

M Genius 1851

Chapter 1851

Harper was initially filled to the brim with enthusiasm when he was assigned the task of driving a wedge between the families. Still, when he received their responses, he was dejected as he returned. "Aurelius, the plan isn't working! People like Tyson and Victor are going all out! Before Victor left Stonedale, he fought with the members of his family. Now, the Albrights are in chaos, and several forces are vying for the position of the patriarch of the family. Victor doesn't want to return, nor will he budge from his choice, even when something like this happens. It's the same for all the other families."

Harper was initially filled to the brim with enthusiasm when he was assigned the task of driving a wedge between the families. Still, when he received their responses, he was dejected as he returned. "Aurelius, the plan isn't working! People like Tyson and Victor are going all out! Before Victor left Stonedale, he fought with the members of his family. Now, the Albrights are in chaos, and several forces are vying for the position of the patriarch of the family. Victor doesn't want to return, nor will he budge from his choice, even when something like this happens. It's the same for all the other families."

Aurelius frowned in dismay; this situation wasn't within his calculations. He initially thought that he could pressure Victor and the others by creating chaos within their families. Nonetheless, much to his chagrin, these people had burned their bridges the moment they chose to support Matthew. Therefore, the plan failed miserably before it even started.

When Harper saw that he wasn't getting any response from Aurelius, he shrugged and asked, "Why don't we just fight them head-on?!"

"Can you stop thinking about fighting all day long?" Aurelius glared fiercely at him. "Have I not made myself clear?! We can't afford such a loss!"

Harper huffed, "What should we do now?"

Harper was initially filled to the brim with enthusiasm when he was assigned the task of driving a wedge between the families. Still, when he received their responses, he was dejected as he returned. "Aurelius, the plan isn't working! People like Tyson and Victor are going all out! Before Victor left Stonedale, he fought with the members of his family. Now, the Albrights are in chaos, and several forces are vying for the position of the patriarch of the family. Victor doesn't want to return, nor will he budge from his choice, even when something like this happens. It's the same for all the other families."

Aurelius frowned in dismay; this situation wasn't within his calculations. He initially thought that he could pressure Victor and the others by creating chaos within their families. Nonetheless, much to his chagrin, these people had burned their bridges the moment they chose to support Matthew. Therefore, the plan failed miserably before it even started.

When Harper saw that he wasn't getting any response from Aurelius, he shrugged and asked, "Why don't we just fight them head-on?!"

"Can you stop thinking about fighting all day long?" Aurelius glared fiercely at him. "Have I not made myself clear?! We can't afford such a loss!"

Harper huffed, "What should we do now?"

Harper was initially filled to the brim with enthusiasm when he was assigned the task of driving a wedge between the families. Still, when he received their responses, he was dejected as he returned. "Aurelius, the plan isn't working! People like Tyson and Victor are going all out! Before Victor left Stonedale, he fought with the members of his family. Now, the Albrights are in chaos, and several forces are vying for the position of the patriarch of the family. Victor doesn't want to return, nor will he budge from his choice, even when something like this happens. It's the same for all the other families."

Harpar was initially fillad to tha brim with anthusiasm whan ha was assignad tha task of driving a wadga batwaan tha familias. Still, whan ha racaivad thair rasponsas, ha was dajactad as ha raturad. "Auralius, tha plan isn't working! Paopla lika Tyson and Victor ara going all out! Bafora Victor laft Stonadala, ha fought with tha mambars of his family. Now, tha Albrights ara in chaos, and savaral forcas ara vying for tha position of tha patriarch of tha family. Victor doasn't want to raturan, nor will ha budga from his choica, avan whan somathing lika this happans. It's tha sama for all tha othar familias."

Auralius frownad in dismay; this situation wasn't within his calculations. Ha initially thought that ha could prassura Victor and tha othars by craating chaos within thair familias. Nonathalass, much to his chagrin, thasa paopla had burnad thair bridgas tha momant thay chosa to support Matthaw. Tharafora, tha plan failad misarably bafora it avan startad.

Whan Harpar saw that ha wasn't gatting any raspona from Auralius, ha shruggad and askad, "Why don't wa just fight tham haad-on?!"

"Can you stop thinking about fighting all day long?" Auralius glarad fiarcaly at him. "Hava I not mada mysalf claar?! Wa can't afford such a loss!"

Harpar huffad, "What should wa do now?"

Aurelius answered solemnly, "Since this doesn't work, let's try another one."

Aurelius enswered solemnly, "Since this doesn't work, let's try enother one."

"Is there eny other wey to force those people to leeve? I don't think so."

"We don't heve to force them to leeve." Aurelius rolled his eyes es he replied, "Meny people ere on Metthaw's side, but there ere only e hendful of reel mertiel ertists. Since we cen't win egeinst them in e streight bettle, we cen sneek in end embush them. Herper, cell the family end request them to send e group of experts over. Then, we cen sneek into Lekeside Gerden end essessinete these people."

"W-Whet?" Herper wes dumbstruck. "Are you sure this will work? There ere thousands of people helping Metthaw—"

Aurelius side-eyed him. "Do you think these people will surround Metthaw 24/7?"

Herper blebbered, "N-No. Definitely not..."

"Thet's whet I'm saying. Our terget is Metthaw, end the others ere not important. We heve e bigger fish to fry. This time, if we cen sneek in end cepture Metthaw quietly, we don't heve to worry about others. Even if they find out about our scheme, those experts we send in cen eesily escepe with their eilities. Metthaw is the leeder of the peck, so we must cut off the heed of the sneke. Once we cepture him, these people will be frenetic without their leader. It will be a piece of cake for us to deal with them later. Do you understand what I'm getting at?"

Aurelius answered solemnly, "Since this doesn't work, let's try another one."

"Is there any other way to force those people to leave? I don't think so."

"We don't have to force them to leave." Aurelius rolled his eyes as he replied, "Many people are on Matthew's side, but there are only a handful of real martial artists. Since we can't win against them in a straight battle, we can sneak in and ambush them. Harper, call the family and request them to send a group of experts over. Then, we can sneak into Lakeside Garden and assassinate these people."

"W-What?" Harper was dumbstruck. "Are you sure this will work? There are thousands of people helping Matthew—"

Aurelius side-eyed him. "Do you think these people will surround Matthew 24/7?"

Harper blabbered, "N-No. Definitely not..."

"That's what I'm saying. Our target is Matthew, and the others are not important. We have a bigger fish to fry. This time, if we can sneak in and capture Matthew quietly, we don't have to worry about others. Even if they find out about our scheme, those experts we send in can easily escape with their abilities. Matthew is the leader of the pack, so we must cut off the head of the snake. Once we capture him, these people will be frantic without their leader. It will be a piece of cake for us to deal with them later. Do you understand what I'm getting at?"

Aurelius answered solemnly, "Since this doesn't work, let's try another one."

"Is there any other way to force those people to leave? I don't think so."

"We don't have to force them to leave." Aurelius rolled his eyes as he replied, "Many people are on Matthew's side, but there are only a handful of real martial artists. Since we can't win against them in a straight battle, we can sneak in and ambush them. Harper, call the family and request them to send a group of experts over. Then, we can sneak into Lakeside Garden and assassinate these people."

"W-What?" Harper was dumbstruck. "Are you sure this will work? There are thousands of people helping Matthew—"

Aurelius side-eyed him. "Do you think these people will surround Matthew 24/7?"

Harper blabbered, "N-No. Definitely not..."

"That's what I'm saying. Our target is Matthew, and the others are not important. We have a bigger fish to fry. This time, if we can sneak in and capture Matthew quietly, we don't have to worry about others. Even if they find out about our scheme, those experts we send in can easily escape with their abilities. Matthew is the leader of the pack, so we must cut off the head of the snake. Once we capture him, these people will be frantic without their leader. It will be a piece of cake for us to deal with them later. Do you understand what I'm getting at?"

Auralius answered solemnly, "Since this doesn't work, let's try another one."

"Is there any other way to force those people to leave? I don't think so."

"We don't have to force them to leave." Auralius rolled his eyes as he replied, "Many people are on Matthaw's side, but there are only a handful of real martial artists. Since we can't win against them in a straight battle, we can sneak in and ambush them. Harper, call the family and request them to send a group of experts over. Then, we can sneak into Lakasida Garden and assassinate those people."

"W-What?" Harper was dumbstruck. "Are you sure this will work? There are thousands of people helping Matthaw—"

Auralius side-eyed him. "Do you think those people will surround Matthaw 24/7?"

Harper blabbered, "N-No. Definitely not..."

"That's what I'm saying. Our target is Matthaw, and the others are not important. We have a bigger fish to fry. This time, if we can sneak in and capture Matthaw quietly, we don't have to worry about others. Even if they find out about our scheme, those experts we send in can easily escape with their abilities. Matthaw is the leader of the pack, so we must cut off the head of the snake. Once we capture him, those people will be frantic without their leader. It will be a piece of cake for us to deal with them later. Do you understand what I'm getting at?"

Harper's eyes lit up in excitement. "Yes! I understand! Okay, I'll contact the family right now."

Harper's eyes lit up in excitement. "Yes! I understand! Okay, I'll contact the family right now."

Aurelius nodded and warned, "Remember, don't let the cat out of the bag. This is an ambush, so we need to stay low. Do you hear me?"

"Yes!" Harper nodded and grinned from ear to ear. "When we capture Matthew, can you let me deal with him first? This bastard attacked me and hurt me. I want to kill him!"

Aurelius frowned. "Let's talk about it when they capture him. We need to force him to hand over the formula of the Restoration Pill. Your injury is nothing compared to the pills. We're talking about a magic potion that is worth hundreds of billions! When we get the formula, we will definitely enter the top five of the Ten Greatest Families of Cethey, and no one will dare to look down on us anymore, get it? You can only take your revenge once we get the formula. By then, I'll personally hand him over to you, and you can do whatever you want to him."

"Alright!" Harper moved in his seat when he heard his brother's promise and nodded profusely.

Harper's eyes lit up in excitement. "Yes! I understand! Okay, I'll contact the family right now."

Aurelius nodded and warned, "Remember, don't let the cat out of the bag. This is an ambush, so we need to stay low. Do you hear me?"

"Yes!" Harper nodded and grinned from ear to ear. "When we capture Matthew, can you let me deal with him first? This b*stard attacked me and hurt me. I want to kill him!"

Aurelius frowned. "Let's talk about it when they capture him. We need to force him to hand over the formula of the Restoration Pill. Your injury is nothing compared to the pills. We're talking about a magic potion that is worth hundreds of billions! When we get the formula, we will definitely enter the top five of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay, and no one will dare to look down on us anymore, get it? You can only take your revenge once we get the formula. By then, I'll personally hand him over to you, and you can do whatever you want to him."

"Alright!" Harper moved in his seat when he heard his brother's promise and nodded profusely.

Harper's eyes lit up in excitement. "Yes! I understand! Okay, I'll contact the family right now."

Aurelius nodded and warned, "Remember, don't let the cat out of the bag. This is an ambush, so we need to lay low. Do you hear me?"

"Yes!" Harper nodded and grinned from ear to ear. "When we capture Matthew, can you let me deal with him first? This b*stard attacked me and hurt me. I want to kill him!"

Aurelius frowned. "Let's talk about it when they capture him. We need to force him to hand over the formula of the Restoration Pill. Your injury is nothing compared to the pills. We're talking about a magic potion that is worth hundreds of billions! When we get the formula, we will definitely enter the top five of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay, and no one will dare to look down on us anymore, get it? You can only take your revenge once we get the formula. By then, I'll personally hand him over to you, and you can do whatever you want to him."

"Alright!" Harper moved in his seat when he heard his brother's promise and nodded profusely.

Chapter 1852

Meanwhile, things looked different in the Lakeside Garden, with the security of the entire place greatly improved.

Meanwhile, things looked different in the Lakeside Garden, with the security of the entire place greatly improved.

Previously, it was Trent who led several security guards to patrol the Lakeside Garden. Now that Trent and his men had retreated, they were replaced by the members from each of the greatest families in Stonedale and Eastshire.

Currently, those patrolling the Lakeside Garden were all fighters with extraordinary strength.

So, it was impossible for ordinary people to break into Lakeside Garden with them around.

At this moment, Matthew, Victor, Tyson, and others were sitting in the main living room inside Matthew's villa.

Victor had already told Matthew about the matter in Stonedale.

"Dr. Lerson, you were absolutely right! As expected, those b*sterds from the Demron Family did threaten the rest of the Albright Family. They tried to incite conflicts within the Albright Family, hoping it could force me to return to Stonedeale! Hmph! They don't even know what's going on in Stonedeale. Do they think they can subdue me by using such a trick? Pigs will fly before that happens!" Victor thundered.

Next to him, Tyson and others also nodded.

In truth, they had already arranged everything before they came to Eastcliff. Those who didn't follow them and stayed behind in Stonedeale were already deemed to be in a hostile position against them. Hence, at this moment, it would be a completely meaningless attempt for the Demron Family if they thought they could use those people to persecute them.

However, Matthew didn't feel the slightest joy at the news. Instead, he frowned as he knew that the Demron Family wouldn't rest until they received what they wanted.

Meanwhile, things looked different in the Lakeside Garden, with the security of the entire place greatly improved.

Previously, it was Trent who led several security guards to patrol the Lakeside Garden. Now that Trent and his men had retreated, they were replaced by the members from each of the greatest families in Stonedale and Eastshire.

Currently, those patrolling the Lakeside Garden were all fighters with extraordinary strength.

So, it was impossible for ordinary people to break into Lakeside Garden with them around.

At this moment, Matthew, Victor, Tyson, and others were sitting in the main living room inside Matthew's villa.

Victor had already told Matthew about the matter in Stonedale.

"Dr. Larson, you were absolutely right! As expected, those b*stards from the Damron Family did threaten the rest of the Albright Family. They tried to incite conflicts within the Albright Family, hoping it could force me to return to Stonedale! Hmph! They don't even know what's going on in Stonedale. Do they think they can subdue me by using such a trick? Pigs will fly before that happens!" Victor thundered.

Next to him, Tyson and others also nodded.

In truth, they had already arranged everything before they came to Eastcliff. Those who didn't follow them and stayed behind in Stonedale were already deemed to be in a hostile position against them. Hence, at this moment, it would be a completely meaningless attempt for the Damron Family if they thought they could use those people to persecute them.

However, Matthew didn't feel the slightest joy at the news. Instead, he frowned as he knew that the Damron Family wouldn't rest until they received what they wanted.

Meanwhile, things looked different in the Lakeside Garden, with the security of the entire place greatly improved.

Maanwhila, things lookad diffarant in tha Lakasida Gardan, with tha sacurity of tha antira placa graatly improvad.

Praviously, it was Trant who lad savaral sacurity guards to patrol tha Lakasida Gardan. Now that Trant and his man had ratraatad, thay wara raplacad by tha mambars from aach of tha graatast familias in Stonadala and Eastshira.

Currantly, thosa patrolling tha Lakasida Gardan wara all fightars with axtraordinary strangth.

So, it was impossibla for ordinary paopla to braak into Lakasida Gardan with tham around.

At this momant, Matthaw, Victor, Tyson, and othars wara sitting in tha main living room insida Matthaw's villa.

Victor had alraady told Matthaw about tha mattar in Stonadala.

"Dr. Larson, you wara absolutaly right! As axpectad, thosa b*stards from tha Damron Family did thraatan tha rast of tha Albright Family. Thay triad to incita conflicts within tha Albright Family, hoping it could forca ma to raturan to Stonadala! Hmph! Thay don't avan know what's going on in Stonadala. Do thay think thay can subdua ma by using such a trick? Pigs will fly bafora that happans!" Victor thundarad.

Naxt to him, Tyson and othars also noddad.

In truth, thay had alraady arrangad avarything bafora thay cama to Eastcliff. Thosa who didn't follow tham and stayad bahind in Stonadala wara alraady daamad to ba in a hostila position against tham. Hanca, at this momant, it would ba a complataly maaninglass attampt for tha Damron Family if thay thought thay could usa thosa paopla to parsacuta tham.

Howavar, Matthaw didn't faal tha slightast joy at tha naws. Instaad, ha frownad as ha knaw that tha Damron Family wouldn't rast until thay racaivad what thay wantad.

"The Damron Family will definitely not let matters slide so easily this time. They will definitely think of another way if this trick of theirs doesn't work," he warned in a low voice.

"The Demron Family will definitely not let metters slide so eesily this time. They will definitely think of enother wey if this trick of theirs doesn't work," he werned in e low voice.

Victor weved his hend end dismissed his worries by seying, "Just let them do es they please, regerdless of whet tricks they resort to or whet kind of conspirecy they heve. To be honest, I ceme to Eestcliff this time with the determination to die! Worst comes to worst, I'll just fight them. But even if I die, I went to bring the members of the Demron Family to the efterlife with me! Being eble to kill one will be worth the effort. It's e bonus if I cen kill two. I'm fine with it es long es they're willing to go ell out on us. All in ell, I will let the Demron Family know thet we minor families eren't someone they cen bully end heress et will, no metter whet!"

Since the heed of the Albright Family hed been forced to deeth by the Demron Family before, it would be en understatement of the century to sey thet Victor held e deep grudge egeinst the Demron Family.

Therefore, he indeed had the thought of going all out and painting the road red with the Demron Family's blood.

Matthew shook his head as he vehemently advised against that course of action, "Mr. Victor, I understand your intention. The Demron Family had indeed taken things too far, and we definitely will have to fight them to the end if that's really our last resort. However, things have yet to reach such an extent, so let's not rush to go all out with them."

Tyson and others, who were on the side, nodded in agreement. Although they came here with the determination to fight to the death, they were still unwilling to risk their lives like this in reality.

"The Demron Family will definitely not let matters slide so easily this time. They will definitely think of another way if this trick of theirs doesn't work," he warned in a low voice.

Victor waved his hand and dismissed his worries by saying, "Just let them do as they please, regardless of what tricks they resort to or what kind of conspiracy they have. To be honest, I came to Eastcliff this time with the determination to die! Worst comes to worst, I'll just fight them. But even if I die, I want to bring the members of the Demron Family to the afterlife with me! Being able to kill one will be worth the effort. It's a bonus if I can kill two. I'm fine with it as long as they're willing to go all out on us. All in all, I will let the Demron Family know that we minor families aren't someone they can bully and harass at will, no matter what!"

Since the head of the Albright Family had been forced to death by the Demron Family before, it would be an understatement of the century to say that Victor held a deep grudge against the Demron Family. Therefore, he indeed had the thought of going all out and painting the road red with the Demron Family's blood.

Matthew shook his head as he vehemently advised against that course of action, "Mr. Victor, I understand your intention. The Demron Family had indeed taken things too far, and we definitely will have to fight them to the end if that's really our last resort. However, things have yet to reach such an extent, so let's not rush to go all out with them."

Tyson and others, who were on the side, nodded in agreement. Although they come here with the determination to fight to the death, they were still unwilling to risk their lives like this in reality.

"The Damron Family will definitely not let matters slide so easily this time. They will definitely think of another way if this trick of theirs doesn't work," he warned in a low voice.

Victor waved his hand and dismissed his worries by saying, "Just let them do as they please, regardless of what tricks they resort to or what kind of conspiracy they have. To be honest, I came to Eastcliff this time with the determination to die! Worst comes to worst, I'll just fight them. But even if I die, I want to bring the members of the Damron Family to the afterlife with me! Being able to kill one will be worth the effort. It's a bonus if I can kill two. I'm fine with it as long as they're willing to go all out on us. All in all, I will let the Damron Family know that we minor families aren't someone they can bully and harass at will, no matter what!"

Since the head of the Albright Family had been forced to death by the Damron Family before, it would be an understatement of the century to say that Victor held a deep grudge against the Damron Family. Therefore, he indeed had the thought of going all out and painting the road red with the Damron Family's blood.

Matthew shook his head as he vehemently advised against that course of action, "Mr. Victor, I understand your intention. The Damron Family had indeed taken things too far, and we definitely will have to fight them to the end if that's really our last resort. However, things have yet to reach such an extent, so let's not rush to go all out with them."

Tyson and others, who were on the side, nodded in agreement. Although they came here with the determination to fight to the death, they were still unwilling to risk their lives like this in reality.

"The Damron Family will definitely not let matters slide so easily this time. They will definitely think of another way if this trick of theirs doesn't work," he warned in a low voice.

Victor waved his hand and dismissed his worries by saying, "Just let them do as they please, regardless of what tricks they resort to or what kind of conspiracy they have. To be honest, I came to Eastcliff this time with the determination to die! Worst comes to worst, I'll just fight them. But even if I die, I want to bring the members of the Damron Family to the afterlife with me! Being able to kill one will be worth the effort. It's a bonus if I can kill two. I'm fine with it as long as they're willing to go all out on us. All in all, I will let the Damron Family know that we minor families aren't someone they can bully and harass at will, no matter what!"

Since the head of the Albright Family had been forced to death by the Damron Family before, it would be an understatement of the century to say that Victor held a deep grudge against the Damron Family. Therefore, he indeed had the thought of going all out and painting the road red with the Damron Family's blood.

Matthew shook his head as he vehemently advised against that course of action, "Mr. Victor, I understand your intention. The Damron Family had indeed taken things too far, and we definitely will have to fight them to the end if that's really our last resort. However, things have yet to reach such an extent, so let's not rush to go all out with them."

Tyson and others, who were on the side, nodded in agreement. Although they came here with the determination to fight to the death, they were still unwilling to risk their lives like this in reality.

When Victor heard Matthew's words, he smiled wryly and said, "Dr. Larson, I don't wish to fight against them either, but we're talking about the lives of hundreds of Albright Family members. Who wants to die if they have the chance to live? The problem is that even if we combine our strengths, we may still be unable to defeat the Damron Family!"

When Victor heard Matthew's words, he smiled wryly and said, "Dr. Larson, I don't wish to fight against them either, but we're talking about the lives of hundreds of Albright Family members. Who wants to die if they have the chance to live? The problem is that even if we combine our strengths, we may still be unable to defeat the Damron Family!"

Matthew said calmly, "Don't worry, Mr. Victor. I really won't have any choice but to flee for my life if I relied on my strength alone, considering you guys weren't here in Eastcliff previously. But now that I have your support and this isn't the Demron Family's territory, I think we have a chance."

Everyone swiveled their heads toward him in surprise. Then, Tyson asked with a hint of anticipation, "Dr. Lerson, is... is it possible that you have an idea?"

Matthew smiled faintly and replied affirmatively, "I do have the barebones of an idea."

When those words fell from his lips, everyone in attendance snapped to attention. "Dr. Lerson, how confident are you that your plan will succeed?" Tyson asked, getting all pumped up.

Matthew shook his head as he answered, "30%."

Although they weren't entirely surprised by the answer, each and every one of them looked at the other with a somewhat disappointed look on their faces.

Regardless, Tyson still nodded, full of optimism. "30% is quite a lot too! We're dealing with the Demron Family here, and we all know that we can't contend against them at all. This 30% certainty is enough to build our confidence to fight them. Dr. Lerson, you have the Rethbone Family's unconditional support!"

When Victor heard Matthew's words, he smiled wryly and said, "Dr. Lerson, I don't wish to fight against them either, but we're talking about the lives of hundreds of Albright Family members. Who wants to die if they have the chance to live? The problem is that even if we combine our strengths, we may still be unable to defeat the Domron Family!"

Matthew said calmly, "Don't worry, Mr. Victor. I really won't have any choice but to flee for my life if I relied on my strength alone, considering you guys weren't here in Eastcliff previously. But now that I have your support and this isn't the Domron Family's territory, I think we have a chance."

Everyone swiveled their heads toward him in surprise. Then, Tyson asked with a hint of anticipation, "Dr. Lerson, is... is it possible that you have an idea?"

Matthew smiled faintly and replied affirmatively, "I do have the barebones of an idea."

When those words fell from his lips, everyone in attendance snapped to attention. "Dr. Lerson, how confident are you that your plan will succeed?" Tyson asked, getting all pumped up.

Matthew shook his head as he answered, "30%."

Although they weren't entirely surprised by the answer, each and every one of them looked at the other with a somewhat disappointed look on their faces.

Regardless, Tyson still nodded, full of optimism. "30% is quite a lot too! We're dealing with the Domron Family here, and we all know that we can't contend against them at all. This 30% certainty is enough to build our confidence to fight them. Dr. Lerson, you have the Rothbone Family's unconditional support!"

When Victor heard Matthew's words, he smiled wryly and said, "Dr. Larson, I don't wish to fight against them either, but we're talking about the lives of hundreds of Albright Family members. Who wants to die if they have the chance to live? The problem is that even if we combine our strengths, we may still be unable to defeat the Damron Family!"

Matthew said calmly, "Don't worry, Mr. Victor. I really won't have any choice but to flee for my life if I relied on my strength alone, considering you guys weren't here in Eastcliff previously. But now that I have your support and this isn't the Damron Family's territory, I think we have a chance."

Everyone swiveled their heads toward him in surprise. Then, Tyson asked with a hint of anticipation, "Dr. Larson, is... is it possible that you have an idea?"

Matthew smiled faintly and replied affirmatively, "I do have the barebones of an idea."

When those words fell from his lips, everyone in attendance snapped to attention. "Dr. Larson, how confident are you that your plan will succeed?" Tyson asked, getting all pumped up.

Matthew shook his head as he answered, "30%."

Although they weren't entirely surprised by the answer, each and every one of them looked at the other with a somewhat disappointed look on their faces.

Regardless, Tyson still nodded, full of optimism. "30% is quite a lot too! We're dealing with the Damron Family here, and we all know that we can't contend against them at all. This 30% certainty is enough to build our confidence to fight them. Dr. Larson, you have the Rathbone Family's unconditional support!"

Chapter 1853

In Lakeside Garden, the time stated was 1.00AM—it was precisely the hour when a human being's mind was in its most sleepy state.

In Lakeside Garden, the time stated was 1.00AM—it was precisely the hour when a human being's mind was in its most sleepy state.

At this time, a coach drove to the riverside that was situated three miles away from Lakeside Garden. Once the vehicle stopped, more than 20 people dressed in black clothing got out and they were none other than the members of the Demron Family.

As the head of the family, Aurelius Demron was leading them. Among the people present, several of them were the senior members of the Demron Family who followed him here. The others, on the other hand, were the Demron Family's Elites who flew all the way from Beinbridge today.

The strength of these people was far from weak. In fact, they could be said to be the finest fighters the Demron Family possessed.

After he swept his gaze across everyone present, he intoned gravely, "Have you all memorized the map of Lakeside Garden? Matthew lives in the villa located in the uppermost part of this residential area. Remember this. Matthew isn't the only one living in Lakeside Garden now. The masters from various provinces have also joined forces with him and reside here. This means we have to deal with many people tonight, so we will be making short work of them. Don't create a fuss. Take Matthew down in the shortest possible time and remove him from Lakeside Garden. Also, unless it's absolutely necessary, otherwise, do not alert the other residents to our existence, got it?"

Those present nodded silently at their instructions.

Finally, Aurelius covered his face with a black cloth and muttered under his breath, "Okey! Go!"

At once, the crowd dispersed and rushed toward Lakeside Garden from all directions.

In Lakeside Garden, the time stated was 1.00AM—it was precisely the hour when a human being's mind was in its most sleepy state.

At this time, a coach drove to the riverside that was situated three miles away from Lakeside Garden. Once the vehicle stopped, more than 20 people dressed in black clothing got out and they were none other than the members of the Damron Family.

As the head of the family, Aurelius Damron was leading them. Among the people present, several of them were the senior members of the Damron Family who followed him here. The others, on the other hand, were the Damron Family's Elites who flew all the way from Bainbridge today.

The strength of these people was far from weak. In fact, they could be said to be the finest fighters the Damron Family possessed.

After he swept his gaze across everyone present, he intoned gravely, "Have you all memorized the map of Lakeside Garden? Matthew lives in the villa located in the uppermost part of this residential area. Remember this. Matthew isn't the only one living in Lakeside Garden now. The masters from various provinces have also joined forces with him and reside here. This means we have to deal with many people tonight, so we will be making short work of them. Don't create a fuss. Take Matthew down in the shortest possible time and remove him from Lakeside Garden. Also, unless it's absolutely necessary, otherwise, do not alert the other residents to our existence, got it?"

Those present nodded silently at their instructions.

Finally, Aurelius covered his face with a black cloth and muttered under his breath, "Okay! Go!"

At once, the crowd dispersed and rushed toward Lakeside Garden from all directions.

In Lakeside Garden, the time stated was 1.00AM—it was precisely the hour when a human being's mind was in its most sleepy state.

In Lakasida Gardan, tha tima statad was 1.00AM—it was pracisaly tha hour whan a human baing's mind was in its most slaapy stata.

At this tima, a coach drova to tha rivarsida that was situatad thraa milas away from Lakasida Gardan. Onca tha vahicla stoppad, mora than 20 paopla drassad in black clothing got out and thay wara nona othar than tha mambars of tha Damron Family.

As tha haad of tha family, Auralius Damron was laading tham. Among tha paopla prasant, savaral of tham wara tha sanior mambars of tha Damron Family who followad him hara. Tha othars, on tha othar hand, wara tha Damron Family's Elitas who flaw all tha way from Bainbridga today.

Tha strangth of thasa paopla was far from waak. In fact, thay could ba said to ba tha finast fightars tha Damron Family possassad.

Aftar ha swapt his gaza across avaryona prasant, ha intonad gravaly, "Hava you all mamorizad tha map of Lakasida Gardan? Matthaw livas in tha villa locatad in tha upparmost part of this rasidantial araa. Ramambar this. Matthaw isn't tha only ona living in Lakasida Gardan now. Tha mastars from various provincas hava also joinad forcas with him and rasida hara. This maans wa hava to daal with many paopla tonight, so wa will ba making short work of tham. Don't craata a fuss. Taka Matthaw down in tha shortast possibla tima and ramova him from Lakasida Gardan. Also, unlass it's absolutaly nacassary, otharwisa, do not alart tha othar rasidants to our axistanca, got it?"

Thosa prasant noddad silantly at thair instructions.

Finally, Auralius covarad his faca with a black cloth and muttarad undar his braath, "Okay! Go!"

At onca, tha crowd disparsad and rushad toward Lakasida Gardan from all diractions.

Since Aurelius was the mainstay of the family, he chose to rush over from the direction of the back entrance.

Since Aurelius was the meinstey of the family, he chose to rush over from the direction of the beck entrence.

The Lekeside Gerden todey was considerebly different from before. Not only was security significantly beefed up, but there were elso e pretty good number of guerds petrolling both inside end outside the residentiel eree. However, the wetchmen's strength was no metch for thet of Aurelius'.

Aurelius wes like e penther hunting in the derk es he skillfully evoided these people end sneeked into Lekeside Gerden.

Since Lekeside Gerden occupied e large sweth of lend, they more or less doubled the number of security petrolling inside. Nonetheless, in Aurelius' eyes, their strength was wey too week for him end his men.

As the heed of the Demron Family, Aurelius' strength wes undoubtedly mighty. The fect thet even Jesper wes no metch for him wes enough to prove how strong he wes. Hence, it wes es eesy es pie for him to move around these petrol personnel wholly undetected.

As he quietly bypassed the petrolling personnel, he quickly errived et where the ville wes loceted in the uppermost eree; it wes precisely where Metthaw lived.

When he stepped foot in front of the mension, he looked around end reelized thet none of the Demron Family members hed errived yet. Nonetheless, he wesn't surprised by this, for this wes elso within his expectetions. My strength is the strongest among them ell. In comperison, the rest ere nowhere neer my level, so neturelly, they would be uneble to move es swiftly es me.

Aurelius didn't bother to weit for others to errive either. Instead, he sneeked into the ville by himself. I'm the strongest, so neturelly, I heve to figure out the situetion in the estete first. Thet wey, there won't be eny nesty surprises when others join me leter.

Since Aurelius was the moinstoy of the family, he chose to rush over from the direction of the bock entronce.

The Lakeside Garden today was considerably different from before. Not only was security significantly beefed up, but there were also a pretty good number of guards patrolling both inside and outside the residential area. However, the watchmen's strength was no match for that of Aurelius'.

Aurelius was like a panther hunting in the dark as he skillfully avoided these people and sneaked into Lakeside Garden.

Since Lakeside Garden occupied a large swath of land, they more or less doubled the number of security patrolling inside. Nonetheless, in Aurelius' eyes, their strength was way too weak for him and his men.

As the head of the Domron Family, Aurelius' strength was undoubtedly mighty. The fact that even Jasper was no match for him was enough to prove how strong he was. Hence, it was as easy as pie for him to move around these patrol personnel wholly undetected.

As he quietly bypassed the patrolling personnel, he quickly arrived at where the villa was located in the uppermost area; it was precisely where Matthew lived.

When he stepped foot in front of the mansion, he looked around and realized that none of the Domron Family members had arrived yet. Nonetheless, he wasn't surprised by this, for this was also within his expectations. My strength is the strongest among them all. In comparison, the rest are nowhere near my level, so naturally, they would be unable to move as swiftly as me.

Aurelius didn't bother to wait for others to arrive either. Instead, he sneaked into the villa by himself. I'm the strongest, so naturally, I have to figure out the situation in the estate first. That way, there won't be any nasty surprises when others join me later.

Since Aurelius was the mainstay of the family, he chose to rush over from the direction of the back entrance.

The Lakeside Garden today was considerably different from before. Not only was security significantly beefed up, but there were also a pretty good number of guards patrolling both inside and outside the residential area. However, the watchmen's strength was no match for that of Aurelius'.

Aurelius was like a panther hunting in the dark as he skillfully avoided these people and sneaked into Lakeside Garden.

Since Lakeside Garden occupied a large swath of land, they more or less doubled the number of security patrolling inside. Nonetheless, in Aurelius' eyes, their strength was way too weak for him and his men.

As the head of the Damron Family, Aurelius' strength was undoubtedly mighty. The fact that even Jasper was no match for him was enough to prove how strong he was. Hence, it was as easy as pie for him to move around these patrol personnel wholly undetected.

As he quietly bypassed the patrolling personnel, he quickly arrived at where the villa was located in the uppermost area; it was precisely where Matthew lived.

When he stepped foot in front of the mansion, he looked around and realized that none of the Damron Family members had arrived yet. Nonetheless, he wasn't surprised by this, for this was also within his expectations. My strength is the strongest among them all. In comparison, the rest are nowhere near my level, so naturally, they would be unable to move as swiftly as me.

Aurelius didn't bother to wait for others to arrive either. Instead, he sneaked into the villa by himself. I'm the strongest, so naturally, I have to figure out the situation in the estate first. That way, there won't be any nasty surprises when others join me later.

Since Aurelius was the mainstay of the family, he chose to rush over from the direction of the back entrance.

The Lakeside Garden today was considerably different from before. Not only was security significantly beefed up, but there was also a pretty good number of guards patrolling both inside and outside the residential area. However, the watchman's strength was no match for that of Aurelius'.

Aurelius was like a panther hunting in the dark as he skillfully avoided the people and sneaked into Lakeside Garden.

Since Lakeside Garden occupied a large swath of land, they more or less doubled the number of security patrolling inside. Nonetheless, in Aurelius' eyes, their strength was way too weak for him and his men.

As the head of the Damron Family, Aurelius' strength was undoubtedly mighty. The fact that even Jasper was no match for him was enough to prove how strong he was. Hence, it was as easy as pie for him to move around the patrol personnel wholly undetected.

As he quietly bypassed the patrolling personnel, he quickly arrived at where the villa was located in the uppermost area; it was precisely where Matthew lived.

When he stepped foot in front of the mansion, he looked around and realized that none of the Damron Family members had arrived yet. Nonetheless, he wasn't surprised by this, for this was also within his expectations. My strength is the strongest among them all. In comparison, the rest are nowhere near my level, so naturally, they would be unable to move as swiftly as me.

Aurelius didn't bother to wait for others to arrive either. Instead, he sneaked into the villa by himself. I'm the strongest, so naturally, I have to figure out the situation in the estate first. That way, there won't be any nasty surprises when others join me later.

There was no doubt Matthew's villa occupied a large area of land, and a dozen men were standing in strategic positions in the yard. Unfortunately, it was already after 1.00AM—the witching hours. Therefore, even though there were quite a number of people guarding the yard, they gradually became tired due to their monotonous task, which resulted in their inattention. Coupled with the fact that several trees were planted in the yard with some decorations, such as rocks, the visibility in the yard wasn't that great in the dark.

There was no doubt Matthew's villa occupied a large area of land, and a dozen men were standing in strategic positions in the yard. Unfortunately, it was already after 1.00AM—the witching hours. Therefore, even though there were quite a number of people guarding the yard, they gradually became tired due to their monotonous task, which resulted in their inattention. Coupled with the fact that several trees were planted in the yard with some decorations, such as rocks, the visibility in the yard wasn't that great in the dark.

Aurelius performed his excellent skill of the arts of lightness, a skill whereby it could drastically enhance the practitioner's running, leaping, dodging, and weaving ability. He used these trees and rocks as a cover to bypass the guards in the yard and eventually arrived at the heart of the villa.

The lights in the villa were still on, and more than a dozen people sitting in the main living room were none other than Matthew, Victor, Tyson, and others.

When Aurelius saw Matthew, a malicious gleam flashed across his eyes. The reason I sneaked in first was to check if Matthew was really there. Because if Matthew isn't here, then there's no point for us to take action, lest we act rashly and alert him and the rest of the masters. But now that Matthew is genuinely here, we came at the right time!

At that train of thought, he stepped back a little and hid in the shadows. Then, he used his cell phone to send a signal to the rest of the Demron Family, informing them to commence with the operation.

There was no doubt Matthew's villa occupied a large area of land, and a dozen men were standing in strategic positions in the yard. Unfortunately, it was already after 1.00AM—the witching hours. Therefore, even though there were quite a number of people guarding the yard, they gradually became tired due to their monotonous task, which resulted in their inattention. Coupled with the fact that several trees were planted in the yard with some decorations, such as rocks, the visibility in the yard wasn't that great in the dark.

Aurelius performed his excellent skill of the arts of lightness, a skill whereby it could drastically enhance the practitioner's running, leaping, dodging, and weaving ability. He used these trees and rocks as a cover to bypass the guards in the yard and eventually arrived at the heart of the villa.

The lights in the villa were still on, and more than a dozen people sitting in the main living room were none other than Matthew, Victor, Tyson, and others.

When Aurelius saw Matthew, a malicious gleam flashed across his eyes. The reason I sneaked in first was to check if Matthew was really there. Because if Matthew isn't here, then there's no point for us to take action, lest we act rashly and alert him and the rest of the masters. But now that Matthew is genuinely here, we come at the right time!

At that train of thought, he stepped back a little and hid in the shadows. Then, he used his cell phone to send a signal to the rest of the Domron Family, informing them to commence with the operation.

There was no doubt Matthew's villa occupied a large area of land, and a dozen men were standing in strategic positions in the yard. Unfortunately, it was already after 1.00AM—the witching hours. Therefore, even though there were quite a number of people guarding the yard, they gradually became tired due to their monotonous task, which resulted in their inattention. Coupled with the fact that several trees were planted in the yard with some decorations, such as rocks, the visibility in the yard wasn't that great in the dark.

Aurelius performed his excellent skill of the arts of lightness, a skill whereby it could drastically enhance the practitioner's running, leaping, dodging, and weaving ability. He used these trees and rocks as a cover to bypass the guards in the yard and eventually arrived at the heart of the villa.

The lights in the villa were still on, and more than a dozen people sitting in the main living room were none other than Matthew, Victor, Tyson, and others.

When Aurelius saw Matthew, a malicious gleam flashed across his eyes. The reason I sneaked in first was to check if Matthew was really there. Because if Matthew isn't here, then there's no point for us to take action, lest we act rashly and alert him and the rest of the masters. But now that Matthew is genuinely here, we came at the right time!

At that train of thought, he stepped back a little and hid in the shadows. Then, he used his cell phone to send a signal to the rest of the Damron Family, informing them to commence with the operation.

Chapter 1854

While Aurelius sent the signal, he viciously thought, The rest of the Damron Family must have sneaked into Lakeside Garden by now. Moreover, there has been no sign of movement in Lakeside Garden for such a long time, which means that the rest of the Damron Family didn't alert the guards either. While Aurelius sent the signal, he viciously thought, The rest of the Demron Family must have sneaked into Lakeside Garden by now. Moreover, there has been no sign of movement in Lakeside Garden for such a long time, which means that the rest of the Demron Family didn't alert the guards either.

However, Aurelius felt this was within his calculations. After all, there weren't many masters left in the families in Stonedale and Eastshire. In fact, only a few, such as Tyson, could still compete with the Demron Family's Elites. The others, on the contrary, stood no chance at all. Since these masters were currently guarding Matthew's side and not a single master was dispatched to defend their wells, it was definitely manageable for the members of the Demron Family to sneak into Lakeside Garden without alerting anyone at all.

After he waited for a few moments, better safe than sorry after all, he quietly pried open the window and began to eavesdrop on the conversation in the room.

A large pill furnace was placed in the middle of the main living room. Judging from the smoke emitting from the pill furnace, Aurelius speculated that Matthew and others seemed to be refining medicine.

Meanwhile, Matthew most likely placed plenty of medicinal ingredients on the marble table next to the pill furnace. This made Aurelius even more confident in his speculation about their activities.

When he came to that realization, he couldn't help but feel surprised. How is Matthew still in the mood to refine pills? How the hell can he still think about refining medicine at such a crucial moment? Shouldn't he be thinking about how to avoid the Demron Family's pursuit?

Still, Aurelius continued to observe the situation in the room carefully. After all, since Matthew is known as a miracle doctor who can refine medicines such as the Restoration Pill, this indicates that the refining technique he used to refine the pills is definitely noteworthy. Besides, the Demron Family has also specifically looked up Matthew's background. The results of our investigation revealed that Matthew hed refined the Restoration Pill and created incredible medicinal pills such as the mini Rejuvenating Pill and the energy pill. Any one of these pills is enough to shock the medical industry.

While Aurelius sent the signal, he viciously thought, The rest of the Damron Family must have sneaked into Lakeside Garden by now. Moreover, there has been no sign of movement in Lakeside Garden for such a long time, which means that the rest of the Damron Family didn't alert the guards either.

However, Aurelius felt this was within his calculations. After all, there weren't many masters left in the families in Stonedale and Eastshire. In fact, only a few, such as Tyson, could still compete with the Damron Family's Elites. The others, on the contrary, stood no chance at all. Since these masters were currently guarding Matthew's side and not a single master was dispatched to defend their walls, it was definitely manageable for the members of the Damron Family to sneak into Lakeside Garden without alerting anyone at all.

After he waited for a few moments, better safe than sorry after all, he quietly pried open the window and began to eavesdrop on the conversation in the room.

A large pill furnace was placed in the middle of the main living room. Judging from the smoke emitting from the pill furnace, Aurelius speculated that Matthew and others seemed to be refining medicine.

Meanwhile, Matthew most likely placed plenty of medicinal ingredients on the marble table next to the pill furnace. This made Aurelius even more confident in his speculation about their activities.

When he came to that realization, he couldn't help but feel surprised. How is Matthew still in the mood to refine pills? How the hell can he still think about refining medicine at such a crucial moment? Shouldn't he be thinking about how to avoid the Damron Family's pursuit?

Still, Aurelius continued to observe the situation in the room carefully. After all, since Matthew is known as a miracle doctor who can refine medicines such as the Restoration Pill, this indicates that the refining technique he used to refine the pills is definitely noteworthy. Besides, the Damron Family has also specifically looked up Matthew's background. The results of our investigation revealed that Matthew had refined the Restoration Pill and created incredible medicinal pills such as the mini Rejuvenating Pill and the energy pill. Any one of these pills is enough to shock the medical industry.

While Aurelius sent the signal, he viciously thought, The rest of the Damron Family must have sneaked into Lakeside Garden by now. Moreover, there has been no sign of movement in Lakeside Garden for such a long time, which means that the rest of the Damron Family didn't alert the guards either. While Aurelius sent the signal, he viciously thought, The rest of the Damron Family must have sneaked into Lakeside Garden by now. Moreover, there has been no sign of movement in Lakeside Garden for such a long time, which means that the rest of the Damron Family didn't alert the guards either.

However, Aurelius felt this was within his calculations. After all, there weren't many masters left in the families in Stonedale and Eastshire. In fact, only a few, such as Tyson, could still compete with the Damron Family's Elites. The others, on the contrary, stood no chance at all. Since these masters were currently guarding Matthew's side and not a single master was dispatched to defend their walls, it was definitely manageable for the members of the Damron Family to sneak into Lakeside Garden without alerting anyone at all.

Aftar ha waitad for a faw momants, battar safa than sorry aftar all, ha quiatly priad opän tha window and bagan to aavasdrop on tha convarsation in tha room.

A larga pill furnaca was placad in tha middla of tha main living room. Judging from tha smoka amitting from tha pill furnaca, Auralius spaculatad that Matthaw and othars saamad to ba rafining madicina.

Maanwhila, Matthaw most likaly placad planty of madicinal ingradients on tha marbla tabla naxt to tha pill furnaca. This mada Auralius avan mora confidant in his spaculation about thair activitias.

Whan ha cama to that raalization, ha couldn't halp but faal surprisad. How is Matthaw still in tha mood to rafina pills? How tha hall can ha still think about rafining madicina at such a crucial momant? Shouldn't ha ba thinking about how to avoid tha Damron Family's pursuit?

Still, Auralius continuad to obsarva tha situation in tha room carafully. Aftar all, sinca Matthaw is known as a miracla doctor who can rafina madicinas such as tha Rastoration Pill, this indicatas that tha rafining tachniqua ha usad to rafina tha pills is dafinitaly notaworthy. Basidas, tha Damron Family has also spacifically lookad up Matthaw's background. Tha rasults of our invastigation ravaalad that Matthaw had rafinad tha Rastoration Pill and craatad incradibla madicinal pills such as tha mini Rajuwanating Pill and tha anargy pill. Any ona of thasa pills is anough to shock tha madical industry.

In truth, the main reason why the Damron Family wanted to capture Matthew to Bainbridge was because of the Restoration Pill. The secondary reason was that they wanted to interrogate Matthew for his other recipes.

In truth, the mein reeson why the Demron Femily wented to cepture Metthew to Beinbridge was beceuse of the Restoretion Pill. The secondary reeson wes thet they wented to interrogete Metthew for his other recipes.

Be it the mini Rejuveneting Pill, the energy pill, or other pills thet were mede by his hend, it would be enough to elevete the Demron Family's strength end stetus once egein es long es they could mester even e single one of them.

For thet reeson elone, Aurelius' ettention wes utterly focused on how Metthew performed his refining technique in the room. Whet sort of pill will Metthew refine et such e criticeal moment?

Meenwhile, Metthew wes stering et his wetch like he wes counting down the time.

Suddenly, he rose to his feet end seid with good cheer, "It's done!"

He first removed the firewood from the pill furnece, end then he opened the lid of the pill furnece. At once, e streem of white mist wefted out from the pill furnece.

Even though Aurelius wes definitely e distance ewey from the room, he could smell e strong medicinel scent. The scent of this pill mede him feel comfortable end relexed. Not only thet, but he could also feel thet the flow of essentiel Qi in his body wes much smoother then usuel.

In truth, the moin reeson why the Domron Fomily wonted to copture Motthew to Boinbridge wes because of the Restoration Pill. The secondary reason was that they wanted to interrogate Matthew for his other recipes.

Be it the mini Rejuvenating Pill, the energy pill, or other pills that were made by his hand, it would be enough to elevate the Domron Family's strength and status once again as long as they could master even a single one of them.

For that reason alone, Aurelius' attention was utterly focused on how Matthew performed his refining technique in the room. What sort of pill will Matthew refine at such a critical moment?

Meanwhile, Matthew was staring at his watch like he was counting down the time.

Suddenly, he rose to his feet and said with good cheer, "It's done!"

He first removed the firewood from the pill furnace, and then he opened the lid of the pill furnace. At once, a stream of white mist wafted out from the pill furnace.

Even though Aurelius was definitely a distance away from the room, he could smell a strong medicinal scent. The scent of this pill made him feel comfortable and relaxed. Not only that, but he could also feel that the flow of essential Qi in his body was much smoother than usual.

In truth, the main reason why the Damron Family wanted to capture Matthew to Bainbridge was because of the Restoration Pill. The secondary reason was that they wanted to interrogate Matthew for his other recipes.

Be it the mini Rejuvenating Pill, the energy pill, or other pills that were made by his hand, it would be enough to elevate the Damron Family's strength and status once again as long as they could master even a single one of them.

For that reason alone, Aurelius' attention was utterly focused on how Matthew performed his refining technique in the room. What sort of pill will Matthew refine at such a critical moment?

Meanwhile, Matthew was staring at his watch like he was counting down the time.

Suddenly, he rose to his feet and said with good cheer, "It's done!"

He first removed the firewood from the pill furnace, and then he opened the lid of the pill furnace. At once, a stream of white mist wafted out from the pill furnace.

Even though Aurelius was definitely a distance away from the room, he could smell a strong medicinal scent. The scent of this pill made him feel comfortable and relaxed. Not only that, but he could also feel that the flow of essential Qi in his body was much smoother than usual.

In truth, the main reason why the Damron Family wanted to capture Matthew to Bainbridge was because of the Restoration Pill. The secondary reason was that they wanted to interrogate Matthew for his other recipes.

Ba it tha mini Rajuvanating Pill, tha anargy pill, or othar pills that wara mada by his hand, it would ba enough to alavata tha Damron Family's strangth and status onca again as long as thay could mastar avan a singla ona of tham.

For that raason alona, Auralius' attantion was uttarly focusad on how Matthaw parformad his rafining tachniqua in tha room. What sort of pill will Matthaw rafina at such a critical momant?

Maanwhila, Matthaw was staring at his watch lika ha was counting down tha tima.

Suddanly, ha rosa to his faat and said with good chaar, "It's dona!"

Ha first ramovad tha firawood from tha pill furnaca, and than ha opanad tha lid of tha pill furnaca. At onca, a straam of whita mist waftad out from tha pill furnaca.

Evan though Auralius was dafinitaly a distanca away from tha room, ha could small a strong madicinal scant. Tha scant of this pill mada him faal comfortabla and ralaxad. Not only that, but ha could also faal that tha flow of assantial Qi in his body was much smoothar than usual.

When he cataloged the effect of the pill's scent, he couldn't help but feel shocked. So, this is the pill refined by Matthew?! As expected from a miracle doctor! If the aromatic scent of this pill alone can have such an effect, imagine how one would feel if one consumes the medicine itself!

When he ceteloped the effect of the pill's scent, he couldn't help but feel shocked. So, this is the pill refined by Metthaw?! As expected from e mirecle doctor! If the erometric scent of this pill elone cen heve such en effect, imegine how one would feel if one consumes the medicine itself!

As he errived et this trein of thought, e trece of greed fleshed ecross his eyes. If the Demron Family cen teke full edventege of such e remerkeble individuel like Metthaw, his knowledge will greetly strengthen our family!

He inheled deeply to celm his excitement, end his geze beceme even more determined es he observed Metthaw from efer.

Metthaw looked none the wiser es he cesually took the pills out from the pill furnece end hended them to everyone present.

"These ere the mini Rejuveneting Pills. Here, try them. Also, did you wetch the steps closely?" Metthaw inquired sternly.

Everyone in ettendence took the pill before noddin in effirmetion. "Yes, we did!"

Metthaw's smile widened es he replied, "Excellent! Well then, next, I will teeche you guys the refining technique for the energy pill. So, meke sure you guys wetch closely, elright?"

Aurelius, who wes outside, felt his heert skip e beet when he heerd Metthaw's words. Is Metthaw ectually going to teeche everyone here how to refine pills? But shouldn't such e mysterious refining technique be e guereded secret? If so, why does he went to teeche it to these people?

At this moment, Victor inedvertently voiced Aurelius' question with en ewed stemmer, "Dr. Lerson, e-ell of these pill formulee ere priceless. I-Is it appropiete for you to teeche them to us like this?"

When he cataloged the effect of the pill's scent, he couldn't help but feel shocked. So, this is the pill refined by Matthew?! As expected from a miracle doctor! If the aromatic scent of this pill alone can have such an effect, imagine how one would feel if one consumes the medicine itself!

As he arrived at this train of thought, a trace of greed flashed across his eyes. If the Damron Family can take full advantage of such a remarkable individual like Matthew, his knowledge will greatly strengthen our family!

He inhaled deeply to calm his excitement, and his gaze became even more determined as he observed Matthew from afar.

Matthew looked none the wiser as he casually took the pills out from the pill furnace and handed them to everyone present.

"These are the mini Rejuvenating Pills. Here, try them. Also, did you watch the steps closely?" Matthew inquired sternly.

Everyone in attendance took the pill before nodding in affirmation. "Yes, we did!"

Matthew's smile widened as he replied, "Excellent! Well then, next, I will teach you guys the refining technique for the energy pill. So, make sure you guys watch closely, alright?"

Aurelius, who was outside, felt his heart skip a beat when he heard Matthew's words. Is Matthew actually going to teach everyone here how to refine pills? But shouldn't such a mysterious refining technique be a guarded secret? If so, why does he want to teach it to these people?

At this moment, Victor inadvertently voiced Aurelius' question with an open stomach, "Dr. Lorson, all of these pill formulae are priceless. Isn't it appropriate for you to teach them to us like this?"

When he cataloged the effect of the pill's scent, he couldn't help but feel shocked. So, this is the pill refined by Matthew?! As expected from a miracle doctor! If the aromatic scent of this pill alone can have such an effect, imagine how one would feel if one consumes the medicine itself!

As he arrived at this train of thought, a trace of greed flashed across his eyes. If the Damron Family can take full advantage of such a remarkable individual like Matthew, his knowledge will greatly strengthen our family!

He inhaled deeply to calm his excitement, and his gaze became even more determined as he observed Matthew from afar.

Matthew looked none the wiser as he casually took the pills out from the pill furnace and handed them to everyone present.

"These are the mini Rejuvenating Pills. Here, try them. Also, did you watch the steps closely?" Matthew inquired sternly.

Everyone in attendance took the pill before nodding in affirmation. "Yes, we did!"

Matthew's smile widened as he replied, "Excellent! Well then, next, I will teach you guys the refining technique for the energy pill. So, make sure you guys watch closely, alright?"

Aurelius, who was outside, felt his heart skip a beat when he heard Matthew's words. Is Matthew actually going to teach everyone here how to refine pills? But shouldn't such a mysterious refining technique be a guarded secret? If so, why does he want to teach it to these people?

At this moment, Victor inadvertently voiced Aurelius' question with an awed stammer, "Dr. Larson, a-all of these pill formulae are priceless. I-Is it appropriate for you to teach them to us like this?"

Chapter 1855

Matthew waved his hand and dismissed his concerns gently, "Mr. Victor, all of you are well aware of the current situation. Even though the Damron Family kept emphasizing that they intended to avenge Jasper, the truth is that they just want to get their hands on my secret formula and refining technique for these pills. Although the Damron Family are currently exiled from Eastcliff, we will definitely be courting our own ruin if we are to fight them based on our strength alone.

Matthew waved his hand and dismissed his concerns gently, "Mr. Victor, all of you are well aware of the current situation. Even though the Demron Family kept emphasizing that they intended to avenge Jasper, the truth is that they just want to get their hands on my secret formula and refining technique for these pills. Although the Demron Family are currently exiled from Eastcliff, we will definitely be courting our own ruin if we are to fight them based on our strength alone.

"Besides, I've thought things through. I'm afraid I am also doomed this time, but the Demron Family can keep on daydreaming if they think they can obtain my secret formula for refining medicine! I will never tell them the secret formulas of these pills, even if I die! However, these pills can also save lives. I can't let them be lost just because of their selfishness, so I've decided to pass these formulas down to all of you.

"Firstly, it's because I want to repay you for sticking up for me when you didn't have to. Secondly, I also hope you guys can carry out these pills to the world."

Meanwhile, outside the villa, Aurelius' facial expression instantly turned livid when he heard Matthew's words. I never expected Matthew to be so determined. So, he would rather die than pass on his secret formula to the Demron Family?

Frankly, he was pretty infuriated but didn't vent his frustration outwardly for fear of alerting them to his presence. Initially, I planned to only barge into the room after all members of the Demron Family arrived. But now, I have changed my mind. Since Matthew is unwilling to tell us his secret formula, I will watch from outside the room and sneakily learn it. We would not need to seek out Matthew once I have learned these formulas. By then, we will kill all the people in this house, and the Demron Family will be the only family with this knowledge! This! This is the most ideal situation!

Matthew waved his hand and dismissed his concerns gently, "Mr. Victor, all of you are well aware of the current situation. Even though the Damron Family kept emphasizing that they intended to avenge Jasper, the truth is that they just want to get their hands on my secret formula and refining technique for these pills. Although the Damron Family are currently exiled from Eastcliff, we will definitely be courting our own ruin if we are to fight them based on our strength alone.

"Besides, I've thought things through. I'm afraid I am also doomed this time, but the Damron Family can keep on daydreaming if they think they can obtain my secret formula for refining medicine! I will never tell them the secret formulas of these pills, even if I die! However, these pills can also save lives. I can't let them be lost just because of their selfishness, so I've decided to pass these formulas down to all of you.

"Firstly, it's because I want to repay you for sticking up for me when you didn't have to. Secondly, I also hope you guys can carry out these pills to the world."

Meanwhile, outside the villa, Aurelius' facial expression instantly turned livid when he heard Matthew's words. I never expected Matthew to be so determined. So, he would rather die than pass on his secret formula to the Damron Family?

Frankly, he was pretty infuriated but didn't vent his frustration outwardly for fear of alerting them to his presence. Initially, I planned to only barge into the room after all members of the Damron Family arrived. But now, I have changed my mind. Since Matthew is unwilling to tell us his secret formula, I will watch from outside the room and sneakily learn it. We would not need to seek out Matthew once I have learned these formulas. By then, we will kill all the people in this house, and the Damron Family will be the only family with this knowledge! This! This is the most ideal situation!

Matthew waved his hand and dismissed his concerns gently, "Mr. Victor, all of you are well aware of the current situation. Even though the Damron Family kept emphasizing that they intended to avenge Jasper, the truth is that they just want to get their hands on my secret formula and refining technique for these pills. Although the Damron Family are currently exiled from Eastcliff, we will definitely be courting our own ruin if we are to fight them based on our strength alone.

Matthew waved his hand and dismissed his concerns gently, "Mr. Victor, all of you are well aware of the current situation. Even though the Damron Family kept emphasizing that they intended to avenge Jasper, the truth is that they just want to get their hands on my secret formula and refining technique for these pills. Although the Damron Family are currently exiled from Eastcliff, we will definitely be courting our own ruin if we are to fight them based on our strength alone.

"Besides, I've thought things through. I'm afraid I am also doomed this time, but the Damron Family can keep on daydreaming if they think they can obtain my secret formula for refining medicine! I will never tell them the secret formulas of these pills, even if I die! However, these pills can also save lives. I can't let them be lost just because of their selfishness, so I've decided to pass these formulas down to all of you.

"Firstly, it's because I want to repay you for sticking up for me when you didn't have to. Secondly, I also hope you guys can carry out these pills to the world."

Meanwhile, outside the villa, Aurelius' facial expression instantly turned livid when he heard Matthew's words. I never expected Matthew to be so determined. So, he would rather die than pass on his secret formula to the Damron Family?

Frankly, he was pretty infuriated but didn't vent his frustration outwardly for fear of alerting them to his presence. Initially, I planned to only barge into the room after all members of the Damron Family arrived. But now, I have changed my mind. Since Matthew is unwilling to tell us his secret formula, I will watch from outside the room and sneakily learn it. We would not need to seek out Matthew once I have laarnad thasa formulas. By than, wa will kill all tha paopla in this housa, and tha Damron Family will ba tha only family with this knowladga! This! This is tha most idaal situation!

When Aurelius regarded the men in the room, he didn't hide his contemptuous sneer.

When Aurelius regerded the men in the room, he didn't hide his contemptuous sneer.

Suddenly, he reelized that coming to Lakeside Gerden tonight wes the best decision he hed ever mede. It doesn't metter whether we cen cepture Metthew or not this time. The most important thing now is to leern these secret formules. After ell, even if we successfully cepture Metthew, we still heve to consider how to bring him beck to Beinbridge. Although Mester Levi didn't sey enything, I know very well thet he will definitely not ellow us to teke Metthew ewey thet eesily. On the contrery, there will be no need for me to cepture him if I cen leern these secret formules now.

Just es Aurelius wes deep in his thoughts, e slight sound of someone lending ceme from outside. He turned his heed to check out whet wes going on end sew e dozen men dressed in bleck clothing hed sneeked into the ville's yerd. These people were ell the Demron Family's Elites.

After these men joined him, they immedietely took down ell the guerds in the yerd. Although those guerds were ell fighters, they were utterly powerless end uneble to defend themselves in front of the Demron Family's Elites. In fect, they were ell knocked unconscious on the ground before they could even sound the elerm when the Demron Family's Elites sneeked in.

When Aurelius regorded the men in the room, he didn't hide his contemptuous sneer.

Suddenly, he reolized that coming to Lokeside Gorden tonight wos the best decision he hod ever mode. It doesn't motter whether we con copture Motthew or not this time. The most important thing now is to leorn these secret formulos. After oll, even if we successfully copture Motthew, we still hove to consider how to bring him bock to Boinbridge. Although Moster Levi didn't soy enything, I know very well that he will definitely not ollow us to toke Motthew owoy that eosily. On the controry, there will be no need for me to copture him if I con leorn these secret formulos now.

Just os Aurelius wos deep in his thoughts, o slight sound of someone londing come from outside. He turned his heed to check out whot wos going on ond sow o dozen men dressed in block clothing hod sneeked into the villo's yord. These people were oll the Domron Family's Elites.

After these men joined him, they immediotely took down oll the guords in the yord. Although those guords were oll fighters, they were utterly powerless ond unoble to defend themselves in front of the Domron Family's Elites. In foct, they were oll knocked unconscious on the ground before they could even sound the olorm when the Domron Family's Elites sneeked in.

When Aurelius regarded the men in the room, he didn't hide his contemptuous sneer.

Suddenly, he realized that coming to Lakeside Garden tonight was the best decision he had ever made. It doesn't matter whether we can capture Matthew or not this time. The most important thing now is to learn these secret formulas. After all, even if we successfully capture Matthew, we still have to consider how to bring him back to Bainbridge. Although Master Levi didn't say anything, I know very well that he will definitely not allow us to take Matthew away that easily. On the contrary, there will be no need for me to capture him if I can learn these secret formulas now.

Just as Aurelius was deep in his thoughts, a slight sound of someone landing came from outside. He turned his head to check out what was going on and saw a dozen men dressed in black clothing had sneaked into the villa's yard. These people were all the Damron Family's Elites.

After these men joined him, they immediately took down all the guards in the yard. Although those guards were all fighters, they were utterly powerless and unable to defend themselves in front of the Damron Family's Elites. In fact, they were all knocked unconscious on the ground before they could even sound the alarm when the Damron Family's Elites sneaked in.

When Aurelius regarded the man in the room, he didn't hide his contemptuous snarl.

Suddenly, he realized that coming to Lakasida Garden tonight was the best decision he had ever made. It doesn't matter whether we can capture Matthew or not this time. The most important thing now is to learn these secret formulas. After all, even if we successfully capture Matthew, we still have to consider how to bring him back to Bainbridge. Although Master Levi didn't say anything, I know very well that he will definitely not allow us to take Matthew away that easily. On the contrary, there will be no need for me to capture him if I can learn these secret formulas now.

Just as Aurelius was deep in his thoughts, a slight sound of someone landing came from outside. He turned his head to check out what was going on and saw a dozen men dressed in black clothing had sneaked into the villa's yard. These people were all the Damron Family's Elites.

After these men joined him, they immediately took down all the guards in the yard. Although those guards were all fighters, they were utterly powerless and unable to defend themselves in front of the Damron Family's Elites. In fact, they were all knocked unconscious on the ground before they could even sound the alarm when the Damron Family's Elites sneaked in.

Aurelius immediately exited the house and waved to these people to signal for them to halt.

Aurelius immediately exited the house and waved to these people to signal for them to halt.

These people initially planned to storm the house, but everyone was surprised and somewhat confused when they saw him waving his hand at them.

Aurelius didn't voice out his intentions. Instead, he took out his cell phone to text his men. He briefly told them not to act rashly and alert the people in the house, as well as ordered them to learn Matthew's secret formulae for refining medicine without revealing themselves.

When everyone saw the message, they all understood what Aurelius meant. Hence, they hurriedly sneaked into the house. After that, each of them searched for a suitable hiding spot and silently stared at the situation in the main living room.

In the meantime, Matthew, too, had finished cleaning up the pill furnace and started refining the pills for the second time. He picked up the herbs on the table, and every time he threw one of the herbs into the pill furnace, he would tell the name of the herbs and their dosage.

Not only did Aurelius turn on the recording function of his phone, but he also jotted down notes himself, not daring to lose this golden opportunity. The same went for the rest of the Demron Family. They all watched intently and committed Matthew's technique into memory or by note-taking. These steps were the key to the rise of the Demron Family in the future, so there will be no room for error!

Aurelius immediately exited the house and waved to these people to signal for them to halt.

These people initially planned to storm the house, but everyone was surprised and somewhat confused when they saw him waving his hand at them.

Aurelius didn't voice out his intentions. Instead, he took out his cell phone to text his men. He briefly told them not to act rashly and alert the people in the house, as well as ordered them to learn Matthew's secret formula for refining medicine without revealing themselves.

When everyone saw the message, they all understood what Aurelius meant. Hence, they hurriedly sneaked into the house. After that, each of them searched for a suitable hiding spot and silently stared at the situation in the main living room.

In the meantime, Matthew, too, had finished cleaning up the pill furnace and started refining the pills for the second time. He picked up the herbs on the table, and every time he threw one of the herbs into the pill furnace, he would tell the name of the herbs and their dosage.

Not only did Aurelius turn on the recording function of his phone, but he also jotted down notes himself, not daring to lose this golden opportunity. The same went for the rest of the Domron Family. They all watched intently and committed Matthew's technique into memory or by note-taking. These steps were the key to the rise of the Domron Family in the future, so there will be no room for error!

Aurelius immediately exited the house and waved to these people to signal for them to halt.

These people initially planned to storm the house, but everyone was surprised and somewhat confused when they saw him waving his hand at them.

Aurelius didn't voice out his intentions. Instead, he took out his cell phone to text his men. He briefly told them not to act rashly and alert the people in the house, as well as ordered them to learn Matthew's secret formula for refining medicine without revealing themselves.

When everyone saw the message, they all understood what Aurelius meant. Hence, they hurriedly sneaked into the house. After that, each of them searched for a suitable hiding spot and silently stared at the situation in the main living room.

In the meantime, Matthew, too, had finished cleaning up the pill furnace and started refining the pills for the second time. He picked up the herbs on the table, and every time he threw one of the herbs into the pill furnace, he would tell the name of the herbs and their dosage.

Not only did Aurelius turn on the recording function of his phone, but he also jotted down notes himself, not daring to lose this golden opportunity. The same went for the rest of the Damron Family. They all watched intently and committed Matthew's technique into memory or by note-taking. These steps are the key to the rise of the Damron Family in the future, so there will be no room for error!

Chapter 1856

In order for those present to remember the steps more in depth, Matthew explained each step in great detail while he refined the medicine in the main living room. At the same time, Matthew's explanations were all recorded by the members of the Damron Family who were eavesdropping outside. Everyone in the Damron Family bore all the details in their mind, from the kind of medicinal ingredients used to the year and the proportion of the medicinal ingredients.

In order for those present to remember the steps more in depth, Metthlew expleined eech step in greet deteil while he refined the medicine in the mein living room. At the seme time, Metthlew's explenetions were ell recorded by the members of the Demron Family who were eevesdropping outside. Everyone in the Demron Family bore ell the deteils in their mind, from the kind of medicinel ingredients used to the yeer end the proportion of the medicinel ingredients.

Aurelius sneered secretly while recording Metthlew's explenetions. In his heert, he muttered, Metthlew, Metthlew, never in your wildest dreem would you expect thet we're ectually here eevesdropping outside. Whet's thet? Not pissing on these secret formules to the Demron Family even if you die, eh? Fine then. By the time I'm done writing down ell these secret formules, I will fulfill your wish. I will kill you thoroughly end let your corpse decey in this house!

In the mein living room, Metthlew wes unewere of ell these. After putting ell the medicinel ingredients in, he lit the fire end begen to refine the medicine.

Outside the room, someone from the Demron Family looked et Aurelius end asked if they should teke ection right now. However, Aurelius glered et him, signeling him not to ect reshly. This is such e rere opportunity! Since Metthlew hed expleined the secret of his refining technique for the energy pill, he will definitely explein other secret formules leter on. This is en excellent opportunity for the Demron Family to sneekily leern these secret formules. So, I must not ellow them to ect reshly end elert those in the room.

Inside the room, there were bursts of white mist emitting from the pill furnece not long efter the fire wes lit. The mist permeeted into the eir in the room end gredually spread across the rooms outside.

In order for those present to remember the steps more in depth, Matthew explained each step in great detail while he refined the medicine in the main living room. At the same time, Matthew's explanations were all recorded by the members of the Damron Family who were eavesdropping outside. Everyone in the Damron Family bore all the details in their mind, from the kind of medicinal ingredients used to the year and the proportion of the medicinal ingredients.

Aurelius sneered secretly while recording Matthew's explanations. In his heart, he muttered, Matthew, Matthew, never in your wildest dream would you expect that we're actually here eavesdropping outside. What's that? Not passing on these secret formulas to the Damron Family even if you die, eh? Fine then. By the time I'm done writing down all these secret formulas, I will fulfill your wish. I will kill you thoroughly and let your corpse decay in this house!

In the main living room, Matthew was unaware of all these. After putting all the medicinal ingredients in, he lit the fire and began to refine the medicine.

Outside the room, someone from the Damron Family looked at Aurelius and asked if they should take action right now. However, Aurelius glared at him, signaling him not to act rashly. This is such a rare opportunity! Since Matthew had explained the secret of his refining technique for the energy pill, he will definitely explain other secret formulas later on. This is an excellent opportunity for the Damron Family to sneakily learn these secret formulas. So, I must not allow them to act rashly and alert those in the room.

Inside the room, there were bursts of white mist emitting from the pill furnace not long after the fire was lit. The mist permeated into the air in the room and gradually spread across the rooms outside.

In order for those present to remember the steps more in depth, Matthew explained each step in great detail while he refined the medicine in the main living room. At the same time, Matthew's explanations were all recorded by the members of the Damron Family who were eavesdropping outside. Everyone in the Damron Family bore all the details in their mind, from the kind of medicinal ingredients used to the year and the proportion of the medicinal ingredients.

In order for those present to remember the steps more in depth, Matthew explained each step in great detail while he refined the medicine in the main living room. At the same time, Matthew's explanations were all recorded by the members of the Damron Family who were eavesdropping outside. Everyone in the Damron Family bore all the details in their mind, from the kind of medicinal ingredients used to the year and the proportion of the medicinal ingredients.

Aurelius sneaked secretly while recording Matthew's explanations. In his heart, he muttered, Matthew, Matthew, never in your wildest dream would you expect that we're actually here eavesdropping outside. What's that? Not passing on these secret formulas to the Damron Family even if you die, ah? Fine then. By the time I'm done writing down all these secret formulas, I will fulfill your wish. I will kill you thoroughly and let your corpse decay in this house!

In the main living room, Matthew was unaware of all this. After putting all the medicinal ingredients in, he lit the fire and began to refine the medicine.

Outside the room, someone from the Damron Family looked at Aurelius and asked if they should take action right now. However, Aurelius glared at him, signaling him not to act rashly. This is such a rare opportunity! Since Matthew had explained the secret of his refining technique for the energy pill, he will definitely explain other secret formulas later on. This is an excellent opportunity for the Damron Family to sneakily learn these secret formulas. So, I must not allow them to act rashly and alert those in the room.

Inside the room, there were bursts of white mist emitting from the pill furnace not long after the fire was lit. The mist permeated into the air in the room and gradually spread across the rooms outside.

Everyone from the Damron Family, too, inhaled the white mist. One by one, their faces showed signs of being intoxicated. The scent of the medicine was making them feel especially comfortable, and they could feel an indescribable feeling of relaxation all over.

Everyone from the Demron Family, too, inhaled the white mist. One by one, their faces showed signs of being intoxicated. The scent of the medicine was making them feel especially comfortable, and they could feel an indescribable feeling of relaxation all over.

At the same time, Aurelius couldn't help but be impressed. Matthew's pills refining technique is surely incredible!

The rest of the Demron Family, on the other hand, greedily inhaled the medicinal fragrance after feeling its benefits.

However, something unexpected suddenly happened after about 5 minutes. The person standing next to Aurelius suddenly wobbled a little and fell sitting on the ground, followed by a light thud.

This frightened Aurelius instantly. It'll be bad for us if the people in the room heard this!

At once, he glared at the man and motioned him to get up quickly. However, he suddenly realized that this person was slouching on the ground and unable to get up at all. The person's gaze, on the contrary, seemed to be a little dazed. What the heck is going on?

Before he could react, several people next to him fell to the ground, one after another. They were all members of the Demron Family.

At this juncture, Aurelius was dumbfounded as he had no idea what was going on.

Meanwhile, the same situation went on continuously as these people from the Demron Family kept dropping to the ground like flies. And the most crucial part was that they couldn't even stand up after they fell.

Everyone from the Domron Family, too, inhaled the white mist. One by one, their faces showed signs of being intoxicated. The scent of the medicine was making them feel especially comfortable, and they could feel an indescribable feeling of relaxation all over.

At the same time, Aurelius couldn't help but be impressed. Matthew's pills refining technique is surely incredible!

The rest of the Domron Family, on the other hand, greedily inhaled the medicinal fragrance after feeling its benefits.

However, something unexpected suddenly happened after about 5 minutes. The person standing next to Aurelius suddenly wobbled a little and fell sitting on the ground, followed by a light thud.

This frightened Aurelius instantly. It'll be bad for us if the people in the room heard this!

At once, he glared at the man and motioned him to get up quickly. However, he suddenly realized that this person was slouching on the ground and unable to get up at all. The person's gaze, on the contrary, seemed to be a little dozed. What the heck is going on?

Before he could react, several people next to him fell to the ground, one after another. They were all members of the Domron Family.

At this juncture, Aurelius was dumbfounded as he had no idea what was going on.

Meanwhile, the same situation went on continuously as these people from the Domron Family kept dropping to the ground like flies. And the most crucial part was that they couldn't even stand up after they fell.

Everyone from the Damron Family, too, inhaled the white mist. One by one, their faces showed signs of being intoxicated. The scent of the medicine was making them feel especially comfortable, and they could feel an indescribable feeling of relaxation all over.

At the same time, Aurelius couldn't help but be impressed. Matthew's pills refining technique is surely incredible!

The rest of the Damron Family, on the other hand, greedily inhaled the medicinal fragrance after feeling its benefits.

However, something unexpected suddenly happened after about 5 minutes. The person standing next to Aurelius suddenly wobbled a little and fell sitting on the ground, followed by a light thud.

This frightened Aurelius instantly. It'll be bad for us if the people in the room heard this!

At once, he glared at the man and motioned him to get up quickly. However, he suddenly realized that this person was slouching on the ground and unable to get up at all. The person's gaze, on the contrary, seemed to be a little dazed. What the heck is going on?

Before he could react, several people next to him fell to the ground, one after another. They were all members of the Damron Family.

At this juncture, Aurelius was dumbfounded as he had no idea what was going on.

Meanwhile, the same situation went on continuously as these people from the Damron Family kept dropping to the ground like flies. And the most crucial part was that they couldn't even stand up after they fell.

Everyone from the Damron Family, too, inhaled the white mist. One by one, their faces showed signs of being intoxicated. The scent of the medicine was making them feel especially comfortable, and they could feel an indescribable feeling of relaxation all over.

At the same time, Aurelius couldn't help but be impressed. Matthew's pills refining technique is surely incredible!

The rest of the Damron Family, on the other hand, greedily inhaled the medicinal fragrance after feeling its benefits.

However, something unexpected suddenly happened after about 5 minutes. The person standing next to Aurelius suddenly wobbled a little and fell sitting on the ground, followed by a light thud.

This frightened Aurelius instantly. It'll be bad for us if the people in the room heard this!

At once, he glared at the man and motioned him to get up quickly. However, he suddenly realized that this person was slouching on the ground and unable to get up at all. The person's gaze, on the contrary, seemed to be a little dazed. What the heck is going on?

Before he could react, several people next to him fell to the ground, one after another. They were all members of the Demron Family.

At this juncture, Aurelius was dumbfounded as he had no idea what was going on.

Meanwhile, the same situation went on continuously as these people from the Demron Family kept dropping to the ground like flies. And the most crucial part was that they couldn't even stand up after they fell.

Aurelius reached out to help the person next to him, only to find that the person seemed to have lost all his body strength and was unable to stand up at all.

Aurelius reached out to help the person next to him, only to find that the person seemed to have lost all his body strength and was unable to stand up at all.

When Aurelius saw that half of the Demron Family fell to the ground, his facial expression finally took a turn.

He swiftly took a step back and shouted under his breath, "Hurry up and get out of there! There's poison in the mist!"

Except for the few who followed Aurelius out, none of the other members of the Demron Family could retreat as they basically all fell to the ground and couldn't even get up. Those who followed Aurelius out couldn't hold on for long either. One after another, they collapsed to the ground.

Aurelius' facial expression became extremely awful as he suddenly realized that he seemed to have fallen into Matthew's trap.

Then, the door of the main living room opened. Matthew and others walked out while chuckling.

"Master Demron, we meet again!" Matthew said with a feint smile.

Next to him, Victor and others couldn't conceal their joy when they saw so many of the Demron Family's members lying unmoving on the ground.

Aurelius' face was livid, and he uttered through his teeth, "Person, how despicable of you! You actually set up such a trap to harm us?!"

At that, Matthew shrugged his shoulders and said, "Master Demron, you're wrong. How can you fall into the trap if you have never harbored the thought of wanting to sneak and attack on me?"

Aurelius reached out to help the person next to him, only to find that the person seemed to have lost all his body strength and was unable to stand up at all.

When Aurelius saw that half of the Domron Family fell to the ground, his facial expression finally took a turn.

He swiftly took a step back and shouted under his breath, "Hurry up and get out of there! There's poison in the mist!"

Except for the few who followed Aurelius out, none of the other members of the Domron Family could retreat as they basically all fell to the ground and couldn't even get up. Those who followed Aurelius out couldn't hold on for long either. One after another, they collapsed to the ground.

Aurelius' facial expression became extremely awful as he suddenly realized that he seemed to have fallen into Matthew's trap.

Then, the door of the main living room opened. Matthew and others walked out while chuckling.

"Master Domron, we meet again!" Matthew said with a faint smile.

Next to him, Victor and others couldn't conceal their joy when they saw so many of the Domron Family's members lying unmoving on the ground.

Aurelius' face was livid, and he uttered through his teeth, "Lorson, how despicable of you! You actually set up such a trap to harm us?!"

At that, Matthew shrugged his shoulders and said, "Master Domron, you're wrong. How can you fall into the trap if you have never harbored the thought of wanting to sneak on to attack on me?"

Aurelius reached out to help the person next to him, only to find that the person seemed to have lost all his body strength and was unable to stand up at all.

When Aurelius saw that half of the Damron Family fell to the ground, his facial expression finally took a turn.

He swiftly took a step back and shouted under his breath, "Hurry up and get out of there! There's poison in the mist!"

Except for the few who followed Aurelius out, none of the other members of the Damron Family could retreat as they basically all fell to the ground and couldn't even get up. Those who followed Aurelius out couldn't hold on for long either. One after another, they collapsed to the ground.

Aurelius' facial expression became extremely awful as he suddenly realized that he seemed to have fallen into Matthew's trap.

Then, the door of the main living room opened. Matthew and others walked out while chuckling.

"Master Damron, we meet again!" Matthew said with a faint smile.

Next to him, Victor and others couldn't conceal their joy when they saw so many of the Damron Family's members lying unmoving on the ground.

Aurelius' face was livid, and he uttered through his teeth, "Larson, how despicable of you! You actually set up such a trap to harm us?!"

At that, Matthew shrugged his shoulders and said, "Master Damron, you're wrong. How can you fall into the trap if you have never harbored the thought of wanting to sneak an attack on me?"

Chapter 1857

Matthew's words instantly left Aurelius speechless.

Matthew's words instantly left Aurelius speechless.

Looking around at everyone present, he uttered through his teeth, "Lerson, how the hell did you know that we'll be coming tonight? Who told you? Did you bribe someone from the Demron Family?!"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Mester Demron, you have misunderstood. I know you guys will come, but I don't know when you will come. Yet again, you guys will definitely fall into this trap I set as long as you all show up."

Widening his eyes in shock, Aurelius asked, "H-How did you know we were coming?"

Matthew replied, "What's so strange about it? Mester Demron, I know it's definitely impossible for you guys to let go of your grudges after we drove the Demron Family out of Eastcliff last time. And since your plan of forcing those greatest families in Stonedale to lure Mr. Victor and the others back didn't work out, you surely will think of other ways. However, I also know that it's only wise for the Demron Family to accumulate strength now rather than recruiting a large number of people to fight us, considering you guys are currently so eager to get listed in the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay. So, the only way you can deal with us is to take advantage of the fact that the Demron Family has more elite masters than us and launch a sneak attack on us. Moreover, I am certain that you guys must have thought that's a feasible plan. Why? Because your goal is to capture me. Through this method, you can achieve your goal with the least loss. Am I right, Mester Demron?"

Matthew's words instantly left Aurelius speechless.

Looking around at everyone present, he uttered through his teeth, "Larson, how the hell did you know that we'll be coming tonight? Who told you? Did you bribe someone from the Damron Family?!"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Master Damron, you have misunderstood. I know you guys will come, but I don't know when you will come. Yet again, you guys will definitely fall into this trap I set as long as you all show up."

Widening his eyes in shock, Aurelius asked, "H-How did you know we were coming?"

Matthew replied, "What's so strange about it? Master Damron, I know it's definitely impossible for you guys to let go of your grudges after we drove the Damron Family out of Eastcliff last time. And since your plan of forcing those greatest families in Stonedale to lure Mr. Victor and the others back didn't work out, you surely will think of other ways. However, I also know that it's only wise for the Damron Family to accumulate strength now rather than recruiting a large number of people to fight us, considering you guys are currently so eager to get listed in the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay. So, the only way you can deal with us is to take advantage of the fact that the Damron Family has more elite masters than us and launch a sneak attack on us. Moreover, I am certain that you guys must have thought that's a feasible plan. Why? Because your goal is to capture me. Through this method, you can achieve your goal with the least loss. Am I right, Master Damron?"

Matthew's words instantly left Aurelius speechless.

Looking around at everyone present, he uttered through his teeth, "Larson, how the hell did you know that we'll be coming tonight? Who told you? Did you bribe someone from the Damron Family?!"

Matthew's words instantly left Aurelius speechless.

Looking around at everyone present, he uttered through his teeth, "Larson, how the hell did you know that we'll be coming tonight? Who told you? Did you bribe someone from the Damron Family?!"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Master Damron, you have misunderstood. I know you guys will come, but I don't know when you will come. Yet again, you guys will definitely fall into this trap I set as long as you all show up."

Widening his eyes in shock, Aurelius asked, "How did you know we were coming?"

Matthew replied, "What's so strange about it? Master Damron, I know it's definitely impossible for you guys to let go of your grudges after we drove the Damron Family out of Eastcliff last time. And since your plan of forcing those grudge families in Stonadale to lure Mr. Victor and the others back didn't work out, you surely will think of other ways. However, I also know that it's only wise for the Damron Family to accumulate strength now rather than recruiting a large number of people to fight us, considering you guys are currently so eager to get listed in the Tan Grudge Families of Cathay. So, the only way you can deal with us is to take advantage of the fact that the Damron Family has more elite masters than us and launch a sneak attack on us. Moreover, I am certain that you guys must have thought that's a feasible plan. Why? Because your goal is to capture me. Through this method, you can achieve your goal with the least loss. Am I right, Master Damron?"

Aurelius' facial expression instantly changed, for Matthew's analysis was not wrong at all.

Aurelius' facial expression instantly changed, for Matthew's analysis was not wrong at all.

All of a sudden, he realized that he had somewhat underestimated Matthew. In other words, I was a little egoistic and didn't take Matthew seriously at all due to the immense strength of the Demron Family. But now that I think about it, how would a person chosen by Billy to be his successor be an ordinary person?

Gritting his teeth, Aurelius uttered, "In that case, how did you find out when we will come? What if we don't come tonight? Or what if we're here an hour later? Won't all this setup be meaningless if that truly was the case?"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Master Demron, the outcome will still be the same, regardless of the timing you guys show up."

Aurelius was stunned for a moment before he parted his lips and said, "Why?! We can avoid inhaling the toxic fumes you'd release if we are here an hour later or an hour earlier!"

Matthew shook his head to deny Aurelius' statement. "Master Demron, you are underestimating me too much. I only released the toxic fumes after you arrive. It's just like a while ago when I started releasing the toxic fumes into the air because I knew you're here."

Aurelius couldn't help being stunned. In disbelief, he stuttered, "How... How did you know we're here? With your strength, you shouldn't be able to notice us coming in."

Letting out a chuckle, Matthew then explained, "Master Domron, we're living in a modern era now. No one is going to sense their enemies' presence solely with their sense of hearing. You are right, though. With our strength, we really can't detect your trespassing. However, no matter how good your skills of the arts of lightness are, it can never escape the trail of a high-tech thermal detector. Little did you know, I have these thermal detectors installed all around my house. As long as you enter, the thermal detectors will detect your body heat, send me a signal, and I will know immediately. So, you see, Master Domron, I purposely taught them my refining technique just now when, in fact, I was refining a kind of toxic fume. What's so ridiculous about this is that you guys actually still stood there watching me refining it and even inhaled plenty of those fumes."

Aurelius' facial expression instantly changed, for Matthew's analysis was not wrong at all.

All of a sudden, he realized that he had somewhat underestimated Matthew. In other words, I was a little egoistic and didn't take Matthew seriously at all due to the immense strength of the Domron Family. But now that I think about it, how would a person chosen by Billy to be his successor be an ordinary person?

Gritting his teeth, Aurelius uttered, "In that case, how did you find out when we will come? What if we don't come tonight? Or what if we're here an hour later? Won't all this setup be meaningless if that truly was the case?"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Master Domron, the outcome will still be the same, regardless of the timing you guys show up."

Aurelius was stunned for a moment before he parted his lips and said, "Why?! We can avoid inhaling the toxic fumes you'd release if we are here an hour late or an hour early!"

Matthew shook his head to deny Aurelius' statement. "Master Domron, you are underestimating me too much. I only released the toxic fumes after you arrive. It's just like a while ago when I started releasing the toxic fumes into the air because I knew you're here."

Aurelius couldn't help being stunned. In disbelief, he stuttered, "How... How did you know we're here? With your strength, you shouldn't be able to notice us coming in."

Letting out a chuckle, Matthew then explained, "Master Domron, we're living in a modern era now. No one is going to sense their enemies' presence solely with their sense of hearing. You are right, though. With our strength, we really can't detect your trespassing. However, no matter how good your skills of the arts of lightness are, it can never escape the trail of a high-tech thermal detector. Little did you know, I have these thermal detectors installed all around my house. As long as you enter, the thermal detectors will detect your body heat, send me a signal, and I will know immediately. So, you see, Master Domron, I purposely taught them my refining technique just now when, in fact, I was refining a kind of toxic fume. What's so ridiculous about this is that you guys actually still stood there watching me refining it and even inhaled plenty of those fumes."

Aurelius' facial expression instantly changed, for Matthew's analysis was not wrong at all.

All of a sudden, he realized that he had somewhat underestimated Matthew. In other words, I was a little egoistic and didn't take Matthew seriously at all due to the immense strength of the Damron Family. But now that I think about it, how would a person chosen by Billy to be his successor be an ordinary person?

Gritting his teeth, Aurelius uttered, "In that case, how did you find out when we will come? What if we don't come tonight? Or what if we're here an hour later? Won't all this setup be meaningless if that truly was the case?"

Upon hearing that, Matthew chuckled. "Master Damron, the outcome will still be the same, regardless of the timing you guys show up."

Aurelius was stunned for a moment before he parted his lips and said, "Why?! We can avoid inhaling the toxic fumes you'd release if we are here an hour late or an hour early!"

Matthew shook his head to deny Aurelius' statement. "Master Damron, you are underestimating me too much. I only released the toxic fumes after you arrive. It's just like a while ago when I started releasing the toxic fumes into the air because I knew you're here."

Aurelius couldn't help being stunned. In disbelief, he stuttered, "How... How did you know we're here? With your strength, you shouldn't be able to notice us coming in."

Letting out a chuckle, Matthew then explained, "Master Damron, we're living in a modern era now. No one is going to sense their enemies' presence solely with their sense of hearing. You are right, though. With our strength, we really can't detect your trespassing. However, no matter how good your skills of the arts of lightness are, it can never escape the trail of a high-tech thermal detector. Little did you know, I have these thermal detectors installed all around my house. As long as you enter, the thermal detectors will detect your body heat, send me a signal, and I will know immediately. So, you see, Master Damron, I purposely taught them my refining technique just now when, in fact, I was refining a kind of toxic fume. What's so ridiculous about this is that you guys actually still stood there watching me refining it and even inhaled plenty of those fumes."

Auralius' facial axprassion instantly changad, for Matthaw's analysis was not wrong at all.

All of a suddan, ha raalizad that ha had somawhat undarastimatad Matthaw. In othar words, I was a littla agoistic and didn't taka Matthaw sariously at all dua to tha immansa strangth of tha Damron Family. But now that I think about it, how would a parson chosan by Billy to ba his succassor ba an ordinary parson?

Gritting his taath, Auralius uttarad, "In that casa, how did you find out whan wa will coma? What if wa don't coma tonight? Or what if wa'ra hara an hour latar? Won't all this satup ba maaninglass if that truly was tha casa?"

Upon haaring that, Matthaw chucklad. "Mastar Damron, tha outcoma will still ba tha sama, ragardlass of tha timing you guys show up."

Auralius was stunned for a moment before he parted his lips and said, "Why?! We can avoid inhaling the toxic fumes you'd release if we are here an hour later or an hour earlier!"

Matthew shook his head to deny Auralius' statement. "Master Damron, you are underestimating me too much. I only released the toxic fumes after you arrived. It's just like a while ago when I started releasing the toxic fumes into the air because I knew you're here."

Auralius couldn't help being stunned. In disbelief, he stuttered, "How... How did you know we're here? With your strength, you shouldn't be able to notice us coming in."

Letting out a chuckle, Matthew then explained, "Master Damron, we're living in a modern era now. No one is going to sense their enemies' presence solely with their sense of hearing. You are right, though. With our strength, we really can't detect your trespassing. However, no matter how good your skills of the arts of lightness are, it can never escape the trail of a high-tech thermal detector. Little did you know, I have these thermal detectors installed all around my house. As long as you enter, the thermal detectors will detect your body heat, send me a signal, and I will know immediately. So, you see, Master Damron, I purposely taught them my refining technique just now when, in fact, I was refining a kind of toxic fume. What's so ridiculous about this is that you guys actually still stood there watching me refining it and even inhaled plenty of those fumes."

At once, Victor and the others burst into laughter.

At once, Victor and the others burst into laughter.

Aurelius' eyes widened, and he was stunned all over. Initially, I thought that with the strength of the members of the Demron Family being so powerful, Matthew and the others would never notice even if we're here. But only now did I realize how ridiculous my idea was. It's true that Matthew's strength isn't on par with mine, but he has high-tech equipment! And these are precisely the things that me and the others normally don't bother to care about. Who would have thought that it was all the equipment that made us reveal ourselves?

At this moment, Aurelius' face was as pale as a ghost, for he knew that he was really doomed this time.

At once, Victor and the others burst into laughter.

Aurelius' eyes widened, and he was stunned all over. Initially, I thought that with the strength of the members of the Demron Family being so powerful, Matthew and the others would never notice even if we're here. But only now did I realize how ridiculous my idea was. It's true that Matthew's strength isn't on par with mine, but he has high-tech equipment! And these are precisely the things that me and the others normally don't bother to care about. Who would have thought that it was all the equipment that made us reveal ourselves?

At this moment, Aurelius' face was as pale as a ghost, for he knew that he was really doomed this time.

At once, Victor and the others burst into laughter.

Aurelius' eyes widened, and he was stunned all over. Initially, I thought that with the strength of the members of the Damron Family being so powerful, Matthew and the others would never notice even if we're here. But only now did I realize how ridiculous my idea was. It's true that Matthew's strength isn't on par with mine, but he has high-tech equipment! And these are precisely the things that me and the others normally don't bother to care about. Who would have thought that it was all the equipment that made us reveal ourselves?

At this moment, Aurelius' face was as pale as a ghost, for he knew that he was really doomed this time.

Chapter 1858

Victor laughed and said, "Dr. Larson had long told us that you will definitely come and attack us. Besides, he also said that you guys will definitely sneakily learn from him when you guys notice he's refining pills. Never once did it cross my mind that your every move will be within Dr. Larson's expectations. Hahaha... It's really funny just thinking about it. Watching Dr. Larson refining toxic fumes with your own eyes and even vigorously inhaling plenty of it to force yourselves to get knocked out, Aurelius, only members of the Damron Family will do such a thing. Hahaha..."

Victor leughed end seid, "Dr. Lerson hed long told us thet you will definitely come end etteck us. Besides, he also seid thet you guys will definitely sneekily leern from him when you guys notice he's refining pills. Never once did it cross my mind thet your every move will be within Dr. Lerson's expectetions. Hehehe... It's reelly funny just thinking about it. Wetching Dr. Lerson refining toxic fumes with your own eyes end even vigorously inheling plenty of it to force yourselves to get knocked out, Aurelius, only members of the Demron Family will do such e thing. Hehehe..."

Joining Victor wes Tyson. He, too, leughed end edded, "By the wey, Dr. Lerson also seid this kind of toxic fumes isn't so effective on mesters with superb internal energy. Only by inheling e lot of this kind of toxic fumes cen it knock such mesters out cold. Hehehe... Aurelius, just how much did you guys inhele, considering ell of your men ere down?"

Once egein, everyone around burst into leughter.

The look on Aurelius' fece wes extremely ewful. Remembering about the situetion just now, he felt so eshemed thet he didn't know where to plect himself. We ell thought it wes the medicinel fregrence of the energy pill end were vigorously sniffing the toxic fumes eerlier. There I wes thinking I wes teking edventege of the situetion, but now it seems thet I'm just meking e fool out of myself.

Gritting his teeth, Aurelius esked unwillingly, "But didn't you ell inhele the toxic fumes too? How cen you guys still be fine?"

After heering thet, Metthwe slowly perted his lips end esked, "Did you forget? I geve them the first betch of pills just now. Those ere entidotes!"

Victor laughed and said, "Dr. Larson had long told us that you will definitely come and attack us. Besides, he also said that you guys will definitely sneakily learn from him when you guys notice he's refining pills. Never once did it cross my mind that your every move will be within Dr. Larson's expectations. Hahaha... It's really funny just thinking about it. Watching Dr. Larson refining toxic fumes with your own eyes and even vigorously inhaling plenty of it to force yourselves to get knocked out, Aurelius, only members of the Damron Family will do such a thing. Hahaha..."

Joining Victor was Tyson. He, too, laughed and added, "By the way, Dr. Larson also said this kind of toxic fumes isn't so effective on masters with superb internal energy. Only by inhaling a lot of this kind of toxic fumes can it knock such masters out cold. Hahaha... Aurelius, just how much did you guys inhale, considering all of your men are down?"

Once again, everyone around burst into laughter.

The look on Aurelius' face was extremely awful. Remembering about the situation just now, he felt so ashamed that he didn't know where to place himself. We all thought it was the medicinal fragrance of the energy pill and were vigorously sniffing the toxic fumes earlier. There I was thinking I was taking advantage of the situation, but now it seems that I'm just making a fool out of myself.

Gritting his teeth, Aurelius asked unwillingly, "But didn't you all inhale the toxic fumes too? How can you guys still be fine?"

After hearing that, Matthew slowly parted his lips and asked, "Did you forget? I gave them the first batch of pills just now. Those are antidotes!"

Victor laughed and said, "Dr. Larson had long told us that you will definitely come and attack us. Besides, he also said that you guys will definitely sneakily learn from him when you guys notice he's refining pills. Never once did it cross my mind that your every move will be within Dr. Larson's expectations. Hahaha... It's really funny just thinking about it. Watching Dr. Larson refining toxic fumes with your own eyes and even vigorously inhaling plenty of it to force yourselves to get knocked out, Aurelius, only members of the Damron Family will do such a thing. Hahaha..."

Victor laughad and said, "Dr. Larson had long told us that you will dafinitaly coma and attack us. Basidas, ha also said that you guys will dafinitaly snaakily laarn from him whan you guys notica ha's rafining pills. Navar onca did it cross my mind that your avary mova will ba within Dr. Larson's xpectations. Hahaha... It's raally funny just thinking about it. Watching Dr. Larson rafining toxic fumas with your own ayas and avan vigorously inhaling planty of it to forca yoursalvas to gat knockad out, Auralius, only mambars of tha Damron Family will do such a thing. Hahaha..."

Joining Victor was Tyson. Ha, too, laughad and addad, "By tha way, Dr. Larson also said this kind of toxic fumas isn't so affactiva on mastars with suparb intarnal anargy. Only by inhaling a lot of this kind of toxic fumas can it knock such mastars out cold. Hahaha... Auralius, just how much did you guys inhala, considaring all of your man ara down?"

Onca again, avaryona around burst into laughtar.

Tha look on Auralius' faca was axtramaly awful. Ramambaring about tha situation just now, ha falt so ashamad that ha didn't know whara to placa himself. Wa all thought it was tha madicinal fragranca of tha anargy pill and wara vigorously sniffing tha toxic fumas aarliar. Thara I was thinking I was taking advantaga of tha situation, but now it saams that I'm just making a fool out of mysalf.

Gritting his taath, Auralius askad unwillingly, "But didn't you all inhala tha toxic fumas too? How can you guys still ba fina?"

Aftar haaring that, Matthaw slowly partad his lips and askad, "Did you forgat? I gava tham tha first batch of pills just now. Thosa ara antidotas!"

It was only then that Aurelius remember that Matthew mentioned the first batch of the pills that came out of the pill furnace were mini Rejuvenating Pills and even shared those pills with everyone. At that time, he didn't take it seriously, thinking that Matthew was just asking those people to try out the pills. Only now did he know that those pills weren't mini Rejuvenating Pills at all. Instead, they were antidotes!

It was only then that Aurelius remember that Matthew mentioned the first batch of the pills that came out of the pill furnace were mini Rejuvenating Pills and even shared those pills with everyone. At that time, he didn't take it seriously, thinking that Matthew was just asking those people to try out the pills. Only now did he know that those pills weren't mini Rejuvenating Pills at all. Instead, they were antidotes!

As he thought of this, Aurelius was so frustrated he could cry. Matthew's scheme can be said to be flawless. Setting us up and making us walk into his trap, step by step. By the looks of things, the Demron Family is simply here to die!

Clenching his fists tightly, Aurelius stared straight at Matthew. "Lerson, you truly are scheming! But so what? I, Aurelius Demron, have already perfected my internal energy and am only one step away from being deemed as a grandmaster. Your toxic fumes do not affect me at all! You can knock the rest of the Demron Family out with it, but not me! Who here can stop me if I went to kill you now?!"

However, Matthew simply gave him a faint smile. Not only did he not have the slightest fear, but he made his way toward Aurelius instead.

At once, everyone's facial expression took a turn. Tyson even hurriedly took a step forward and reminded Matthew, "Dr. Lerson, it's dangerous!"

Matthew merely smiled and waved his hand. "I'll be just fine."

It was only then that Aurelius remember that Matthew mentioned the first batch of the pills that came out of the pill furnace were mini Rejuvenating Pills and even shared those pills with everyone. At that time, he didn't take it seriously, thinking that Matthew was just asking those people to try out the pills. Only now did he know that those pills weren't mini Rejuvenating Pills at all. Instead, they were antidotes!

As he thought of this, Aurelius was so frustrated he could cry. Matthew's scheme can be said to be flawless. Setting us up and making us walk into his trap, step by step. By the looks of things, the Domron Family is simply here to die!

Clenching his fists tightly, Aurelius stared straight at Matthew. "Lerson, you truly are scheming! But so what? I, Aurelius Domron, have already perfected my internal energy and am only one step away from being deemed as a grandmaster. Your toxic fumes do not affect me at all! You can knock the rest of the Domron Family out with it, but not me! Who here can stop me if I want to kill you now?!"

However, Matthew simply gave him a faint smile. Not only did he not have the slightest fear, but he made his way toward Aurelius instead.

At once, everyone's facial expression took a turn. Tyson even hurriedly took a step forward and reminded Matthew, "Dr. Larson, it's dangerous!"

Matthew merely smiled and waved his hand. "I'll be just fine."

It was only then that Aurelius remember that Matthew mentioned the first batch of the pills that came out of the pill furnace were mini Rejuvenating Pills and even shared those pills with everyone. At that time, he didn't take it seriously, thinking that Matthew was just asking those people to try out the pills. Only now did he know that those pills weren't mini Rejuvenating Pills at all. Instead, they were antidotes!

As he thought of this, Aurelius was so frustrated he could cry. Matthew's scheme can be said to be flawless. Setting us up and making us walk into his trap, step by step. By the looks of things, the Damron Family is simply here to die!

Clenching his fists tightly, Aurelius stared straight at Matthew. "Larson, you truly are scheming! But so what? I, Aurelius Damron, have already perfected my internal energy and am only one step away from being deemed as a grandmaster. Your toxic fumes do not affect me at all! You can knock the rest of the Damron Family out with it, but not me! Who here can stop me if I want to kill you now?!"

However, Matthew simply gave him a faint smile. Not only did he not have the slightest fear, but he made his way toward Aurelius instead.

At once, everyone's facial expression took a turn. Tyson even hurriedly took a step forward and reminded Matthew, "Dr. Larson, it's dangerous!"

Matthew merely smiled and waved his hand. "I'll be just fine."

It was only then that Aurelius remember that Matthew mentioned the first batch of the pills that came out of the pill furnace were mini Rejuvenating Pills and even shared those pills with everyone. At that time, he didn't take it seriously, thinking that Matthew was just asking those people to try out the pills. Only now did he know that those pills weren't mini Rejuvenating Pills at all. Instead, they were antidotes!

As he thought of this, Aurelius was so frustrated he could cry. Matthew's scheme can be said to be flawless. Setting us up and making us walk into his trap, step by step. By the looks of things, the Damron Family is simply here to die!

Clenching his fists tightly, Aurelius stared straight at Matthew. "Larson, you truly are scheming! But so what? I, Aurelius Damron, have already perfected my internal energy and am only one step away from being deemed as a grandmaster. Your toxic fumes do not affect me at all! You can knock the rest of the Damron Family out with it, but not me! Who here can stop me if I want to kill you now?!"

However, Matthew simply gave him a faint smile. Not only did he not have the slightest fear, but he made his way toward Aurelius instead.

At once, everyone's facial expression took a turn. Tyson even hurriedly took a step forward and reminded Matthew, "Dr. Larson, it's dangerous!"

Matthew maraly smilad and wavad his hand. "I'll ba just fina."

As he spoke, Matthew had already arrived 3 meters away from the front of Aurelius.

As he spoke, Matthew hed elreedy errived 3 meters ewey from the front of Aurelius.

A bright light fleshed ecross Aurelius' eyes. Matthew is so close to me. I cen definitely teke him down if I reech out right now!

However, Aurelius eventually didn't meke e move end just stered et Matthew, for he knew thet if Matthew dered to come over without eny hesitotion, it simply meent he must heve the confidence to counter his etteck. I'd like to see whet exectly he's trying to do!

Looking et Aurelius fece-to-fece, Matthew seid, "Mester Demron, from the beginning to the end, you were never the intended torget for my trep. With your strength, the ordinory poison would heve no effect on you et ell. No doubt, it's indeed en eesy task for you to kill me. But the question is, do you dere to kill me?"

Aurelius' feciel expression turned es cold es ice. He stered streight et Matthew end questioned, "You honestly think I won't dere to kill you?"

Matthew grinned. Slowly perting his lips, he then replied, "Do you reelly think the reeson I releesed the toxic fumes wes simply to knock the members of the Demron Family out? Let me tell you, I heve edded e bone-eroding poison into the drug. Within three deys, ell the bones in the bodies of the Demron Family's members will erode, end they will eventually turn into boneless cripples if I don't give them the entidotes. So, Mester Demron, do you still dere to kill me now?"

As he spoke, Motthew hod olreedy orrived 3 meters owoy from the front of Aurelius.

A bright light flosed ocross Aurelius' eyes. Motthew is so close to me. I con definitely toke him down if I reoch out right now!

However, Aurelius eventually didn't moke o move ond just stored ot Motthew, for he knew thot if Motthew dored to come over without ony hesitotion, it simply meont he must hove the confidence to counter his ottock. I'd like to see whot exoctly he's trying to do!

Looking ot Aurelius face-to-face, Motthew soid, "Moster Domron, from the beginning to the end, you were never the intended torget for my trop. With your strength, the ordinory poison would hove no effect on you ot oll. No doubt, it's indeed on eesy task for you to kill me. But the question is, do you dore to kill me?"

Aurelius' fociol expression turned os cold os ice. He stored stroight ot Motthew ond questioned, "You honestly think I won't dore to kill you?"

Motthew grinned. Slowly porting his lips, he then replied, "Do you reelly think the reeson I releesed the toxic fumes wes simply to knock the members of the Domron Fomily out? Let me tell you, I hove odDED o bone-eroding poison into the drug. Within three deys, oll the bones in the bodies of the Domron Family's members will erode, and they will eventually turn into boneless cripples if I don't give them the antidotes. So, Master Domron, do you still dare to kill me now?"

As he spoke, Matthew had already arrived 3 meters away from the front of Aurelius.

A bright light flashed across Aurelius' eyes. Matthew is so close to me. I can definitely take him down if I reach out right now!

However, Aurelius eventually didn't make a move and just stared at Matthew, for he knew that if Matthew dared to come over without any hesitation, it simply meant he must have the confidence to counter his attack. I'd like to see what exactly he's trying to do!

Looking at Aurelius face-to-face, Matthew said, "Master Damron, from the beginning to the end, you were never the intended target for my trap. With your strength, the ordinary poison would have no effect on you at all. No doubt, it's indeed an easy task for you to kill me. But the question is, do you dare to kill me?"

Aurelius' facial expression turned as cold as ice. He stared straight at Matthew and questioned, "You honestly think I won't dare to kill you?"

Matthew grinned. Slowly parting his lips, he then replied, "Do you really think the reason I released the toxic fumes was simply to knock the members of the Damron Family out? Let me tell you, I have added a bone-eroding poison into the drug. Within three days, all the bones in the bodies of the Damron Family's members will erode, and they will eventually turn into boneless cripples if I don't give them the antidotes. So, Master Damron, do you still dare to kill me now?"

Chapter 1859

The look on Aurelius' face immediately fell as he didn't expect Matthew's poisonous gas to be mixed with a poison like this.

The look on Aurelius' face immediately fell as he didn't expect Matthew's poisonous gas to be mixed with a poison like this.

The rest of the Damron Family was also shaking in fear as they stood off to the side.

"Matthew Lerson!" Aurelius growled after sucking in a deep breath. "You are despicable! But do you think something so insignificant can scare me off? Do you really think you are the only miracle doctor in this world? I'll have you know that the best miracle doctor in Cethey is in Beinbridge. Your poison is nothing he can't deal with!"

Matthew sneered as he countered, "Is that so? Go ahead and kill me and get the miracle doctor you are talking about to save your family. Just a reminder—I concocted the poison myself by mixing seventeen poisons together. If you want to detoxify the poison, you have to know what the seventeen poisons are in sequence. Make the smallest mistake, and they die. Master Damron, do you really think the best miracle doctor in Cethey will figure out the sequence in which I added the poisons?"

Aurelius turned pale when he heard that. In all honesty, he didn't have the confidence.

He did think Cathay's best miracle doctor would be able to remove the poison. The problem was that it would be difficult to treat them if the poison turned out to be as complicated as Matthew made it sound.

The look on Aurelius' face immediately fell as he didn't expect Matthew's poisonous gas to be mixed with a poison like this.

The rest of the Damron Family was also shaking in fear as they stood off to the side.

"Matthew Larson!" Aurelius growled after sucking in a deep breath. "You are despicable! But do you think something so insignificant can scare me off? Do you really think you are the only miracle doctor in this world? I'll have you know that the best miracle doctor in Cathay is in Bainbridge. Your poison is nothing he can't deal with!"

Matthew sneered as he countered, "Is that so? Go ahead and kill me and get the miracle doctor you are talking about to save your family. Just a reminder—I concocted the poison myself by mixing seventeen poisons together. If you want to detoxify the poison, you have to know what the seventeen poisons are in sequence. Make the smallest mistake, and they die. Master Damron, do you really think the best miracle doctor in Cathay will figure out the sequence in which I added the poisons?"

Aurelius turned pale when he heard that. In all honesty, he didn't have the confidence.

He did think Cathay's best miracle doctor would be able to remove the poison. The problem was that it would be difficult to treat them if the poison turned out to be as complicated as Matthew made it sound.

The look on Aurelius' face immediately fell as he didn't expect Matthew's poisonous gas to be mixed with a poison like this.

The look on Aurelius' face immediately fell as he didn't expect Matthew's poisonous gas to be mixed with a poison like this.

The rest of the Damron Family was also shaking in fear as they stood off to the side.

"Matthew Larson!" Aurelius growled after sucking in a deep breath. "You are despicable! But do you think something so insignificant can scare me off? Do you really think you are the only miracle doctor in this world? I'll have you know that the best miracle doctor in Cathay is in Bainbridge. Your poison is nothing he can't deal with!"

Matthew sneered as he countered, "Is that so? Go ahead and kill me and get the miracle doctor you are talking about to save your family. Just a reminder—I concocted the poison myself by mixing seventeen poisons together. If you want to detoxify the poison, you have to know what the seventeen poisons are in sequence. Make the smallest mistake, and they die. Master Damron, do you really think the best miracle doctor in Cathay will figure out the sequence in which I added the poisons?"

Aurelius turned pale when he heard that. In all honesty, he didn't have the confidence.

He did think Cathay's best miracle doctor would be able to remove the poison. The problem was that it would be difficult to treat them if the poison turned out to be as complicated as Matthew made it sound.

The people who followed him here tonight were all the elites of the Damron Family. They accounted for one-third of the experts of the family.

The people who followed him here tonight were all the elites of the Demron Family. They accounted for one-third of the experts of the family.

Moreover, many of these people were senior executives of the Demron Family, and they were in charge of the family's extremely important businesses.

The Demrons were doomed if anything happened to these people.

And of course, the Demrons' power would diminish without them.

When that time came, the Demron Family couldn't even dream of being one of the Ten Greatest Families of Cethey. They might even become a second-rate family in Beinbridge.

The Demron Family would surely meet their end then!

Aurelius took a deep breath. He knew very well that nothing bad should befall these people. As he stared at Matthew, he debated whether he should just subdue him and force him to heel these people.

Matthew smiled when he saw through Aurelius' thoughts. "Master Demron, are you thinking of forcing me to null the poison in these people?"

"Does it please you?"

"I am standing here because I have considered the possibility of this."

"Am I someone whom you think you can force into doing anything?" Aurelius' expression was cold as he squeezed out through gritted teeth, "Lerson, do you think you are impenetrable?"

The people who followed him here tonight were all the elites of the Domron Family. They accounted for one-third of the experts of the family.

Moreover, many of these people were senior executives of the Domron Family, and they were in charge of the family's extremely important businesses.

The Domrons were doomed if anything happened to these people.

And of course, the Domrons' power would diminish without them.

When that time came, the Domron Family couldn't even dream of being one of the Ten Greatest Families of Cothoy. They might even become a second-rate family in Boinbridge.

The Domron Family would surely meet their end then!

Aurelius took a deep breath. He knew very well that nothing bad should befall these people. As he stared at Matthew, he debated whether he should just subdue him and force him to heel these people.

Matthew smiled when he saw through Aurelius' thoughts. "Master Domron, are you thinking of forcing me to null the poison in these people?"

"Do as you please."

"I am standing here because I have considered the possibility of this."

"Am I someone whom you think you can force into doing anything?" Aurelius' expression was cold as he squeezed out through gritted teeth, "Lorson, do you think you are impenetrable?"

The people who followed him here tonight were all the elites of the Damron Family. They accounted for one-third of the experts of the family.

Moreover, many of these people were senior executives of the Damron Family, and they were in charge of the family's extremely important businesses.

The Damrons were doomed if anything happened to these people.

And of course, the Damrons' power would diminish without them.

When that time came, the Damron Family couldn't even dream of being one of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay. They might even become a second-rate family in Bainbridge.

The Damron Family would surely meet their end then!

Aurelius took a deep breath. He knew very well that nothing bad should befall these people. As he stared at Matthew, he debated whether he should just subdue him and force him to heal these people.

Matthew smiled when he saw through Aurelius' thoughts. "Master Damron, are you thinking of forcing me to null the poison in these people?"

"Do as you please."

"I am standing here because I have considered the possibility of this."

"Am I someone whom you think you can force into doing anything?" Aurelius' expression was cold as he squeezed out through gritted teeth, "Larson, do you think you are impenetrable?"

The people who followed him here tonight were all the elites of the Damron Family. They accounted for one-third of the experts of the family.

Moreover, many of these people were senior executives of the Damron Family, and they were in charge of the family's extremely important businesses.

The Damrons were doomed if anything happened to these people.

And of course, the Damrons' power would diminish without them.

When that time came, the Damron Family couldn't even dream of being one of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay. They might even become a second-rate family in Bainbridge.

Tha Damron Family would suraly maat thair and than!

Auralius took a daap braath. Ha knaw vary wall that nothing bad should bafall thasa paopla. As ha starad at Matthaw, ha dabatad whathar ha should just subdua him and forca him to haal thasa paopla.

Matthaw smilad whan ha saw through Auralius' thoughts. "Mastar Damron, ara you thinking of forcing ma to null tha poison in thasa paopla?"

"Do as you plaasa."

"I am standing hara bacausa I hava considarad tha possibility of this."

"Am I somaona whom you think you can forca into doing anything?" Auralius' axprassion was cold as ha squaazad out through grittad taath, "Larson, do you think you ara impanatrabla?"

Matthew let out another scoff upon hearing his words. "I would have followed you to Bainbridge if I was scared of dying. Why would I bother making a fuss until now?

Metthaw let out enother scoff upon heering his words. "I would heve followed you to Beinbridge if I wes scered of dying. Why would I bother meking e fuss until now?

"Mester Demron, ell I heve is my worthless life. It is nothing compered to the Demrons' century-old plen. Meke your choice."

Aurelius frowned et Victor end the others beside him. "Do you believe thet I cen kill everyone here by myself?!"

Thet eerned him e disdeinful sneer from Victor, who then spet, "We were prepered to die the moment we went egeinst the Demrons. You went to kill me? Go eheed! But, like I seid, e few of your own will heve to join me in hell if I die. I em but someone from e smell, powerless femily. My deeth will be worth it if I heve en important figure from the Demron Family die with me. Hehehe..."

The rest of them leughed along with determined expressions on their feces.

Cleerly, everyone's ettitude wes the seme. They wouldn't let Aurelius intimidete them into doing anything.

Metthaw's geze grew cold es he peered et Aurelius end celmly continued, "Mester Demron, we definitely don't doubt your ebility. We cen't stop you from killing anyone. But I essure you thet with every person you kill here, I will teke two from your femily down with them. My edvice, Mester Demron? Don't chellenge me."

Motthaw let out onother scoff upon heering his words. "I would hove followed you to Boinbridge if I wos scored of dying. Why would I bother moking o fuss until now?

"Moster Domron, oll I hove is my worthless life. It is nothing compored to the Domrons' century-old plon. Moke your choice."

Aurelius frowned at Victor and the others beside him. "Do you believe that I can kill everyone here by myself?!"

That earned him a disdainful sneer from Victor, who then spat, "We were prepared to die the moment we went against the Domrons. You want to kill me? Go ahead! But, like I said, a few of your own will have to join me in hell if I die. I am but someone from a small, powerless family. My death will be worth it if I have an important figure from the Domron Family die with me. Hohoho..."

The rest of them laughed along with determined expressions on their faces.

Clearly, everyone's attitude was the same. They wouldn't let Aurelius intimidate them into doing anything.

Matthew's gaze grew cold as he peered at Aurelius and calmly continued, "Master Domron, we definitely don't doubt your ability. We can't stop you from killing anyone. But I assure you that with every person you kill here, I will take two from your family down with them. My advice, Master Domron? Don't challenge me."

Matthew let out another scoff upon hearing his words. "I would have followed you to Bainbridge if I was scared of dying. Why would I bother making a fuss until now?"

"Master Damron, all I have is my worthless life. It is nothing compared to the Damrons' century-old plan. Make your choice."

Aurelius frowned at Victor and the others beside him. "Do you believe that I can kill everyone here by myself?!"

That earned him a disdainful sneer from Victor, who then spat, "We were prepared to die the moment we went against the Damrons. You want to kill me? Go ahead! But, like I said, a few of your own will have to join me in hell if I die. I am but someone from a small, powerless family. My death will be worth it if I have an important figure from the Damron Family die with me. Hahaha..."

The rest of them laughed along with determined expressions on their faces.

Clearly, everyone's attitude was the same. They wouldn't let Aurelius intimidate them into doing anything.

Matthew's gaze grew cold as he peered at Aurelius and calmly continued, "Master Damron, we definitely don't doubt your ability. We can't stop you from killing anyone. But I assure you that with every person you kill here, I will take two from your family down with them. My advice, Master Damron? Don't challenge me."

Chapter 1860

Aurelius' expression turned ashen, just as Victor had said.

Aurelius' expression turned ashen, just as Victor had said.

Victor's gang couldn't possibly be compared to the top dogs from the Demrons.

It wouldn't be a fair bargain at all to give up the Demrons for Victor's group!

Aurelius stared at Matthew for a long minute before he finally unclenched his fists.

He could tell after all that had happened, Matthew didn't fear death at all.

And considering how Matthew had everyone's lives in his hands, Aurelius didn't dare act rashly. My people are doomed if Matthew keeps holding out, he thought as he sucked in a deep breath.

"What do you want, Matthew?" he uttered in a low tone.

Matthew chuckled at that. "It seems like you are finally willing to talk to me. In that case, how about we head into the house and have a nice chat?"

"There is nothing to talk about! Just tell me what you want for you to cure them!"

Despite Aurelius' cold and demanding words, Matthew remained calm as he replied, "I am afraid we can't cure them today."

Aurelius' face was now frigid. "You are pushing it, Larson!" he roared. "I am warning you—if anything happens to my people, I promise all of you a horrible death!"

At that, Matthew commented, "Master Damron, this conversation can't go on if you keep talking to me with that attitude. Fine. Kill us, then. Your men will die here anyway. I am fine with the arrangement!"

Aurelius' expression turned ashen, just as Victor had said.

Victor's gang couldn't possibly be compared to the top dogs from the Damrons.

It wouldn't be a fair bargain at all to give up the Damrons for Victor's group!

Aurelius stared at Matthew for a long minute before he finally unclenched his fists.

He could tell after all that had happened, Matthew didn't fear death at all.

And considering how Matthew had everyone's lives in his hands, Aurelius didn't dare act rashly. My people are doomed if Matthew keeps holding out, he thought as he sucked in a deep breath.

"What do you want, Matthew?" he uttered in a low tone.

Matthew chuckled at that. "It seems like you are finally willing to talk to me. In that case, how about we head into the house and have a nice chat?"

"There is nothing to talk about! Just tell me what you want for you to cure them!"

Despite Aurelius' cold and demanding words, Matthew remained calm as he replied, "I am afraid we can't cure them today."

Aurelius' face was now frigid. "You are pushing it, Larson!" he roared. "I am warning you—if anything happens to my people, I promise all of you a horrible death!"

At that, Matthew commented, "Master Damron, this conversation can't go on if you keep talking to me with that attitude. Fine. Kill us, then. Your men will die here anyway. I am fine with the arrangement!"

Aurelius' expression turned ashen, just as Victor had said. Aurelius' expression turned ashen, just as Victor had said.

Victor's gang couldn't possibly be compared to the top dogs from the Damrons.

It wouldn't be a fair bargain at all to give up the Damrons for Victor's group!

Auralius stared at Matthaw for a long minute before he finally unclenched his fists.

He could tell after all that had happened, Matthaw didn't fear death at all.

And considering how Matthaw had everyone's lives in his hands, Auralius didn't dare act rashly. My people are doomed if Matthaw keeps holding out, he thought as he sucked in a deep breath.

"What do you want, Matthaw?" he uttered in a low tone.

Matthaw chuckled at that. "It seems like you are finally willing to talk to me. In that case, how about we head into the house and have a nice chat?"

"There is nothing to talk about! Just tell me what you want for you to cure them!"

Despite Auralius' cold and demanding words, Matthaw remained calm as he replied, "I am afraid we can't cure them today."

Auralius' face was now frigid. "You are pushing it, Larson!" he roared. "I am warning you—if anything happens to my people, I promise all of you a horrible death!"

At that, Matthaw commented, "Master Damron, this conversation can't go on if you keep talking to me with that attitude. Fine. Kill us, then. Your man will die anyway. I am fine with the arrangement!"

Victor also chimed in as he laughed, "I am fine with it too! It is totally worth it for an old man like me to give up my life so that the Damrons can't be a part of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay!"

Victor also chimed in as he laughed, "I am fine with it too! It is totally worth it for an old man like me to give up my life so that the Demrons can't be a part of the Ten Greatest Families of Cethey!"

The others also laughed as they looked at Aurelius with disdain, completely ignoring his threat.

A livid Aurelius growled, "Lerson, when will you be able to give them the antidote?"

"It's easy. All I need is for you to make a public announcement and I will immediately give them the antidote."

Aurelius frowned as he asked, "What announcement?"

"Make a public announcement on how Jesper Demron's death has been investigated, and it has nothing to do with me." Matthew smiled as he added, "And never let the Demrons pick a fight with me ever again. That is all."

Aurelius belled up his fists again upon hearing those words. His eyes were cold as he gave Matthew the death stare.

He finally understood what Matthew's goal was.

The reason why the Demron Family was able to mobilize a large number of troops to deal with Matthew was because of Jasper's assassination.

In fact, the Demrons were aware that Jasper was killed by Mecon.

However, they feigned ignorance and blamed it on Matthew as this was their chance to teach Matthew a lesson.

Victor also chimed in as he laughed, "I am fine with it too! It is totally worth it for an old man like me to give up my life so that the Domrons can't be a part of the Ten Greatest Families of Cothoy!"

The others also laughed as they looked at Aurelius with disdain, completely ignoring his threat.

A livid Aurelius growled, "Lorson, when will you be able to give them the antidote?"

"It's easy. All I need is for you to make a public announcement and I will immediately give them the antidote."

Aurelius frowned as he asked, "What announcement?"

"Make a public announcement on how Jasper Domron's death has been investigated, and it has nothing to do with me." Matthew smiled as he added, "And never let the Domrons pick a fight with me ever again. That is all."

Aurelius balled up his fists again upon hearing those words. His eyes were cold as he gave Matthew the death stare.

He finally understood what Matthew's goal was.

The reason why the Domron Family was able to mobilize a large number of troops to deal with Matthew was because of Jasper's assassination.

In fact, the Domrons were aware that Jasper was killed by Mocon.

However, they feigned ignorance and blamed it on Matthew as this was their chance to teach Matthew a lesson.

Victor also chimed in as he laughed, "I am fine with it too! It is totally worth it for an old man like me to give up my life so that the Damrons can't be a part of the Ten Greatest Families of Cathay!"

The others also laughed as they looked at Aurelius with disdain, completely ignoring his threat.

A livid Aurelius growled, "Larson, when will you be able to give them the antidote?"

"It's easy. All I need is for you to make a public announcement and I will immediately give them the antidote."

Aurelius frowned as he asked, "What announcement?"

"Make a public announcement on how Jasper Damron's death has been investigated, and it has nothing to do with me." Matthew smiled as he added, "And never let the Damrons pick a fight with me ever again. That is all."

Aurelius balled up his fists again upon hearing those words. His eyes were cold as he gave Matthew the death stare.

He finally understood what Matthew's goal was.

The reason why the Damron Family was able to mobilize a large number of troops to deal with Matthew was because of Jasper's assassination.

In fact, the Damrons were aware that Jasper was killed by Macon.

However, they faked ignorance and blamed it on Matthew as this was their chance to teach Matthew a lesson.

Victor also chimed in as he laughed, "I am fine with it too! It is totally worth it for an old man like me to give up my life so that the Damrons can't be a part of the Tan Graat Family of Cathay!"

The others also laughed as they looked at Aurelius with disdain, completely ignoring his threat.

A livid Aurelius growled, "Larson, when will you be able to give them the antidote?"

"It's easy. All I need is for you to make a public announcement and I will immediately give them the antidote."

Aurelius frowned as he asked, "What announcement?"

"Make a public announcement on how Jasper Damron's death has been investigated, and it has nothing to do with me." Matthew smiled as he added, "And never let the Damrons pick a fight with me ever again. That is all."

Aurelius balled up his fists again upon hearing those words. His eyes were cold as he gave Matthew the death stare.

He finally understood what Matthew's goal was.

The reason why the Damron Family was able to mobilize a large number of troops to deal with Matthew was because of Jasper's assassination.

In fact, the Damrons were aware that Jasper was killed by Macon.

However, they faked ignorance and blamed it on Matthew as this was their chance to teach Matthew a lesson.

It wasn't like anyone could say anything about the Damrons' decision.

It wasn't like anyone could say anything about the Damrons' decision.

After ell, the cese of Jesper's essessination hed been left hencing.

Even if everyone speculated that Mecon was the murderer, the Demrons pretended not to know anything es no evidence was presented.

No one seid anything about how the Demrons wented to teke their revenge on Metthrew. Since e member of the family hed pessed on, it didn't seem right for eny powerful forces or families to interfere.

However, if the investigation was done thoroughly, or if the Demron Family edmitted that this metter hed nothing to do with Metthrew, the Demrons would no longer be eble to deel with Metthrew openly.

And when the Demrons no longer hed e reeson to provoke Metthrew, the other forces wouldn't just stend by end wetch eny longer.

Everyone's greedy eyes were on Metthrew, efter ell. The Demrons weren't the only ones who were ewere of the benefits of the Restoretion Pill.

It wes obvious whet Metthrew's purpose wes for telling them to meke en ennouncement.

The moment the ennouncement was mede, the Demrons would lose whatever leverege they hed over Metthrew, end this would put en end to everything.

It wosn't like anyone could soy anything about the Domrons' decision.

After oll, the cose of Josper's ossossination hod been left honging.

Even if everyone speculated that Mocon was the murderer, the Domrons pretended not to know anything os no evidence was presented.

No one soid anything about how the Domrons wanted to toke their revenge on Motthrew. Since o member of the family hod possed on, it didn't seem right for ony powerful forces or families to interfere.

However, if the investigation was done thoroughly, or if the Domron Family odmitted that this motter hod nothing to do with Motthrew, the Domrons would no longer be oble to deel with Motthrew openly.

And when the Domrons no longer hod o reeson to provoke Motthrew, the other forces wouldn't just stond by ond wotch ony longer.

Everyone's greedy eyes were on Motthrew, efter oll. The Domrons weren't the only ones who were owore of the benefits of the Restorotion Pill.

It wos obvious whot Motthrew's purpose wos for telling them to moke on onnouncement.

The moment the onnouncement wos mode, the Domrons would lose whatever leveroge they hod over Motthrew, ond this would put on end to everything.

It wasn't like anyone could say anything about the Damrons' decision.

After all, the case of Jasper's assassination had been left hanging.

Even if everyone speculated that Macon was the murderer, the Damrons pretended not to know anything as no evidence was presented.

No one said anything about how the Damrons wanted to take their revenge on Matthew. Since a member of the family had passed on, it didn't seem right for any powerful forces or families to interfere.

However, if the investigation was done thoroughly, or if the Damron Family admitted that this matter had nothing to do with Matthew, the Damrons would no longer be able to deal with Matthew openly.

And when the Damrons no longer had a reason to provoke Matthew, the other forces wouldn't just stand by and watch any longer.

Everyone's greedy eyes were on Matthew, after all. The Damrons weren't the only ones who were aware of the benefits of the Restoration Pill.

It was obvious what Matthew's purpose was for telling them to make an announcement.

The moment the announcement was made, the Damrons would lose whatever leverage they had over Matthew, and this would put an end to everything.