

Chapter 16 - James The Life Changer

A few minutes later, the payment was completed, and the receipt was signed and given to James, along with some forms which were given for him to fill.

It is these forms that made James feel helpless.

He knew that it was not in his right place to fill the form, instead, Lola's father, but what could he do when the other party is armless?

Wouldn't passing the form to him now, be like he was indirectly giving him dark humor?

"You can fill it sir, she is now your little sister, so you can make decisions for her from now on."

The middle-aged man who has seen right through James' thoughts smiled and told James, making James embarrassed.

"Can we take this home and bring it back when Lola resumes?"

"Yes sir... yes sir... you absolutely can do that."

"Thank you, then we will get going."

Mrs. Teresa already stood up to escort them out.

Since she knew that this person is a big shot, she decided to please him to till the end, even though he was only a young boy.

She is feeling great respect and veneration for James at this moment, just like the girl that sold a house for them.

She has also come to realize that James is not a family nor a relative of this armless man and brilliant girl.

He was only helping them.

Mrs. Teresa could not help but think how huge of a heart someone must have to spend almost $2,000,000 for people who is not their relative.

Only God knows how she would have reacted if she was to know that James just spent more than $7 million for this family less than three hours ago.

James and his party also stood up to leave.

The moment they reached the hall that was empty when they can in, James and his party were instantly shocked by the commotion they saw.

"It's closing time."

Mrs. Teresa who saw the question on James' face hurriedly replied.

"Oh..." James responded dismissively.

It was only Lola that was amazed and scared at this moment.

She was amazed by how beautiful the students were, and scared that she wouldn't fit in.

She held tightly onto James' hand while feeling this.

James who knew nothing only felt his hand being held tightly. 1

He only thought that Lola did this because she was scared of being separated from them.

"hun!!!!"

The security guard that directed James and his party was suddenly stunned at this moment when he saw James coming out with the head teacher.

He knew how to judge situations.

He could see the respect and veneration on her face, which was what shocked him.

'Is their identity special?'

He suddenly thought.

Heart racing, and pounding heavily, he began to thank his lucky star for not having offended James and his party before, and for not sending them back.

"Have a nice day sirs, and good day Mrs. Teresa."

He greeted respectfully when James and his party finally reached him.

"You can go back here, Mrs. Teresa."

"Thank you for registering with us, we would be expecting you to bring her on Monday," she said respectfully before turning back.

But her heart still could not calm down.

The moment she turns back, Mrs. Teresa began to rush to the headmaster's office.

'I need to report this encounter!'

Not noticing a thing, James looked ahead happily and opened his mouth.

"Let's go to the final destination before you return home to rest."

He told Lola lovingly while patting her head, then he flagged a taxi again.

.....

"That bastard, I must make sure to teach him a lesson he would never forget in his life."

In Sarah's apartment, Gabs who has long arrived and listened to the full story is currently pacing about angrily.

He couldn't believe that James would dare have a design on his girlfriend.

Gabs has totally forgotten at this moment that Sarah was James' girlfriend in the first place before he came right into the picture.

When Sarah who was seated on a couch saw how she has been able to control his boyfriend's thoughts, an excited smile formed on her lips.

Poor Gabs, never would he have realized that he just fell right into the trap his girlfriend has laid for him, that James does not even think of him at all.

After pacing about for a while, Gabs finally sat down beside Sarah.

"What time do you have lectures tomorrow?" He questioned.

"Hum...."

Sarah entered a deep thought, before standing up to take a notepad.

She browsed through it for a while before returning it from whence she took it; "We have one in the morning, and one in the noon."

"Great!!" Gabs exclaimed happily, his chubby cheek bouncing softly.

"I'm going to deal with him tomorrow, and make him realize he his just trash who has no hope in life."

.....

"Have you been able to contact the third brother," James' fourth brother who was breathing heavily barged into their room and questioned?

He saw that his first bro and second bro were currently seated respectively on their beds with thoughtful expressions on their faces.

He would have rushed here the instant he saw the video earlier, unfortunately, their teacher gave them classwork.

The minute he finished and submitted this classwork, he began to rush back, for confirmation.

"We still haven't been able to contact him, sigh....."

The first brother's and second brother's face is already looking so tired right now.

They have been trying to reach James' phone since they saw the videos earlier, unfortunately, it was switched off.

They are so restless at this moment, as they do not know how James is doing. If he is still alive or has tried some other means to take his life.

Not knowing what else to do, they could only seat and wait patiently for James to come back.

They would only act if James does not come home, or contact them by tonight.

.....

"Why are you doing this to yourself, why?!"

Inside a female's bedroom, a beautiful girl with an out-of-the-world beauty was currently muttering helplessly to herself at this moment.

Her eyes have become puffy, which is a testimony to how hard and long she has been sobbing.

Ruby began to envy Sarah.

She does not know how many worlds she has saved in her last life to be able to get this much love from James.

For him to even want to get into a vehicle's way. 1

"Young Mistress, why have you locked yourself inside your room since you came back from school?"

Ruby suddenly raised her head urgently when she heard this voice.

"It's nothing, Dorothy! I only want to study some more."

She said as clearly as she could because she does not want anybody to know that she has been crying because of a man since morning.

.....

James who does not know all the mess he has caused is currently coming out of a bank. 1

"Take," he pushed a card into Lola's little hand.

He was the only one who entered the bank, he told Lola and her father to wait for him outside.

Lola checked what was in her palm curiously, but could not understand its use.

"$5,000,000 is in there, and 4444 is the passcode, you can use it to buy anything you want at any time," James said to the armless man who only stared blankly in return.

He has already been deeply paralyzed by all the surprises he's been getting since yesterday.

"Now that we've pretty much finished doing all the tasks we have for today, we should go back to Stomach Empire for a hearty meal."

They flagged a taxi again.

The armless man finally sighed in relief.

He knew he would be unable to take another surprise anymore, other than all the ones they'd received.

He glanced deeply at James' side profile, not knowing what to say.

He knew deeply that everything James has done for them from yesterday, till this moment are all priceless.

'Just the fact that he came out to help us in time of our need, despite not knowing us on its own is priceless.'

Only he knew how much James has changed his and his daughter's life at this moment.

He knew they would have been unable to live another year with the sort of life they had before meeting James.

'We might not even be able to live past a week anymore before I give in.'

He felt deeply gratified to James at this instant, right from his heart.

He began hoping to see his wife that deserted him and their daughter at the point of his need this instant so that she could see how much his and his daughter's life has changed, in good.

He knew that the person who made it possible for him to have such a wish is this young man next to him, the angel heaven has sent to his family.

They were still homeless as at yesterday, but today, they have a huge and expensive house.

They were still completely and utterly poor as at yesterday, but today, they have millions waiting for them to spend.

His daughter was someone who could only dream of going to school as at yesterday, but today, it has turned into a reality.

They were still begging for food as at yesterday, but today, they could eat their fill of all the delicacies they want, all because of this young man.

big sale: 100 bonus free fou you get it