

M Factory 331

Chapter 331: Qiao Shengans Frigh

Qiao Shengan was so happy, he was just about to get ready to buy what he wants, and the phone in his pocket rang. This call was not at the right time, and he was messy in the scene, he took out his mobile phone and took a look. It was a call from his mother. So, he apologizes to the employee smiling and answers the phone.

The call was connected for an instant and was hung up. Then Qiao Shengan wanted to call his mother again, but he noticed that there was noise around him they were talking on the other side. He didn't even take it to heart. Even if his mother called him by mistake and made a mistake on her cell phone, and it could happen once or twice a month on average.

After all, the son is the only supportive and most concerned person for the parents. No matter what the time, the first person they unconsciously think of is their son.

Qiao Shengan was ready to wait for quiet before calling his mother back and the saleswoman still kept the smile and looked at him. as he was the first owner of the guardian robot, and Shanghai, whose registration address was filled in and as he has hired a car to return. So, as he came to their company headquarters early in the morning, there must be something.

Qiao Shengan scratched his head and asked the saleswoman in a very embarrassed tone. Yesterday he was too hurried to go and forgot to buy two ionizers from the scene and go back like other guests. Now he wanted to buy another robot, could he fill up yesterday's quota and got even one ionizer?

It's not that the robot had quality problems.

The saleswoman was relieved. As for Qiao Shengan's request, the saleswoman said that he had to ask the manager. You could go to the rest area for a while and handle the purchase contract of another guardian robot. Because of the special nature of the guardian robot, each customer needs to register in real name before buying.

Qiao Shengan waited for ten minutes, the saleswoman went and returned in her hand was... Yes, she even holding two packaging boxes of two ionizers.

Qiao Sheng sat up peacefully, his eyes were full of surprise and he didn't believe it, there were even two ionizers!

"I'm sorry Mr. Qiao for making you wait a long time. Mr. Qiao, now the warehouse is particularly busy. It has been packed and shipped an ionization purifier since last night to your address. As for your guardian robot, you have to wait a while before it is transferred from the warehouse."

For the two ionizers, Qiao Shengan was willing to wait another day. It didn't matter if he waved his hand to say goodbye to the saleswoman and he left and quickly took out his mobile phone to take a picture and he tweeted directly with the photo and accompanied it with a text introduction.

So, on the one hand, I don't want to let people know that I walked through the back door from Monster Heavy Industry, on the other hand, I mainly don't want to be scolded as a silly bird. I have two ionizing purifiers that are not eligible for purchase. Are there any more stupid birds in the world than me?

Several pictures were sent out, and Qiao Shengan had a great sense of satisfaction in his heart, which was even more soothing than eating the ginseng fruit. He laid on the sofa comfortably, waiting for countless comments from fans. Thirty seconds later, when Qiao Shengan refreshed his post, he almost thought he was dazzled.

"Dear Mr. Qiao, can you make an offer, how much is the second ionizer?"

"I give 30,000 yuan. Teacher Qiao, please see that I have followed you for more than three years. Give me the second one."

"My girlfriend of twenty years old has said that if I don't send her the ionizer which is in your hand, she will break up with me. Teacher Qiao, you must save your most loyal fans."

"Mr. Qiao, if you send the second ionizer to your fans in a lottery, I guarantee you will increase the price to 100,000 Yuan."

This group of fans is almost like changing in a group of people. It turned out that they all opened their mouths and closed their mouths, and now Qiao's mouths are sweetened with oil.

Qiao Shengan went to the official website of Monster Heavy Industry again and found that those who wanted to buy had already set the price to 20,000.

Qiao Shengan thought these people were crazy, but he hadn't waited for him to post in the forum to show off. There was a sound of information reminders over Weibo.

These are his friends who follow each other. His cue at Ait. After switching to Weibo, Qiao Shengan showed an incredible expression.

Those ones...

Those beautiful stars who had paid attention to him, but rarely said a few words throughout the year, actually had several active Ait him, Teacher Qiao, brother Qiao; they called him in this way. So, he smiled for this rare opportunity and quickly took the opportunity to make fun of these big stars who could only look him up on weekdays.

At the same time, in the company's conference hall. More than 20 reporters have gathered together, set up a small camera and audio recording equipment, and wait for the press conference. Kong Tao sat at the podium, with pride in his eyes, watching the reporters and website editors sitting in a circle around the conference table. Most of these reporters were about the same age as him.

In less than half a year, Kong Tao had been working hard from the original one in Shanghai. In order to read an English report, he could read a professional English dictionary in two days without sleep, just to get the boss's praise. Transforming into countless elite white-collar workers needs to look up, even the previous bosses in Shanghai have to call and carefully contact his emotional situation manager.

Kong Tao was not proud, because he knew that as long as he continues to work hard to do everything well, his own achievements are much more than that.

The Monster Heavy Industry was the starting point for his career to take off. His social status has also become higher and higher as the Monster Heavy Industry has grown. The future of glory was waiting for him to fight, how stupid is it to be proud now? Thinking of this, Kong Tao exhaled softly and invited reporters to start asking questions with impeccable smiles.

More than 20 reporters raised their hands neatly, and Kong Tao first invited reporters from Tencent Entertainment Network to speak in order.

Xiaowei, a reporter at Tencent Entertainment, was ecstatic. The most relevant issue for all reporters is, in fact, the ionization purifier. Will it cause devastation to the traditional cosmetics industry?

The market size of the global cosmetics industry reached hundreds of billions of dollars according to statistics last year. Among them, 60% of the market share is occupied by several major cosmetics groups in Europe and the United States. Fighting for market share with them will inevitably lead to unimaginable conflicts of interest.

Then the attitude and views of the Monster Heavy Industry workers are particularly noticeable.

There was usually an unwritten rule for reporters to ask questions. The same question will not be answered a second time.

The most important question was asked by reporter Xiao Wei and naturally became their first news. Thinking of this, Xiao Wei's exciting speech was a little trembling. This news got the hand, and it wasn't a proper promotion and pay rise when I went back?

Sure enough, when reporter Xiao Wei from Tencent Entertainment asked about the impact of the ionizer on the traditional cosmetics industry, other reporters collectively stared at her with annoyed and angry eyes.

"The impact will definitely be there."

Kong Tao's gaze turned to her and said calmly: "Any technological innovation will inevitably eliminate backward technological models."

"But we don't think that impact is destructive."

"The beauty effect of the ionization purifier is only an incidental function. Protecting the health of the skin is its true ability. Users have ionizing purifiers, which does not mean that they have to abandon their original cosmetics and skincare products. Cosmetics are hardly affected because the skin will become better and it will not change the colorful beauty of lip gloss, eye shadow, and eyebrow."

"Skincare products have some impact, but in some ways, they can completely complement each other, allowing users to use those skincare products to nourish the skin. After all, the ionization purifier only removes harmful substances and cannot increase beneficial substances. Skincare products can do this."

"Next question."

.....

The most important questions were asked first and the remaining reporters had to ask, for example, whether the product will increase the price, whether the ionizer is harmless to the human body and when will the product be sold in sufficient quantities?

The Q & A session lasted 20 minutes. After every reporter asked the question, Kong Tao got up to drop off.

As soon as a group of reporters went outside, they looked at Qiao Shengan walking around the rest area with curious eyes. Two reporters also recognized him, but Qiao Shengan's expression at this time was not suitable for the interview. Qiao Shengan held his mobile phone and walked into an ant on a hot pan, and his face tense.

Not long ago, Qiao Shengan stopped interacting with the big stars and incidentally called his mother back. But her current call was still on the phone, and Qiao Shengan called his father again, but no one answered the call twice.

Qiao Shengan was very worried about the situation at home. As far as he knows, his mother has never made a phone call for hours, and his father has the habit of carrying a mobile phone with him. And neither of them could be contacted now, and Qiao Shengan was naturally nervous.

Qiao Shengan patted his thigh with his fist in the presence of many reporters. Suddenly he remembered: "Yes indeed! Isn't there a guardian robot in the house?"

Qiao Shengan was going to remotely network the operating equipment and remotely start the guardian robot to see if anything happens?

Two minutes later, Qiao Shengan, wearing VR glasses, suddenly called in horror.

"What's the matter?" The reporters were frightened, they were all looking at each other and looked at him.

Qiao Shengan's voice was full of fear, as in VR's eyes, seeing something extraordinary happening in his home.

Chapter 332: Uninvited Gues

If you switch to Qiao Shengan's perspective, you will find that at the moment when the robot was started, and the pictures sent back through the VR camera were in a mess.

The robot has been placed in a guest room on the first floor, and it was common to visit relatives and friends in the countryside. Qiao Shengan had built a small three-story western house with a yard for his parents. On weekdays, his parents lived on the same first floor. If some relatives came to stay overnight, and they also lived in the first-floor rooms.

When Qiao Shengan left, he let the robot in the guest room to recharge.

It takes four hours to charge the robot battery. After the charging is completed, the battery management chip inside the robot will automatically disconnect the power supply after detecting that it was full.

Now that the battery is 80% charged, Qiao Shengan found that all drawers and cabinet doors in the guest room have been violently pulled out and all the contents are dumped to the ground, even the bed board is lifted to the side. What's happened to his parents' home.

When thinking of the call that was hung up at the beginning, Qiao Sheng felt that his head was going to blow up. He was in a panic, and he kept telling himself to be calm. But his efforts were futile, his heart beating faster and faster and his hands shaking constantly making him unable to control the robot.

"Mr. Qiao, what's the matter?" The saleswoman who had received him just came over. She saw Qiao Shengan with the guardian robot controlling the glasses, and he stood shaking like a sieve. At this moment Kong Tao, who was preparing to send out the reporters hurried came over to ask and the editors and reporters also came one by one.

At first glance, Qiao Shengan looked like seeing something worse which had happened.

In the Monster Heavy Industry, if something was not right, it would mean there was news.

The cameras and camcorders were in their hands. As long as there is a situation, they are guaranteed to shoot news materials at the fastest speed.

"I ... I ..." Qiao Shengan was already frightened at a point that he couldn't say a complete sentence, he took off his glasses and took a big breath. After that he took out his mobile phone, Qiao Shengan wanted to call the police, but he didn't know about his parents' situation. So, he was afraid that in case nothing would have happened. What if he did something like that to the police?

After all, parents' telephones were still unreachable.

Kong Tao took the glasses. Qiao Shengan's panic originated from the pictures in the glasses. At the other end of the picture was the company's new guardian robot. He wanted to see what was going on. After putting on the glasses, the picture returned by the robot made Kong Tao immediately realize the matter was serious, and he frowned.

When he controlled the robot to look around, he found that the robot's room had been completely ransacked, even The clothes in the cabinet were shaken out piece by piece and he said: "Follow me in the remote equipment operation room, Mr. Qiao, you go to the office to inform President Ye."

Usually, it was a thief, but if it was just to the ransacking of the home this gentleman could not be afraid like that. It was very likely that someone in his family is either a child or an old man who was in bad situations.

The reporters next to them all smelled like bloody sharks. They quickly gathered around and asked sales manager Kong Tao: "what are these advanced-looking glasses?"

"Why does his expression become so dignified when he had worn glasses?"

After that, Qiao Shengan was led into the remote equipment operation room by Kong Tao like a marionette.

The remote equipment operation room is the room in the company used to control the single-arm manipulator in the transit warehouse. After Kong Tao led Qiao Shengan into the room, he immediately asked the employees to connect the video picture in the VR glasses to the big port through the transfer interface on the glasses to the screen.

All of a sudden, the two employees wanted to stop the reporters. It's a pity that they underestimated the power of the bulls hidden in these little fresh bodies. After the invasion into the operations room by the reporters, Ye Qing came quickly.

"Mr. Qiao, where is your house?"

"Yinchi Village, one... more than a hundred kilometers away." Qiao Shengan tears in his eyes and choked, "It belongs to Guantang Town. My parents are at home. I received a call from my mother before. But the call was hung up at the moment of being connected, and after that, I couldn't contact her and neither did my father."

"Mr. Qiao, don't be too disturbed, things will not be as bad as you think." Ye Qing nodded solemnly and said to the network manager who came over: "You ask someone to go online to check the phone station of Guantang Town Police Station. Don't call the police first, let Mr. Qiao decide for himself."

"Ready to record screenshots."

More than ten seconds later, the staff of the Network Department nodded to Ye Qing, indicating that the screen recording function had been turned on.

Someone's turned on video recording earlier than them.

Immediately after entering, the reporters who were sitting wisely aside, raised the cameras one by one to shoot the big screen. And accompanying colleagues reported on what happened here to their supervisors via WeChat with convincing hand speed. For a piece of big news at least once in their lifetime.

The Guardian Robot's home has been hit by a mad thief. It is not uncommon to see the pictures at home through the VR camera assembled by the robot, and the webcam on the market could also do the same. But the camera here was not fixed somewhere but assembled on a robot. What could a robot do?

The reporters went out quietly investigating the situation inside Qiao Shengan's house? This is a good idea. If they could take pictures of the robbers, maybe the police could break the case based on the video.

"Mr. Qiao, can you describe the layout of your home?" Ye Qing patted Qiao Shengan's arm, turning his eyes to the real-time picture on the big screen, and whispered softly: "Give me the wearable controller. You are in a situation, which not permits you to control it to detect what is happening at home. "

Qiao Shengan nodded vigorously, quickly released the controller, and began to describe the layout of the home in the building. And at this time, the Master Craftsman Ji goes back and nod to Ye Qing: "boss, the Guantang town police station phone number was found."

"Mr. Qiao Shengan, should you call the police first?"

"Mr. Ye, please help me to see the situation at home first. I'm afraid if my parents..."

Ye Qing nodded and put on the VR glasses and controller.

Qiao Shengan's parents have been out of touch, which is very worrying. In case the gangsters were still at home and they would call the police, doesn't that force the gangsters to jump the wall?

The door of the room where the robot was housed was ajar, Ye Qing was fully focused, and he set his eyes on the built-in display of the VR glasses. The robot gently pushed the rudder. Without forgetting to mention that at the beginning of the design, the guardian robot had worked on the mute aspect while moving quietly towards the ajar door.

The robot quietly moved past the door of the ajar room. This move, including those of journalists, felt more exciting than the ghost door closing.

The signal conversion interface of the VR glasses was connected with a data cable to provide a picture for the large screen. On the screen, people could clearly see that in the lobby on the first floor outside the door gap, there is a man in a black jacket sitting on the sofa in the lobby freely. The man wore a mask and wobbled with a hatchet in his hand.

With a grunt, Qiao Shengan was paralyzed and sat on the ground.

This man still had a hatchet in his hand.

Unless his family was Shuibo Liangshan, it was impossible for such relatives to come.

The reporters stood up stunned. If it was not the unlucky family members here, and this is the operations room of the Monster Heavy Industry, they must be able to help clap their hands for this big news.

"Call the police station in Guantang Town and let them use their computer to connect with us, and we will pass the scene."

"We will say that we did not act first because the two elderly people can still be at home."

Chapter 333: Time is Shor

The robot's electricity charge was 73%, and the screen resolution was automatically changed to 640 x 480 according to the network speed, and the network delay was 107ms. 107ms are a delay of 0: 1. Network latency was the most important.

The Phantom is responsible for building video communication programs. As a company that develops VR hardware and VR game programs. It is not difficult for them to delay the picture between the two so that it is almost imperceptible to the human eye.

After all, this is just a one-to-one connection. Hundreds of thousands of large-scale games are online at the same time, which can delay the player's control to less than 60ms. As long as the network is unblocked, it can support the real-time transmission of high-definition pictures of 1600 x 1200.

The robot was located by the wall and looked through the camera. Because of light and angle problems, the masked man sitting on the sofa shaking his legs did not see the movement in the guest room. And the robot could only temporarily hide in the guest room.

The concern is chaotic. Qiao Shengan is now paralyzed on the ground, and Douda's sweat drops constantly. On weekdays, he was always calm and stable. In front of family and friends and on Weibo, he was a mature man with a strong opinion.

He was a professional film critic, and the police and gangster movies he had reviewed were as starry as ever. In these police and bandit films, Qiao Shengan always used sharp words to make the police and robbers' criticism useless.

However, when his most important family members were in danger, Qiao Shengan's performance was not as good as that of the family members in the movie.

This cannot be said that Qiao Shengan's personality is not good. He is just an ordinary urban man who goes smoothly in his career and enjoys his life.

From the beginning of its creation, the idiom "facing danger without disorder" has always been used to describe a very small number of brave men.

In front of Qiao Shengan, Kong Tao called the police station in Guantang Town and everyone held their breath, wondering what the police station would do when they heard of this situation. For that reason, the phone was turned on the speakerphone and then it was connected after three times ringing.

"Hello ~ Hello, this is the police station in Guantang Town. May I ask what you need to report?"

"We are an industrial company in Zhongyun City. Now one of our customers has a burglary in the house. The robber is still sitting in their home. This customer is right next to me. His home is in Yinchu Village. His name is Qiao Shengan. We observe the real-time picture at home through our company's products, and his mood is a little unstable. We can connect with you and pass the picture on."

The phone was silent for more than twenty seconds and Kong Tao had continued with this sentence...

"If you need, I can tell you my personal information. Do you think I'm lying to you?"

One minute later, the call was transferred to the director of the police station in Guantang Town. The director Yu Hongru said that Qiao Shengan's family had already called out their address, and now the criminal police in the station had set out towards that side with weapons.

The director of the police station Yu Hongru asked: "how to transmit the real-time picture over there? We only have ordinary office computers, and the network command center must be equipped by the county bureau."

"With a video call, we turn the call into a video call."

Work on both sides was extremely fast and soon video calls were established. One computer broadcasts the robot's lens image, and the other transmits the live image of the operating room through the camera.

Director Yu Hongru and the Deputy Director were in front of the computer. On the other side, in the Monster Heavy Industry side, the image was transferred instantly making them thunderous.

In the broad daylight, there are such daring gangsters.

"There are two policemen in the police room on duty in Yinchu Village, but they are not equipped with guns. The police on our side is rushing to Yinchu Village with guns. The distance between the two places is 10 kilometers, and the fastest time is 15 minutes."

Yu Hongru, director of the police station, walked up and down in front of the camera frowned and said: "the criminal police and special police of the county bureau are also on their way here. First, I'll ask two policemen of Yincheng village to put on casual clothes and go to Mr. Qiao Shengan's house to feel the situation."

Qiao Shengan has now got rid of the confusion, and his face was pale, and he was talking to the local police about the situation at home.

"According to our experience, this group of gangsters is likely to have some knowledge about the situation of Mr. Qiao's family." Director Yu Hongru analyzed: "They may know that Mr. Qiao is not at home all year round, but he is very good outside. He is also good for his parents. He often buys expensive nutrition and life products for them. There are only two elderly people in the family, and they are also alone. As soon as Mr. Qiao left, these gangsters slipped in, and they stayed there for so long."

"Mr. Qiao, where are the valuables of your family? Is how much insurance to your parents' name?"

"My mother hid all the valuables in my house, and I don't know the exact place." Qiao Shengan covered his face, his voice sorrowful: "Except for the nutritional products such as ginseng and Cordyceps, the valuables are all the emerald gold I bought for them. They only wear them during the holidays, and the total value of these things is around 200,000 Yuan."

"There may be thousands of cash at home, and the rest are stored in my father's account. Counting what I gave, and their accumulation over the years, about half a million."

The director Yu Hongru nodded after listening and thought for a few seconds: "Ginseng and Cordyceps are expensive, but they could not be sold. They can only make tea with it and drink it. For ten years in prison. When they went home to steal, they couldn't just steal a few thousand yuan. They must be asking the old couple's hidden jewelry and the bank card password."

"According to our experience, the other party is likely to have one of them call the bank to make an appointment for withdrawal or go to the counter to transfer money to take out the money in the card."

As soon as Director Yu Hongru's voice fell, the scene returned by the robot suddenly happened.

The man sitting on the outside sofa stood up, and the second man walked inside and shouted: "Hurry up, we are running out of time, you two old guys did not tell the truth. Just let's chop their hands and see if they say otherwise. "

Qiao Shengan finally calmed down and felt into panic again.

As soon as the man wearing the mask left, Ye Qing immediately controlled the robot to approach the door. And then quietly opened the door a little and let the robot protrude and in the returned picture, the man could be seen walking into another bedroom.

"That's my parents' room, that's my parents' room." Qiao Shengan shouted angrily in the video: "You are police, now the gangsters are in my house, but you still need fifteen minutes to arrive."

The director Yu Hongru turned his head a bit ashamed. In fact, he didn't say a word in his heart. Even when the criminal police with guns arrived, they didn't have many ways to save his parents.

The other party carried props and hid them in the bedroom. The criminal police are not special forces, how could they sneak into the house without being seen?

Once the criminal police are there, an opposite situation of taking hostages would be formed. The best way was to wait for the gangsters to go out to leave to arrest them.

Only five minutes have passed since the set out of the special police.

"Yahoo"

Some low exclamations of joy came from the bedroom made everyone's hearts follow. At the same time, they could hear the sound of bank cards, jewelry and so on. It should be to prevent being heard by the neighbors.

Ye Qing made sure the living room is unoccupied he operated the robot to take it next to the wall and slowly approached the door.

"Old guy, don't cry poor man. I checked this card with your phone. It only has 30,000 yuan in it. I heard your son can't run out of money. How could he give you this? Would you like me to call your son and tell him where you are now and let him transfer it over a million dollars?"

"I'll give you two minutes to think about it. We only want money, not your life. But if you want to keep the coffin board, don't blame us for threatening your son with you."

Chapter 334: Do you choose to live or die?

The sound was so clear showing that there were three people in it. At that point in time footsteps came, and Ye Qing immediately determined the robot to retreat. It may be too urgent to return it to the guest room, so he had to retreat it to the side of the bedroom and hide nearby the wall. The footsteps came from far to near, and then in the picture, the man just came over again and sat down on the sofa to generate the wind.

The robot was motionless near the wall in the living room. The man pulled out a cigarette a little irritably, and his eyes wandered to the wall when he froze. Then he stood up and said to himself: "Huh? I remember this thing as if it was in the bedroom. How does it come here?"

The robot stuck to the root of the wall and did not move. The equipment indicator light of the device was flashing on the forehead of the robot.

The green device indicator is not too noticeable. Just like the indicator light of the TV and the indicator light of the water dispenser, they can be seen everywhere in the family. The man found this robot when he overturned the bedroom up and down looking for valuables.

He didn't take it seriously. There are many sciences and technology furnishings in this building. There are very advanced massage chairs in the space capsule, multi-functional ironing machines unique shapes. They can only see the air conditioning of Tianzun after watching it for a long time.

He didn't take it seriously. There was a lot of science and technology furnishings in this building. There were very high-level capsule massage chairs, a multi-functional ironing machine unique shape. They can only feel the air conditioning of Sky after staying it for a long time.

This motionless robot had a peculiar shape, and he only thought that it was a beautiful piece of equipment. He could wave at most and say welcome. Just when did he remember that this guy was not here? The man in a mask came to the robot and patted his head with doubt.

"Bang!" "Bang!" "Bang!"

The robot's head remained motionless and the picture was transmitted back to the control room and from the control room to the police station in Guantang Town, which alarmed the reporters and policemen. Until now the robot's investigative picture is the only way for them to grasp the movement of the robbers inside.

If the robbers found out the robot's eyes were RV cameras. The consequences would be unimaginable. The more they worry about it, the more it would happen. After a few flaps of the robot's head, the man's eyes suddenly changed.

Although from a beautiful point of view the camera was hidden under the curved glass lens which could be seen if they glanced carefully, they could still find the two cameras hidden in the mirror.

The masked man ran out of the room to the living room raised the ax in his hands and smashed hard at the robot's head: "The device indicator is on, a device with a camera, somehow. I rely on you, and Lao Tzu doesn't believe in this evil."

An exclamation sounded, and some reporters and police had begun to narrow their eyes. The sound of this smash will surely alert the other two gangsters inside the house.

He wielded an ax, and this time it's going to be solid. He thought he could smash the upper half of the machine. This was just his illusion, even if it was done, it will not have any effect. Not to mention his ax didn't fall.

A strong metal hand hung his wrist fiercely. In the man's horrified eyes, the robot suddenly looked up, grabbed his wrist with one hand and quickly grabbed the ax with the other. The speed was too fast, the man didn't reflect it at all, and the ax with a cold metal flashed across the neck by the tip.

"Don't move, you want your life?"

The robot made a low electronic sound, and the robotic arm released his wrist and gripped his neck like a chick, holding him firmly on the wall. The cold, realistic machine eyes matched the man's eyes. His eyes were congested little by little, and his retina was full of horror and helplessness: "Be quiet!"

From the control room to the police station in Guantang Town, everyone who witnessed this scene was completely quiet. They have forgotten their breath, what's going on? Check the picture, the robot could only run around with four wheels.

In the picture, the robot used both more flexible and faster hands than humans and in a blink of an eye, it completed the capture of the ax and prevented the gangster from continuing its perfect actions.

The police in the Guantang Town Police Station was even more surprised. Even if the best Captain in them came, they didn't dare to make such an act, mostly when the ax split his head suddenly and controlled the robber.

The gleaming of this short ax shrank, and they bound to wince for fear of being split by the ax. But this robot was not afraid at all. For example, the man's complexion flushed instantly when it came to the wall. His neck was gripped tightly, and he tried to shout but he could not make a sound. Under the crisis, he was bursting under an unimaginable power. This force condensed on his knees and pushed hard towards the robot's belly.

The knee is one of the strongest joints in the human body and is very hard. In many fighting games, the use of knee strikes is strictly prohibited.

It seemed that the tiger came out of the wooden cage, and then there was a dull noise and the robot shook slightly but the man's expression seemed to be kicked by Transformers and his facial features twisted in pain.

"You, the kid isn't honest." The robot uttered a voice again, just as low, it was difficult to capture a few meters away. Having said that and the icy robot without any expression slowly raised the short ax and pointed it at his heart. As a result, this man became instantly honest because the previous second he was struggling violently, and now he was immobile, he feared that the ax would pierce his chest.

"I'll give you five seconds to think about it. You have to think clearly before answering my question. Don't bring yourself a lifetime of regrets because of an impulse."

In the harsh electronic voice, there was a majestic privilege to manipulate life and death: "How many people are there?"

Life and death are separated by a few centimeters if the person threatening him was a police officer. The criminal would grit his teeth and carry it to the end because the police would not dare to chop him. But at this moment it wasn't a human who threatens him with an ax!

All this happened in less than twenty seconds. Before this, the gangster was more courageous than the sky. Now, this robot, which seriously exceeds his imagination, scares him worse than the needle.

What is this robot?

The robot in the film has always been cool and cruel. When the robot was holding his neck earlier, there was no concern in his behavior, making him almost strangled to death. Five seconds later, the robot slowly let go off the force on its hands, but the ax was re-inserted into his chest. The blood-drenched his coat and corrupted his courage.

"Three me including" The man spoke intermittently because the robot kept increasing and reducing the strength of his hand while he was talking. It seemed to be afraid of him screaming. How dare he did something like that?

The robot possessed human intelligence and jumped from reality to science fiction. He has been completely frightened.

"I'll give you another five seconds to think about it, and you'll find a way to trick someone out. Cheat out, you can live. You can't lie, you will die."

At this point, ten minutes had passed since the departure of the INTERPOL.

Chapter 335: The Third Robber

"You just don't lie, if you do it you will die."

This sentence is full of a deterrent and threatening words, it is being said by the police on weekdays. But now it sounded in the ears of Yu Hongru, deputy director and instructor of the police station in Guantang Town, no less than Xianyin. Either in watching the criminals broke into the famous house in broad daylight or watching them violently attack the two old men. they heard a slap in the ear and they didn't know how much there was.

That slap was almost fanned in their faces. They couldn't help them. The two Hyundai Cool factions in the police station had to run for another five minutes even if they were equipped with wings. They just rushed to Yinchu Village and couldn't figure out the situation. Which one dared to rush in to catch someone?

So long before that, criminals have apparently lost patience. They had to use more brutal means to force the two old people to hand over all their savings. Unfortunately, the police were still on their way, and criminals would be ruthless at any time because of patience, one of the criminals had been easily controlled by the company's high-tech home robot.

"Take off your mask quickly, after all, you dare to rob the house during the day and you sway in the living room for half an hour. This is never a novice crime. If you try to steal them again, with this kind of robot you would know how powerful it is with this ax until it teaches you enough."

The robot lifted the robber's mask off with the ax, and after five seconds, he gripped the robber's neck again.

"You have ten seconds to play freely. After ten seconds, when no one comes out, you will go to hell." In the cold electronic voice, there was a vulture looking down with pride to the mouse and the man nodded in horror and shouted in a husky voice: "Brothers, come out."

"What?" Someone talked in the bedroom next to him, and his voice was a little impatient: "The two old men possess a bank card and hid it in a pair of shoes in the closet."

"Cali has a balance of 60,000 yuan. Later we will find an opportunity to transfer 50,000 yuan and take another 10,000 yuan."

"I found something good on my side. Come and see."

"What did you find that made your tongue knot?" The man named Mengzi scolded and came out.

The guy in charge of the two old people was not happy, he shouted: "Hey, hey, you let me alone? Why you two steal it?"

As he walked from far to near, Mengzi said as he walked: "When we get to the car later, let's take off our clothes and touch the head office. We can eat good things."

"I found something." The third man shouted.

A man measuring one meter eighty-five shaved his head, walked to the living room doubtfully: "How about you, come out soon."

The plate-inch head of the fierce brave also carried a weapon. There was a scorpion tattoo with teeth and claws behind the neck, and when he looked around, he suddenly found his companion. The robot pressed his companion against the corner of the wall. The robot, holding an ax and wrapped his arm around his partner's neck. Suddenly his brain was crashed in less than 0.1 seconds by a steel fist quickly zoomed into his eyes. There were a muffled sound and the fist holding the ax hit his forehead.

Mengzi stumbled back straight, the sound not loud and it was certainly not heard in the room.

"What's the matter?" The guy guarding the two old men shouted.

"It's okay, you're moving the cabinet." The robot moved the ax slightly forward. Mengzi was already a fish on a cutting board. In the face of an alloy-made robot, any struggle to resist was futile.

"What valuable things I found, these two old guys are too dishonest, and they like to hide everything well. Gold bars, there are gold bars hidden behind the cabinet." The guy broke the jar: "There is a small earthen jar behind the cabinet, there are many gold bars in it, which are exactly the same as the one we found before. Well, let's go. These gold bars worth millions and easy to sell. Ask them for the bank cards we have to find a way to go to the bank to take out the money."

Qiao Shengan's eyes widened, and he froze and watched the video. On the screen, the guy who might lose his life at any time even offered to the last robber to come out. The last robber was guarding his parents, and Qiao Shengan's heart popped out. If the last robber came out, wouldn't his own parents be saved?

Qiao Shengan wanted to hold Ye Qing's thigh and cry for five minutes and everyone on the police station, from the reporters to the leaders of the police station over there, were relieved. But with the temptation of millions of gold, they did not believe the last robber would come out. The money in the bank card can't be taken out of the bank. But there are dozens of pounds of gold, and they could change it with money wherever they go.

As it was said before, the ax against his chest the robber shouted: "Come out faster! Come out faster!"

The leaders of the police station clenched their fists and praised for help.

"It depends, millions?" The last robber's voice changed, and he shouted excitedly: "I said these two old guys had a super-rich son, and he was super good to the two old guys. You see, there are more than a dozen boxes of that Cordyceps. And the ginseng, the beard is longer than a woman's hair, and it looks wild. "

"Let's say that this work was not done in vain, the light jade and gold are around 200,000 yuan and now we have found millions of gold."

"Fuck do not be worried about this life... Mengzi, you count with a knife, how many pieces of gold?... I know a good cattleman who trades gold in Myanmar. Last time he also told me that 381 grams of gold were recovered. He didn't ask where it came from."

This sentence is no less than a bomb thrown into the operating room that had clapped and celebrated in the last time when the guy named Mengzi was stunned by the robot's fist half a minute ago and now lies motionless on the ground.

The man in the room shouted again: "Why don't you fucking talk?"

"Oh, come on, stun the guy who has been stopped. Control the robot to rush in." Yu Hongru, the director of the post of the police, shouted anxiously: "hurry in, that person may not be able to react."

"It's over, Mengzi doesn't speak, and the guy absolutely will guess something is happening." The reporter who was in charge of shooting the big news was also caught in 100,000 anxious anxiety.

They liked big news to be true, but in terms of heart and news, hostage safety was the best ending. Five seconds had passed since the robber shouted a shout in the house and a desperate atmosphere diffused over the operating room and the police station.

Chapter 336: All Down

Until now, only by rushing in could the police have a chance. For that a desperate atmosphere diffused over the operating room and the police station, and more the longer the silence, the more the thieves would be alerted.

When Ye Qing was about to stun the guy with a punch and control the robot to break through the door, he suddenly stopped. He was equally anxious, and his brain was spinning fast.

Police Director Yu Hongru's eyes were red, and he is screaming: "Hurry in. I will bear all the responsibilities and consequences, and I will not be in a hurry any later."

"Give me quiet, don't talk." Ye Qing shouted abruptly: "Ji Ke, immediately call up the video playback just now, and cut off the words that Mengzi said."

Like in a dream, standing next to the computer, the video manager broadcasting without any hesitation said: "That's what the guy said when he walked into the living room: "Come out! Hurry up!"

The scene was originally recorded from the beginning, after all, it must be used as evidence.

The video manager clicked on the video file and selected the words before the cripple was knocked down by the robot based on the approximate time. This took less than three seconds.

"Ferocious?" Another cry came from their friend in the room. His voice was a little wary.

When no one answered, he immediately shouted: "what the fuck, what are you doing, sons of a bitch? Answer me at once."

"I am counting gold bars Mengzi." The guy who was called Sanzi was also sweating. He was afraid he would be killed by the robot after being exposed.

"What did the second brother say to you? Don't count the gold bars?"

Time is pressing. I understand Ye Qing's intention. I point to the stereo and make gestures.

Time is short, and Ji Ke understood Ye Qing's intentions and pointed the stereo voice to Ye Qing. The scene was breathless, Ye Qing walked quickly to the sound and turned the robot's built-in speaker to the maximum. Now, everything is ready, and the sound can be played again.

"Where are you... Come out!" Mengzi's voice came from the robot speaker.

Through electronic conversion, the sound naturally sounds less natural than the real person, but the man in the room didn't sound wrong.

He shouted across the room; his voice was not clear. In addition, he was hooked to the soul by millions of gold and there was a sound of a fierce son, so did he care if the sound would have some electronic feeling?

"You frightened me, I thought you two ran away with the gold?"

"Well, let's go." The last person in the back room walked with the same excitement. He closed the door with a slam and walked towards the living room.

At last, all three gangsters came out, and Director Yu Hongru hugged the Deputy Director next to him.

"Mom, you?" After the last gangster stepped into the living room, the mammoth which was supposed to be counting gold was lying on the ground motionless.

Looking back again, the man who was called the third son looked at him innocently and the robot turned his head against his eyes. Everything that happened was beyond the imagination of the third brother. A robot with wheels turned his head and pointed at him with the ax in his hand. This seriously violates common sense and subverts his perception.

"This, this" he pulled out a short knife that was behind him, and shouted at the robot: "What are you and what are you doing?"

"I am betraying you!" The electronic laugh came from the robot.

"Who are you, respond to me?"

"I'm a sin buster!"

"Lao Tzu, you?"

The man's wrists trembled, and his short knife stabbed at the robot's chest fiercely. If it were a person, this short knife would pierce the center, and its nine lives would be dead. But the robot did not flicker and did not avoid eating the knife, the shell made of alloy, and the staggered blade edge burst out. Nothing was left on the robot, but the third man bumped into it.

This man was by no means a good stubble. He just stabilized and flew over and kicked him. As the robot had a built-in gyroscope to stabilize the balance, this foot made the robot back half a meter to keep balance. But he stumbled and fell to the ground.

"Yoo!" Said the robot again. "Did you ever practice boxing?"

An inaccessible robot? And the third man got up and ran, not towards the door, but toward the bedroom of the two old men.

The robot can communicate with him, and naturally, he can alarm. At this time, it's not allowed to be surrounded by the police. Only when the two old men at once are taken hostage can he get a chance to live. The idea was pure luxury, and the robot chased it without throwing it away. He threw out his ax and knocked him to the ground.

This smash was so hard when the robber finally fell to the ground, he was lying around on the ground and fooling around like a blind man. But its reaction speed was also amazing. The robot just turned around and Sanzi limped towards the door. Just when he was glad to think he could reach the other side of the light, a cold and strong metal palm wrapped around his neck and pulled him back from the edge of heaven to hell.

"Brother, Brother Robot, I beg you to let me go"

The robot's answer was extremely simple. He slammed him into the living room just as if he held a flour bag. This was a shocking and exciting picture, the three gangsters that made the police helpless, all controlled in the living room and the reporters shook hands one by one. The police cars should have just arrived at Yincheng village and the director Yu Hongru shouted to the police with communication equipment: "rush in, rush in on, the robbers inside has lost the ability to resist."

"Ohh Ohh ohh"

The criminal police no longer need to hide their tracks. They come here with their lights on.

"Director, the fence is too high, we can't climb." A shameful report came from the police communicator.

"I want you to be shot... Take a ladder."

Director Yu Hongru was in a video call with the control room, and the sound of the communicator was passed on in full. This shame is almost to Siberia, and the criminal police scratched their heads and prepared to borrow the ladder. The door, which was locked from the inside, was opened.

The door was opened by a robot and the criminal police taking several pistols loaded was anxious outside the door looking at the robot, they stare at it with their big eyes like goose eggs. This situation made them stupid. A robot opened the door for them. Is this a science fiction movie?

"What are you doing? Hurry in and shackle people."

The robot spoke with the captain of the criminal police almost simultaneously. After that Ye Qing glanced at the operating parameters of the robot on R glasses, it was 57% of the power remained, then he took off his glasses and the wearable controller and handed it to Qiao Shengan who was agitated with excitement.

Ye Qing patted him on the shoulder: "Go and see your parents."

Qiao Shengan woke up like in a dream and began to wear the controller and operated the robot which stormed into the bedroom with the police. In the picture, two well-dressed and well-maintained old men are curled up on the bed like quails. Their hands were tied by ropes from behind, and Qiao Shengan's father also had a red slap print on his face, as well as several footprints on his body. The robot opened its arms and ran towards the two old men.

This touching sci-fi scene was faithfully recorded by journalists.

Chapter 337: Can Robots Sin?

With the capture of the three criminals, the identity of the criminals and the motives for their crimes followed suit. There was indeed a person who knew more about Qiao Shengan's family. He was the one called Mengzi.

Mengzi lived in Songcun next door. He was previously sentenced to three years for theft, after being released from prison he stayed at home. He listened to chats with nearby residents every day in the coffee. These conversations were more expensive than gold.

The speaker did not intend to be heard, but the man with the nickname Mengzi carefully pondered that if he could loot this house again, he wouldn't worry about eating and drinking in the second half of his life.

It happened that he had two like-minded friends who had just been released from prison, and the three together made a balance sheet and decided to do a big feat. When Qiao Shengan just came back yesterday, Mengzi estimated he must bring a lot of money again. So, when Qiao Shengan left early in the morning, and Mengzi was with the other two. While the two old people were planning to go out for a walk, they forced them into the room with a knife. But everything went wrong because Qiao Shengan left the robot at home.

When the police took them to the car, the three robbers woke up warily and asked the police with confusion, are they dreaming? Otherwise, how could a robot which can exist only in science fiction movies caught them?

In the control room, Qiao Shengan was grateful towards Ye Qing which was also here and if he was not eager to go home to visit his parents, he should find an advertising company and make a full wall banner to give to Ye Qing.

After sending away Qiao Shengan, the reporters gathered around Ye Qing again.

"Mr. Ye, may the robots produced by your company serve as patrol police?"

"This robot can catch thieves, does that mean it can also be used in military activities?"

"Like being a robot patrol soldier?"

"Mr. Ye, the robot is offensive. If anyone uses it for illegal purposes, such as robbery..."

Ye Qing watched this group of reporters with a big brain, of course, and he had to admit their questions were very good. Because of any new product with powerful functions or leading technology on the market. The market's first reaction was not to accept it with joy but to be skeptical first. Especially the robot with its function expansion very broad, it seemed that it is easy to cause people to worry about crime.

A glance at the watch, half an hour before the second batch of 40,000 ionizing purifiers went on sale. Ye Qing applauded with his hands and signaled the reporters to listen to him: "Since everyone cares about our new product, the guardian robot. Then everyone can go to the conference room, and I will take half an hour to answer your questions."

Due to the popularity of "She from the Aliens", Monster Heavy Industry itself has become the second hot web search term. And became very competitive. With its new product ionization purifier, it took only one night to surpass the search volume of "She from the Aliens", becoming the first on the entire network.

From this point of view, it is far more important to interview Ye Qing related to robots than to interview the news about "She from the Aliens". If the two are combined, it will make these reporters laugh and wake up every night.

In the conference room, Ye Qing took the lead in answering questions about whether robots can be used as patrol police or military.

"I'm afraid to disappoint you, and we don't have this technology yet." Ye Qing presented: "This is not a robot for intelligent recognition. In fact, from the current technological point of view, intelligent performance has not reached a satisfactory level of intelligent recognition. So, this system doesn't exist at all.

"For security reasons, the robot's actions can only be controlled by humans. If it is sent on patrol, in case, the network signal is bad, criminals can easily steal it."

"From a military point of view, the biggest problem is security. Unlike drones that can stay far from the ground, with a shielded electromagnetic shield, the robot faces a fatal problem of disconnection and stopping the connections remotely."

"Whether for police or military use, no hidden danger can be tolerated. Because as long as there are hidden dangers.

The opponent will catch him in these circumstances."

"Then... what if someone uses it for criminal activities?" A good-minded reporter asked: "For example, the three robbers before if they bought a robot or grabbed a robot from a user to commit a crime..."

This question was asked very well, and it should be something that users are more concerned about.

"What if the car is stolen by criminals and used for a crime?" Ye Qing asked a question: "In fact, in terms of destructive power, excavators are far stronger than robots."

"It's just that the robot can be remotely controlled remotely so that criminals can hide in the dark and commit crimes, which looks similar to finding a scapegoat."

"In fact, we considered this at the beginning of the design." Ye Qing pulled out his mobile phone and hailed the reporters. "Now it is the information age. Any mobile phone can be set to use a password and remote device lock function."

"Our control device also has this kind of function. It is built into the wearable controller. Before using it, you can tap the pre-set gesture with your finger to log in to the operation interface. So even if the robot and the controller are lost together, you don't need to worry."

"If you do not set a gesture password, as long as you log in to our official website or call a customer service phone to report the loss, we will lock the robot as soon as it connects to the network."

"Whether it is stolen or a user uses a robot to conduct illegal activities, it is inseparable from the support of the network."

"Stop robot crime, is far easier than stopping human crime because we can remotely lock the robot with a single phone call. We can also quickly lock suspects based on the network login location of the operating device."

After answering this question, Ye Qing looked at the time and nodded to the reporters present.

"Well, everyone, the interview session will end like this."

"In order to thank you for coming to our company for interviews during your busy schedule, our company can give you a place to buy ionizing purifiers on the spot."

"what?"

Reporters were smashed by this sudden surprise.

This sense of honor was even stronger than the surprise they got from the spot the day before Apple products hit the market.

After all, Apple's mobile phone can't make itself more beautiful, and it has never been fired to the level of five or six times the official price. There is no market for it, and no one is willing to sell it.

When the reporters go back, they would naturally make the writing on the Monster Heavy Industry more perfect.

At 10 am, the second batch of ionizing purifiers was registered for sale at the official online store.

In order to cope with the card explosion in the past, Tmall Mall deliberately opened data offloading to the flagship store of Monster Heavy Industry. Through the computer rooms they set up across the country to perform visitor user distribution, such as Shanghai users, they will automatically jump to the nearest computer room to Shanghai.

Within the company, the network department took out the official website backup service and acted as a temporary acquiring computer.

This multi-million Inspur server, the processor utilization rate soared to 100% just a few seconds after the product was launched.

Orders were completed, flashing on the screen faster than machine guns.

Ye Qing, standing by the screen and watching carefully, suddenly thought of a line in a movie.

I won tens of millions in a minute.

Chapter 338: Sudden Sales

Both Monster Heavy Industry and Tmall Mall have severely underestimated the number of users this time. Ionization purifiers had more value now. Even if you did not use them, you could sell them and make a lot of money.

In five minutes, all 40,000 ionizers were snatched out then the rest of the countless users who did not grab it, all came to the official website of Monsters Heavy Industry.

What webpage did not open at all, the webpage was open and stuck at the payment site and posts that could not be moved were everywhere and all employees of the company, in addition to retaining necessary positions are all absorbed in product packaging and delivery.

Ye Qing made 350 million yuan in these five minutes. This was just the total price of the spot sale. After 40,000 ionizers were emptied, the ionizers were ordered. Users were free to place orders, one for each person. The number of orders was also skyrocketing, and by the time Ye Qing had lunch, the order had accumulated to 3,000,000 units.

3,000,000 units, if it is based on the current capacity, it will be arranged in two months and a half later. Naturally, Ye Qing wouldn't just wait and see for two months and a half and the production of five [full-motion assembly platforms] had been launched and as these five black technology products came out, the production speed of ionizers would usher in an explosion.

Ionization purifiers will bring 640 million yuan funds to themselves in the next few days. Taking into account the one billion balances that were delivered to the Liangjiang City's flood control wall and settled, and the more than 2,000 industrial editions Explorer robots sold out, Ye Qing already has 3.5 to 5 billion available funds. In a few days, the company earned 3.5 billion yuan, which was about the same level as the top 500 companies in the world.

It's a shame the version of the Domestic Robot had been sold a little bit, and until now only three had been sold. With this money, the Monster Industrial Building must first spend 500 million to buy construction materials and pay workers' salaries. The rest of the money will be fully invested by Ye Qing in the Monster Factory in the fifth stage.

The grading depends on the industrial scale. Currently, there were too many factories in Longxi Beach to run out, but there was a serious lack of industrial equipment. Ye Qing finished lunch and returned to the office to start researching which industrial equipment to buy.

The production rate of industrial production equipment in factories was very high now. In particular, after the metal smelting center was completed, it could achieve self-sufficiency from complex entire production lines to large-scale forging presses.

It's just the number of monsters was too small. So, those monsters don't waste time making these devices, and it was better to buy directly and save time. After researching for a long time, Ye Qing decided to spend half of the funds to continue to purchase five-axis machining centers.

There was no five-axis machining center for sale in the prop mall for the moment. If he wanted to make a machining center, it would take a long time even if the Master Craftsman would come, and it will cost money to buy software programs.

Even more, the machining centers will undoubtedly increase the processing speed of parts. Whether it was a mechanical engineering chair, a Mechanical Colossus Type I or two robots five-axis, the center was capable of processing at least half of the parts inside. The remaining funds were sufficient for industrial equipment and raw materials available.

Ye Qing was contacting those dealers, and sales manager Kong Tao knocked on the door and came in, with a rare happy smile on his face.

"Mr. Ye, our Domestic Robot was bought by someone."

The Domestic Robot was sold a total of three units so far. When launching this product, Ye Qing had expected sales might not be ideal but did not expect it to be this way.

"How many are sold?" Ye Qing was chatting with a machine tool dealer, asking without looking up.

"All of them have been snatching, and three thousand are left."

Ye Qing looked up suddenly, his eyes could knock Kong Tao into a stun and said: "Sold out?"

"No one bought it at noon. Why did it become as hot as an ionizer in just half an hour?"

This was not at all common sense. Kong Tao also solved Ye Qing's confusion. He asked Ye Qing to turn on his computer and look at those news websites.

"A new member of the family, the Guardian Robot?"

"Going straight at the scene, Shocking robot arrested robbers who entered the room."

"The whole shot, the Monster Heavy Industry shocked again with another product, which can accompany the mechanical members of the family."

Ye Qing opened several popular websites and found that in a prominent position on almost every website, there was a news about the morning guardian robot catching gangsters.

Because there are many reporters and editors waiting to shoot in the control room, the videos provided by these websites look very good, and some feel like watching blockbusters. How the robot detected and seduces the gangsters have been edited by professionals, which was very exciting.

In particular, the last gangster shouted loudly "Brother, Brother Robot, I beg you to let me go." Like the electricity in the operations room, they cleverly intercepted the previous sentence as an answer with the fastest speed.

Of this news, Tencent Entertainment news got the most comments. Because their reporter wrote a review.

"In fact, the Monster Heavy Industry's robot is not an intelligent robot that we generally think of. I think it is more like an incarnation of our human beings. A thousand miles away, we can also use the controller to project our every move onto the robot. I think this robot can help a lot of people who have settled in a foreign country to realize the desire to take care of their parents in person. Give your parents such a robot and come back from work to help your parents clean up. Playing cards with your parents, cooking meals for your parents... "

It's this comment that makes Xu struggle in big cities, for his family, for his career and far away from his parents sad.

It is this review that makes Xu struggle hard in the big cities for the sake of family and career, as a result, people who are away from their parents are sad.

Yes...

Every year during the Spring Festival, the whole of China would be trapped in a population migration that shocked the world. They go home with a train comparable to canned sardines, isn't it just to reunite with their family? If you own such a robot, wouldn't you be able to take care of your parents every day?

Of course, some people believed the editors lived in a different dimension. One hundred and twenty thousand yuan for a guardian robot are only them who could buy it.

The response came very fast, in less than half an hour, 3,000 guardian robots were snapped up and Ye Qing followed the trend and asked Kong Tao to open the reservation of the guardian robot.

Following this trend, Ye Qing is estimated to be able to rush the Monster Factory to the fifth level in a week.

The next day, when Ye Qing was still asleep. The sales manager Kong Tao called and hurriedly told Ye Qing: "the ionization purifier orders made a waiting list for two months. Would you like to close the reservation temporarily? Let's close it, and it's been too long for two months."

Ye Qing looked at the time. Now it's 6:30 in the morning:

"How many ionization purifiers should come out?" and Ye Qing said aloud: "It's almost a million?!"

After finishing the call, he got up and went to the old factory building to check the construction of the full-motion assembly platform. There were now six Master Craftsmen, and two Master Metal Experts were building this black tech device.

Once built, the monster factory upgrades to the fifth stage, and it was a matter of days.

Chapter 339: Industrys Pursuit of Precision

The fully mobile assembly platform built a hull and main feed structure. This was a black technology device that subverted traditional manufacturing which had a diamond-shaped alloy casing and a mechanical automation structure that is more complex than humans imagine. Its full automation and high precision make all five-axis machining centers shame. Because it was also so powerful, such as the manufacturing of an ionization purifier, which could gather the steps of a whole production line together and get rid of them completely at high speed.

This was true of ionizing purifiers, as are mechanical engineering chairs.

Now on the workbench, a horizontal guide rail that could be used as part of any high precision instrument in the world was drilled by a Master Craftsman with a rare high-quality high precision drilling machine tool purchased at the accessories shopping center and on another workbench. A Master Craftsman was using an industrial microscope to manually grind a coin-sized rotating gear.

The surface of this rotating gear had 120 tooth lines. Each time the gear would move a space, it adjusted with the corresponding bearing and made the bearing rotate in a circle. If there will be a slight error in the gear, the transmission of the motion through the meshing and the rotation of the bearing will cause a huge rotation error.

Hand polishing was not just about holding a file in a hand. Like human-made watches, the most precise mechanical watches have always been made by these old Swiss craftsmen with white beards who polished and assembled by hand.

For those tools used for grinding, only a few countries in the world could produce qualified products.

It may seem like a tiny carving knife, but this carving knife represented one of the highest levels in the field of industrial processing. As a simple example, polish a material so that its surface roughness is acceptable.

Assuming the rough sense was not visible to the naked eye by grinding it slowly with sandpaper. However, if you look at it with a twenty-fold magnifying glass you will find that the surface of the material polished with sandpaper is uneven, which is more obvious than that of Mazi's face.

If it fails under the 20x magnifying glass, then change to more detailed sandpaper and use 8000 mesh sandpaper for polishing.

However, the material removed by the 8000-mesh sandpaper does not show any defects if you look at it with the magnifying glass, but it returns to the original state under the optical microscope.

At this time, it is necessary to apply a polishing agent, and use more detailed materials to grind and cut.

Then with the optical microscope felt smooth, but under the electron scanning microscope, it turned into unqualified bumps again.

Use more advanced rare earth polishing powder.

So, the question is, can you make this rare earth polishing powder?

If a sharpening knife has a large tip, but it is necessary to sinter out more than 10,000 mesh diamond abrasive grains at the sharpened tip of the sharpening knife.

This is the manufacturing industry's pursuit of precision. There is no cutting-edge, only more cutting-edge.

This kind of cutting-edge industrial processing technology is needed everywhere in the full-motion assembly platform.

The first full-motion assembly platform took about two days to build, and after watching it for a while, Ye Qing went to the company. As a result, he thought he had gone to the wrong place and mistakenly came to the talent recruitment market.

Under the Blue-sky Building, the street was crowded with people, Ye Qing went hard in the underground parking lot and discover there was no parking space was empty. His royal parking space was occupied by a Volkswagen Golf. The owner was a pretty young girl.

She was carrying a shoulder bag when she was getting out of the car in a hurry after seeing a silver-white car parked in the aisle, and there was a young face full of inquiries in the window. The girl smiled at Ye Qing proudly and left with the happy mood of occupying the last parking space. So Ye Qing had to park his car in the warehouse rented by the company, then waited for the elevator. As a result, he saw no movement of the elevator for several minutes.

The crowd in front of the building could only be described as crowds of people who full the ears of noise.

The Blue-sky Building was not an open commercial building. It was a very good office building. The ground floor was all independent shops and small service companies. Up was one of the most expensive office areas in Zhongyun. So, there is only one entrance to this building, and now it is full of people.

When Ye Qing stepped on the steps, the rough voices of men, the voice of women, and the ringing of the phones mingled into Ye Qing's ears.

The further, the stronger these voices. Ye Qing allowed himself to hear their noisy content.

"Xiao Min, listen to me. Even if I stay at the door of the Monster Heavy Industry for three days, I will buy an ionization purifier for you. Will you be good with me?"

"You agreed? Xiao Min, I love you!"

"Hey, why you do not let me go in, I don't buy an ionizer, I want to buy a robot."

"Five thousand yuan, at this price, do you like to buy or not? I am now at the door of Monster Heavy Industry, believe it or not. I confirm the payment and praise in front of their employees. I buy it at this price? "

Ye Qing shouted helplessly at the front: "Please let me in."

The previous people were indifferent. It seems that this sentence has been said many times, and they have already developed immunity with it this time.

"I work inside." Ye Qing shouted again, there were too many people in front of him and a lot of women.

Most of them were beautiful young women with beautiful makeup. They got together at this moment. In addition to the noise, Ye Qing could smell the strange perfume mixed together. Just when nobody gave in and just when Ye Qing was going to make a detour to go to the side of the construction site to inspect it. The girl who grabbed Ye Qing's parking space turned her head and asked in amazement: "Do you work in this building? In which company do you work?"

In fact, many people gathered here in front of the building from yesterday. Ye Qing had experience and didn't dare to say he was in the Monster Heavy Industry. Instead, he reported to an insignificant import and export trading company upstairs.

This company seems to be going out of business because, in the first month, Ye Qing also watched the owner of this company driving a Mercedes-Benz. When he saw it, last week, he drove an old Hyundai Sonata with a lingering gloom.

"Handsome guy, can you take me upstairs?" The girl looks petite and sweet, she holds her hands on her chest and looks at Ye Qing pitifully: "Now the building security doesn't let us go in, only people who work inside or people with appointments, can go in. You can say I am your client, or a girlfriend or something like that."

Ye Qing took a step back unnaturally and asked her strangely: "Why do you go in, even if you go in the Monster Heavy Industry will not sell the product to you, right?"

"I got the goods on the official website. I just heard that it would take two days to queue up for the delivery. I think as long as I confirm the payment and praise it, the staff will give me the goods."

"By the way, if you work here, you must know the employees at Monster Heavy, right? You guys do me a favor, and I'll invite you to dinner when I get the ionizer."

Ye Qing was about to find a reason and a frowning middle-aged man came over from behind. The man also had a work tag on his chest with a three-inch crownless photo that even his parents were not interested in looking at for a second look. The job tag reads [Xingguang Import and Export Trading Company], which was the name of the company which Ye Qing just said.

Chapter 340: Cleaning Aunts Bag

"Ye... Mr. Ye?" The forty-something man looked surprised and envious when he saw Ye Qing.

"Congratulations, your Monster Heavy Industry is a miracle company. I remember when you first moved here, and none of us had heard of this company. Your business has only been around for a little time..."

Ye Qing winked at him, but the guy seemed to be immersed in memories, looking up at forty-five degrees, looking back at the past. Then...

Ye Qing sensed strongly that there was a circle at least ten meters in diameter in front of him suddenly became silent when they listened to "Mr. Ye... Monster Heavy Industry..."

These two keywords made the surrounding crowd quiet immediately, and all of them turned on the active phased array radar-like to precisely target the target on Ye Qing.

Ye Qing had just lifted his leg and wanted to leave, but suddenly a force came to his arm. Turning around, he saw the petite and exquisite girl from just now, clutching his arm tightly her eyes frantic. Seeing the crowd's posture towards in the next side, Ye Qing couldn't care less for the fragrant and cherish the jade, and squeezed out the girl's palm and threw away.

Just like the lost wolves found the sheep, these people rallied after him and Ye Qing hurriedly walked towards the zebra crossing, where the green light was flashing. After Ye Qing followed the last wave of people crossing the intersection, these people could only watch the passing traffic with an eye on.

"These people are really idle eggs." Ye Qing could not wait for the full-motion assembly platform to be ready in an instant, and then let these anxious customers see what is the industrial force of mass production.

By the way, it will also allow those oxen who have stockpiled and raised prices to lose their bottoms.

Ye Qing was unable to get to the company, so he simply went to the construction site of the Monster Industrial Building on the opposite side of the street and inspected the construction work of the building.

Ye Qing did not come here often. But when he was sitting in the office during the day, he could see the approximate construction scene of the construction site.

Currently, in the building, they were in the process of constructing underground parking. Forty concrete pump trucks have been on-site, and the main body of the building was being poured. The entire construction site was full of workers wearing hard hats. Ye Qing also saw her cousin Liang Jing which also took a hard hat to direct construction at the scene.

Compared to the last time, he met her, and Liang Jing's skin became noticeably darker and she felt a little rough. She seemed to be sending her an ionizer.

"General Ye?"

Liang Jing only raised her eyes slightly and saw Ye Qing wearing neat and clean clothes, incompatible with the dusty environment from here and asked to bring in a hard hat for Ye Qing, then she put away the drawings and asked Ye Qing with a smile: "Why are you not now in the office counting the income of the funds that have doubled? How can you come to the construction site to eat in the ashes?"

Ye Qing shrugged his shoulders, pretending to have great ideas: "Funds are just numbers. To this day, the Monster Heavy Industry exhibition is too frustrating to pursue money. We must have higher goals, such as benefiting humanity. "

Liang Jing shrugged as well, apparently not convinced.

After chatting about the construction problems of the building for a while, Ye Qing found Liang Jing was still busy. He took personally wearing a safety helmet and took the elevator that transported the materials down to the ground to inspect it.

The foundation is the part of the building that needs the most time in construction and some buildings only need the time to build the foundations for the new era. However, as soon as the foundation is completed, the building will enter the flying height stage.

For example, the current Giant Monster Industrial Building uses 24 hours of uninterrupted construction. When the weather is good, the main body of the building can reach three floors. This degree can be faster if it does not take time for the concrete to set.

Through the layers of civil air defense works, workers could work on the upper and lower floors simultaneously. The civil air defense project Ye Qing will not let him idle in vain. But with the hot sale of two new products, the building's underground tank area was seriously congested, so while enlarging the entrance to the civil air defense project it will become the most perfect temporary storage area.

The monsters had carefully disguised the entrance to the base, which is 100 meters deep. At the same time, they installed a cemented carbide door outside to avoid physical damage.

After walking around the entire construction site, Ye Qing had a meal with Liang Jing at the construction site before daring to return to the company.

At this point, Ye Qing believed that no one would continue to consume outside the company, and it is not the Spring Festival queuing up to buy tickets. So, most of the spoiled young people had no need to go out to eat. Ye Qing's judgment was correct.

When he entered the Blue-sky building, only a few people stood on the steps. They should know each other, and five of them gathered to light each other cigarettes and talk side by side. These people did not know Ye Qing, but Ye Qing knew them because they were obsolete and a part of their content surprised Ye Qing.

"Those women are crazy. The ionization purifier I collected at 30,000 yuan was changed at 50,000 yuan."

"Haha... I will take one with 25,000 yuan and sell it with 60,000 yuan."

After entering the elevator, Ye Qing happened to meet Aunt Qing in the company, carrying a rather large snakeskin bag and he heard some clanging when the bag was moved slightly.

"Boss." This aunt couldn't name Ye Qing by his name and bowed to him with a little restraint as if she was afraid the snakeskin bag would hit Ye Qing's expensive clothes, and she has deliberately moved it inside. Ye Qing smiled and nodded at her. The cleaner aunt carried what she could see, all empty beverage bottles and cans.

The employees were young people. They did not like tea and hot drinks at work. They drunk hundreds of bottles and cans of drink every day.

Aunt Clean would recover these empty bottles to resell them to subsidize her monthly salary. It was originally a commendable thing. Ye Qing naturally didn't say anything. Just listening to the sound of the metallic beverage bottles and cans in the bag seemed to occupy the majority of people.

"The employees under your hands are exhausted in the past two days and even a lot of little girls have been drinking that kind of drink called Red Bull. I heard that it refreshed them." It seemed she saw Ye Qing's doubts, and Aunt Clean explained on her own initiative.

"Everyone works hard." Ye Qing was not a stupid boss: "This month I will ask the Finance Department to give you a 50% bonus on salary, including your logistics staff."

"Old... Boss, you... You are so kind." Auntie Clean cleansed her hands happily, not knowing how to thank Ye Qing.

Returning to the company, Ye Qing first logged into the Xiaguan Forum, and many people have already offered 56,000 yuan for the purchase of ionizers. And almost all the users who have received the goods show off in the forum, most of the comments below requested a transfer and these messages made Ye Qing quite fascinated.

"Brother, you see you have experienced it twice, and the harmful substances in the skin are almost purified. I also ordered a brand new one myself, and it will be delivered within a month. It is better you have used this one. The used second-hand goods are transferred to me, and I will pay six times the price. When my one arrives, I will send you a brand-new ionization purifier for contract proof. "

"My heart is returning to my chest since Ye Qing has set the price of thousands of units, it will not go out of other channels to deliberately release high-priced ionizing purifiers due to small profits."