

M Factory 451

Chapter 451: Hurry, hurry up to the Monster Heavy Industry

Half an hour later, Ye Qing drove back to the company after informed Yu Huali to prepare duty records and launch safety precaution training.

Yu Huali, the manager of the personnel department, deliberately checked the company's personnel resignation records in the last month. Only three people left within the last month and only one of them was a technical employee. His name was Lu Feng, thirty-two years old this year, and he was an employee who had just been recruited last month. Before leaving, he had participated in the training of the company's Mechanical Colossus Type I after-sales technician.

The sales time of the Mechanical Colossus Type I was not long, and the quality itself was excellent, so the task of the after-sales technician was not much. When there was no business mission on weekdays, Lu Feng was assigned to the civil air defense project to be responsible for packaging the ionization purifier. Lu Feng submitted his resignation report last week, and the reason for leaving was to return to his hometown to get married.

The personnel department also approved it, allowing him to complete the work of the business within one week. Today was supposed to be his last day at work, but he did not come to work today and this was not a big deal and if he didn't come to work since it was the last day before the resignation, but just after the department of the personnel was warned by Ye Qing to start the safety precautions training, the new employee who received the job rushed to report he was missing a hundred ionization purifiers.

The company's leadership suddenly exploded one hundred ionization purifiers meant 800,000 Yuan. So, Ye Qing was notified as soon as possible, and then he rushed to the civil air defense project with dozens of security guards from the Security Department.

When he came into the civil air defense project, the security guards had already used several surveillance videos to lock down the suspect of stealing the ionization purifier.

"It is Lu Feng."

After watching the surveillance video, Ye Qing admitted that this guy was very intelligent and knew how to use the resources around him. There was surveillance everywhere where he worked, but this did not mean there were no dead ends.

Since yesterday afternoon, he has taken advantage of his position to pack the ionization purifiers, using the huge automatic packaging machine as a cover, he had thrown the ionization purifiers into a box under the machine and the packaging machine had only packed empty boxes.

Only with a skeptical eye, we could see clues from the surveillance. In peacetime, with so many monitoring screens, no one would think about his actions.

However, the civil air defense project was a sealed building. Anyone who wanted to enter or exit could only use the passage above the square. There were security guards at the entrance of the passage, and it was impossible for Lu Feng to take a box and go out without being checked, but under the cover of his resignation, he packed hundreds of purifiers in a large travel bag when the express car came in to load his goods, he stuffed them with his clothes, and handed them to the express company, and asked the express company to help him to send these things back to his hometown.

When the new worker had taken over his job and was going to label the boxes and send them to all parts of the country. At this moment, he had picked up the boxes and found out the weight of the boxes was wrong. Inspecting them, he found there were hundreds of empty boxes, and the courier driver was quickly contacted.

"Yes, I didn't have the embarrassment to charge him yesterday. Because before my goods were delivered to the transit center, he called me and said the goods should not be sent, and then he took a taxi and took them away."

"Boss, what should I do?" Yu Huali, the manager of the personnel department, was full of guilt. After all, he hired him: "His phone couldn't get through, and it was turned off. The home phone number in the entry information form was still available, but now it is empty. "

"Call the police."

"Give the entry information form to the police. I don't believe his ID is fake." Ye Qing said with a sullen face to the frightened employees around him: "You are also responsible for this matter. I will not hold you accountable for the time being for the fault. From this hour until tomorrow, I'll see a new security plan. If there will be another incident, you can figure out more quickly."

Upon receiving an alarm call from Monster Heavy Industries, the district bureau immediately sent several criminal police officers over.

The price of the stolen items was 800,000 yuan, which was already a very serious case. In addition, the informant was Shanghai's largest taxpayer, Monster Heavy Industries, and the branch manager in charge of this area recalled the criminal police captain who had been in charge of investigating the theft of the Daimeng Jewelry Company, to come in charge of this case too.

"Lawlessness, lawlessness, first Daimeng Jewelry, and then Monster Heavy Industries, if you don't arrest them all and make a severe sentence, we really think the Shanghai police are in the mud."

After the branch criminal police captain Ma Wenyu rushed over, he patted his chest in front of Ye Qing: "Don't worry, Mr. Ye. With the entry information sheet, this guy will definitely not escape."

"The evidence is solid. Since he went to the courier company to pick up the goods last night, he must not be far away. I will report him and list him as an online fugitive, and will send someone to his hometown to find out."

Ye Qing made sure Ma Wenyu would pick up his subordinates and leave after copying the video material, but out of curiosity and worry, Ye Qing asked him: "Is there any clue to Daimeng Jewelry?"

Before that, Ye Qing was also fortunate there were so many "big treasury" vehicles running on the road and nothing happened, but unexpectedly, he was slapped, and an insider appeared in the vault headquarters.

When the two things are put together, everyone will have lingering fears.

"It stands to reason that the facts of the case cannot be revealed, but there is something wrong with you, Mr. Ye." Ma Wenyu looked around and whispered: "For Daimeng Jewelry's case, how could the thief break the walls within an hour? The method to break open the two concrete walls and the safe hasn't been figured out yet. This case is uneasy. It may be one person with the highest technological content and I haven't seen in my life as a police officer."

"I've heard about this several times. In an hour the thieves had broken through the concrete wall, and it should be uneasy to determine the tool." Ye Qing wondered: "It's been a day. You haven't figured it out yet. Is it really that difficult?"

"Eh ~ no." Ma Wenyu shook his head repeatedly.

"In this way, if you really can't solve the problem, send someone to our company, and I will help you with research and resolution, my laboratory equipment is at your disposal, not to mention Shanghai first, as well as Jiangnan province, there is not a problem."

"What?"

Ma Wenyu received a shock like an electric shock. Before's voice fell, the man ran three feet away, drilling into the police car and shouting excitedly: "Mr. Ye, wait for me, and you must wait for me."

.....

In the General Bureau, Director Zuo and several team leaders gathered together, each head was as big as a bucket, and countless police forces had after a day of diligent investigations a bad shadow in their hearts, and the results obtained were thrown away because no valuable clues were investigated.

To make matters worse, there was still no way to determine what kind of tools the criminals used to break through the concrete walls and safes. If they knew the tools used, it would give an unimaginable great help in detecting the suspect in the case.

They had no clue here, so they could only pin their hopes on the investigation of the factory. If there were no clues here, the police could only pin their hopes on the stolen goods channel.

Daimeng Company was stolen 50 kilograms of gold and a large amount of emerald diamond and if these criminals have chosen to sell the stolen goods in China, there would be a large amount of gold and jewelry on the black market, and the police could always smell some clues but if they went wild and went to Southeast Asia to sell the stolen goods, then they would completely say bye-bye to the stolen things. Time was everything, the sooner the suspects were locked, and the more likely it was to recover the gold jewelry.

In the meeting room, the case discussion led by Director Zuo had been going on for three hours, and just when everyone was at a loss, the door of the conference room was pushed open with a "Bang~."

"Captain Ma, what made you so pressed?" Chief Zuo raised his head with a sigh without any blame in his tone but full of expectations.

After Ma Wenyu had opened the door, he held onto the door frame, out of breath he exhaled: "Quickly, quickly, with the clues collected from the scene, go to Monster Heavy Industry."

Chapter 452: Drooling Laboratory

It is so important to find tools for a crime. In criminal cases, the tool of committing crime is an important part of the chain of evidence. At the same time, the more this type of crime tool involves professionals, the easier it is to locate the suspects.

For example, if it is a concrete wall broken with explosives, then the police in the technical department can analyze which kind of explosive it is based on the composition of the remaining explosives. If it is a regular explosive, they can consider mines and blasting companies. If it is a private synthesis, they can investigate the sales of chemicals in chemical stores based on the ingredients and find out the criminals who have illegally made explosives. Explosives can make a violent noise, which is, of course, inappropriate for use here.

The cunning criminals here had used high-tech tools that even the police could not figure out.

Captain Ma from the sub-bureau hurriedly came to report, saying that Monster Heavy Industries had the most advanced experimental analysis equipment in Jiangnan Province, which could help analyze the crime tools at the scene, so director Zuo and the other leaders almost pressed their cigarette butts on their hands.

"The most advanced in Jiangnan Province?"

If they could be number one in Jiangnan Province, then the country could also be ranked third in the top five.

"Hurry up, Xiao Zhang, take the things you collected on the spot and bring the safe there." Director Zuo stood up and couldn't wait to arrange the task: "There is also concrete, and the broken concrete will also be brought over. If they need it, they can also be invited to the crime scene for inspection."

After giving the instructions, Director Zuo suddenly thought of something and turned around and asked in confusion: "Captain Ma did the Monster Heavy Industry take the initiative to contact you? I remember your Chengbei branch was in charge of that piece."

"One hour ago, Monster Heavy Industries reported their company was also stolen, and goods worth 800,000 Yuan were missing."

"Damn~ what did you say?"

The leader of the room, his heart had beat violently in an instant. It was really a leak in that night, Daimeng Jewelry Company hasn't figured out what happened yet, and something went wrong in Monster Heavy Industries.

"Check, do everything possible to check, catch this group of people, I will let them deeply understand what is the iron fist from the Shanghai city police." Chief Zuo's angry cheeks slammed and puffed up.

Fifteen minutes later, two sirens of the Iveco police car galloped towards the masterpiece in front of the blue sky building. Zhang Zhitong sat in the car, looking at the huge and heavy safe beside him, his thoughts were a little messy.

The two round holes in the safe had traces of high-temperature ablation around them. The trace material evidence laboratory did not find out the specific combustion components, but it was certainly not traditional oxygen cutting ablation. The police were familiar with the marks left by oxygen cutting, and many two-pole robbers liked to use it to cut iron doors.

Oxygen cutting couldn't cut the safe at all, and it was even impossible to burn a total of ten coin holes in five safes in a short time. You should know there were only three robbers at the scene. Remove the time to demolish the wall and leave them time to break through the five safes, which will last half an hour.

The entire technical department thought about it all day but didn't think of the principle. Now, Mr. Ye of Monster Heavy Industry has offered to help them detect. This Mr. Ye was the middle school classmate of Zhang Zhitong.

Zhang Zhitong has never seen him since she went to the Silver Palace to arrest someone and broke into the box of this old classmate by mistake. Her old classmate had thoroughly mixed up, let alone the best in the whole school. In the sixty years since the establishment of Shanghai University, Ye Qing was also one of the best in the mix.

Not seeing the old classmate did not mean that Zhang Zhitong did not understand the situation of the old classmate. On TV, in the news, on the Internet, in newspapers, talks, Zhang Zhitong has heard and seen too many deeds about Monster Heavy Industry.

"Chief Zhang, I heard that you and the president of Monster Heavy Industries are junior high school classmates?" A female police officer sitting in the trace inspection room opposite her smiled: "If this President Ye is really capable of detecting important clues, Then we will be undeveloped in the technical department? If you encounter any problems, you will directly find your old classmate."

"Little Liu, labs cost enough money. Usually, those well-known laboratories require hundreds of thousands of Yuan to do a test. We are always in need. How much money do you think we can possess, hundreds of thousands of dollars? "

"Of course you can do it many times, chief Zhang, you are the most recognized police flower of our Shanghai Police Team. Which man doesn't think about you?"

"Well~ don't praise me, there are more flowers in the flower garden of the police flower school these days than criminals." Zhang Zhitong shook his hair coolly: "A man with ability, who wants to marry a policewoman, especially a criminal policeman. Three hundred and sixty-five days a year, there are three hundred days without touching the house."

"Know that Jiang Xuan of the squadron, last Tuesday, his wife had blocked the squadron leader in the street and had cursed it."

"Zhang chief, please tell me, I have heard many people tell me about this. But when I protested, they all pretended I was mysterious, saying I'm not married and I can't know about this." The two female policemen in the trace inspection car, the eyes were shining, and the fire of gossip was burning.

"Jiang Xuan's wife is about to get divorced. It is estimated that she is very angry. When shopping, she met the squadron leader and pointed to his nose and cursed. She said this lady in front of him had made love with her husband in bed three times this month. You are the squadron leader. I am married to a phone."

The young policewoman laughed out of breath, but the topic was not funny when she thought into it. She pulled the topic back to the president of Monster Heavy Industries: "It is spreading on the Internet that this President Ye has already ordered the world's most expensive and fastest private business jet."

During the small talk, the two police cars unknowingly stopped outside the Monster Industrial Building. After getting out of the car, two technicians received Zhang Zhitong and her party.

"You...what about Mr. Ye?" Zhang Zhitong always felt a little embarrassed, after all, the two hadn't seen each other for a while.

"Police officer, please, our president is in the laboratory."

Zhang Zhitong led the group of policemen and followed the two technicians to the inside of the civil air defense project. She was surprised all the way, waited before a thick blast door, replaced the white lab coat under the reminder of the technician, and walked into this pure white laboratory. The surprise of Zhang Zhitong and her colleagues rose to the top. What kind of laboratory is this, obviously it was a treasure house full of a gold mountain.

As far as the equipment they had in the bureau, Ye Qing had them all here, and they were all top models. For example, they have electron microscopes in their bureau, and here there were a high-level ten times the electric scanning and atom probes. They have a metal composition analyzer and here was an X-ray fluorescence spectrometer. They have trace element detectors and here were atomic absorption spectrometers.

If the laboratory equipment here was compared to a supercar, the equipment in their bureau would be the kind of remote-controlled battery car that children ride. However, there were taller devices that they couldn't name.

"Officer Zhang, we meet again." The only one here who didn't wear a white coat was Ye Qing. He stood in the middle of the laboratory with a smile, his eyebrows kept jumping.

"It's been a long time, Ye Qing." Zhang Zhitong also picked up the crooked eyebrows and swallowed his mouth at the technical houses in the laboratory.

The extra words were unsuitable for speaking now, Ye Qing beckoned and signaled the police to bring the object to be tested.

A large box of messy concrete blocks, a heavy safe, and some scattered debris.

Ye Qing knew that the police wanted to figure out what equipment the criminals used to break through the concrete walls and safes. In fact, Ye Qing himself was very curious.

Under the eyes of these policemen, the scientific researchers in the laboratory carefully placed the concrete fragments in a large sealed instrument. The appearance of this instrument was very sci-fi. On the pure white hatch, there was only an inconspicuous light green observation window, which made people confused about its purpose.

Zhang Zhitong asked the questions that all the police wanted to ask: "what is this instrument used for?"

"A holographic scan reconstructs this concrete wall with a digital model."

As soon as Ye Qing's voice fell, in the sci-fi cockpit, many green lasers had lit up and flickered.

Chapter 453: Solving the Mystery

On the huge display, a block of concrete digital models was scanned line by line and the messy concrete fragments suddenly turned into a digital virtual three-dimensional map. This made Zhang Zhitong and the other policemen stare wide-eyed. When their technical department would do deal with such advanced equipment?

After ten seconds, the modeling was complete.

Just as the police were wondering what the next step was, these messy concrete fragment models flew on the big screen.

"Model calculation... 5%... 55%... 100%..."

As the progress bar moved quickly, these broken models were magically combined one by one. It was like a digital wall, which was broken and restored. When the progress bar had reached one hundred, the original messy and broken virtual model had become a square, a virtual concrete wall covered with cracks. The whole process took less than a minute.

The policemen's eyes widened again because the recombined virtual wall could clearly show there was an irregular deep hole the size of a potato chip bucket in the center.

There were many defects around the deep hole that were broken into particles and could be unrestored. But this did not prevent people from intuitively judging this was a circular deep hole with cracks in the concrete that have spread from around the deep hole in the form of a net. It was like a car glass, the kind of crack shattered by a bullet.

"Hiss..."

The policemen took a breath. Could it be said that this wall was broken by armor-piercing bullets?

How loud was that, and how bold?

"If it is hit by a high-speed object, the passage created by the gangster on the wall should be circular. But the passage left on the scene is obviously square." A police officer in the trace inspection room said in a low voice: "Moreover we also did not detect any traces of gunpowder on the concrete fragments."

"It's not the impact of a high-speed object." Ye Qing carefully looked at the restored three-dimensional simulation map and explained: "If I guessed right, this should be the principle of static blasting. It is not the kind of blasting that everyone knew, it is the use of mechanical energy to explode hard objects, rocks and concrete have extremely high external compressive strength, but the internal outward tensile strength is poor. If the external compressive strength is 100, the internal strength is only 2 to 10. A hydraulic splitting machine, I don't know if you have seen it before?"

"For mining stone, you only need drilling a few small holes, put the splitter into the hole, and in two minutes you can collapse a piece of hundreds of tons of granite into two pieces from the inside."

"There is such a thing?" Zhang Zhitong was completely eye-opening today: "Then you mean, this concrete wall was damaged by a hydraulic splitter?"

"The principle is similar, but it's not a hydraulic splitter."

"The splitting machine is only suitable for breaking rocks and simple concrete, and the factory building is a reinforced concrete structure. Take it as an example because this kind of equipment is more widely used."

Ye Qing pulled out a drawing-paper and said as he drew: "After you restore the fragments, you collected from the site, and there must be some defects in the surrounding area that turned into dust particles. There should be four to eight small holes drilled around the concrete. It's just the diameter of these small holes is too small, and maybe as thick as a pencil. After blasting, the traces are covered. They should have used a more advanced hydrostatic blasting machine. The big round hole in the center is used to place the blasting machine. Then a few small holes are punched around to keep the concrete cracking in the small holes but in the scope of construction."

Every time Ye Qing was saying a piece of information, and the eyes of these policemen became brighter.

"Then...Is this equipment loud?" Zhang Zhitong asked with a little excitedly.

"The sound of the blasting machine is very small. The hydraulic pump that provides hydraulic pressure to it is divided into the diesel engine and electric motor. The diesel engine has a louder sound, but if it is operated in a car, the sound is not a problem."

"The reinforced concrete, after being crushed by the expansion pressure from the inside was also connected to steel bars. As for the steel bars inside, you have to detect them and cut them with fire. Ordinary steel bars are not much stronger than butter before fire cutting. You can buy one of these equipment and come back to simulate it."

Zhang Zhitong's beautiful eyes filled with unspeakable joy: "Dear Wang, you immediately contact the bureau and ask them to purchase a hydrostatic blasting machine. The model is based on the size of the round hole in the middle of the concrete after restoration. After confirming the model, we have to visit the equipment suppliers in the city to find out to whom this equipment has been sold during the past month."

The other policemen had admired, and they were envious. They had never heard of a hydrostatic blasting machine, but after Ye Qing introduced its working principle. This group of technical policemen immediately had a kind of enlightenment, and suddenly felt enlightened: "That's it~ that's it~."

"Mr. Ye... In general, I don't know where I can buy this kind of software that automatically puts broken objects back together?"

"Your software is too strong. It can restore the broken concrete in a few seconds."

A male policeman wearing glasses said embarrassedly: "Our technical department often encounters criminals, smashing and destroying the items involved. Sometimes the restoration can give the impression for the person being blind in front of a wall."

"It's okay to give the software to you for nothing... But..." Ye Qing's following sentence made the policemen think about hitting the wall.

"But the software won't run on your computer. This software uses the rudest and most accurate exhaustive algorithm. The more fragmented objects, the more the exhaustive algorithm will use the hardware." Ye Qing pointed to the ground: "Under your feet, there is a super server cluster consisting of 10,000 server units. The super server cluster took billions to build it. It was just this super server that was computing the software."

"..."

"..."

A server built by a billion Yuan cannot be bought even if they would pack and sold the branches of the China Cloud General Administration, they could not have so much money. Monster Heavy Industry and Mr. Ye were really bullish, not bragging. If there was anything else to say, just praise Mr. Ye from the heart.

"If you encounter similar problems in the future, you can contact the person in charge of the laboratory." The expressions of these police officers made Ye Qing very useful.

"Okay, let's start the next test."

The policemen nodded quickly and pushed the bulky safe over like pushing a truck. The cover plate inside the safe door has been removed by the police, revealing the cipher dial structure and the mechanical locking structure inside. The three-wheel disc gaps inside the cipher disc have been overlapped, and the horizontal lever on the latch fell into the gap.

"It looks like it was ablated by a high temperature." Ye Qing squatted down and carefully observed the two holes the size of two coins on the front door of the safe: "Turn on the atomic absorption spectrometer, let's first analyze what foreign elements are in the residual hole."

Chapter 454: Test results that scare the police

Zhang Zhitong and the policemen were like a group of ignorant college students who stepped into the laboratory for the first time to watch the professor do an experiment.

Nervously and expectantly, they surrounded this German Goldman atomic absorption spectrometer.

The mystery of the concrete wall has been solved, and the remaining safe, as long as the puzzle is solved, they can more accurately locate the criminal's occupation according to the method of committing the crime.

The analysis time is a bit long this time.

Because the sample preparation of the atomic absorption spectrometer is relatively cumbersome, it is necessary to collect the test sample first, vaporize the sample, and use radiation projection to observe the spectrum generated when the sample absorbs radiation.

This is a very high-tech inspection method. With this inspection method, all foreign materials are invisible in the hole ablated by high temperatures.

Give a simple example.

When Ye Qing ate the altar chicken in Shanghai, he used the soil method to test that there were heavy metal residues in it.

If it is checked by an atomic absorption spectrometer, let alone a serious excess. Even if this altar chicken has eaten a harmful heavy metal food in its entire life, the spectrometer can detect it.

One hour later, the test result came out.

The report forms are all elements in English and symbols, and the technicians specially translated them into Chinese. The police, like treasures, looked at them one by one according to the elements inside.

Ferrous oxide, ferroferric oxide, aluminum oxide, nickel oxide, magnesium oxide, monocalcium aluminates, silica calcium carbonate...

From the test results, almost all the metal components on the safe were burned into another substance at high temperature.

The test results also indicate the proportion of these components in the sample, of which the proportion of iron is the largest, accounting for 55%.

"Wait, shouldn't the safe be made of metal? Why are there non-metallic substances such as monocalcium aluminates and silicon dioxide in it?"

A sharp-eyed policeman, Columbus was as excited as he discovered the New World and shouted: "These kinds of non-metallic substances are likely to be criminals, the key to destroying the safe."

"What kind of chemical reaction is used? I remember these ingredients can be used as chemical additives."

Several police officers in the trace evidence examination room immediately began discussing the uses of these non-metallic elements.

"Ahem~"

Ye Qing couldn't bear interrupting the policeman's "major discovery" and heated discussions with them.

"I think... these non-metallic substances are part of the foamed fire barrier material inside the safe."

"..."

The small circle from the trace evidence examination room suddenly became embarrassed in the heated discussion, and their hearts were cool.

"Ye Qing, in this way, isn't there any foreign element in the hole ablated at high temperature?" Zhang Zhitong was also confused. When metal is heated in the air, an oxidation reaction will occur.

Then a lot of the words "oxidized" on the test report sounded very high, but in fact, they are ordinary iron, aluminum, magnesium, and nickel, which become things after burning.

Ye Qing did not answer this question but continued to look at the test report.

Zhang Zhitong was right. The metal content in the report was one of the materials used to make the safe case, without any foreign matter.

Things seem to become unscientific.

There must be a medium in the combustion, which is ignited with a match, and residual elements such as phosphorus and sulfur will inevitably be detected in it. Ignite with mixed flammable gas, and it will inevitably leave the residual elements of common alkane gas, olefin gas, acetylene gas, etc.

This world belongs to science, there is no magic, and there is no cultivation.

Seemingly unscientific, it must have failed to find the true mystery.

The police were completely confused. They felt their IQ was no longer worthy to catch these mysterious criminals.

Someone looked down at the floor, others stared at the test report sullenly, and others sighed and leaned on their chairs, all of which were unconcealable frustration and disappointment.

"That's it."

Ye Qing suddenly showed a confident smile.

This sentence is more effective than a strong heart. The police hurriedly raised their heads and stared at Ye Qing without a moment's notice, and at the same time, they listened intently.

"There are no strange ingredients, but the original metal ingredients are not in the right proportions." Ye Qing pointed to the metal ingredients on the test report, and the corners of his mouth curled up: "Aluminum, magnesium, the ingredients are wrong. If we added aluminum to metal materials can increase the strength and corrosion resistance of the metal. However, the aluminum content in this report exceeds the standard."

"The wear-resistant steel used in safes is usually the Kn60 model. From the metal composition of this safe, it is also used. I remember that in this wear-resistant steel, the proportion of aluminum is only 3%, and in this test here Aluminum accounted for 15%. The proportion of magnesium added is even lower, it seems that it is less than 1%, but 5% is detected here."

So what alloy can we have from this composition of the metal?

While admiring the policemen couldn't help but wonder, what will happen if there were more aluminum and magnesium?

"Any kind of alloy formula is the best ratio value obtained after long-term practice and exploration. No factory will make this stupid mistake of mismatching. So, since the factory can't be wrong, it means the extra aluminum and magnesium were added by the band of thieves."

"Add aluminum and magnesium?" Zhang Zhitong frowned: "What do these people want to do?"

"Iron oxide should have been added, but there is too much iron in the safe enclosure, and there is not much change in the test report."

"Add iron?"

"Very brilliant concept.", Ye Qing admired: "This group of people is definitely not as ignorant in industrial processing, but very proficient, and can be called an engineer's level."

"Termite reaction or termite, use aluminum powder, iron oxide powder, mixed together, and use magnesium powder as an igniting agent. With a proper mixing ratio, it can produce a high temperature of more than 3,000 degrees after ignition. In industrial applications, this method will be used to melt refractory metals or metal welding."

Another unpopular technique was learned by them, and the policemen listened little by little. But Mr. Ye said that this method was generally used to melt metal or weld. It shouldn't be ablated, this kind of hole with bullets, right?

"High-pressure jet,"

Ye Qing said: "Mixed with extremely fine metal powder in a pressure vessel, the igniting effect is no less than the metal jet of an armor-piercing bullet. The finer the metal powder, the more fully it burns. Take the most common ordinary iron, and you can burn it for a lifetime with a lighter. But nano-sized iron powder can burn with a little fire. And nano-sized iron Fans can be bought online."

"For this group of industrial masters, burn through the shell of the safe and use a few small tools to pry open the internal mechanical lock structure."

"..."

My god, who is the engineer who ran to be a thief after he was full of knowledge? What kind of jewels are stolen with this technology? Go to the United States as a spy and steal high-tech information.

After listening to Ye Qing's popular science lesson, the policemen burst into tears. They felt these industry experts were terrible.

In case...

What would happen if an industrial talent like Mr. Ye did things that violated the law and discipline? This was very desperate speculation, but the policemen present thought about it again.

Mr. Ye casually took out one thing, which might be worth the price of one of their general administration buildings. It was tens of millions of gold and jewelry before their eyes, and the police felt relieved and at ease.

"This is going being a big deal that will shake up the internal system of the national police." After a long moment of the exclamation, Zhang Zhitong sighed, "I really have no confidence in catching them if I can find this kind of criminal means that I have never heard of."

"Try it and check the major universities and laboratories. Ordinary technicians do not have the ability to do this. If the ratio of the termite is ungood, it will become an incendiary bomb and burn yourself like a turkey."

Ye Qing also sighed: "With this technology, it would be a shame not to come to our factory to work and not become a thief."

Chapter 455: Stewardess must be strictly selected

All public security systems have taken action to conduct thorough investigations of teachers, laboratories, and factory technicians in major universities of Shanghai City, and its subordinate counties, and surrounding counties and cities. At the same time, a notice of assistance was issued to allow public security officers everywhere to pay attention to the gold and jewelry industry, whether there was a sudden entry of large amounts of gold jewelry of unknown origin.

"Ye Qing, the employee who stole 800,000 Yuan of products from your company, our people have already rushed to his hometown to investigate the situation." Before leaving, Zhang Zhitong walked to Ye Qing and said softly: "But the suspect named Lu Feng did not return to his hometown nor to the hotel and the police station record his information."

"It's not in a hurry. You should focus on the jewelry theft case of Daimeng Company." Ye Qing smiled freely and said: "If you encounter any similar technical problems in the future, please come to me."

"Thank you!" Zhang Zhitong held Ye Qing's sturdy palm: "From the perspective of time, your company's theft occurred before the Daimeng Jewelry Company. For the time being, this Lu Feng suspect also has the possibility to participate in the theft of Daimeng jewelry. Before these people are caught, you have to be more careful. Compared with Daimeng Jewelry, your company is the real golden mountain."

"Gold Mountain and silver mountain, they have to be able to take it." Ye Qing handed her a relieved look and confidently said: "The real good things are in the Longxitan factory area, where the security forces are so strong."

Zhang Zhitong raised his head, smiling with some sincere appreciation: "You are unusually confident."

Confidence and arrogance are often the same words, but the feelings they bring to people are really different. Ye Qing's self-confidence was particularly attractive.

"But you look very handsome with confidence, especially just now, when you explained the gangsters' modus operandi to us outsiders, you were so handsome. Go, we will try to catch that bold thief as soon as possible."

"I will give back the same to you." Ye Qing accepted the compliment happily.

After sending away Zhang Zhitong and the group of policemen who came to "learn", Ye Qing's first thing doing was to call for a meeting of all the management. His self-confidence was one thing, but he should not be blind and arrogant.

What happened in the laboratory just now told Ye Qing intuitively that there was a band of gangsters who had the ability to invade the society now. The gangsters who possessed this technique would never be blind. What was the value of Monster Heavy Industry, in their eyes? It was definitely less than the police.

If they had the dream of getting rich once and for all, Monster Heavy Industry was undoubtedly the best place to go. So, Ye Qing had only one topic to talk about at this temporary meeting. The safety of the company. He personally explained this subject all day.

After returning to the Longxitan factory at night, the monsters have tailored multiple security defense systems for the company. The most important thing inside was a set of the omni-directional infrared monitoring system that is unconnected to any computer network.

The lesson of the Daimeng Jewelry Company was too painful. The remote monitoring room that looks very foreign was actually hacked by criminals as early as a week ago. They swaggered and watched the monitoring for a week, and got all the details of the factory clear, and during them were committing the crime, they took control of the remote surveillance room and played back a video...

Ye Qing planned to add a set of purely electronic circuits monitoring systems in the company, a camera with a screen, from the root cause to eliminate the possibility of intrusion.

For the next two days, the company was all busy upgrading the security software and hardware. While Ye Qing continued to check the gaps, he was also paying attention to Lu Feng's news. Ye Qing had waited for him to be arrested and used him as a typical example to promote it in the company.

As the saying goes, birds dare to fly any forest when they are big.

No matter which enterprise is, it is impossible to say that all things go smoothly. With too many employees recruited by an enterprise, it is difficult to guarantee it would not recruit the kind of people who were in the dark and wanted to take crooked ways and shortcuts. It doesn't matter, as long as it catches them, lets the law strictly punish them, and deter those who have the same idea behind them.

But Ye Qing waited for two days, no matter whether it was the theft case of Daimeng Company's Jewelry or the product theft case of Monster Heavy Industry, there was no good news.

Now on the Internet, the case of Daimeng Company had been in the headlines for two days because this was a high-tech crime that could be learned in textbooks, especially those reasoning forums, communication areas with detective enthusiasts. There had been countless stories of high-rise buildings in the discussion of this case, and the disputes inside were even more fierce than World War II.

After arguing over no one, they finally reached a consensus which was 'the Shanghai police were incompetent'. If they wanted to change their mind, the police should solve the case, so what. There were even several well-known directors who approached the Shanghai police and said that if the case was solved, they were willing to sponsor a fund to obtain exclusive details of the case because they wanted to make this case into a movie...

The police didn't wait for good news. In other respects, Ye Qing had waited for some good news, so as to dispel the depression caused by the theft. First of all, there has been a successful rehearsal of the robot army at the crab festival in Sikong City. The effect of this preview was so good that Mayor Xu of the Four Commons City personally called. Invited Ye Qing to show his face on the day of the event.

In addition, Gulfstream has confirmed that the latest G750 flagship aircraft would arrive at China Capital Airport in two days. The two pilots who were affiliated with Monster Heavy Industries had also been trained very smoothly. They would be allowed to rotate as the primary and secondary pilots when flying to China.

There was a pilot, but of course, not a flight attendant. Ye Qing would not ask much for the flight attendants, as long as the image was good. This requirement was not high for a big boss like him, but to recruit suitable candidates, it really took a lot of effort from the company's personnel department, because there was a "hidden rule" in it. In other words, the company's personnel department tried figuring out a psychological process.

It was impossible for the boss to explain all the tasks clearly. For those little details that were unexplained, the subordinates had to try to figure out the boss's preferences, and finally, they should select the employees most satisfied with the boss.

The boss told them to have a good image. Is there a difference between a 20-year-old stewardess with a good image and a 40-year-old stewardess with a good image? Yes, the difference is big!

Take a look at the boss's friends of the opposite sex. Which one was not excellent enough to make 99.9% of the men feel unattainable and frustrated? Since they were all beautiful young girls, shouldn't it make the boss unhappy to recruit a married elder flight attendant?

The prerequisites were there. The figure, appearance, skin color, and personality belong to the category of image. The personnel department of the company naturally should select according to the strictest standards. This was not only to complete the task assigned by the boss but also to be responsible for the image of the Monster Heavy Industry.

Monster Heavy Industry was the most competitive emerging high-tech company, and Ye Qing was the youngest president of China's top 500 companies.

The requirements for flight attendants were high, and they were also winning shares, right?

Chapter 456: What about people?

The famous winter catch of Chagan Lake last month was successfully screened on mobile media, and the momentum was greater than ever, and now there were still two days left before the opening of the Sikong Crab Festival, the day where hundreds of thousands of people would participate in this grand event, among them Tong Xuanqiang, deputy director of the Sikong Tourism Bureau.

Half of the people there were tourists from all over the world. They took a plane or train to go there, taking winter catching activities as tourist attractions. Even the official China TV station has carried out follow-up reports...

To be honest, Sikong City's investment in the Crab Festival this time was more than that of winter catching in Chagan Lake, but if the reputation failed, the crab sales would not increase significantly. Then, on their resumes, they would have to put an embarrassing comment on them. So, In order to achieve political performance, but also to increase the economic income of the important local fishery. The leaders of the Quartet City once again used the first half of the year to strive to create a national sanitary and civilized city, clean up the whole city, and give a new look to spiritual civilization.

Of course, the Four Commons failed to compete for the title of National Hygienic Civilized City. If they failed, they would fail. They hadn't succeeded anyway. All four cities have been mentally prepared for a long time, and it was an accident if it was really successful.

As long as this crab festival was well organized, it could be interviewed on China's official TV station like the winter catch in Chagan Lake.

This year's Crab Festival, before it started, was very different from the past. The first difference was the hotel occupancy rate. In the last Crab Festival, in the first two days, the occupancy rates of major hotels in the city did not change at all. But this time, the occupancy rate of all hotel chains in Sikong City had exceeded 80%.

This was definitely the kind of weather that can only be found in international events. When the Tourism Bureau learned of this news, it almost planned to order a table dinner to celebrate. As a result, they were cautious and asked the employees to visit them, but they poured cold water on them.

One-third of tourists had never heard of the Crab Festival before. They came for the first concert of Xu Ninggong and the mysterious guest Lang Han.

That's right, although Xu Ninggong wanted to treat the mysterious guest as big suspense, he faced the now pervasive media and increasingly savvy netizens. The news that the mysterious guest was the international dancer Lang Han had already spread.

The only consolation for the Sikong Tourism Bureau was that this concert will be held together with the Crab Festival, and Xu Ninggong would also help promote it. The event would be held at half-past five, and the event would last until eight, at nine o'clock the concert of Xu Ning would begin.

In the concert ticket, the entrance ticket to the Crab Festival was directly given. The audience was idle and idle, and they should go to the Crab Festival.

In the Sikong City Stadium, Chief Director Ding Yin had been stationed in the stadium and has taken over the layout of the event venue.

Today's stadium has been dressed up as a brand-new stadium with a modern technological atmosphere. At the entrance, ten ticket checking robots stood at the ticket gate like a javelin. When someone approached, they would bend over to say hello in the most standard way, and then stretched out their hands to receive invitations or tickets. These ten ticket checking robots with watches can complete the ticket checking work by themselves without human control. This is the technology transplanted by Tianjin from the Second Watchman side or the watcher N°2.

Beyond the ticket gates, there were thousands of robots wearing small vests and cartoon crab logos running around the stadium to make final preparations.

In the dance room of the venue, a beautiful girl in tights looked around for promotional posters, planning to paste it up the glass: "Sister Gong, why are these robots running around from the window all the time? My heart is straight as I look."

Three days later, the national concert tour of Xu Ning would be opened ceremoniously. As the most important opening ceremony, Xu Ninggong specially invited the famous dance life song and dance troupe to accompany the dance.

Now, she was taking everyone to rehearse the dance in the dance room. A house of big beauties, even the robots couldn't stand the test. She blinked at them funny: "Can you tell me for who these robots, who look so cute wearing small vests."

"Sister Gong, we should borrow these robots to maintain order on the day of the concert?" The assistant on the side walked over and raised Xu Ninggong's mobile phone while handing a towel.

"I just contacted Lang Han's assistant and he said, they flew to the Sikong City by plane at four o'clock in the afternoon and will arrive at the airport at about five-thirty."

"Good idea, when we meet Lang Han in the evening, we will ask the government staff by the way." At this point, Xu Ninggong sighed: "Lang Han, Lang Han, I also hope to get a mysterious guest. It's a big gimmick, and the audience has already guessed who the mysterious guest is."

"Yes, the mystery disappeared all at once." The young female assistant sighed.

.....

At five o'clock in the afternoon, Xu Ninggong finished the rehearsal and drove his assistant to the Meihua Airport in Sikong City to welcome Lang Han's arrival, tucked up her hair, put on a knitted hat with velvet, and put on brown sunglasses that could hide half of her face. She was dressed in casual long clothes and had transformed from a star with boundless beauty into a girl next door.

"Flight mu 24,032 has landed at the airport please be prepared for the pick-up personnel." The information board sent a voice reminder from the staff.

"Sister Gong, this flight."

Xu Ninggong nodded and followed behind the assistant and walked towards the exit of the terminal.

After a while, the passengers carrying their suitcases appeared from the aisle talking and laughing. There were people beside Xu Ninggong who waved at the crowd from time to time and called someone's name.

"Lang Han~ Lang Han~"

Xu Ninggong turned her head in amazement and found it was a group of young men and women who were holding Lang Han's head photo, yelling with emotion.

"My God, these people are all Sherlock Holmes?" Xu Ninggong pouted her little cherry mouth: "How can they even get the flight information for Lang Han?"

The female assistant made a nerve-wracking action, indicating that she didn't know either.

"When Lang Han comes out, you go up to say hello, I won't go there." Xu Ninggong confessed to the assistant in a low voice. Now that Lang Han fans are present, if she goes up to say hello, she will probably be recognized. She even thought about she could not get out before more than half an hour later.

However... Hundreds of passengers walked out of the passage one after another, and when the last passenger had left for three minutes, Lang Han hadn't even appeared. Behind Xu Ninggong, a dozen of Lang Han's fans opened their eyes one by one, with question marks on their faces. The female assistant made a phone call quietly, but no one answered the phone until the busy tone hung up.

"Where is the person?" Xu Ninggong and the female assistant looked at each other and asked together.

Lang Han would never take the VIP way. He thought that if there were people who were supporting him to meet him at the airport; he thought that if he takes the VIP channel to avoid them, it will hurt the hearts of these people?

Now the next wave of passengers was starting coming out, also they did not see the shadow of Lang Han. So, Xu Ningong takes out his mobile phone and calls Lang Han directly. As a result, no one answered the phone, until it hung up automatically.

Chapter 457: A powerful reason

If it is said that the phone call of the assistant alone could not get through, it should be because he forgot turning on his phone, but now both of them couldn't get through, and all the passengers in the plane were gone. Besides, even if Lang Han had walked through the VIP channel, he would call to notify this.

The female assistant contacted the deputy director of the Tourism Bureau and asked him for help asking if there was a passenger named Lang Han on the Mu 24,032 flight at the airport, and the deputy director quickly returned the news, saying there were two passengers who had not boarded this flight, they were Lang Han and his assistant.

"What the hell do these guys want to do? Even if they don't board the plane, why the two people shut down their phones together?" The female assistant stomped angrily: "Obviously, I said on the phone. Sister Gong and I are going to the airport to pick you up them."

"Don't worry, what if there is a situation there?" Xu Ningong shook her head, turned, and walked outside the airport: "Let's go back first. You can contact his agent on the way."

On the way back to the stadium, the female assistant successfully dialed the number of Lang Han's agents.

"Why, Lang Han hasn't arrived in Sikong City yet?" The agent's reaction was stronger than that of the female assistant: "Impossible, I personally sent him to the airport."

"Are you sure? But our side has already checked, Lang Han never came to the Four Commons."

"What!"

"What about the plane? Did the plane arrive? Could it be the plane didn't arrive?..." The agent's voice changed.

"It's not what you thought, the plane arrived, but Lang Han and his assistant did not board the plane."

The agent took a long sigh on the phone: "That's good; I'll call him and ask for clarity. Lang Han has two phones with him, and the one he uses to contact his relatives and friends will never shut down."

When the commercial vehicle was approaching the stadium, Lang Han's agent finally returned the call and went directly to Xu Ningong's cell phone.

"This one... Sister Gong, I'm sorry, I'm very sorry. They are here..." The agent kept apologizing on the phone, he was just like the student who made the mistake: "Lang Han, he ran away, he asked me to tell you, I'm afraid I can't help you this time."

"What?" Xu Ningong was stunned: "I need an explanation." Five seconds later, Xu Ningong gritted her teeth.

Since Lang Han could let his agent pass a message to him, it meant he has not encountered an accident.

How could Xu Ninggong not be angry when Lang Han did such an irresponsible thing without encountering an accident? For this national tour concert, Xu Ninggong paid too much. Even this year, she would spend the Spring Festival outside.

"Sister Gong, in fact, I couldn't get through Lang Han's private phone at first. I couldn't get through in the end. He had called another person who was very important to him before he was willing to contact me. They are still at the airport and are waiting for the early morning flight. But... it's a flight to the United States." The agent sighed heavily and explained: "There is a rumor that Lang Han doesn't like women but men."

"In fact, Lang Han is just too infatuated. He likes a girl for five years. That girl is also amazing. Lang Han chased her for five years, but she didn't agree. In order to hide from Lang Han, she chose to study in the United States. But today I don't know what evil wind is happening. The girl said the day after tomorrow would be her birthday. If Lang Han can show up at her birthday party and confess to her, she will agree to be Lang Han's girlfriend. The thing is so bloody; don't talk to Lang Han, even if there are a hundred cows, it is impossible to bring him back from the airport."

"..."

After hearing this powerful explanation, Xu Ninggong said angrily: "I spent a hundred cows before I can't resist the urge to fly to the Capital Airport immediately and use a bucket of gasoline to pour Lang Han from his head to the soles of his feet. Ah ah~ He will go to pursue happiness, what about my national tour?" Xu Ninggong took off her hat and severely caught her hair like a puff of straw: "The fans all over the country know I invited him to be a mysterious guest, I ticked off my brain and invite him."

"Sister Gong? Sister Gong?" Lang Han's agent yelled anxiously: "Don't be angry. I will apologize to you on behalf of Lang Han. I will fly to the Four Commons and apologize to you in person."

"I don't need your apologies." Xu Ninggong took a deep breath: "He is determined to go to the United States, even if he sees the girl, waits for the confession to succeed, and then takes the plane back, he will not arrive in time. If he breaches the contract, I will follow it for the breach clause in the contract."

"But as long as he is pursuing happiness, then I will not pursue this matter which causes an indirect loss to my concert."

"Sister Gong, you're generous." The agent sighed in relief and pleased: "Sister Gong, I have an idea."

"You keep your concert, using another mysterious guest to create an atmosphere. Since it is the mysterious guest, you have never officially revealed who the guest is... You can choose another guest. I know Gu Zhaosi, the Asian dance king. Sister Gong, should I help you contact him and ask him to replace Lang Han?"

"Thank you; please contact my agent as soon as possible to discuss the breach of contract." Xu Ninggong snapped up the phone.

Asian dance king Gu Zhaosi?

What an international joke, Gu Zhaosi was a hip-hop master. The title song she was going to release at the concert was beautiful family music. She has invited Lang Han because he was a top clan dance master. And last month, Lang Han arranged the dance moves according to the title song. On the spot, where could she find a clan dance master who had the same Lang Han skills? Besides, the more he was a master, the stronger his personal style.

The dance that Lang Han choreographed several months ago, except that he can perform that feeling himself, can't be replaced by anyone, and for other famous masters, it was impossible to choreograph a set of dances in two days.

"What to do~ What to do, Sister Gong?" The call was hung up, and the young female assistant burst into tears. She clutched Xu Ningong's arm tightly and said with tears: "Audiences all over the country know the mysterious guest is Lang Han, and the concert will start the day after tomorrow. The dance life song and dance troupe we invited has been rehearsing according to Lang Han's dance movements. Where are we going to find a mysterious guest who can soothe the audience?"

"I... don't know." Xu Ningong covered her face, her voice hoarse: "Ask Director Ding, he is better at saving the field than me."

In the stadium, director Ding Yin has changed his formal attire and planned to go to the most famous Hongze Lake Jinfan Hotel in the Sikong City with the deputy director of the Tourism Bureau to meet Lang Han.

As a result, the two of them came excitedly and waited for the top clan dance master of Xu Ningong.

"What?"

"Have you made a mistake, Lang Han gone to America to confess to the unrequited goddess?"

After listening to the whole story, the director Ding Yin caressed his beard and glared, and almost dropped the teacup of his hand: "This silly bird, I think he was consumed by someone as a champion. I can't tell which little white face this woman has trouble with. Once she gritted her teeth, she pulled Lang Han, who is a bit famous in the world and made the little white face be very nervous."

"From a man's point of view, I think this is the most possible."

Tong Xuanqiang, the deputy director, also followed his conclusion: "This Lang Han is too reckless. Now in the Four-Common City Hotel, there are many audiences coming to him."

"Don't talk about him, and it's his own business to be deceived." Xu Ningong's deep eyes were full of frustration: "Director Ding, you can help me find a way; I really can't find an idea here."

"Hey~ If the first concert is messed up. How can the rest look?"

Chapter 458: There are good things

This concert was not just Xu Ningong's own business it was also Ding Yin's business. In fact, in the original her tour schedule, Four Commons was not in it. It was at the invitation of director Ding Yin that she agreed to place the first stop in the Four Commons.

Before the concert started, the hotel chains in Sikong City had had an occupancy rate of 80%, almost all of them were coming to the Xu Ninggong concert. In their minds, the Crab Festival was just a free visit without any expectations. If the concert was messed up, they would be in a bad mood to visit Sikong City.

This concert should be used to publicize the good wishes of the Sikong City Crab Festival, and they could also have to bathe in it. This was a matter of the art circle, and Tong Xuanqiang, the deputy director of the Tourism Bureau, obviously couldn't help.

Director Ding Yin first greeted Xu Ninggong and asked her to go back to the office and didn't stand outside in the cold. When he arrived at the office, Director Ding kept rubbing his chin's beard, thinking quickly in his mind. The news of the concert was publicized through various channels as early as last month. The audience has formed huge expectations, and they all knew the mysterious guest was Lang Han.

Now... The only way to save the concert is to make up for the huge sense of expectation from the audience.

Xu Ninggong was sat in the chair without saying a word, while her assistant kept sighing there. About two minutes later, Director Ding suddenly stood up with a pat on his thigh.

"Yes!"

Director Ding hurriedly picked up the phone and shouted after being connected: "Xiao Liu, get the video that was shot by Lang Han half a month ago."

Five minutes later, a young man came in with a USB flash drive, and Xu Ninggong looked at Director Ding with a puzzled face. Director Ding played the video directly on the computer. The three-minute and fifty-second video were of Lang Han standing in the exercise room and dancing solo to the camera. The dance was exactly the one Lang Han arranged for her new finale song.

"I've seen this video. The dance moves of the song and the dance troupe were all based on this video." Xu Ninggong was even more puzzled: "Lang Han can't come. We can't show the video to the audience. Damn it."

"This is not a normal video."

Director Ding made a pause of the scene, pointed at the dance suit on Lang Han, and said with a smile:

"Did you notice any difference in this suit?... This is a black tight-fitting dance suit. The difference is probably there are some small white dots on the top of the dance suit. This is the mark of motion capture." Director Ding smiled more and more happily: "Originally shooting this motion-capture video, I just left post-processing special effects to help you make concert highlights. We can use the dream monitor of Monster Heavy Industries to show it out. It couldn't be Lang Han, and we use technical means to replace this set of actions with a holographic cartoon character."

"Similar to Hatsune Miku?" Xu Ninggong also knew a little about film technology, knowing that with motion capture video, it was very simple to change to cartoon characters, and Director Ding was also good at this technology.

Dream display, with cartoon character with Lang Han's dancing talent.

The great success of Hatsune Miku proves this model was indeed feasible. Lang Han's dance also ensured the appreciation of cartoon characters, and the theme of Lang Han and the mysterious guest was too undetached. In the absence of other good solutions, perhaps this was the only way to try. Lang Han won't say anything, and she had bought the exclusive rights to this dance.

"Which cartoon character would it be replaced?" Xu Ninggong had no time to hesitate.

Deputy Director Tong Xuanqiang felt he could finally be able to intervene: "Can we use cartoon crabs?"

.....

Of course, cartoon characters couldn't be crabs. If ten-legged crustaceans go dancing, the concert would be made into a fun concert. Director Ding had a lot of material for anime characters at hand, but if he wanted to perform the holographic dance effect perfectly, he should have technical assistance from Monster Heavy Industries.

When Ye Qing received a call from Director Ding and Xu Ninggong, he was discussing the interior decoration design of the Gulfstream G 750 with the chief designer Xiao Jun of the Chronicle Studio. The interior decoration of Gulfstream's flagship business jet was luxurious enough, but this decoration was the same for all flagship models. So he invited chief designer Xiao Jun to redesign the layout of the cabin and pursue low-key luxury, just make changes to the living facilities. The frame structure of the aircraft remains the same, and the design is strictly in accordance with the center of gravity of the aircraft.

"Do you plan to let a holographic cartoon character come as a mysterious guest?" Ye Qing raised his eyebrows when he heard it, admiring Lang Han's recklessness, and admiring Director Ding's thoughts even more.

"Euh~ we are also forced to do it, and we only have two days left, there is no way to find a replacement." Xu Ninggong's voice was a little disappointed.

"I'll let the technician send you the parameters of the display right away." Ye Qing nodded, and then thought of something: "With only Lang Han's video, there is no way to transfer his body movements to the virtual character, right?"

"This is a motion capture video." Director Ding originally planned to do post-production special effects for Lang Han: "Because he was wearing a wonderful dance costume and it affects the coordination of the body."

"Motion capture?" Ye Qing is somewhat interested. This technology had been unpopular in China a few years ago. At present, Tianjin was also studying this aspect of video technology which was the kind of unmarked motion capture.

"Then send me a copy of the video and dynamic files. Let me refer to it. We are also working on similar technologies here."

After finishing the call, Xiao Jun, the designer who came from Shanghai, waved his hand and asked Ye Qing to work with him first. He had to study the cabin layout drawings for a while.

It was just a trivial matter. Ye Qing called the technician and forwarded the information passed by Director Ding to Tianjin.

Tomorrow afternoon, China's first Gulfstream G750 will arrive at the Capital Airport. Compared to the Crab Festival, Ye Qing cared more about this.

"Old Xiao, do you say a bathtub cannot be installed on the plane?" Ye Qing couldn't help being unconstrained, and interrupted Xiao Jun's thinking: "It's best to have a two-person bathtub."

"You can't install it?" Xiao Jun looked up and smiled meaningfully: "Looking at the parameters, this aircraft can only store up to 300 liters of domestic water. If you want to add the water tank by yourself, trimming is probably impossible."

"The internal trim of the aircraft is simple, and the current flight control system has a trim function. By controlling the fuel flow in the aircraft, it is automatically trimmed."

"I'll just do it for a while, don't know where to put the bathtub."

"Since the trimming is okay, leave it to me about the bathtub space." Xiao Jun's smile turned sly.

Ye Qing showed the same smile. He had planned to add two more suggestions, but the phone rang.

The number indicated it was Tianjin. Ye Qing answered the phone. Tianjin happily shouted over there, "Boss, come and have a look, there are good things."

Chapter 459: Even Ye Qing was shocked

From the moment Ye Qing and designer Xiao Jun communicated the design changes in the engine room, and he went to the underground laboratory of the industrial building, it was already half an hour passed.

Tianjin was standing in front of Watcher N°2, with two pointed translucent ears shaking like dragonfly wings.

"What good thing?" Ye Qing looked around and found there was nothing in the laboratory that he didn't recognize.

Wrong ~ He discovered there was an extra-Watcher N°2, the new one had the appearance lines obviously smoother than the old one, the details on the muscle armor were more delicate, and the gaps between the armors were smaller. This was a brand-new Watcher that was clearly crafted with higher processing technology.

"This is Watcher 3." Tianjin patted the simulated muscle armor on Explorer Three, his face full of pride.

Ye Qing didn't know whether Tianjin shot the Watcher 3 or pressed a remote control. Anyway, Tianjin's smile was not over yet and Watcher 3, the beautiful armor that seemed to be impenetrable, moved quickly and opened towards both sides.

This was definitely a scene of a science fiction film director, worthy of reference. After a rhythmic mechanical movement, the armor on Watcher 3 had completely slid away, exposing the complex structure inside.

Ye Qing could see the internal structure at a glance, the difference from the previous one. This Watcher 3 was made with a large number of lightweight alloy materials to reduce weight.

In terms of the transmission unit, the heavy electro-hydraulic drive system designed for the Explorer robot in order to take into account the cost was also abandoned. The size was smaller, but it cost dozens of times, even more than a hundred times the material cost, a new electro-hydraulic drive system that required more demanding processing technology to manufacture.

For example, the electro-hydraulic push rod used for the original Explorer robot to lift heavy objects was made of steel alloy, and a push rod weighed 600 grams. Now it was directly replaced with carbon fiber composite material, the weight was only hundreds of grams, and the diameter of the push rod had also been reduced by half.

The improved accuracy could allow the electro-hydraulic transmission system to even lose the heavy mechanical lubricating oil tank design. All structures were like this, so of course, a lot of space could be saved, and these spaces were used by Tianjin to arrange auxiliary systems and lithium polymer batteries with higher energy density and lighter weight.

Lithium polymer batteries could also be more diverse in shape. Tianjin made full use of this and placed a lithium polymer battery three times the volume of the Explorer's battery inside the body of the Watcher 3. The battery was three times larger, but the weight of the whole machine was only two-thirds of the Explorer. Of course, the cost was a hundred times higher, and it cost tens of millions.

"Walking on two legs, Watcher 3 can work at full power for two hours." Tianjin proudly showed off in front of Ye Qing: "Its outer armor can also resist the penetration of 12.7 mm bullet kinetic energy, but currently one piece of armor, Can only resist one shot."

"It's really amazing, but it's not worth your excitement, right?" Ye Qing was a little curious. Just on the phone, Tianjin was as excited as he picked up a big diamond.

"Boss~ don't blink," Tianjin told Ye Qing not to blink, but he kept blinking.

"Read program No. 01." Tianjin issued the order in standard Mandarin.

The Watcher 3 robot's dim eyes suddenly lit up with a faint jade green light. The armor that slid away automatically retracted. When all the armors returned to their original positions, the Watcher 3 robot slowly raised its head and locked its eyes focusing.

"The program was read."

"Start ~ Execute program 01."

The Watcher 3 robot stepped forward a few steps, walked to a clearing, and suddenly stood still. Just when Ye Qing wondered what it was going to do, a piece of music accompaniment sounded without warning. This was the melodious sound of the flute and the sound of the dulcimer like a mountain spring of Dingdong. Together with the tunes, the sky and white clouds, mountains, and running water were heard.

"Damn!"

The tune was less than five seconds and Ye Qing suddenly widened his eyes to the limit and stared at the Watcher 3. Because this Watcher 3 had tilted slightly backward, with a charming inverted triangle line waist, suddenly bowed, and then stretched the entire arms, embraced, and ran toward the imaginary sky of music during the day. Watcher 3 was actually dancing!

It couldn't see deliberate contrivance at all, and every movement was natural and smooth as if a stream was flowing down from a mountain, so harmonious, so natural. Suddenly the sound of the dulcimer like a spring of Dingdong stopped and turned into a long flute solo.

The vicissitudes of the atmosphere suddenly became desolate, it seemed that the green hills were old and the green water stopped flowing. The Watcher 3 turned half a circle, facing Ye Qing with his back. For some reason, Ye Qing could read a trace of "loneliness" and a trace of "decline" from its back.

"How... How did you do it?" Ye Qing grabbed Tianjin's long ears as if a hunter had caught an elf: "Is this the document I sent you, just Lang Han dancing that part?"

"Don't pull my ears."

Tianjin hummed and broke free from Ye Qing's hand. After jumping to the side, he shook his head and said: "Yes, there is a complete set of dynamic trajectory coordinates in the file. The motion system of Watcher 3 has been optimized after many times following the human body trajectory to exercise. Of course, it can also be perfect in this present dance, but... It also has its shortcomings."

Tianjin said from his mouth, the triumph between its eyebrows was fully revealed:

"Boss, don't you notice that watcher 3 doesn't dare to do too much movement when dancing?"

"Boss, you didn't notice that the Watcher 3. When dancing he didn't dare to do too much movement with his legs? In this dance, there are many leg movements. It's just that the robot's current balance ability is not up to human standards, let alone the standard of this dancer named Lang Han, so the system defaults to cancel these movements.

"Ah you didn't tell me, I didn't notice this at all." Ye Qing nodded, and under deliberate observation, the robot's leg movements did not let go of the ground.

"There is a good solution. Install an electromagnetic chuck on its soleplate, and the floor will be made of metal." Ye Qing clenched his fist and looked excited: "When the magnetic chuck is opened, the robot's movements are guaranteed to violate the laws of physics even more than Jackson. "

"Quickly, you make it dance again, and I will record it with video."

.....

Ten minutes later, inside the office of the Sikong Stadium, Xu Ningong, director Ding Yin, and several computer technicians were sitting in front of a row of monitors with sad faces.

The display screen was dynamic processing software and CG modeling software. Cartoon characters were used to simulate Lang Han's dance movements.

Just... The actions of the cartoon characters were really disappointing and speechless.

"There is no way,. I can't do it and can't make a living dance like this." The technician spread his hands and said helplessly: "Virtual characters, a little fake is inevitable."

"Dingdong~" A message reminded, and Xu Ninggong's mobile phone sounded a reminder.

"Your friend Ye Qing has sent you a video."

The prompt said so.

Chapter 460: Go to pick up the plane

Xu Ninggong felt that her whole person was going to be lost. Within days, they couldn't come up with a satisfying virtual character at all, which could be used in the display screen. Every cartoon character dancing to the music, even if he was seen by the most amateur eyes, could only fool the audience, and could not produce the surprise effect she wanted.

In all fairness, every cartoon character had already done Lang Han's dance moves stubbornly, but this was a virtual thing and it looked very unrealistic.

Oh~ Those, who gathered in the Four Commons two days in advance and were waiting for the opening of her concert, and also those who have not yet arrived. Even fans all over the country, their huge sense of expectation, would be turned into a soap bubble and would be broken in waves and the Crab Festival of cooperation would also become very embarrassed.

Not only Xu Ninggong, director Ding Yin, but also deputy the director of the Four Commons Tourism Bureau, were in a bad mood.

"What video?"

Xu Ninggong was in a mess right now, but since it was from Ye Qing, she certainly wanted to see it. When she clicked on the video, she was a little surprised to find that at the beginning of this four-minute video, there were a lot of technological equipment that she hadn't seen before, and it was as if in a movie. The picture shook for a few times, and finally, it froze on a robot that she found particularly incredible, and then familiar background music sounded.

"Isn't this the tune of your new song?"

Director Ding, with his face drooping on the side, raised his head, saw Xu Ninggong's expression, and immediately stunned: "What's the matter with you, why do you look like someone fleeing from hell?"

Xu Ninggong continued to see with ghost expressions, which made Director Ding very curious, so he turned his body and glanced at her mobile phone screen.

This is it.

In the eyes of director Ding Yin, there was a mushroom cloud of nuclear bombs that had appeared over Lop Nor. The next moment, Director Ding bounced from his chair, threw himself in front of her mobile phone, and shouted: "Hurry up, start over."

"What's the matter, what's wrong with you?" Deputy Director Tong Xuan Qiang Zhang's second monk, confused, went to watch the video.

"What?"

The deputy director's mouth instantly turned into a hippo waiting to be extracted: "Quickly, start over."

.....

The Watcher 3 was rented out, and it was going to take the place of the famous dance artist Lang Han and the particularly unsatisfactory virtual cartoon character.

The mysterious guest was one of the highlights of Xu Ninggong's concert. Many people on the Internet had guessed the mysterious guest was Lang Han. If they found the mysterious guest was actually a robot, what kind of surprise would they feel?

In the words of Director Ding: "This concert was definitely going being a big hit, even more so than really inviting the real Lang Han to the top stage."

Without them revealing the answer, the audience broke their heads and could not guess that this was a robot, because Director Ding and Xu Ninggong have unanimously decided to tidy up Watcher 3.

Putting on a cool costume and bringing a mask that fitted the theme of the mysterious man... Since they wanted to do it, then they had to do everything.

Since the robot could not have too much leg movement due to its weak balance ability. Ye Qing had simply asked the Master Craftsman who was on business there to replace all the stage floors with metal plates and put on a layer of the carpet. In this way, the robot could use the magnetic chuck under its feet to firmly anchor itself on the stage and perform various actions that violated the common sense of physics.

At noon the next day, Ye Qing and the Watcher 3 split into two groups, Watcher 3 took a special car to Sikong City to participate in the concert and Ye Qing took a plane to the Capital Airport.

Today is a special day because the Gulfstream G 750 ordered by Ye Qing will arrive at China Capital Airport at noon.

From the first time to take this top of the line luxury plane, to the decision to order one, and then to the handover today, Ye Qing's mood had always been in excitement and anticipation. It was okay before, but now as soon as he stepped on the plane, Ye Qing felt his heart beating quickly.

On this trip, Ye Qing brought Master Metal Expert, sales manager Kong Tao, and two deputy managers of the finance department. Employees at the company are responsible for handing over documents to Gulfstream.

"Sir, is it your first time to take a plane?"

Before the first-class position was hot, a young stewardess walked over, bending over with a sweet smile: "Don't be too nervous, before the plane takes off, you can try to open your mouth so that you don't feel uncomfortable."

"I'm nervous?" Ye Qing touched her nose, how could he be nervous when flying on the plane. He just thought of being able to take a transfer that belongs only to him when he came back, so he became very excited.

"Okay~ I see."

"Thank you."

Twenty minutes later, the plane went straight into the sky. The young flight attendant also deliberately came seeing Ye Qing twice, but Ye Qing had calmed down his excitement, became cool, and had an extraordinary temperament.

"Boss, the itinerary toward the capital has been arranged. We will land at eleven o'clock and then went to the VIP lounge to rest. It is estimated that our plane will land at the airport at twelve ten. After an hour and a half, in fuel replenishment and handover procedures, we can return to Shanghai. The company has rented a hangar at Shanghai Airport. The aircraft will be parked in the hangar without a flight plan on weekdays. Also has a dedicated mechanic in charge of the daily maintenance of the aircraft."

After the plane entered the stratosphere, Kong Tao, who was sitting on the side of the aisle, turned his head and said to Ye Qing with a little embarrassment: "Boss, I'm sure that the flight attendant must have been interested in you just now. I have seen it several times. She secretly uses her peripheral vision to aim at you."

"That is, I'm so handsome." Ye Qing stretched out his arms comfortably and said lazily: "Are the two flight attendants ready?"

"Already waiting at the Capital Airport,". At this moment, there was no internet on the plane and office work was impossible. Kong Tao chatted with Ye Qing: "Boss, I suggest you, you really should find some secretaries; business secretary, administrative secretary, life secretary. With these full-time secretaries, you can also be more relaxed."

"If you want one, just let the secretary and the departments coordinate the rest. Get a lot of secretaries, don't get to the end, I can't tell who is who."

Ye Qing waved indifferently: "The secretary has been hiring, too. It just didn't attract me, the type of royal sister who can dominate the whole situation."

They continued to chat, and the time felt not long. Outside the porthole beside Ye Qing, one can already see the ground, with straight and wide roads running across it. Afterward, factories and sparse residential areas appeared in the field of vision.

For some reason, Ye Qing, who had just visited the capital half a month ago, knew that the airport was not far away and suddenly his heart was beating uncontrollably.

"Life is so fast. It has been half a year since I decided to buy a private jet."

When the plane landed smoothly at the Capital Airport, Ye Qing said to the staff accompanying him: "Go and prepare some high-end ingredients. We will have lunch today in the private jet."