nipped on her ear and this made Lilac shuddered when he used his other hand to pinch her nipple and slowly assaulted her opening. She wanted to tell him to move faster, as he started to move her waist, but Hunter didn’t want to give it to her.

This man was insane... he literally tortured her with this pleasure.

“Hunter... please...” Lilac was frustrated because when she felt like she was about to reach her climax, Hunter withdrew his hand. She opened her eyes and looked at him disapprovingly.

What this man wanted? Did he really enjoy this?

Hunter actually smirked when he saw her expression. She looked cute in his eyes.

“Should I continue?”

“Hunter.. stop teasing me...” Lilac felt like she was about to cry, she wanted to get her release, but he wouldn’t give it to her and when she moved her waist to get it, Hunter actually pressed her down. Stopped her from moving around. This man could be very awful.

“I will give it to you if you begged me.”

Lilac narrowed her eyes at him, she pushed his chest, but he captured both of her hands and held them above her head, as he caressed her inner thigh, which lit fire within her. She really wanted to bite him down.

“Don’t want to?” This time Hunter brushed her wet opening lightly, his touch was a torture and couldn’t think straight at this point.

“Please...” Lilac finally gave in. She couldn’t play this game against him, because he knew how far he could take it.

It was not that Lilac didn’t like it, but somehow, her desire was unbearable, probably because of her pregnancy, thus she became a little bit impatient.

She didn’t like this slow sex....she wanted him to be rough with her.

“Please what?” Hunter was still being very playful with her, this time, he nipped under her breast, but ignored her hard nipple completely. “Tell me what do you want, love.”

“Please touch me...” Lilac was breathless now. Hunter touched her, but not at the spot that she wanted to.

“Where should I touch you, love?” Hunter moved his finger, brushed her wet opening and watched how her expression contorted. He was sure, if this was in normal occasion, this woman would have slapped him harshly for torturing her like this. “Or like this?”

This time Hunter inserted two fingers, which made her body jolted and she moaned rather loudly. This brought smile to his lips.

“Do you like this?” Hunter started to move his finger in and out a few times, to build the climax and watched how Lilac’s face turned very red.

However when she was about to get her climax, he withdrew again, which made her eyes opened widely.

“Hunter!” Lilac sounded like she wanted to cry.

But, this time Hunter didn't intend to not give it to her, he gave her something better, as he placed himself between her legs and started to penetrate her. This warm feeling made both of them moaned. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

like i

“Do you Hunter whispered to her ear.

“This is better...” Lilac said absentmindedly, as she adjusted to him. It felt so right to have him within her.

“I know it,” Hunter said, as he started to take his pace. He started it slow, as he wanted to keep his word that he wanted to make love with her, but in the end, he lost it and he gave what she wanted.

Lilac muffled her scream against his shoulder when she reached her climax, accidentally bit him, but the alpha didn't mind. He would think of that as a compensation for his playfulness earlier.

And after that, they did it a few more times. Lilac lost count when she came for the four times and felt very spent, but Hunter kept persuading her to get one more and after that one more...

The next thing she knew was when Hunter licked her body and murmured something, his voice. was very calming to her ear, which drove her to her sleep.

Lilac didn't know how long she had been sleeping, but the first thing that she noticed when she regained her consciousness was the fact she was inside a moving carriage.

“Awake?” Raya's voice grazed her ear and Lilac stretched her body, but this soreness immediately hit her, reminded her of what she had done with Hunter. “I will not wonder if you ended up with a dozen of children less than a decade.” Raya shook her head. She clicked her tongue. “You reeked of sex.”

Lilac had told her not to address her as luna when it was only the two of them, because she felt like the title created a distance between them.

She wanted to feel like she still had a friend. Therefore, whenever it was only the two of them, there was no title between them, just like right now. Hunter must be somewhere and Raya stayed inside the carriage to accompany Lilac, just in case she woke up and needed something.

“You are really awful,” Raya said, clicking her tongue and shook her head. She handed her a bottle of water for her to drink.

“Where are we?” Lilac felt this headache, she accepted the bottle of water from Raya.

“We are on our way back to our pack,” Raya replied. She helped her to sit down and drink the water. “You need to tell the alpha not to work you out, you are currently pregnant, you know. You will your baby in danger.”

put

Lilac pursed her lips. She didn’t think her baby would be in danger. Baby shifter was exceptionally strong, especially when it was a lycan baby. She might jump up and down until she hurt her legs, but the baby would be peacefully fine. The healer said so, but of course, she wouldn’t do such thing.

“I am fine. The baby is fine...” Instinctively, Lilac put her hand over her stomach and then felt her baby. The look of her right now was very serene and Raya stared at her absentmindedly.

“You have to let other people know about your pregnancy once you arrived at the pack house,” Raya said. “This will be a great news for the pack member.”

“I plan to do so,” Lilac replied. She was only a few months long, she had not showing too.

The rest of the journey, Lilac fell back into sleep and Raya had to stick inside the carriage, doing nothing, but staring at her. She looked at her stomach when she fell asleep, but her expression didn’t show anything.

Once they arrived at the lycan pack, Lilac was still sleeping after she had her dinner.

“Wake up, we are here already,” Raya said, she shook Lilac’s body, but she didn’t wake up at all. If anything, she looked like she was in deep sleep.

“Don’t wake her up,” Hunter said, as he opened the carriage door and gestured for Raya to come out.

“But, we already here, alpha.” Raya got off the carriage and watched how the alpha entered and then carried, her out.

Raya shouldn't have wondered how it would go, but still she stared at the two of them.

"I will help you with..."

"You can go back. I can handle it. Thank you for accompanying my mate."

Raya bit her lips and once again she watched the alpha's back, carrying his mate in his arms, as he stood there like a fool.

"Whatever you are thinking right now, you need to stop it," Rye suddenly spoke, he stood behind her. He had been observing his sister and because she was his sister, of course he knew what she was thinking. It was not hard to tell, if you caught her in the right time when she lowered her guard down.

"What do you mean?" Raya/snapped and her guard was up again.

Chapter 174

Chapter 174

"I only don't want you to get hurt. You need to be careful with your feeling now," Rye said casually before he walked away because he didn't want to hear her denial anymore. She couldn't be helped, if she kept denying the obvious and Rye was worried with the aftermath.

"I know what I am doing and you don't need to worry about something stupid like that." Raya didn't want to hear that anymore and turned her body around, as she walked faster. She didn't want to talk about this topic.

Who said that he liked the alpha? That man didn't know how to love a woman. He was with so many women, she thought he had slept with almost all the women in the pack.

Even though, deep down Raya knew those women, who claimed had spent the night with the alpha was actually not telling the truth, they were only being delusional to think they could get the alpha to their bed.

But of course, the number of women that was with the alpha couldn't be said as little.

Raya sighed deeply again, as she hastened her pace to go to her bedroom. She was really tired. She didn't do anything during the journey back and it was really boring to stay inside a small carriage, staring at Lilac's sleeping face and her flat stomach, while breathing in their after sex scent. It drove her crazy.

Raya shook her head and changed her dress. She was very tired and wanted to fall asleep.

However, she was not the only woman, who was tired, because Lilac didn't wake up until the next morning. It seemed like Hunter had spent her stamina for good, or maybe this pregnancy only made her a little bit lazy than usual.

"Hunter...?" Lilac looked around her, but she couldn't find him anywhere. It seemed, he had gone somewhere this very early morning, yet, she didn't have any idea where he had gone to.

had gone to.

This whole morning, Lilac didn't meet with Hunter and based on what Rye told her, the alpha was busy with something. Lilac wondered what he was busy to.

And when the afternoon came, Lilac suddenly wanted to see her father again. This was not a sudden decision. She had thought about it for a while. The last time she met with him was not a good meeting. If anything, she was mortified to see that side of Hunter.

But, Lilac understood why he acted so cruelly. The only reason why her father was still alive was because Hunter wanted her to meet him first before he made a drastic decision on his life.

"Why do you want to meet with him?" Rye asked when Lilac found him in a strategy room. It was easy to find this beta. Everyone would know where he was, because of how loud he could be.

"There is something I want to be sure of." Lilac then looked conflicted. "Is he still alive?"

“Yeah, pretty much breathing, if you could say.” If your description of being alive was breathing, then yes, Kellan was still breathing, but there was not a single soul wanted that kind of life. Rye tilted his head curiously. “What is it?”

Only then Lilac realized, Rye didn't know the relation between her and Kellan. Hunter had told her about this. He warned her not to tell anyone because it would complicate the matter and she forgot about it completely.

“It's okay. I will wait for Hunter.” Lilac backed off. Rye might not try to pry further and maybe it was fine if he learned about this, but without Hunter's permission, Lilac didn't want to act recklessly.

Hunter had a lot in his plate, he didn't need an extra trouble to be solved.

“I will talk to him when he returned.” Lilac waved her hand goodbye at Rye and then walked away.

ve tilted his head. He wanted to know why Lilac wanted to talk with Kellan. But, one thing that Lilac didn't realize was; Rye knew who was Kellan to her. He and Darren also knew the story when they first met with each other in the waterfall.

These two men were the only people that Hunter talked to about that matter.

After that, Lilac waited for Hunter to return, as she stayed in the garden. Raya and the other were busy with their training and because she couldn't train with her condition, she had a lot of free time.

It was nice to be back to the lycan pack and more so, people started to treat her warmly. Whether they did it because they were trying to be polite with her or not, it was still a good feeling.

“What are you doing

Out here alone?” Hunter draped his cloak over her shoulders. “I thought I make sure that you are not to go out at night like this?”

The alpha glanced at the warrior, who supposed to guard Lilac.

Chapter 174

But, before that poor warrior could be punished, Lilac had spoken first. “I felt stuffy inside the room, so I walked out for a while. I am fine. You don't need to worry.”

“Let’s go back.” Hunter helped her to stand up and then returned to their bedroom.
“Let’s talk when you are warm.”

Lilac flushed when she heard that. It felt like there was another meaning behind his words, especially when he smirked like that toward her. It only added to her suspicion. This man was really something else.

Even the people around them felt like their alpha looked like someone else whenever he was with the luna, if that made sense. He looked less scary and intimidating.

Once they returned to their bedroom. Hunter immediately told her about what Rye had informed him of how she wanted to see Kellan.

“Is there something you want to ask more?” Hunter didn’t want her to meet with Kellan anymore, especially if it could trigger the last memory of their meeting. “Is there something that bothering you?”

Lilac looked hesitated and Hunter didn’t like to see her in trouble like this.

“You don’t need to tell if you don’t want to. I will arrange your meeting with him, but I need to warn you that what you will see, is not something that you will like.”

Lilac was grateful for that, but aside from it. “Come here, sit next to me. I will tell you what he told me about my mother.”

Hunter had never pressured her about it. Lilac noticed this habit of him. He wouldn’t put pressure on her about anything, even when he was very curious, he wouldn’t want to torment her and force her to say something that she was not ready.

Well, even though he liked to torment her in another way... Lilac wouldn’t think to that direction and focus at the current matter.

“If you are not ready to tell me, you don’t need to.” Hunter sat down next to her. He frowned and felt like this was not right, thus he picked Lilac up and sat her down on his lap, only then he felt good about this sitting position.

Lilac blushed, but she rested her head against his shoulder. It was easier and even more comfortable to talk like this.

“He said my mother probably is still alive...” Lilac said. “But, she is currently a rogue... because she was banished/from her pack.”

Chapter 174

Hunter was being very patient with her, he caressed her back to encourage her to speak more. He knew that was not all, because there was no way she would be very hysterical when she heard what happened to her mother.

“He sent warriors to finish my mother off, but they didn’t manage to kill her. They said, she fell to the cliff.” Lilac pursed her lips. “I don’t believe that, but when I forced further, he said that my mother was being attacked by rogue. Her body was torn apart.”

“But, he said your mother probably is still alive?” Hunter found the inconsistency in the story. Kellan must have hit his head so hard, so his brain didn’t work really well.

“Yes. His story about her kept changing, but what he said that bothered me is; my mother tried to kill me when I was a baby for sacrifice of black magic.”

“There is no black magic in this continent, Lilac.”

Chapter 175

Black magic was a sensitive topic in this continent, so when Lilac talked about black magic, Hunter was a little bit taken aback.

“He must only try to mess up with you, love,” Hunter said, he stretched out his hand and caressed her cheek. She looked fragile and beautiful, especially when she was in the middle of confusion like this.

Hunter really wanted to seal her from the world. He only wanted to see her smile, being happy and that was all he wanted from her.

And their baby...

The thought of the little one inside her womb made his heart warmed. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“But, if you really wanted to see him and to make sure of that, I will come with you.” Hunter wouldn’t leave her to talk alone with Kellan this time. He would be there with her when she was having this conversation.

“Okay.” Lilac looked happy, she leaned over and kissed him. “You are the best!”

Actually, this was the best option, because she didn't think she could face Kellan on her own after their last encounter and how she lost her cool at that time.

Not to mention about how Kellan's condition must be worse than the last time. Knowing Hunter, he must have done something unimaginable to him.

The next morning, after they had their breakfast, Hunter took her to the dungeon, where Lilac saw Rye was there. The gamma looked at her questioningly.

"Is it okay for him to know that I am here?" Lilac whispered to Hunter and the alpha. told her that his gamma and his beta knew the complicated relationship between her and Kellan.

"I should have just asked him to allow me to meet him yesterday," Lilac talked to herself. If the two of them already knew, there was no need for her to hide it anymore, right?

Hunter just laughed to see her pursing her lips and guided her inside the dungeon. Not like before, Lilac realized that they went deeper into the dungeon. As if Hunter had moved Kellan's cell closer to the end of it. The spot where no one didn't want to step in.

The wall was damp and the only sound that could be heard inside this dimly lit tunnel was the sound of their footstep and the dripping water from the ceiling.

"Cold?" Hunter asked, he draped his cloak around her body.

"No. I am fine," Lilac murmured.

However, Hunter didn't buy it. "No. You are not."

And they finally arrived at Kellan's cell, Hunter reminded her again about what she was going to see. "Don't get close to him, you will not like it what you are going to see."

Lilac wanted to say not to worry about it, but she knew better to take his warning seriously, because he wouldn't have reminded her a few times if this was something that she could handle.

Even from here, Lilac could smell the putrid scent from inside this cell. This located in the end of the tunnel and she was sure, not many people would love to come to this particular area.

She couldn't imagine what if someone to be held in this kind of place, because she was barely able to stand her for this long.

“Wh- who is that?!”

There was a growl from inside the cell. The voice was very hoarse, dark and very hurtful to your ears. This made Lilac shudder. Kellan’s voice was not like this the last time she met him.

It almost like someone, who never drank anything for weeks. She could imagine how hurtful it was when you spoke.

“Who is there?!”

The sound like someone clawed a wall. It hurt your teeth.

Lilac gathered her courage and replied to the question. “It’s me.”

“You need to talk louder, love,” Hunter told her. “I accidentally destroyed his hearing, so him.” he couldn’t hear it if you didn’t shout to Accidentally?

Who would believe that? There was nothing accident if it came to this man. He was not someone, who would do something unintentional.

2/5

Chapter 175

Lilac wondered how Kellan’s condition right now, because he was curling at the corner of the cell and the dark was too thick, the only thing she could see was his silhouette.

Lilac glanced at Hunter and her mate only gave her an innocent look, seemingly didn’t-know why he was being stared at like that.

This time, Lilac spoke louder and from inside the cell, there was this thunderous guffaw that echoed throughout the walls.

w you

“I know you will come to me again! I will come to see me again! Why? Did you miss your father?!”

The question made Lilac’s stomach churned, but she needed to get the answer that she deserved.

“Tell me about my mother!”

That was not a question, but a demand. She didn't want to listen another bullshit that came from his mouth.

Aiden was in a great dilemma when he had to disclose every hiding spot in the pack house to this woman. Her name was Danika. She was a warrior of this lycan pack.

And from what Aiden learned as he already stayed in this pack for more than two months, he knew a little bit of detail of the background story of this pack.

Apparently, this woman's father was the eldest brother of Hunter's father, which made her Hunter's cousin. Actually, it should be Danika's father, who became the alpha, but because a big dispute that shed a lot of blood, Danika's father was being chased out from the pack, along with a few people.

There were not many people knew about this story, because it happened long before Danika and Hunter were born, the people, who knew about it also was being shut down. by the alpha at that time.

However, Kellan knew about the story and he had been in contact with them ever since Hunter openly rejected his daughter and chose Lilac to be his luna.

He didn't know that Lilac was his daughter at that time, if he knew, he would have changed the plan.

'Why do you need me?'

Chapter 175

That was the first question that came to Aiden's mind because there was no reason for Danika to involve him, especially when she had to make a big sacrifice to save him.

'Because you killed the previous alpha. That was a simple answer. 'We, lycan, knew how to repay someone else's favor.

In their eyes, what Aiden had done was a great favor for them. He essentially had avenged their alpha's vengeance.

Hearing that, Aiden could only bite his tongue. Only if they knew that Hunter was the who had killed his own father. Yes. That alpha lycan was that crazy.

one,

Therefore, this was how they would repay him for that favor.

Aiden wouldn't say anything about it. Let them think that they owed him, because right now, he could only rely on that.

"The ceremony will be held tonight," Danika said. "Be ready."

This woman still looked gloomy like usual, but the more Aiden looked at her, the more he found her very endearing. She held power and knew what she needed to do, but more importantly, she agreed to devote herself to him, which meant, the power in her hand would be his.

"Okay." Aiden nodded. He was ready for tonight.

And that same night, Ruby was woken up because of the excruciating pain that she felt. She was breathing raggedly and her body writhed in agony. The mark on her neck burned her skin.

She was having a hard time to breath and without her knowing it, she was crying out loud, asking for help, though she didn't know what the cause of her pain. She only wanted this to end.

Ruby pleaded to no one in particular for this pain to stop, but it was to no use because she was sure there was no one nearby.

After the dispute between her and luna Jasmine, everyone avoided her like a germ, because they didn't want to upset the luna and be on her bad side. The luna had been very hostile toward Ruby, accusing her to seduce her mate and would lash out to anyone, who even mentioned her name.

Therefore, no one would come to her rescue, but then Ruby felt someone touched her. His voice laced with worry
