

Chapter 53

After they finished their meal, Sasha hailed a taxi and left. She had something to deal with at the bank. Before that, she reminded Matthew again, “Matthew, don’t trouble Mr. Newman ever again. He’s already done so much for us. The more you seek his help, the more debt we’ll owe him. Do you understand?”

Matthew nodded in reply. Sasha didn’t know that it wasn’t Matthew who was troubling Billy; it was Billy himself who was troubling him. Billy was still begging Matthew to cure his daughter’s illness. As for the matter at Shanghai Nights, it was because of Timothy, and it had nothing to do with Billy. With Matthew’s current ability, people would be honored to assist him!

After he sent Sasha off, Matthew made a call to Stanley Carlson and asked him to investigate what happened to Sasha. As soon as he hung up the phone, he received a call from Joseph. “Mr. Larson, I’m sorry for bothering you but I have a favor to ask you. Do you have time right now?”

“No problem!”

Not long after the call, he saw Joseph’s car pulled up before he got in. Joseph then started to explain to Matthew about the situation. The son of his old friend was married for many years but still couldn’t have a child. They couldn’t figure out why even after visiting multiple famous doctors, so Joseph wanted to seek Matthew’s help.

“Mr. Larson, I’m sorry for bothering you but I owe a huge debt to this friend of mine. Even though he has passed away, I can’t bear to see him with no successors. That is why I mustered up the courage to ask you to please help him out,” implored Joseph.

“No problem!” Matthew waved his hand. Joseph treated him well, and was even of great help to him the last time. This was the reason why Matthew wouldn’t mind doing him a favor.

Soon, the two of them arrived at a luxurious villa area in the city. This was Empire Estate, one of the top villa areas in Eastcliff. People who lived here were wealthy and powerful. However, there was still a big difference compared to Lakeside Garden.

Finally, the car stopped in front of a villa. As soon as Matthew got out of the vehicle, a car suddenly drove over from behind and almost ran over Matthew. “Are you blind? Why are you standing in the middle of the road? Are you looking for death? Stop standing in the way!” the driver was yelling at the top of his lungs.

Matthew frowned and just when he was about to speak, an old woman rushed out of the house. “Oh, Dr. Ellis! You’re finally here! Welcome, welcome!”

An elderly man with white hair and white beard walked out of the car, wearing a suit. Seeing this, Joseph’s expression changed as he shockingly exclaimed, “Dr. Ellis? W-Why is he here? Could it be that he came back for the medical exchange conference?”

Curious, Matthew asked, “What medical exchange conference?”

Joseph was about to reply to him but, just then, Dr. Ellis walked over. He glanced at Joseph and said, “Oh, you’re here too, Mr. Harrison!”

“Dr. Ellis!” Joseph hurriedly shook his hand.

“Old Mrs. Graham, is this the assistant that you hired to help me?” Dr. Ellis smiled and said, “Not bad. Mr. Harrison has some accomplishments in the medical practice, so there shouldn’t be a problem having him to assist me!”

Matthew couldn’t help but feel frustrated. After all, Joseph was a well-known doctor in Eastcliff. However, Dr. Ellis asked Joseph to be his assistant. Why is Dr. Ellis looking down on him?!

The old woman glanced at Joseph and she seemed embarrassed. “Dr. Ellis, your assistant is inside the house…”

“What?” Dr. Ellis frowned and asked, “Didn’t you call him over to be my assistant? Then, why is he here? Did you hire him to find out your son’s problem? Do you think that I don’t have the ability to cure your son?”

Dr. Ellis was really aggressive. Seeing this, the old woman panicked. “Dr. Ellis, that’s not what I meant. I… I don’t know why he came either…” Then, the old woman turned to look at Joseph and in a deep voice, she asked, “Mr. Harrison, what brings you here?”

Joseph hurriedly replied, “I specially brought a genius doctor to give Mr. Graham a diagnosis and treatment!”

“Genius doctor?” Dr. Ellis’s driver was immediately annoyed. “Who dares to call himself that in front of my master? Who is it with such audacity to do so? Step forward and let me look at you!”
