

M Factory 491

Chapter 491: For you to go to war

It's only ten days before the New Year. This group of high-tech thieves who was specialized in picking up the valuable property of the factory, if the police didn't catch it in a few days, the bosses who were running the factory would feel uneasy. Even Ye Qing's heart was angrier because the employee named Lu Feng betrayed him and the company.

The larger the company, the easier it is to accumulate these goods that are not worth a penny in the eyes of laymen, but in the eyes of insiders, they are more valuable than gold.

The safety in the Longxitan plant was guaranteed, but the company had people coming and going, and the security work was complicated. This group of gangs of thieves even for jewelry companies with very high protection standards could swagger and steal without leaving a trace.

Who dares to pack a ticket and say your company shouldn't sit back and relax?

It is impossible to wait for a rest, and this group of thieves, who specialized in the theft of company property circulates freely. Only when it is brought to justice can, the lingering hearts calm down.

Lu Feng, who had stolen millions of property from his company, is also in it. If they planned to pick his own company to steal it, Lu Feng could provide a lot of information and no one can bear this kind of betrayal, so Ye Qing must help, needless to say, help to the end.

"According to the location of the crime, this group of thieves is still active in Jiangnan Province." Zhang Zhitong lowered his voice and said to Ye Qing: "Now that the clues have little more eyebrows, they should still be active around Jiangnan Province. In the precious metal market, there is no large inflow of gold. This shows that the gold they have stolen before and the metal rhodium stole this time should still be in their hands."

"These people are proficient in the industrial processing industry. We analyzed that if they sell stolen goods, they may first consider the industrial system they are familiar with, but if they start with the sale of stolen goods, they can package the precious metal to a processing company of foreign backgrounds."

.....

When Ye Qing returned to the live ammunition testing area again, it was already an hour after Zhang Zhitong was sent away, and he found there was already a thick pile of special police around the guard robot. They had stretched their necks to the ground and watched the fun.

Two hundred bullets still waited for Ye Qing to take it, but he couldn't get into the team right now. So, he didn't play, Ye Qing also had a gun addiction in Nigeria before, and there will be opportunities in the future.

Without returning to the factory, Ye Qing returned to the company first and asked the manager to pass over the information of several major customers in Southeast Asia.

After talking with Zhang Zhitong for a long time, Ye Qing proposed that since a foreign precious metal company is to be packaged, the company's background cannot be placed in European and American countries. The information transparency of companies in those old-brand developed countries is high, and the detailed background of a company can be checked on the Internet.

Because of the hot sale of ionization purifiers, Monster Heavy Industry has met many major customers in Southeast Asia. So, Ye Qing could ask these people for help.

Information in Southeast Asia is relatively closed, and government management is backward. Many large companies themselves rely on various elusive means to develop and grow step by step. In the eyes of these companies, there is no such thing as an unknown source. As long as the price is low enough, even the gold bullion robbed from the bank on China's side, they can still receive them.

This is also what Zhang Zhitong and the others worried about. Now it seems that these professional thieves have no foreign channels to sell the stolen goods. There is no way because the police tried every means to block them to create ways.

Ye Qing also wanted to follow suit. As long as Lu Feng was uncaught, Ye Qing felt uncomfortable. The customers' information he wanted was delivered to the office, in just the time for preparing a cup of tea, so he read it while tasting his own tea.

In Southeast Asia, within this range, there is a total of eleven countries. Opening this catalog of materials, the backward countries were also revealed to Ye Qing. However, the big companies in these countries are more than amazing.

When these companies came to talk with Monster Heavy Industry about the agency rights of ionization purifiers, they patted their chests.

In their country, if the ionization purifier was unsold, it's because it had encountered any obstacles in terms of terms, regardless of the consumer rights law or the medical product qualification law. As long as they had encountered the hurdles they can't get past, they had twisted their heads off and give them to Monster Heavy Industry as chamber pots to do this work.

Through the smooth cooperation over the past few months, they will definitely have no chance, but help them is definitely easier than drinking water. After screening for a long time, Ye Qing selected a big customer, and it's a big client called Ba Sucha. The information said this guy owned a large-scale gold and silver processing factory.

Ye Qing had never seen him in person, only knew he could get the share of 3,000 poor Ionization Purifiers from Monster Heavy Industries every month.

Ye Qing called according to the phone number in the information book, and not long after, a charming female voice came over there.

Ye Qing had only understood one sentence in the Thai language which was Sawadika, and before she could continue speaking, he interrupted her in English: "Let your boss Ba Sucha answer the call."

"Excuse me... Who are you?" The female receptionist changed her language into delicate English.

"President of Monster Heavy Industry."

There was a daze on the phone, and then Ye Qing heard the sound of high heels running on the floor, then at a sound of the door being pushed open, and the unclear reprimand, then Ye Qing and this big customer named Ba Sucha established a communication channel.

"You are... Mr. Ye from Monster Heavy Industry?" Ba Sucha said excitedly in Mandarin with some tidal flavor.

"Write down my office number, you can call the company to verify it." Ye Qing put on a smile, speaking Mandarin, and the communication was becoming very convenient.

"I don't need verifying, I remember the number-phone of Monster Heavy Industries. Your number corresponds with this number." Ba Sucha trotted for a while and found a quiet place: "Mr. Ye, it is a great honor for me to call me. If you have any instructions, just ask."

"You are polite, I want to ask you a little favor."

"As long as I can do it, I will help Mr. Ye get up and down the fire." Even across the international long distance, Ye Qing could feel Ba Sucha's decisive and inexplicable tone of excitement from the phone.

Who can blame this, and it's all interests that lead to the result. As long as the sales volume of Ionization Purifiers, whether at home or abroad, is strong. The palm-sized instrument, as long as it is gently placed on the skin, it can absorb the harmful substances deposited in the pores for many years, making the skin particularly tender and rosy.

Fortunately, for China, the Ionization Purifier is simply described as a magical instrument in the Xu countryside. It seems that as long as a woman gets one, she can stay young forever. This is, of course, no scientific basis, false propaganda of some unscrupulous businessmen, but the Ionization Purifier restores the skin's soft luster and healthy ruddy effect, called an immediate effect.

Ba Sucha, the sole agent of Suguo, sells ionization purifiers and naturally makes more money than selling drugs, but he only had 3,000 units a month, which made Ba Sucha anxiously want to jump off the building. More even, he had received a call from the president of Monster Heavy Industry, and on the call, the young president wanted him to do a little favor.

"Come on... Give an order, even if you ask me to go for sex reassignment surgery, no problem!"

Ba Sucha thought so in his heart.

Chapter 492: Robot Security

Ba Sucha really could do a good job and he was psychologically ready to face major tasks and challenges, and when Ye Qing had asked him to come to China to register a small company to buy precious metals, he asked: "Does this still need registration?"

Ba Sucha had a company in China, and the company is on the Pearl River, specializing in selling electronic products. As for what the company was going doing after it was done, he did not listen on the phone at all, because he said he would take the initiative to fly to China and listen to Ye Qing's instructions in place. This was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to meet Mr. Ye because many managers of companies in Southeast Asia couldn't have this opportunity.

After finishing the call, Ye Qing once again called the company's management staff and several captains of the security department to the conference room for a meeting. The content of this conference was about manufactory security because even if it was equipped with high-tech defense measures, as long as someone participated, there would be loopholes.

During the meeting, Ye Qing had notably planned security precautions at night.

All employees should be replaced within two days, and the work nameplate of the identification chip would be added. "Boss... Could it be related to the theft of Linpus Precision Instrument Company in Chengtuo County yesterday?" The security captain Wu Yuexiang had taken the most pressure on his shoulders when the previous employee named Lu Feng bypassed several defenses and took goods that were costing millions of Yuan. When the Monster Heavy Factory was stolen, he, the security captain, was severely criticized, and if something would happen again, he wouldn't find words to apologize to Ye Qing, so he would take the initiative to write his resignation.

"To this group, they should be the same group as the previous Dai Meng jewelry theft case. According to the latest news, Lu Feng, who is now wanted on the Internet, is likely to be involved."

"Really an ungrateful guy." Wu Yuexiang clenched his fists.

Looking at the large number of people sitting in the conference room, Ye Qing continued solemnly saying: "Before this group of criminals is arrested, we cannot relax for a moment. In addition, Captain Wu, you can make arrangements. From tomorrow, each company transport truck must be equipped with two security guards to escort the vehicle. Also, look for a few colleagues who are familiar with Lu Feng and ask them to go to the Public Security Bureau to identify yesterday's surveillance pictures and see if they can more accurately determine whether that person is Lu Feng."

At four o'clock in the afternoon, the employees who went to the Public Security Bureau to identify the surveillance footage all said that the figure and walking manner of this man were very much like Lu Feng.

At this time, news about the theft of Linpus Precision Instrument Company in Chengtuo County was also reposted on the Internet by major media. Near the end of the year, another huge theft case erupted, including 12 million Yuan, which was slated to be given to employees as a year-end bonus was stolen.

So, the netizens almost exploded and they had accused the bandits of having no professional ethics, they had even dared to steal the workers' year-end bonus. There were others who became Sherlock Holmes, and others blamed the police in Jiangnan Province, and there were others who usually saw pornographic videos, but now they showed up because they really need to come forward. They said these thieves had committed two crimes, and the police wrote they had no idea yet. In fact, there were clues, but the police pretended to be incompetent to not paralyze the band of robbers.

At the same time, the official account of Ping An China, Jiangnan Provincial Public Security Department, and China Police Online, which are quite high in number, these high-level official accounts, successively voiced this case on Weibo.

Compared to watching lively discussions like the vegetable market on the Internet, the entire precious metal processing industry in Jiangnan Province, as well as major factories and companies, was simply as a nuclear bomb.

Companies that planned to avoid taxes and use cash year-end bonuses had urgently emptied the company's cash inventory and deposited it in the bank honestly. Companies that owned precious metals and properties had wanted to do everything possible to strengthen the guard of their properties.

In a short time, wolf dogs were sold out, and a lack of stock in many pet markets has appeared.

In the company of Monster Heavy Industry, in addition to replacing the new safety identification plate, in the vast secret laboratory underground, Tianjin had also used its own wisdom to recreate a security system; this system has consisted of robots.

These robots were the robot army of the Sikong Crab Festival, the Watcher N° 3, and Baojia Company's large number of warning robot orders. These robots gave Ye Qing and Tianjin enough enlightened ideas. Since people are the most vulnerable part of all security protection links, what about letting the robot play the game?

At present, in terms of intelligent robot control, it can be said that Tianjin could be a professional research monster in a large technology company.

The Watcher N° 3 is the best example to be a warning robot, but by directly using the cheapest guardian home robot while modifying it, with adding automatic patrol software, add work card recognition plug-in, abnormal sound detection plug-in, and so on, it could be a good warning robot.

.....

Ordinary human ears can only hear sounds above 20 decibels. What about the machine?

Ordinary sound monitors can hear the whispering voices of couples from a hundred meters away. The sound of flame cutting, drilling, and hydraulic equipment will release natural frequency vibrations, which makes it easier to capture and lock. The only thing to consider is the robot communication method.

The previous wireless networks and Bluetooth communication methods have easily interfered. The operating frequency and signal channel of the robot communication module must be increased.

.....

Tianjin was responsible for writing the program. Ye Qing wore the data glasses and re-welded the communication module of the robot on the electronic workbench. Two electronic messengers were responsible for installing integrated control circuits for the guardian home robot.

This thing was also a big business opportunity and Ye Qing couldn't help but think about it while working.

Companies in the entire Jiangnan Province were in a state of turmoil. Even the wolf dogs have been bought, and this doesn't mind them buying a few more robots.

Thinking of this, Ye Qing was full of enthusiasm and planned to make a prototype of this robot tonight 'Early Warning Robot'. This is the name Ye Qing gave it. At the same time, Ye Qing had also asked the artist to work overtime to design a leaflet for this robot and leave it to the salesmen to go to major companies to promote products.

At noon the next day, fifty Early Warning Robots were approved and used in the company office building and the underground office area of the Monster Industrial Building.

Early Warning Robots could patrol areas with less human activity through pre-set routes.

It could automatically identify the employee's work nameplate. If it encountered signal interference, it would immediately change the communication channel, increase the signal frequency, and notify the security room. If it couldn't establish a connection all the time, after ten seconds, it would sound a severe alarm. That voice guaranteed the ghost would shiver after hearing it.

"Those gangsters don't come. If they dare to come, these robots can kill them." When the robots were set up, Ye Qing sat in the office and looked at the fifty robots through the company floor plan on the monitor. When repeating the patrol, he made a declaration with confidence.

Just installed, the phone on the desk rang, and an uncontrollable joyous voice came over the phone.

"Hey Mr. Ye, this is Ba Sucha! I have arrived at the Shanghai Airport, are you in the company?"

Chapter 493: My nickname is Ba Heihu

"So fast!" Ye Qing was surprised: "I'm at the company. You will wait a while at the airport. I will send the driver to pick you up."

"Don't bother you, Mr. Ye, I'm very familiar with China, so I can just take a taxi and go there."

After hanging up the phone, Ye Qing couldn't help touching his chin: "This Ba Sucha is really enthusiastic."

The sound didn't seem loud and speak Mandarin was smooth. Ye Qing was a little eager to meet him. What gifts will Ba Sucha bring while visiting him?

When visiting customers, there are no gifts, but now Ba Sucha is not a customer. Thinking of this, Ye Qing called the factory and asked them to send him an Apple phone with a dream display.

Dream monitors are now in stock, and 50,000 standard mobile phone screen monitors are produced every day. In order to test the display, Ye Qing asked the company to harvest more than a dozen Apple 7Ps. It would be used as a gift here, which is both affordable and technological.

Not long after the Master Metal Expert delivered the mobile phone, the company receptionist knocked on the door and reported to Ye Qing that a customer named Ba Sucha wanted to meet him.

"Ahem... Please, let it come in."

In less than half a minute, outside the open office, there was a kick of leather shoes stepping on the floor, and with a bronze complexion, with a sharp big back, wearing a black mink coat, wearing a gold buckle belt, and stepping on crocodile leather shoes, the man with a large string of sandalwood beads hanging on his hands and neck was led into the office by the receptionist. For some reason, this guy, who looked like actor Xiao Yang seemed to be born with a comedy factor.

When Ye Qing saw him, he wanted to laugh somehow. Behind Ba Sucha, a thin man in a suit had followed, in the eyes of this man, there was a sense of indifference and fierceness that could only be cultivated in the arena all year round, but what Ye Qing first noticed was not the look in his eyes, but the sandalwood box he was holding.

"My most distinguished partner... Mr. Ye!" Ba Sucha folded his hands together, and replied to Ye Qing's greetings, and then stretched out his hands to hug him.

"Hello, Ba Sucha. Welcome to China, to our Shanghai City." Ye Qing patted this young and promising client who was only in his thirties: "Sit down, please, Zhang Haoxuan, go and call Yun Shi to make tea."

As soon as he took a seat, Ba Sucha made a look at the attendant standing behind him next to the door, who had immediately held out the sandalwood box respectfully to Ye Qing and then left the office.

"What else, as soon as you come here you bring gifts with you too." Ye Qing was very helpful in his heart, and this feeling of being flattered was very wonderful.

Ba Sucha smiled again and again and opened the precision-made rectangular sandalwood box, and as soon as the box was opened, Ye Qing's heart jumped, because in the rectangular box, there was a bunch of fur that looked water-skid and the color was between black and blue. Ba Sucha took out this fur very gently, and Ye Qing was even more puzzled.

The rectangular box he was carrying looked very big and Ye Qing thought it contained a sable coat that was similar in style to his body. As a result, this fur taken out was only the size of a scarf. It was really a scarf.

When the dark blue scarf was passed to Ye Qing's hand, Ye Qing was even more surprised, because this scarf seemed to have no weight, touching it in his hand, it seemed...

Ye Qing was really uneasy to describe and this soft and soft feeling were like touching a fairy tail that does not exist in reality.

"Mr. Ye, our country is rich in furs. And this one in your hand is the top masterpiece of our handmade fur." Ba Sucha proudly introduced: "The luxury brands all over the world get their goods from our country, but they will never buy the one you have because this kind of mink can only be found in the depths of the rainforest in the other river."

"It's too rare. It took two years of hard work for the local fishermen to catch three minks. They couldn't even make one vest. They could only make three scarves." Said Ba Sucha a little embarrassed: "Mr. Ye, you won't need to wash this scarf forever. Because no matter whether it is dust or stains, it can't get on it at all. You can throw it in the water and take it out, and try it to make sure no water drop will remain."

What an exaggerated scarf, this is just perfect for giving it to Bai Douer. When Ba Sucha leaves, Ye Qing would definitely try it in the water.

It's just when Ba Sucha praised this gift like this, Ye Qing felt that his mobile-phone gift was really unavailable. So, he would give him another gift, a 60-inch dream TV!

After accepting the gift, Ye Qing also had turned the topic to business.

Ba Sucha had a precious metal company in Thailand and a branch company in China, which was mainly responsible for returning to China's electronic products. So, Ye Qing had introduced the two major cases that took place not long ago and had emphasized one of the gangsters was a former employee of his company, and he has stolen a certain amount of property from the company.

"He ate the leopard gall. In our country, this kind of traitor who eats inside and out we throw it directly into the Mekong River to feed crocodiles after catching it."

After listening to the causes and consequences, Ba Sucha was more excited than Ye Qing, and the beads in his neck were rattled: "You can rest assured, Mr. Ye, you are my most honorable partner. Your business is my thing. Dare to steal your property that is more serious than stealing my Basutza's gold. My branch is on the Pearl River. I will call and let them come."

"Don't worry, my friend." Ye Qing patted this eager business partner to show his loyalty and said in a harmonious voice, "If you let your company's staff come over, the thieves will be surprised. We already have a plan."

"The 41.3 kilograms of rhodium metal from the Linpus Precision Instrument Company was stolen. Then they can't get helpless, they must take inventory of the remaining equipment of the factory and file for bankruptcy. They still have to find the lost one, more than 40 kilograms of rhodium metal must be repurchased in order to continue production, right?"

"In two days, the local government will grant Linpus a 30 million low-interest loan for compensation. Linpus Company will take this loan, and it will rush to find a precious metal company to buy 42 kilograms of rhodium metal. Their previous cooperative company is under the direction of the police, according to information, one or two of the stock of metallic rhodium have disappeared, and you have a company that sells rhodium metal."

"That's the case." After listening, Ba Sucha laughed and hammered his thighs: "This is a good idea. We are a foreign company that has nothing to do with it. My company's reputation is not very good on the other side of Taiwan. Many people gave me the nickname "Baheihu" based on the false information."

"My nickname was found on the Suguo Website. I also have a silver and jewelry company. They have stolen a large amount of gold jewelry before. As long as these gangsters want to sell stolen goods, they will definitely be interested in me. Haha... President Ye, don't worry, this matter is guaranteed to be done beautifully for you."

After speaking, Ba Sucha seemed to realize he was a little bit overwhelmed, and quickly explained innocently and honestly: "By the way, President Ye, don't get me wrong. The nickname Ba Heihu is all the dirty water that competitors pour on me. I'm an honest little businessman, Mr. Ye, you praised me and granted me the exclusive agency rights of ionization purifiers so that I can make big money with you... Just call me Sucha."

Chapter 494: Go to the capital

Ba Sucha is thirty-two years old this year. His base camp is in the central part of the country, especially in Thailand. His words are as good as those of Lao Tzu. Strictly speaking, he was better than this old man, because he was young, He had created a large-scale business worth hundreds of millions of Yuan, especially after he got the agency rights of ionization purifiers.

I have to say this guy was very good at being a human being. With the share of 3,000 ionization purifiers a month, he was willing to spend half of it as a gift to expand his network. As for the nickname of Ba Heihu, it was indeed a competitor who had given it to him, but it was not spilling dirty water. As the saying goes, there is only a wrong name, no wrong nickname.

The exclusive right to sell ionization purifiers did not mean you can continue to operate without any worries. After all, the power of attorney issued by Monster Heavy Industries did not have the function of an attached safe.

There were too many people who are jealous. Last week there was a businessman who had fished out of the world. He was jealous of the ionization purifier in his hand. Somehow he had found a relationship with a leading figure in Chiang Mai and asked Ba Sucha to get half of it. Which means to give him his share. The result of it. Three days later, the businessman who had fished out of the boundary was locked in a cage by him and had poured him with cold water all night. If it were not for pleading, this guy would probably be hung in the woods to feed mosquitoes. Last month, there was a drug lord who was holding hundreds of armed men under his hand. He got on the bar with Ba Sucha because of a shit. He had threatened to turn a black tiger into a black dog, but that night, the drug lord was shot to death by one of his anti-water confidants, and then this man came to Ba Sucha to receive the reward. This world is like this. Just a word of money can solve most of the problems. Besides, Ba Sucha had not only money but also power.

In the evening, a string of lazy sunlight had hit the glass of the office. It was almost time for dinner, and Ye Qing had also ended the conversation with Ba Sucha but did not invite him to dinner with him.

Ba Sucha was also rush to the Zhujiang branch to arrange the purchase of rhodium metal. Of course, he didn't have a dime for metal rhodium in his hands. As long as he had made the momentum, he was unafraid the bandit would be uncaught.

After sending Ba Sucha away, Ye Qing was not idle either. After getting up and returning to the Longxitan factory, he had re-arranged the factory's production plan. Inadvertently inserting willows and willows into the shadows, the one-pass performance of the Watcher N° 3 on the stage had brought him a large order of 3,000 units of warning robots and an order of 200 points for automatic aiming brackets. So now, he wanted to produce three thousand guard robots as soon as possible.

Busy till late at night, after arranging the production plan, Ye Qing lay on the bed, but couldn't sleep.

In the office this afternoon, he had not just talked about business with Ba Sucha. The last one spoke mandarin smoothly, and various idioms and allusions were readily available. This made the communication between the two very easy. After talking about business, Ye Qing and Ba Sucha talked about customs and business situations for a while.

I have to say that Ba Sucha was very flexible and clever. There was a conversation in it that had inspired Ye Qing.

Ba Sucha's gold and silver business were quite good in the state-owned precious metals company. It happened that the Monster Heavy Industry also had a lot of demand for the two materials of gold and silver. Ye Qing asked if he would buy gold and silver from him, what price can he offer. Ba Sucha had naturally patted his chest and promised that he would only charge the cost price and not make any more money.

However, the price reported by Ba Sucha was not much cheaper than the market price. Ye Qing believed the other was not playing tricks, perhaps because he saw Ye Qing's doubts. Ba Sucha had smiled bitterly and said, even though his precious metals company was very large, it did not make money. Not to mention, before acting as an agent for ionization purifiers, his most profitable company was, on the contrary, this small company established at the Pearl River Port in China with only a few dozen employees and specialized in electronic products.

Why?

Because the price of the precious metal industry is highly uniform around the world, but these electronic products, with a little brainstorming, Ba Sucha could make a lot of money. A little brainstorming had given Ye Qing great inspiration.

Nowadays, the most popular electronic products are naturally mobile phones. Ba Sucha had also purchased mobile phones back to China for sale, but in the beginning, the mobile phone couldn't be sold at all. Later, he thought, since Buddhism was highly respected in the kingdom of Thailand, and the whole people believed in Buddhism in Thailand, why not customize a Buddhist mobile phone?

So, he stated in advance that the one that Ba Sucha wanted to order was definitely carved with Buddha's characters on the back and that the opening screen came to the Buddha's light. So, the meticulous man had combined with China's particularly popular live broadcast ideas, specially implanted the Buddhist live broadcast in his mobile phone, especially spent money to invite those senior monks to explain the Dharma on the live broadcast platform of the mobile phone. As a result, at this moment, the mobile phone is so good.

It happened that Ye Qing also wanted to develop the mobile phone. Ye Qing thought in his mind, what do China consumers were liking?

Speaking of the mobile phone, Ba Sucha had also said something. He had said China has a mobile-phone manufacturer that monopolized nearly half of the mobile-phone market in Africa. But Ba Sucha had said that cell phone brand Ye Qing had never heard of it, and this company had never spoken of the development of a, particularly powerful technology.

It turns out that China's mobile-phone manufacturer had captured the hearts of people all over the world who loved selfies. Of course, African consumers also loved selfies, but because of their skin color, when the light was dim, the photos they have taken were only dark, making it difficult for men and women to distinguish clearly their faces.

This...

Ye Qing remembered the photocopy photo joke circulating on the Internet. An African man had copied his passport, but the passport photo that was copied was only a black ball and no facial features.

This mobile phone had grasped this point and developed a mobile phone specifically designed for African consumers to take photos so that they can clearly see the outline of the facial features even when the light is dim.

For that, Ye Qing had thought about summarizing the new technologies in the upcoming mobile phones of Monster Heavy Industry, and now they were currently confirmed, there were dream displays, anti-drop shells, no frames, even ultrasonic fingerprint recognition...

In addition to the dream display, and the borderless, the remaining technologies were all of the kind which was difficult, to make consumers' eyes bright.

Maybe... Can he make a fuss on the dream monitor?

After thinking about it all night, at ten o'clock the next morning, after Ye Qing finished washing, he had taken with him a Master Metal Expert and two company legal staff straight to Shanghai Airport. He was going to the capital Beijing.

Baojia Group had ordered 3,000 security robots, and for this purpose, a cooperation signing ceremony was held. In it, it turns out that Ye Qing stopped by Yan Zhao, the president of Vision Technology Company, to discuss the cooperation project on the new mobile phone. He couldn't stop thinking about falling asleep, because last night he didn't close his eyes, which really got him thinking about an idea.

Ah, if this idea is good in the end, it will depend mainly on the side of Vision Company whose technology was not too strong.

Chapter 495: Design an accessory for mobile phones

The Peregrine Falcon had soared into the sky, sailing at full speed, and flew over Beijing in fifty minutes. It was just they couldn't land in the airport at this moment, and they had to rotate in the sky over the airport in the line up in the designated airspace. So, now there are many planes spinning around Beijing airport.

"Is this blocking the plane?" Ye Qing looked out the window with a wry smile, from a height of 10,000 meters, the sun was shining outside the window. However, looking down, there was no building at all, and it seems that there is a layer of gray smoke covering the ground. There was a haze, and the visibility was too low, and now only two runways have been opened at the airport to provide assistance for landing.

After an hour in line, the Peregrine Falcon had finally landed on the runway, and as soon as the cabin door was opened, Ye Qing could smell a faint smell in the air, similar to fireworks.

The signing ceremony was scheduled for the afternoon. Ye Qing went to Vision Company in the morning to discuss product development matters with their president.

Yan Zhao had personally driven the Mercedes Benz to the airport to pick up Ye Qing. As one of the earliest partners, he and Ye Qing were already familiar enough. After arriving at the company, he didn't need too much politeness. After a simple visit to the production workshop of the Vision Company, he had taken Ye Qing to the office and this last one had explained his thoughts, saying he wanted to equip the new mobile phone with a VR glasses case.

Yesterday, after thinking and thinking, Ye Qing had felt that Chinese consumers still liked things with technical content, given China is the world's largest mobile phone consumer market, and it is a battleground for the world's top mobile phone manufacturing companies. Consumers have long been tempted by the endless stream of mobile phones. They only recognize technological content, not gimmicks. So, does VR have technological content?

Of course, VR had won the intimacy of major technology companies with its unparalleled sense of reality. Its core technology is screen display technology. The traditional horizontal picture is divided into two, and the three-dimensional picture is synthesized, allowing consumers to experience a super cool visual experience which was equivalent to looking at a 100-inch screen from 3 meters away.

This is the magical charm of VR, but to achieve a true visual experience, there are unimaginable demanding requirements for the resolution of the mobile phone screen. Even Apple mobile-phones worked with it. Playing VR with Apple mobile phones, the magnified mosaic image quality is quite touching.

On the market, 2k mobile-phone screens are already rare, and 2k mobile phones can be used to play VR, which can only barely get started, but what if you use a mobile phone with a dream display to play VR?

Think of those going viral on the Internet. When consumers experience VR glasses, they send out various uncontrollable scream videos. This scream is multiplied several times, and perhaps it is the true strength of the dream display. Of course, this requires VR glasses that can explore the limit of the dream display and a supporting program application.

Making VR glasses is naturally the best of Vision. In the office, after Ye Qing had told Brother Yan Zhao of his thoughts, Brother Yan Zhao froze for a few puffs of smoke before he was relieved.

"Mr. Ye, are you serious?" The young Yan Zhao frowned while biting on a cigar, "I know the news that you want to make a mobile phone. But the idea of a mobile phone with VR glasses, many mobile phone companies had tried it, but they gave up because the display did not meet the standard."

"If you want to experience VR, 2k display is the standard, and 4k is excellent. But the higher the display resolution, the greater the power consumption." Yan Zhao explained: "This is also the reason why major mobile-phone companies had given up. Mr. Ye, you haven't really set foot in the mobile-phone industry. You have not a lot of knowledge in it."

Ye Qing didn't give too much explanation and took out a mobile phone without any borders and slightly hexagonal corners from the bag. The silver-gray metal on the side of the fuselage also had edges and corners and had multiple three-dimensional cutting surfaces.

"It is these small edges and corners that immediately will let this phone get rid of the clumsy line shape of the board, and like this, it will become very fashionable and very technological."

"Hiss... Borderless?" Brother Yan Zhao's eyebrows were directly twisted, and the cigar fell feebly, astonished, "Mr. Ye, you actually made a borderless phone? How can that be?"

"This is just the shape of the new phone, at present, it is not a mobile phone, and there are many technical problems to be overcome." Ye Qing handed him the phone and said with a smile: "However, this is the actual size of the screen, and it is already at mass production capacity. You can test this monitor, then customize a VR goggle to experience its extreme performance."

Brother Yan Zhao had immediately succumbed and ran into the laboratory with this semi-finished product. An hour later, he ran back. Only, this time, he looked at Ye Qing's eyes like looking at an alien.

The brother originally thought it was a high-definition monitor, but unexpectedly, the test data of this monitor was completely bursting...

"Mr. Ye, do you... Know what impact this monitor will have on the monitor market once it is released? At that time... I am afraid that all display manufacturers will regard Monster Heavy Industries as their greatest enemy."

Speaking of this, Brother Yan Zhao dignified: "Take our company as an example. We have previously cooperated with Monster Heavy Industry to launch brand-new VR sports simulation equipment. As a result, other companies that make sports simulation equipment are all like hungry wolves. They had leaped and had used any despicable tricks. Mr. Ye, the challenge you have to face is more than a hundred times bigger than mine."

"If someone leaps, will definitely fall."

Without thinking about it, Ye Qing said he had been firm in his heart countless times: "Black and white TV sets were eliminated by color televisions. Bulk picture tube televisions were eliminated by thin and light LCD TVs. This is the inevitability of technological advancement. The fallen CRT TV manufacturers must have gone through violent struggles before they finally died... Let them come as they please."

There was no rhetoric, but from Ye Qing's eyes, Yan Zhao had already observed his already firm heart.

"Don't worry, I will live up to your expectations and discover the maximum potential of this monitor." Yan Zhao relaxed, his eyes drifted, and a little excited: "I look forward to that day for all those foreign LCDs, panel makers are going to suffer under pressure from Monster Heavy Industries. Before, we were crushed by foreign countries too badly. Now it is finally our turn to crush them. Haha... Since I learned this kind of good news, I really want to have a few drinks to celebrate. Mr. Ye, at noon I take charge of this monitor that can crush the world!"

"It's up to you to choose where you eat in the capital Beijing, there is a high-end dining club open only to members, or in Yangfang Hutong, you will have a private kitchen agreed with a reservation one month in advance. I will break some money, and they'll open the door for us. Please accept."

"Just blow it hard. This is the capital. I have long heard of private restaurants with top craftsmanship and even foreign ambassadors and heads of state came here."

"Are people going to turn away the reserved guests for a little money?" Ye Qing raised his eyebrows: "I do not believe it."

Chapter 496: Yan Zhao's Way

"Choose whatever you want, Mr. Ye, you have the courage to challenge the whole world, your brother Yan Zhao will take the place you choose anyway."

Brother Yan Zhao held his head high and his tone was as hard as the bulletproof armor of a warning robot, even if Ye Qing would change the place, even if it in the international metropolis Shanghai, the brother Yan Zhao would praise this Yangfang Hutong's restaurant, Ye Qing did not doubt that this guy can do it, but here is Beijing, the capital of China.

The restaurants that could stand firm here, relying on their own private kitchens, are all handed down from generation to generation. Their ancestors had used imperial cooks, and the family had taken over the imperial decree. These people, whose personal connections had gone into the sea, how could they smash their credibility because of a little profit?

Ye Qing really didn't believe the brother Yan Zhao had this ability, but this guy looked like a promise... Anyway, he had to eat at noon. So, let the brother Yan Zhao choose one to eat in it.

"Then let's go to Yangfang Hutong. If you do not specify a restaurant, we can go to a private restaurant for lunch. I think you are satisfied."

Yangfang Hutong is in the location of Beijing's most famous private kitchens, but there are not many, just three; "Wan, Wang, and Xie" The three private kitchens have no individuality in their names, and they all put their family names on the front, but even if the name is low-key, the reputation is not low-key at all.

Ye Qing heard that when he walked into any of the three restaurants in Yangfang Hutong, he would see the calligraphy left by celebrities and heroes hanging on the wall. There were definitely more guests in the restaurant, plus chefs and helpers, even if those big stars go eating, if they were not international superstars, they were not eligible to stay in calligraphy.

"OK, I'll eat in Yangfang Hutong at noon." Brother Yan Zhao confidently assured him, and then called the secretary to let her bring some fine wine from her collection.

Forty minutes later, Yan Zhao had driven the Mercedes Benz toward the famous Yangfang Hutong. One of them was in an ordinary Yanjing old alley with blue brick paving and gray tiles hanging on the wall. On the walls, you can see many old traces peeled off by time and wind and rain. The hutong was not wide and could only accommodate two cars in parallel. However, Yan Zhao's big car had just arrived at the first Wang's private kitchen with a small red lantern hanging at the door.

Ye Qing almost laughed, because, at the door of this private restaurant, two fully armed guards stood on the left and the right. On the side of the courtyard, there were only a few poor parking spaces that were finally detained. Two courtesy cars were parked specifically for receiving important foreign guests.

"Why we go to this house and smash few millions?"

Seeing the color of pig liver on Brother Yan Zhao's face, Ye Qing smiled happily.

"Ha ha..."

Brother Yan Zhao blushed and said far-fetched: "The taste of this restaurant is a bit spicy, let's change it to another one."

The Mercedes-Benz drove tens of meters, then turned in a corner, and came to a second restaurant with a smaller door face and no lanterns or signs. The signboard of this private kitchen was put on the wall in the courtyard of Yangfang Hutong. This private restaurant is even more famous. Its ancestors are famous chef masters. It has been in business for decades. It is said to have hosted a lot of foreign presidents.

Brother Yan Zhao probed his head and looked around the pocket parking lot for a few minutes, then he was deeply relieved, his face returned to normal again, showing a smile that he was about to win.

"Mr. Ye, shall we eat here at noon?"

Now it was Ye Qing's turn to have an opinion. There were three cars parked in the parking space. Although there were no heavyweight cars, this kind of place obviously couldn't deserve a seat by smashing a few million?

There were no identity restrictions in this place, and even if there were, Ye Qing belonged to the group that is absolutely qualified. It was mainly in this place that meals should be booked in advance, and he had rushed in to make sure that some of the tables inside were booked a month or two in advance, where the boss couldn't drive away a table of guests for a few million, besides, Yan Zhao brother was not reluctant to give up a few million here, and this thing was yet another thing.

"Then let's eat here?" Ye Qing was very curious, and he wanted to see what Brother Yan Zhao could do.

After determining the location, Yan Zhao didn't park his car in the parking lot, but he fell it back a little bit and posted it on the side of the alley, making Ye Qing wait patiently.

Ye Qing looked at the time, it was exactly eleven.

After waiting for about ten minutes, a Maserati car emerged from the corner, then the turn signal flashed again, and turned towards the pocket parking lot belonging to Yangfang Hutong. Brother Yan Zhao smiled with joy, pushed the door and got out of the car, stopped the white Maserati, then walked around the window of the car, and kept talking to the people in the car.

Ye Qing had some clues to the second car. Brother Yan Zhao had been chatting for five minutes. He bent over and nodded again. Finally, he ran back to his car with joy, took out two bottles of Kweichow Moutai 30 Year Old whose packaging had been completely yellowed from the trunk, and gave them to the Maserati owner politely. When he got into the car again, Yan Zhao was as proud of winning the first prize of Fu Cai.

"Finished... Mr. Ye, please in the private room."

"Comrade Yan..." Ye Qing had some guesses: "You are here just waiting for a guest who booked a table in this restaurant at noon, and then you have spent money to buy it from him, right?"

"150,000 Yuan, plus two bottles of Kweichow Moutai 30 Year Old" Brother Yan Zhao nodded proudly: "Haha... I told them that one of my children will immigrate abroad tonight. His greatest wish is just to come here to have a meal. I'm a brother, even if I kneel and beg him during a day for help, I have to satisfy him."

"Day..." Ye Qing was really wanting to look at Brother Yan Zhao's head begging the other man.

Passing through the narrow door face and bypassing the wall inscribed by a prince, Ye Qing had suddenly become cheerful, there were lotus flowers blooming in the sesame field. He did not expect that in the depths of the quaint and old alley, there is such a beautiful courtyard hidden. A small stream planted with lotus leaves circled along the edge of the courtyard and stepped across the mini white marble bridge. It was obviously an open courtyard, but Ye Qing felt a warm breeze.

Awesome!

Just rush to the owner to grow lotus leaves in winter.

"There is floor heating here. In the blue bricks under our feet, there is a fire path that has been repaired in ancient times. In the winter, if the greenhouse is heated up, the whole yard is warm. Of course, the water heaters are now changed to be more environmentally friendly. Brother Yan Zhao said with emotion: "Look, ancient people have enjoyed it this way. Of course, we are the younger generation and we must take it to the next level."

"The one hundred and fifty thousand banquets you spent is just a reward given by Beijing, that is, the reward that the brothers threw away." Ye Qing hit him mercilessly, but with a blow, Ye Qing had still admired the young president's little ability in his heart.

An elderly woman led Ye Qing and Yan Zhao into an antique room. After making a pot of tea, the aunty said she would go serving the dishes.

Brother Yan Zhao gave Ye Qing popular habits in advance; in Yangfang Hutong restaurant he could not order food. Even if he reserved one month in advance, he could not order. The guests ate only whatever the host did.

"Anyway, along the way, I even saw the signatures of President Clinton and Midway for a moment."

Chapter 497: The phone rang at the same time

Suddenly, the quaint room was filled with a scent of vegetables that made the two guys swallowing saliva because the host had presented exquisite dishes as if these delicacies only exist in the fairyland, he presented them on the table, there were double vegetables in soup, Yulin tofu, Yinsi bamboo fungus, Polygonum Serrata, pine nut mandarin fish, Longjing shrimp, cream crab-stuffed orange, it was a first-class fire recipe...

"Mr. Ye, look at this tableware." Brother Yan Zhao picked up a small teacup for drinking, and four signatures of [good fortune, long life, health, and peace] fell from under the beautiful cup of tea.

"These tablewares are all antiques, although they are not very valuable in folk markets when we eat in it, we just pursue a show."

"That's for you, and I don't want to take it." Ye Qing didn't be polite with Yan Zhao, picking up a tempting fire square and putting it in his mouth.

"Ok..."

This bite was so fragrant like the carefully cured ham meat after perfect cooking, and it did not have the salty and astringent feeling of any cured meat but only has a delicious and juicy long aftertaste.

"Come on, don't worry about eating, try this Kweichow Moutai 30-Year-Old." Brother Yan Zhao took the opened bottle of white wine from the host and prepared to fill Ye Qing's glass. Ye Qing had passed the cup, just as the phone rang. So, brother Yan Zhao stopped first and prepared to wait for Ye Qing to finish the call before pouring the wine. As a result, the phone in his pocket had also rung.

"Hello..."

"Boss, something went wrong with the factory's electronic components supply channel."

The person who had called was Qiu Yi, the manager of the company's purchasing department. He said on the phone: "Just now we received a message from Germany [Fresenius Machinery Semiconductor Company]. They said that for some reason, their company could no longer provide DM1550, the control chip for the mechanical hydraulic servo system."

"These purchase orders are for 10,000 pieces. I called to ask them why they breached the contract. They said that the company had just acquired, and the new boss wants to integrate their production processes and may be unable to supply such chips in the short term. They are willing to pay compensation in accordance with the liquidated damages in the contract, but..."

Purchasing manager Qiu Yi said: "It's just that the DM1550 chip they produce has always been a seller's market. The liquidated damages we signed in the contract are only 20% of the purchase price. Even if the compensation is millions of dollars."

"Do they say how long it will take to resume the supply of this chip?"

"They answered that it will take more than half a year at the earliest."

"I see."

Ye Qing frowned slightly. After hanging up the phone, he found Yan Zhao had also frowned. After asking each other about the situation, Ye Qing had found out that the brother Yan Zhao has also frowned because of Fresenius.

However, it is not the chip that was facing out of stock, but even the price of the sensor chip on a somatosensory remote control.

The brother Yan Zhao had said Fresenius had just been acquired, and the new boss believed that the original product was priced too low and wanted to increase the price of the sensor chip purchased by the brother Yan Zhao by 20%. So, he smiled bitterly: "Business is too difficult these years. Raw material prices have risen, and somatosensory remote control prices cannot follow. As soon as the price rises, consumers promise to turn to buy other products."

Ye Qing nodded and called back to the factory, and Master Jing told him that there were still four thousand DM1550 chips in stock.

The DM1550 chip was the core chip of the simulated robotic arm that specifically controlled the hydraulic servo system. Regardless of the Titan I, or mechanical engineering chairs, robots, this chip was needed to distribute the power of the machine hydraulic system, and without the DM1550 chip, Ye Qing really couldn't find a substitute for a while.

The mechanical hydraulic servo system itself was a relatively unpopular industrial product. Although there were several chip manufacturers at home and abroad, they were producing similar chips. However, when comparing these chips, only Fresenius Mechanical Semiconductor's products met Ye Qing's requirements.

As the saying goes, some people do decapitate business, and no one does it at a loss.

This type of DM1550 chip, in the global consumer market, was only 30 to 40 million Yuan a year, and the Fresenius Company alone was enough to produce all the chips needed in the world.

Could there be other chip companies ready to master this chip manufacturing technology, adjust the production line and compete with Fresenius in the world, with a market share of only 30 to 40 million yuan per year? This share of 30 to 40 million Yuan was only made up by Monster Heavy Industry when it was stepped in this year.

The inventory was only 4,000 pieces, this quantity, Monster Heavy Industry could digest it in half a month, but...

The Fresenius Company was acquired and reorganized. It would take half a year for it to resume production. At that time, whether the new boss was willing to continue to produce, such chips were still a problem, because the market size of the DM1550 chip was too small, its same series, DM850, and DM1250 were the mainstream of market consumption.

"What's wrong, President Ye, you can't find a replacement chip for a while?" Yan Zhao asked, seeing Ye Qing frowning and thinking.

"It's hard to find. The DM1550 chip is a mechanical hydraulic servo chip specially designed for an exoskeleton device developed by the German Fresenius Company a few years ago for the German military."

"As you know, the exoskeleton, before the energy breakthrough, was purely a toy to cheat money. That project did not have any accidental bankruptcy, and this chip was also introduced to the civilian market."

Ye Qing and Yan Zhao had a drink.

"This kind of chip sells for a little over two hundred Yuan, which is too expensive, but then again, the Intel I3 processor is only a few hundred Yuan, but besides them, who can make it?"

"Then there is no way..."

Brother Yan Zhao couldn't help but worry about Ye Qing.

The more complex technology products are, the more they need a globally integrated supply system. No company has the capability to complete the self-production of all parts. This is true for a screw even so for a chip. Among them, there are some spare parts, which are manufactured by only a few companies or one manufacturer in the world.

"There is no other choice. There is no second factory that produces the DM1550 chip. The main reason is the market is too small and no one is willing to lose money to engage in research and development." Ye Qing stretched his brows and put on a smile and said: "Let's eat first, don't discuss things about work."

Without the DM1550 chip, Ye Qing would only feel trouble, and he was not hopeless. The remaining chips were still enough to support half a month of production, and Ye Qing believed that the problem could be solved in half a month.

The meal was ended at half-past one in the afternoon, and the chip matter did not disturb Ye Qing's appetite. The entire table of delicacies was wiped out by Ye Qing and Yan Zhao.

The signing ceremony will take held at 4:30. Ye Qing said goodbye to Yan Zhao and returned to the Peregrine Falcon with the Master Metal Expert. Using the office system in the cabin, he first contacted the company and then contacted Liu Dongyu, the president of [Simtron Future Co. Ltd.].

In the future, Xinchuang would focus on industrial semiconductor chips, and it was also considered small in China. When producing ionization purifiers, Ye Qing bought the electromagnetic induction element production line from him. Ye Qing wanted him to develop alternative technologies for DM1550 chips in the future. The research and development fund would come out of Ye Qing, and after research and development, he would sign a long-term stable order agreement with them. Things like the chips, he would use them. Ye Qing doesn't need to waste the precious time of monsters to conquer the DM1550 chip.

"Fresenius Company?" As soon as Ye Qing mentioned this, Liu Dongyu had immediately gritted his teeth: "This is my old opponent. I know them too well, even better than my wife."

"Mr. Ye, you don't know the new boss of Fresenius is Chinese."

Chapter 498: Let the new boss of that company come to see me

"Chinese?"

Hearing this news, Ye Qing was somewhat happy. The Chinese bought Fresenius, and it would be more convenient to buy chips in the future. So, would he continue thinking about creating the future and be responsible for the research and development of chips?

"Mr. Ye, we have disassembled the DM1550 chip for research." After listening to the problems Ye Qing encountered, Liu Dongyu hesitated and said: "If you invest money, I think it will be no problem to develop an alternative product. But Mr. Ye, the time you gave is too hasty."

"Is half a month still called haste?" Ye Qing felt that half a month was enough to do too many things. Could it be he was raised by a gang of monsters? "How long does it take?"

"If everything goes well, it will... take three months." Liu Dongyu said that for three months, his confidence was seriously lacking: "Perhaps after this deadline, one month is more reliable."

If the call can express love, Ye Qing must send a dumbfounded expression, it seems that it is unreliable to count on Liu Dongyu.

"Who is the new boss of Fresenius, are you familiar with him?" Ye Qing decided to talk to the new boss. Since they are all from China, they could communicate better.

"Unfamiliar, he is not a member of our chip industry." Liu Dongyu recalled: "The acquisition of Fresenius Company was only exposed in the last two days, and it has been kept confidential before."

"It was the company acquired by Amano Heavy Industries. I heard they wanted to integrate the industrial chain of mechanical and electronic components. Fresenius Company best meets their requirements. After the acquisition, both hardware and software will live together."

"Mr. Ye, do you want to talk to Amano Heavy Industries?" Liu Dongyu agreed: "In fact, they said it would take half a year to improve the chip production process. That's all. Damn. I think the profit made by this chip is very low, they want to pressure the market, and then increase the price drastically."

"Amano Heavy Industries! It is Amano Heavy Industries again."

Ye Qing suddenly remembered what he said the last time he met with Zhang Yutian.

"The victorious side is never peacefully on the throne, but accompanied by war and blood."

It seemed like Zhang Yutian wasn't really talking in vain. When he went to Europe that time, he might be preparing to acquire Fresenius. Did he take the DM1550 chip to catch the neck of Monster Heavy Industry?

Ye Qing had admitted he did it. Since the concert, Watcher N° 3 had shocked those present. The sales of the robots of the Monster Heavy Industry also immediately increased. Even the industrial version of the robot that was previously suppressed by Amano Heavy Industry and was almost unsold now had hundreds of orders a day.

However, the number of chips in the stock of Monster Heavy Industry is limited, and the product inventory is also limited. Once the chips are used up, the product is sold out. Whether it is a robot, or a mechanical engineering chair, and a Mechanical Colossus Type I, it will be greatly affected.

"Mr. Ye, Mr. Ye?" Liu Dongyu saw there was no voice on the phone for a long time and asked with some doubts: "Should I help you contact Amano Heavy Industries?"

"No, I'll talk to them myself." Ye Qing declined Liu Dongyu's kindness because, with Amano Heavy Industry, he was more familiar than Liu Dongyu.

After hanging up the phone, Ye Qing took a deep breath and dialed the number of Zhang Yutian, vice president of Amano Heavy Industries, using the office phone that comes with Peregrine. We must remember, as early as Zhang Yutian came to the Monster Heavy Industry Company for the first time, he had taken the initiative to leave his contact information.

The phone rang more than ten times before being connected.

"Hello, who is it?"

"I'm Ye Qing." Ye Qing got right to the point: "I heard you had acquired Fresenius, so do you plan to continue doing DM1550 chips?"

"Mr. Ye?" Zhang Yutian was a little surprised, but soon laughed and said: "Mr. Ye is well informed. We completed the merger and acquisition the day before yesterday. Only today did we issue a product adjustment notice to the company's customers at noon. Mr. Ye has immediately found out who acquired this company. Oh... I remember." He continued saying across the phone while patting his head: "The biggest customer of DM1550 chip is Monster Heavy Industry. What's wrong, Mr. Ye? Is there no chip supply? Mr. Ye, it's not that I deliberately wanted to choke your neck. Monster Heavy Industry is our competitor. It is reasonable and reasonable. We also want to cancel this batch of orders?"

"You asked us to continue production? After half a year, the DM1550 chip will be listed again as scheduled. The price will increase by 50%. I don't know how Mr. Ye is going to solve the chip shortage problem in the next six months.

"Meet you next, let's talk." Ye Qing's words were unemotional: "I am in Beijing and will return to Shanghai at nine o'clock in the evening. Can you make it during this time period?"

Zhang Yutian was silent for a moment, without a hippie smile, and became very formal: "Mr. Ye, we have an interview once, that was the best thing."

"We compete with each other, and we only waste more resources in vain and make little money. If we cooperate, your company has the technology and we have the global promotion resources. In less than two years, the global industrial robots will be our world. I will let the secretary arrange the schedule now, and in four hours, I will arrive in Beijing."

"Four hours later, I will hold a signing ceremony with a business partner at Zendai Himalaya Center. You come here directly finding me." Ye Qing continued calmly.

"Ok."

Hanging up, Zhang Yutian, who was far away in Asashima City, could no longer restrain the joy in his heart. He laughed and called the secretary to ask her to order the fastest flight to the capital Beijing.

That's right, he had choked the neck of Monster Heavy Industry on purpose, but what he didn't expect, was to be effective in such a short time.

Fresenius' merger and acquisition cost a total of 102 million euros. This money was jointly funded by him and Anqi Heavy Industry. The main purpose was to further deepen the right to speak in the industrial robot industry.

Fresenius Company, mainly engaged in high-end control chips for mechanical hydraulics and motor servo systems. By acquiring this company, they will be able to control half of the global production rights for these two sets of servo chips.

The cancellation of the order from Monster Heavy Industries was a magical note in this merger.

Now the president of Monster Heavy Industry has offered to meet him in person. In Zhang Yutian's eyes, this was understood as a compromise by Monster Heavy Industry. He could understand Ye Qing's current mood very well. Without the DM1550 chip, the Mechanical Colossus Type I of Monster Heavy Industry and the robot production line had to be in trouble. Even if Ye Qing concentrated on public relations and look for alternative products, it will take two or three months to solve the problem. How much economic loss would it cause for such a long time?

There was also the suspension of product production, which would damage the reputation of the company. These losses, even if Zhang Yutian had made some calculations, he would feel particularly heartbroken toward Ye Qing. For that, Ye Qing's compromise was also reasonable.

The secretary had quickly helped Zhang Yutian book the ticket, and he also inquired about the signing ceremony which would be held at the Zendai Himalaya Center, where Monster Heavy Industry and Baojia Group would conduct a signing ceremony for a large order of 3,000 surveillance robots at 4:30 in the afternoon.

This was not a secret, because this signing ceremony would be visited by many media. Among them is China News Channel, a heavyweight media.

"Haha... No wonder." Zhang Yutian's expression of joy was even better, and for the first time, he would cooperate with three thousand units. The follow-up quantity will only be more, but Monster Heavy Industry's stocks chips, whether it could meet the first batch of orders is still a question.

"Go and fetch my suit made in France." Zhang Yutian thought that when many media visited, he must dress decently.

It would be even more wonderful if the cooperation agreement between the two parties could be knocked down on the spot. So, he would announce in front of all media that he will partner with Monster Heavy Industry.

Chapter 499: Signing ceremony

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Ye Qing was got on a special car and went to the venue of the signing ceremony. The venue was set up at Zendai Himalaya Center, the venue was not very high-end. But the guests and reporters who came to participate in the ceremony had more backgrounds than one. Among them, there were Dai Xianmin, the boss of Baojia Group, Wei Xu, the vice president, the department leaders under the General Assembly Department, and the bosses of companies who were interested in security robots and had branches or resident locations in undeveloped countries.

?

When Baojia group had invited so many guests, it had naturally wanted to launch the alert robot, the brand-new product, oh even reporters from China News Channel were invited by the magical Baojia Group.

Just a minute!

At 7 o'clock this evening, China News Channel would arrange a one-minute broadcast time to promote the signing ceremony. To do that, it takes more than magic power. At the time Amano Heavy Industries had won a large order of 2 billion in Europe, only a paragraph of text and a few shots of publicity were exchanged.

When the special reception car of Baojia Group has arrived at the venue with Ye Qing. Outside the red-carpeted venue, reporters from all walks of life had set up long guns and short cannons. Under the signature wall, a middle-aged man with a ruddy face and curly eyebrows stood in the middle, surrounded by reporters with microphones. He was Dai Xianmin, the boss of Baojia Group, who has a doctorate degree in engineering from Harbin Institute of Technology. He has many years of experience in equipment manufacturing and more than 20 years of management experience.

When Ye Qing's special car was stopped steadily in front of the red carpet, Dai Xianmin, who was in his fifties, had also seen Ye Qing who was about to get off and had immediately waved to him. With this wave, the reporters who circled around Dai Xianmin had immediately followed the radar to reverse their vision.

Ye Qing was the protagonist of this signing ceremony and also a topical figure in recent news hotspots. Therefore, when the reporters saw him get off the car, they had immediately thanked Dai Xianmin and surrounded him with their microphones.

"Excuse me, Mr. Ye, this time Monster Heavy Industry will cooperate with Baojia Group to launch a military-purpose security robot. Does that represent your company's new goal, and do you plan to enter the military industry in the future?"

This was a reporter from Netease News. Ye Qing remembers that this website was particularly fond of being a headline party. Hmm~ he had to be cautious in answering their questions.

"In my eyes, there is only the industry, no difference between military and civilian. If you insist on a detailed distinction, then there is only the product quality standard distinction." Ye Qing smiled and gave a panacea answer.

The Netease reporter still wanted to continue to ask, but other website reporters had quit him. Another website reporter had squeezed him away, holding a microphone, and quickly said: "Mr. Ye, when will your company's mobile-phone conferences be held?"

"The meeting will be held after the signature. When we have confirmed the specific date, we will notify the media in advance."

"Mr. Ye~ can you say, what is the name of the mobile phone to be released by Monster Heavy Industry?" A female reporter who was squeezed in the middle had finally found the opportunity to interject: "The online speculation about the name of the new mobile phone the one with the highest number of votes was [King Kong], and netizens believed that this name best fits the image of Monster Heavy Industries."

"King Kong?" Ye Qing said with a dumb smile: "This name, I think it is suitable for the brick-and-mortar mobile phone in the early nineties."

"The mobile phone we are going to launch is a high-end mobile phone that integrates a number of breakthrough technologies. Its name will be met with you at the press conference."

"..."

If eyes could bite people, Ye Qing might be bitten by these reporters. The new mobile phone was the most anticipated product for everyone, but Ye Qing had hidden it and did not publish any useful information.

The reporters also wanted to continue to ask questions, but the security at the venue and Dai Xianmin, the boss of Baojia Group, came over and told the reporters that the interview time was over.

"President Ye is really young and promising."

"Hello~ Mr. Dai, you are the goal of our young people's struggle."

Ye Qing and Dai Xianmin shook hands. At this moment, the flashing lights beside the red carpet flashed like into the starry sky at night, and after greetings, the two walked into the venue together. Ye Qing had glanced around and found that among the guests present, some of them looked familiar to him. They are the bosses of big companies with high reputations.

"Mr. Ye? I heard about the name of President Ye for a long time, and I was able to see it today."

"Ye is younger than I thought!"

Seeing Dai Xianmin accompanied a young man entering the arena, these bosses followed suit and walked over to shake hands with Ye Qing with a smile.

The current achievements of Monster Heavy Industry in the industrial field are simply as treacherous. Most of these chief executives were all peers, and they came in person mainly to meet Ye Qing.

After half an hour, the signing ceremony was officially held.

In the huge business venue, Ye Qing represented Monster Heavy Industry, and Dai Xianmin represented Baojia Group. The two signed the contract with the red hot stamping cover, and then exchanged the contract with a handshake.

When shaking hands, Dai Xianmin had smiled and said: "Mr. Ye, please stay. This time I was able to invite many company executives to participate in the ceremony, in fact, thanks to Mr. Ye's face. These big guys want to get together with Mr. Ye and talk about their industrial experience."

Ye Qing had patted the back of Dai Xianmin's hand lightly and nodded: "No problem, I must be with you. Mr. Dai, it happens that I have to wait for a guest. "

"Oh~ President Ye's guest, that's our guest. Who is this guest, I have to greet him later."

"Vice President of Amano Heavy Industries, Zhang Yutian."

"He?" Dai Xianmin's expression had changed slightly, but it disappeared immediately: "Mr. Zhang is also young and promising, of course, I want to warmly welcome him."

This change in expression was carefully observed by Ye Qing. Did Dai Xianmin... To Zhang Yutian, seemed to feel a little disgusted?

But Ye Qing didn't care about this, even more, he and Zhang Yutian didn't need others to help.

Handing the contract documents to the company employees aside, Ye Qing and Dai Xianmin, together with the staff, went to the VIP lounge to communicate with the CEOs who were present. It is so strange to say, everyone in the lounge, Ye Qing didn't even have the qualifications to look up to them a year ago, but now he was sitting with them, becoming the focus of their topics. He didn't feel much nervous inside, including when he was interviewed by a group of reporters at the door, and this change in mentality made Ye Qing admire himself.

"Ahem~" After Dai Xianmin had introduced Ye Qing's identity, he pressed his hand and said heartily: "Mr. Ye also invited a friend over, and he is Zhang Yutian, the vice president of Amano Heavy Industries. So, at that time, we will welcome them all together."

As soon as Dai Xianmin's voice fell, these veterans had not had time to say polite words, because the door of the lounge was pushed open by two staff members one after one, one was respectfully invited in, wearing a well-made suit, he was a young man with seven points of pride and three points of joy.

"Oh~ say, Cao Cao, Cao Cao you are there." Dai Xianmin had greeted him first.

Chapter 500: Earth-shattering News

From the moment Zhang Yutian entered the room, his feelings of impatience and enthusiasm grew stronger and stronger because when he came he had in mind, after chatting with Ye Qing, that Ye Qing after a long discussion with him, he will choose the beautiful image to work with him.

Yes... In the 21st century, in the face of highly integrated global industrial technology, no one could fight alone, because he will only become an outlier in the industry and a rival in the eyes of his peers. Unfortunately, only by uniting he can be invincible. Just like Apple and Foxconn.

After getting off the plane, Zhang Yutian rushed to the Zendai Himalaya Center in a hurry. Sure enough, when he had reported his identity, the staff had respectfully invited him in. The staff had also said that Mr. Dai and Mr. Ye were in the VIP lounge, waiting for his presence.

As he walked across the red carpet and between signature walls, Zhang Yutian, who was energetic, was recognized by various media at a glance, because he had just shown his face on the China News Channel not long ago, where he had naturally done an excellent interview.

As soon as Zhang Yutian was surrounded by reporters, was also very cooperative in accepting an interview.

These media were all invited by Baojia Group. They have obtained the guest invitation list in advance and left it to the reporters to choose the interview candidates and interview topics in advance.

At this moment, Zhang Yutian, who was not on the invitation list, appeared in the center of the venue, and the reporters asked one after another what Zhang Yutian came doing to this time.

"I was invited by Mr. Ye." Zhang Yutian talked and laughed into the microphone: "We, Amano Heavy Industry, and Monster Heavy Industry have a high degree of overlap in development strategies. The meeting with Mr. Ye was actually for a discussion. We two will speak about the cooperation matters."

"Cooperation?". The reporters exploded and asked with fiery eyes: "Mr. Zhang, what kind of cooperation is it? Is it the robot?"

"Please allow me to keep it confidential in advance, and when the results will be certified, I will notify you as soon as possible." After speaking, Zhang Yutian hurriedly squeezed out of the reporters and walked to the VIP lounge expectantly.

"Speaking of Zhang Yutian, Zhang Yutian will be there."

As soon as the door was opened, and Cao Cao came in, the prestigious president Dai Xianmin of Baojia Group greeted him first and said politely: "I just told everyone that Mr. Zhang Yutian is also coming." The words have not yet settled, and Mr. Zhang Yutian was here.

"Hello, President Dai."

Zhang Yutian pretended to be a little out of breath: "President Ye invited me, how dare I will be negligent, I quickly booked a ticket and came, if it weren't for the smog at the airport, I would be here an hour earlier."

"It seems that Mr. Zhang has a very close relationship with Mr. Ye." Dai Xianmin laughed and said: "It's no wonder that soon after Mr. Ye launched the Explorer industrial robot, Mr. Zhang's Amano Heavy Industry launched a very similar all-round robot."

As expected, Dai Xianmin didn't like Zhang Yutian, otherwise, he would not say him to imitate the products of Monster Heavy Industry.

"Why?" Zhang Yutian didn't feel embarrassed at all: "I met President Ye very early, and this time I was invited by him to discuss an important matter with him."

"Important things?"

The bosses here had suddenly pricked their ears. Monster Heavy Industry is a rising star in the industry, and Amano is backed by the world's largest industrial robot company. If the two parties get together to discuss major issues, the national machinery industry is going to be really upset.

"Oh~ it's nothing too important." Feeling the gaze from many people, Ye Qing stood up and said with a smile: "I invited Mr. Zhang to come here. In fact, I want to announce something in front of everyone."

Now, even Dai Xianmin is interested.

"Mr. Ye, should we discuss the details first?", Zhang Yutian raised his eyebrows, his heart filled with happiness, in his heart, he was really convinced that Ye Qing was really determined to cooperate with them, and this was in front of a number of big men in the industry he would like to announce this thing. It's great, there were a lot of big names, and there were reporters from all walks of life outside. This strategic cooperation could definitely stir up the entire country. So, he said proudly in his heart: "It is very useful to talk about their cooperation in front of the seniors in the industry."

Ye Qing laughed and walked to Zhang Yutian.

Zhang Yutian nodded again and again. The venue they were at was the venue for the signing of a cooperation agreement between Monster Heavy Industry and Baojia Group.

For that, Zhang Yutian had continued convincing himself: "If we can announce the official cooperation between Monster Heavy Industry and Amano Heavy Industry here, this will behave a lot of color and meaning."

But in the beautiful fantasy, Ye Qing's plain voice sounded in the VIP lounge.

"Today I invited Mr. Zhang from Amano Heavy Industries to meet him, mainly because of a phone call at noon. I received a call from the manager of our company's purchasing department. He told me that there was a problem with a batch of chips DM1550 that we had previously ordered."

Ye Qing had suddenly looked at Zhang Yutian with a serious look and the latter became a little inexplicable, and Ye Qing's voice has also become serious: "The purchasing manager told me that Fresenius, the manufacturer of the DM1550 chip, had a new boss. The new boss is Mr. Zhang Yutian the boss of Amano Heavy Industry."

Some people knew this news, and some don't. But the name of Fresenius Company, they have all heard of it. This is a manufacturer specializing in industrial chips. Although the company is not very large, in this field, Fresenius has sold several chips for many years. Fresenius was acquired by Amano Heavy Industries, but... What does this have to do with Monster Heavy Industry? And what is going to be announced by Mr. Ye? And what does it have to do with Fresenius?

One by one, they raised their ears and waited suspiciously.

"Amano Heavy Industries, after acquiring Fresenius Company. The first thing it did is to cancel the order of 10,000 DM1550 chips for Monster Heavy Industry. The DM1550 chip is exactly one of the indispensable key electronic components of the Monster Heavy Industry robot series. Mr. Zhang told me on the phone that Monster Heavy Industry is their competitor, and it is reasonable to cancel this batch of orders and suspend production of chips for half a year."

The scene suddenly became quiet, and Zhang Yutian was suffering from severe Alzheimer's, and he looked at Ye Qing with straight eyes. On the way here, Zhang Yutian imagined a lot of pictures. But if he fantasizes for another year, he would never think that Ye Qing would reveal all his activities in the presence of so many industry leaders.

"Mr. Zhang has still asked me on the phone, and the DM1550 chip will be out of stock for half a year." Ye Qing's voice continued: "In the next six months, how can Monster Heavy Industry solve the problem of chip shortage? Does he want to compromise, and Amano can immediately resume chip supply? And so! I asked Mr. Zhang to come over, and in front of the seniors in the industry, I personally tell him, how to solve the problem of chip shortage of Monster Heavy Industry."

At this moment, Ye Qing's eyes looking at Zhang Yutian became extremely sharp, with a plain tone like a cold steel knife.

"I don't ask for help, we can make the chip ourselves. I also will say to Mr. Zhang. We not only produce our own DM1550 chip. We will also produce a total of three major industrial chips upper the Fresenius Company acquired by Amano Heavy Industries."

"Zhang always attaches great importance to Monster Heavy Industry and regards Monster Heavy Industry as his biggest opponent. Before the chip, he has also shown hostility to Monster Heavy Industry many times. Then our Monster Heavy Industry, how can we not respond?"

"So... Monster Heavy Industry will use better quality and cheaper alternative chips to seize Fresenius' sales share in the global market. I want to show Fresenius and Amano Heavy Industry to see the true strength of our Monster Heavy Industry."

Silence.

These big names in the industry collectively caught petrochemical magic and only their eyes can move. Their eyes moved to Zhang Yutian, whose expression was more horrified than seeing a ghost.

I don't know the reason why the two staff members guarding the door drove off or were bought by the pervasive reporters.

At this moment, the two wooden doors were quietly pushed open for a moment, and several reporters were squatting behind the door with the same horrified expression.

They rely on! Earth-shattering news.