

Belong to the Lycan Alpha

Chapter 95

Marking someone was a great deal for a shifter, especially for the lycan, because it meant, you had chosen the person to spend the rest of your life with and for the lycan, you would only love one person.

“No way...” Raya gasped to see clearly the mark was the alpha’s. The higher that person was, the more your mark became very vivid to see and that was the case with Lilac right now.

Her mark was still fresh, but you would know immediately the person, who marked her was someone powerful and it could only happen if it was the alpha, knowing how the relationship between the two of them.

Raya had heard the rumor out there about the alpha and Lilac. But, she couldn’t believe a hundred percent on the rumor, yet at the same time, it was hard to believe for the alpha to finally settle down with someone, since they knew how Hunter had been with a lot of women.

In the end, Raya tried not to think of anything, because this was not her problem and she didn’t have a say in this matter. Who she was to say something about it?

But then...

“So, you are our luna now...” Raya muttered to herself. She couldn’t say that she was pleased, because maybe some part of her had the same thought like the rest of the pack member, when they assumed Lilac was only another woman in the alpha’s eyes and when the alpha was done with her, just like any other woman, she would be forgotten.

And with that, Raya ended up staying on guard by Lilac’s side for another three hours before she was awake groggily and was surprised to see her there.

“The alpha asked me to take care of you,” Raya said with a cheerful smile. “I will call the Hella, don’t move, okay?”

Not long Raya returned with Hella and after a few moment of examination and drank her medicine, Lilac fell asleep again, she looked exhausted and she was still not fully recovered from the mating and marking moreover, process.

“Is this it?” Raya asked Hella after she saw Lilac had fallen asleep again..

Chapter 95

“What?” Hella turned her body when she heard Raya talked to her, she was about to leave the room and prepared something for Lilac when she woke up. The alpha had given her this strict task to focus only on Lilac’s health alone.

“Do you believe the alpha finally chose her as his mate? She is our luna now.” Though it was not official yet, but seeing that mark was enough.

“The fact is there. The alpha chose her, what else to say? She is our luna.” Hella shrugged her shoulders. She didn’t think much about it, more so, she didn’t interact with gossip and rumor. In her mind, no matter who was that person to be the luna, it would affect her so much.

Hearing that, Raya became silence again, she stared at Lilac and said nothing, while Hella did her job and left the two of them inside the room to return an hour later with her medicine.

On the other hand, Hunter actually made a trip to the dungeon to personally interrogate Kellan because Rye and Darren couldn’t get anything out of his mouth.

When the alpha was there, Kellan looked awful, there were a lot of wounds. that had not yet healed from the previous interrogation. He was bleeding and there was no amount of torture that could make him speak.

“Hunter,” Kellan said in hoarse voice, as he spat blood.

Hunter stared at Kellan for a while, before he waved his hand to indicate the other people could leave this cell, as he wanted to have a private conversation with Kellan alone.

“Still not talking?” Hunter asked.

“What do you want to know?” Kellan scoffed, he mused with the fact Hunter finally came to see him by himself.

“Who were those lycan?” Hunter started his question with this. “As far as I know, we are the only lycan pack in this realm, who were they?”

Kellan grinned, showing his broken teeth. “I am not telling you, Hunter. Do you really think you will be able to coax me when all of your fellow friend couldn’t? You just learned how to walk when I was already in a battle. Even now, you are only a child in my eyes, along with your beta and gamma.”

He disregarded Hunter so much as the alpha, since he didn’t see him as one.

“Have people learned about the fact that you killed your own father?” Kellan asked, he tilted his head. His wound started to heal, as a lycan, they healed faster than werewolf, therefore, you could imagine what kind of hellish he had to endure until now.

But then, he still refused to say anything about who helped her, or who he got those lycan.

On the other hand, Hunter crossed his arms over his chest and stared at him, letting him blabbered and mocked him, thinking he had won this.

“Do you think people will see you the same after what they learned about how you got this title?” Kellan was sure the member of the lycan pack would look down on him once they learned about this truth.

“Do you really think you will have enough time and source to tell other people about it? I can have your tongue cut and hanged you in public for treason. Choose your word well and make yourself useful, because I don’t keep a wasteful thing.”

However, Kellan was laughing at him instead when he heard that. "What did you say?" He chuckled and threw his head back. "Make myself useful? Hunter. You need to learn more lesson. If you wanted to keep this as a secret, at the very least, you shouldn't use it to threaten alpha Aiden!"

This time, it was Hunter, who was smiling. "So, it's Aiden, who had helped you."

Chapter 96

Actually, this was not very surprising when Hunter heard Aiden's name came out of Kellan's lips. He had his own guess since the very beginning that this scum like alpha must be the one, who had made a contact with Kellan.

That man was too petty to let go of the matter with Lilac. Despite the fact the mate bond between them had disappeared, it seemed his ego couldn't take it.

"So, It's Aiden, huh?" Hunter scoffed, he smirked viciously at Kellan, which made the man's back shivered in fear. The look on the alpha's face was pure evil.

Actually, Kellan didn't mean to mention anything about Aiden, but he couldn't help it and the name just slipped from his mouth.

"I assume your daughter will be there too?" Hunter raised his brows, he folded his arms in front of his chest, as his eyes fixed on Kellan. That man looked trouble when he tried to take back what he had said. "I have never said anything like that," Kellan said grimly. His eyes met with Hunter's and he felt this urge to lower his head, even though Hunter didn't use his alpha's voice, or he even tried to intimidate Kellan.

Yet, somehow, as the alpha, it came very natural for him to make his opponent shrivel and tremble.

“I think I will find out later.” Hunter tilted his head. “Do you think I will spare your daughter? You should know the punishment for a traitor.”

Every traitor would be killed, along with their family and that was not a threat, but that was a rule in the lycan pack.

“I will have your mate and your second daughter to be hanged tomorrow and you will watch them.” Hunter’s voice was very icy, as if he was talking about something else entirely.

This was very shocking because, all the people knew that Kellan was his father’s former beta, thus the two families were very close and for the alpha to say something like that was something Kellan didn’t expect at all.

He stared at Hunter for a long time before his eyes turned very hard, as he cursed at the alpha with passion, as if hatred had blinded his eyes and clouded his mind.

“Don’t you dare to touch my mate and my daughter! I am going to kill you!” Kellan roared angrily at Hunter, but the alpha didn’t budge.

“See you tomorrow, Kellan.” With that Hunter went out of the cell. He couldn’t get what he wanted about the information of the lycan, but at the very least, he learned about Aiden’s involvement. “That bastard!” Hunter muttered to himself.

He should have killed that man if he knew the relationship between him and Lilac, it would save him a lot of time instead of making him a hero, who had killed the alpha lycan.

Of course, Hunter knew Aiden’s involvement the moment Kellan mentioned about the death of his father. There was no one else knew about that aside from his beta and gamma and... Aiden, because he himself, who had told him about that.

“Hunter!” Darren approached Hunter, his expression was ashen, which indicating there was nothing good about the news that he would report to Hunter. “This is not good!”

Hunter hated it when someone gave him bad news, but he needed to listen to that. His silent was enough to make his beta kept talking.

“Kellan’s mate and his daughter had disappeared. From the look of it, they had left the pack at the same time of the attack.” Darren furrowed his brows and was alerted when he saw how dark Hunter’s face was. Now they lost Grace and their other leverage to know about the other lycan pack. Torture didn’t work on Kellan and they couldn’t threaten him without his family was here.

This was a difficult situation.

“What we should do now?” Darren asked carefully because he didn’t know how to find a way out of this situation.

Silent stretched out in this cold dungeon, as the alpha grew fearful by second, even as the beta, Darren could feel the pressure that came from his alpha, as he waited for his next instruction.

Belon

However, who would have thought that Hunter chose to stride away from there and returned to the pack house without even saying anything.

He wanted to see his mate...

“A- alpha Hunter...” Raya was a little bit stuttering when she saw Hunter entered the room, she immediately stood up from the chair she was sitting in, as she watched how the alpha went to see his mate first before he did anything else.

“How is she?” Hunter asked, but his eyes focused on his mate and wouldn’t leave her face. He treated other people like air.

This was why, Lilac always felt a little bit confused with how people around Hunter acted very fearful toward him and gave him the utmost respect an alpha deserved, but at the same time, Lilac would feel none of the people could relax in the alpha’s presence.

“Lilac is fine, she is...”

“Luna,” Hunter said, he cut her off. “She is a luna now.” He shifted his attention toward Raya, but this made her flustered and lowered her head.

“Yes, alpha...” Raya said timidly. She was afraid, her heart was thumping wildly, as she explained Lilac’s condition and what Grace told her before.

It took a few minutes for Raya to explain the detail of what happened to the alpha and then stopped talking when there was nothing more to say.

“You can leave,” Hunter said sternly, his eyes already fixed on his mate, while Raya went out of the room and left.

But before she closed the door, she saw the alpha leaned his body and kissed Lilac’s neck, the place where he had marked her and she could only imagine the alpha was licking the wound on her neck, because that was their habit to lick their wound, to help it healed faster.
