

Chapter 37

Everyone immediately fell silent. That was right; Matthew didn’t have the right to do so. At this time, Sasha said in a loud voice, “Matthew’s words are my words. I’ll take out ten million to reward them tonight. Also, from now on, everyone’s salary will increase by 30%. As for researchers, their salaries will be doubled!”

“Sasha!” Helen was anxious. Is Sasha refuting my words?

“Mom!” Sasha whispered, “The employees who choose to stay in the company are my greatest support. If we don’t reward them after earning such a huge profit, wouldn’t they feel unappreciated? Also, we have to let those who left the company see how big a mistake it was for them to leave us in the first place!”

Helen felt furious as she thought of those people who had forced Sasha to resign. “Yes, we’ll make them regret it!” Helen agreed. “However, you shouldn’t listen to Matthew. He is just a live-in son-in-law. What right does he have to speak on such an occasion?”

Fuming, James butted in, “If others find out about this, they’ll think that the Cunningham Family’s rules are not strict enough!”

Helen nodded repeatedly. “Exactly, what qualifications does he have to voice out his opinion? I’ll drive him away!”

James waved his hand. “Forget it, there are so many people watching now. They might think that we’re being unreasonable if we do so. We’ll just let him off the hook for now. We’ll teach him a lesson when we get back home tonight!”

Looking at this from a distance, those ingredient suppliers felt envious. Others had just signed deals that totalled up to 3 billion, which meant that the company would be buying a lot of supplies! If they managed to strike a deal with the company, they would gain more profit for sure! As a result, they went ahead to congratulate Sasha.

“Miss Cunningham, congratulations on getting such a large order. Don’t worry, we will definitely supply you the necessary ingredients so that your company’s production will not be affected!” One of them assured her with a pat on his chest.

Sasha frowned. They were just asking for payment a moment ago, clamoring to send her to prison.

“Thank you, but I’m afraid you’re no longer our suppliers!” Matthew declined.

“Why not?” The ingredient supplier's expression changed as he said anxiously, “Miss Cunningham, we have been working with your company for so long. We’ve known each other for some time now. Isn’t it inappropriate for you to suddenly change your suppliers?”

Matthew said, “You’ve been cooperating with Eric, not Sasha. While Eric is allowed to pay you the ingredient fee once every half a year, Sasha isn’t permitted to postpone it for even a day. Since this is the case, I don’t see why we should cooperate any further!”

The ingredient suppliers had a dark expression on their faces. Thinking about how they forced Sasha to pay just now, they all wanted to slap themselves out of frustration. Who would’ve imagined that Sasha would actually be able to strike so many deals within one day? If they had known about this, they would’ve even worshipped Sasha as a god. Who would dare to persecute Sasha?

“Miss Cunningham, w-we know that we were wrong. Seeing that we’ve worked together for so many years, please give us a second chance…” persuaded an ingredient supplier.

“I’m sorry, but no!” Matthew stepped in and replied on Sasha’s behalf, “We will look for other ingredient suppliers to collaborate with. We’re not qualified enough to work together with you anyway!”

“Miss Cunningham, please give us another chance!”

“Miss Cunningham, we can negotiate the price of ingredients.”

“Miss Cunningham, this was all Eric’s idea. We were forced to do this…”

The ingredient suppliers pleaded, but Sasha turned a deaf ear as she thought to herself, For God’s sake, you guys were aggressively asking me to pay you the debt just now. How dare you ask for another chance?
