

Chapter 241

When Matthew was finishing his last sentence, a cold glare emitted from his eyes and his face filled with hostility in a ferocious expression which was rarely seen. Harvey trembled as he came to the sudden realization that the man in front of him was not a useless bum he could easily manipulate!

“I-It’s useless for you to tell me these. Let me tell you, the Jacksons has all the evidence pointing to you as the murderer!”

Matthew snorted. “Since you have the evidence, then bring it out!”

“I dare you to show up at the Jackson’s Estate at eight tonight!” he challenged through a tightened jaw. “At that time, we’ll show you the powerful evidence which proves that you’re the murderer!”

“Alright, I’ll give you this chance and show up on time! However, I need to remind you of this, Mr. Jackson. You not only caused such a big scene at Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, but also gave my wife’s family so much trouble and smeared my reputation greatly. The Jackson Family has to pay for all these wrongs! In the end, if it turns out that I didn’t commit the crime, how does the Jacksons intend to compensate for all these?”

Laughing hysterically, he replied in glee, “Larson, stop dreaming! Do you really think you pulled it off flawlessly? I’m telling you, we have all the evidence which can crucify you!”

“Very well, then. I’m looking forward to seeing the evidence as well. But I’m telling you that if it can’t prove anything, then you’ll have to compensate for my loss!” Turning to look at Sasha, his voice softened. “Sasha, shouldn’t they pay us 200 million for ruining the company’s reputation? And with the trouble he caused us plus some defamation claims, these should amount to 100 million! That’s it. If you can’t prove that I committed the murder, then the Jacksons would have to compensate us 300 million!”

Without wasting a moment, James interjected, “Matthew, don’t bring our name into this. This has nothing to do with us and we don’t want the compensation money, either! You can do whatever you want, but this incident has nothing to do with my family. Mr. Jackson, please convey to your father that the Cunninghams won’t be involved in this incident for sure!”

Sasha was furious and wanted to say something, but Helen covered her mouth.

“Did you hear that?” Harvey chuckled indifferently. “Your father-in-law doesn’t want to be involved in this at all. Larson, do you know what the meaning of betrayal is? And here you are, still hoping for that 300 million. I’m telling you, you’re going down tonight!”

With that, he waved his hand as he instructed his men, “Let’s go!” Then facing the Cunninghams, he declared, “James, Helen and also Sasha, listen carefully! Tonight, you’ll have to be there as well. If you dare give me the slip, I assure you that I’ll sink all of you to the bottom of Lake Eastcliff tomorrow!”

Both James and Helen fell sitting on the floor with a thud, completely stunned. They didn’t expect that they couldn’t detach themselves from the situation even though they had tried so hard!

Rushing to Matthew’s side, Sasha assured, “Everything will be fine, Matthew! I’m here for you no matter what! We’re not afraid of the Jacksons and even if we have to risk the entire Cunningham Pharmaceuticals, I won’t let them get their way!”

A warm sensation rushed into Matthew’s chest at her words. At the most crucial point, his wife still stood by him.

Hopping mad with rage, Helen scolded, “Sasha, you might as well send me and your father to our graves! Matthew, you jinx! Why do you implicate us with the trouble you caused? Oh my, why is my life so difficult? How did I get involved with a murderer like you? How am I supposed to continue living now?”

“Mom, how could you say that?” Sasha asked angrily. “Matthew is doing this for our family! Even at a time like this, he still asked for compensation from the Jacksons on our behalf. Can’t you tell his sincerity?”

James burst into anger. “Who wants this compensation? I’m telling you, Matthew, don’t implicate us! Even if you get any sort of compensation in the end, we definitely won’t even take a single glance at it!”
