

Chapter 127

It had been two days since everyone found Daisy unconscious in another room.

Everyone was waiting for Daisy to wake up but she was not waking up at all.

The pack doctor took her blood to taste. Today he would come up with the result.

Alina was standing in front of Daisy with Silvia. She was not allowed in this room because Aaron strictly told everyone not to allow anyone except his chosen maids for his mother.

She came here because she requested Lucas that she wanted to meet Daisy. Lucas told Silvia to take Alina with her.

The pack doctor came to the room and looked at the others.

“Call the king. The result has come out.” He said with a nervous voice.

Gamma George told Theta Cooper to go to Aaron’s office.

In a few minutes, the door of the room opened and Aaron entered the room.

The first thing that came to his eyes was that Alina was there standing in front of his mother.

He glared at her. “What are you doing here?” He yelled.

Alina was stunned. Aaron did not talk to her during these two days. He did not ask her to go to his room after the night he marked her. She was living her life in her room alone.

Alina did not reply to him and felt angry that Aaron always yelled at her and talked to her rudely. He did not even know the truth.

Her neck lock always made her remember who she was in his eyes. Every time she moved, she felt the silver choker on her neck. It was her real identity, she was a slave to him.

“It is not time for this, first talk to the doctor.” Lucas said.

The pack doctor nodded and gave Aaron the test report.

Aaron opened the envelope and frowned.

“Coma?”

“Yes, my king. She is in coma. We don’t know when she will wake up. But there is a hurt in her head as if someone hit her head.”

Aaron clenched the report in his fist and said,

“Who dared to hit my mother?”

All the officials consoled him. The pack doctor told him to have some patience about it. Once she woke up, she could tell them what had happened to her before fainting.

Days passed so fast.

One week passed in just a blink of an eye. Aaron was losing his mind and his patience day by day.

Alina was losing her sanity while staying in one room like a caged animal.

Alina thought about talking to Aaron about his mother. She knew Aaron would not believe her but she could at least try. She was not an evil woman who would let a person die in front of her eyes.

She tried to peek at Daisy every day because Daisy was in the King's residence now. But she never tried to go inside, she did not want to take any other punishment or did not want to fall into another trap of Crystal.

She was shocked that after doing everything Crystal was still living her life freely.

She wondered if all the criminals like Crystal were also doing the same. They harmed or killed someone and put blame on others then lived their lives freely as if they did not do anything wrong.

Alina strolled to Aaron's office. She was taking short steps, thinking about what she would say to Aaron.

She knew that man would not believe in her. But it was her own satisfaction if she did what she was thinking to do.

She knocked on the door. But she got no reply from Aaron. She waited there for five minutes but still did not get any reply.

She thought Aaron was not inside but his smell was coming from inside. Alina twisted the lock and entered the office.

She faced the angry face of Aaron.

“Why did you come inside when I haven’t permitted you yet?”

Alina was speechless. He was sitting in his chair behind his desk while smoking. So he intentionally did not reply to her.

“Who dared to hit my mother?”

All the officials consoled him. The pack doctor told him to have some patience about it. Once she woke up, she could tell them what had happened to her before fainting.

“I want to talk to you.”

“And I don’t want to talk to you, slave.” He replied while puffing on the cigarette.

Alina closed her eyes and closed the door behind her. She walked to the desk slowly and felt his dark gaze on her.

She stood in front of the desk, opposite him and said,

“It’s about your mother.”

Aaron paused smoking and asked, “What about her?”

“I think her health is not good. I can feel that. She is getting weaker and weaker every day.”

Aaron crashed the cigarette with his boot and stood up.

“How do you know that? Did you dare to see my mother after I told you not to?”

Alina shook her head. But she did not want to lie to him. So she looked at him and said,

“I peeked at her and I felt-“

She stopped when she felt her body swirling and her back pushed to the desk.

She was lying on the desk and Aaron was leaning toward her body, glaring at her.

“I am amazed by your bold attitude, slave. From where do you get this courage to cross my orders?”

Alina was shocked. She stared at him. She could not gather her courage anymore.

She bit her lips and tried to calm her heart. She closed her eyes and did not want to look into his eyes anymore.

“I am telling you the truth. Believe me this time. It’s all about your mother’s health. I will not get anything from it.”

Aaron stared at her face for a long time without doing anything to her. Alina did not open her eyes in fear that he might do something to her again like the night he marked her.

But to her surprise, he moved from her body and let her go.

She opened her eyes slowly and looked up at him. She heard him saying,

“If this time I got any proof against you in this matter Alina, I will not let you live a single day in this world.”
