

Chapter 107

Alina felt pain in her neck. But the pain in her lower body was more than anything.

She almost fainted. Her whole body was numb in pain. She could move slightly and Aaron's canines were still inside her neck.

After a few seconds, she started to feel some strange feelings all over her body.

He never stopped thrusting. She felt pain all the time but suddenly she began to feel some kind of sensation.

Her own wolf chanted 'Mate' inside her. Her wolf was growing inside, feeling happy that her mate marked her.

A wolf without a mark was like the lone warrior in the whole world. It sounded good but for werewolves, it was not. They needed a mate, they needed a life partner who would stay and walk beside them in every path of their lives.

Marking was a thing that no one could break it. Werewolves got a chance to reject each other before mark but they still rejected their mate and had to bear consequences.

However, after marking, they sealed each other as the only companion of their fate. They became destined and only for each other.

Alina's body started to respond to Aaron. She felt him licking his mark to lessen her pain.

Alina lifted her hands and grabbed his neck. She caressed his dark locks.

She felt his every thrust. It felt like magic to Alina that she did not feel any pain anymore. Instead of pain, she felt the blissful pleasure that she had never felt.

She moaned and moved her hands to Aaron's upper back. His deep thrust made her scratch his back.

Aaron groaned in pleasure. He started thrusting fast and deep.

He kissed her and Alina kissed him back. She was feeling insane with the new feelings.

After some time she felt something scrambling in her lower stomach. She moaned aloud when she and Aaron were released together. His warm fluid filled inside her.

He looked at her with his red eyes and saw her beautiful blue eyes.

“Mate.” He said and moved down from her. He laid beside her and zoned out.

Alina looked at him. She knew he was drunk but he refused to accept it.

She was too tired to think about anything. So she fell asleep.

The next morning,

Ava woke up when she felt light over her eyes. She opened her eyes and closed her eyes in an instant.

She rubbed her eyes and yawned. She tried to sit up but moaned in pain.

She could not sit properly. She remembered about last night and touched her neck.

“So it was not a dream?” She asked herself.

She sat up slowly and the quilt fell from her upper naked body.

She covered herself and looked beside her. The bed was empty.

She bit her lower lip. ‘Where is he?’

She felt crying that he marked her, not only that he forced on her. But then she also enjoyed the night later.

She scolded herself inside her head. It was her fault. She should not have responded to him.

Alina waited for some time if Aaron came out of the bathroom but no, he was not coming out.

‘Is he even inside there? Or am I thinking too much?’

Alina got down from the bed and wrapped the quilt around her naked body. She strolled to the bathroom.

She saw her torn clothes and lingerie on the floor. She clenched the quilt. She didn't forget how he behaved with her last night.

'But why did he mark me? Did he get to know the truth? Or did he show trust in me last night?'

Alina stood out of the bathroom, she twisted the lock. When she saw the door was unlocked, she understood that there was no one inside the bathroom.

She entered and took a shower.

She saw her whole body was full of his marks. The mirror in the bathroom was showing her condition.

She touched the mark. It was like two stars on her neck.

She closed her eyes and sighed. She did not know what to do. Hence, she had to do everything according to Aaron's order.

A little hope built inside my heart. She believed that he would behave well with her and tried to find out the truth for her.

Ava took a towel and wrapped it around her. She came out of the bathroom and saw a maid waiting for you.

It was the same maid who came to her room asking her to come to Aaron's room.

The maid looked annoyed looking at Alina. But her eyes almost bulged out when she saw the mark on Alina's neck.

“What is this? It was not there last night.” The maid pointed at her neck.

Alina did not reply to her. She just took the dress from her hand and thanked her.

She went to the bathroom and wore the dress.

When she came out. The maid told her to go to the living launch.

“Why?”

“All the officials told me to call you.” The maid replied. Her voice was unbelievably soft. Alina knew it was because she saw Aaron’s mark.

Alina looked at the bed and was stunned.

She turned to the door. That maid just changed the bed sheet when she went to wear the dress. Alina felt embarrassed because the bed sheet had stains of blood.

Alina went out of the King’s chamber and strolled out of the King’s residence.

She looked down and slowly entered the lining launch.

She saw the officials, Daisy, Crystal, and Selena talking about something.

When they saw Alina, Beta Lucas said,

“Let’s go for breakfast.”

Daisy, Crystal, and Selena looked at Lucas.

“Why would she sit with us? She is a slave. Wait where is her neck lock of slavery?” Crystal said. She tried to humiliate Alina.

But when she looked at her neck. She took a step back.

“W-What is this mark? Did King Aaron mark you???”
