

Chapter 8 - Do Not Try To Get A Vehicle's Way Again

In The Future

CHAPTER EIGHT

Do Not Try To Get A Vehicle's Way Again In The Future

James stared with his eyes wide open, and his mouth agape at this shameless person in his front.

He couldn't help but find him extremely irritating to his eyes.

He was clearly in his right, and here is the other party blaming him for the accident that almost occurred.

"You know clearly that you are at fault here, dude!"

James began to think that the other party is a dumb fellow at this juncture, if not, shouldn't he be apologizing for what he almost caused?

Lean's eyes suddenly widen in surprise when he heard what James said.

Since he got admitted to this school, this would be the first time anyone would dare speak to him like this.

It felt so shocking to him.

"Hun.... Is that not the boy that went crazy yesterday because his girlfriend dumped him?!"

People began to murmur as they point their fingers at James.

"He seemed to have offended Lean Markwood?!"

Another person pointed out in shock as he stared with agape eyes at the person in front of James.

The moment everybody heard what the boy said, they all instantly turned their head to see the face of the person in front of James, they also couldn't help but become deeply stunned.

"What?! How dare him, is he tired of his life?!"

Lean Markwood is a very powerful person from the top twenty families in the capital city.

Nobody knows why he would so humble himself to come school here which is not even a top 10 university in the country, but he has been schooling here from his freshman year till his final year.

Teachers, students, and the school committees alike all feared him.

This person is also unreasonable, and has one problem, he would only believe whatever he think is right.

Even if that thing is clearly and obviously not what he thinks it is, as long as he thinks it is right, he would believe it.

Many students and teachers have been dismissed or mysteriously disappeared because of him since he began schooling here, so everybody would always try to avoid him as much as they could.

Nobody wants to get into an argument with this person whose hand is so long and who has many connections.

Lean Markwood began to stare intently at James' face with squinted eyes as if he was trying to remember who he was.

Not noticing how Lean Markwood was staring at him, James is currently feeling frustrated when he saw that he has become the focus of attention again.

"Till when would I be pointed out everywhere I go?"

"Hahahaha....."

James was suddenly stunned when he heard this laughter, he couldn't help but gawk at this person in his front with an expressionless face.

[Host seemed to have met someone like him again.....]

'System, you are back....'

James instantly became excited when he heard the voice in his head.

The voice has disappeared since he returned to school last night, and no matter how much he tried to speak with it, it wouldn't respond.

Although James was not too scared by this, because things like this have happened many times in the system novels he had read in the past, he still feels uncomfortable.

Hearing the voice now, James instantly felt a great relief wash over him, both in and out.

"If I had known that you are the guy that went insane yesterday because your girlfriend dumped you, I would have chosen to ignore you!"

James returned his focus to the guy in his front as he listened impatiently to what he had to say.

He suddenly realized why the guy burst out, laughing.

He must have remembered who I am, which is the truth.

The instant Lean heard what the crowd around him was muttering, he also instantly felt that he has seen James somewhere before.

After racking his brain for a while, he realized that James was the person he saw in the video yesterday who was kneeling on the roadside and screaming incoherently like someone that had gone insane.

He could remember how hard he had laughed yesterday when he saw the video and read the headlines, he still felt like gifting that fat and ugly dude a nice gift for giving him such great entertainment yesterday.

Just as he was going out, he met this guy, the entertainer.

"Thankfully, I haven't driven off, else I would have missed seeing such an interesting fellow!"

The more Lean thought, the more excited he became.

He stared around him from the back of his eyes, and suddenly composed himself.

His temperament instantly changed, and he directly initiated a sage aura.

His face became serene.

He placed his hands behind his back and stared at James expressionlessly before he began.

"Young man, you shouldn't have tried to kill yourself because your girlfriend dumped you, okay..."

James' face promptly became furrowed.

'what sort of person with a mutilated brain do I meet this morning?'

He thought helplessly.

[I think Host has met someone exactly like himself, congratulations to host!]

The system that loves to always get on James' nerves sounded robotic, but James tries as much as he could right now to ignore it.

"Do not try getting in the vehicle's way again in the future, okay? there are many better things you could still do in life."

Finished saying this, Lean patted James heavily on his shoulder, almost knocking him down, then he swaggered back into his car and drove away unhurriedly.

'Is... is that still... still Lean Markwood?'

Someone from within the crowd questioned, disbelief written all over his face.

It was not only him that has this question in mind at this moment.

Never in their entire lives had they ever imagined that someone like Lean Markwood would someday act like a good Samaritan and give a bunch of nice advice.

"Hun... He looks so dashing, I want to marry him..."

A girl whose eyes have long been filled with bright light suddenly says unconsciously.

"I also want to marry him...."

Another girl said dreamily.

Then many girls began to daydream, making the boys in the crowd stunned.

The boys began to envy Lean at this moment, they also knew that he looked so great when he acted like that.

None of the people in the crowd, James included knew that Lean has an objective in mind for doing what he did.

He noticed that some people has been secretly filming what was happening which was why he pulled off what he did.

Lean Markwood that was currently driving off has already reached cloud five at this moment

"I can't wait to see my dashing and heroic self in the video," he muttered to himself happily as he fished out his cell phone from his car's dashboard.

He began calling his friends, speaking to them mysteriously to stay alert, that a video they couldn't miss would be released soon.

James who does not know he has already fallen into someone's trick has already escaped from the crazy crowd at this moment.

He couldn't understand his race, human anymore.

'What was so great in what that guy did that would make them go crazy like that? '

The guy did nothing but change the fact and tell lies.

[Host should make sure to do as the Lean dude advised!!!]

James instantly faces palmed himself softly in frustration.

He flagged a taxi and told him to drive him to McDonalds.

He couldn't wait to officially own his first shares of a company.

Growing up, James has a deep fantasy which was;

He does not wish to work for people when he grew up.

He wanna have different shares in many companies that would pay him yearly, monthly, and daily.

He wants to live his life in enjoyment and travel around the world.

It seems this would not become an ordinary fantasy anymore.

[Host should make sure to do his part if he wants his fantasy to become reality!]

'Hey system, could you please stop intruding on my memories as you please?'

James felt frustrated.

He realized he no longer have any privacy since this system arrived.

[The clear and perfect answer is, NO.]

James became mute.

'What a shameless system!!!'

...

In a small apartment near Dee university, two girls were currently getting dressed.

"I still could not understand why you would allow that idiot to be your boyfriend in the past," one of the girls sighed in regret.

"Duh.... That was in the past, okay.... I've known better now."

"I still feel that the idiot would be a stain to your name now... What if he makes Mr. Gabs develop things against you?"

Fear was written on the face of the girl with Sarah at this moment.

"What are you thinking of, my hubby already knows, and he said he does not mind...."

Sarah waved her friend off.

"What....."

"Don't be bothered by unnecessary thoughts, okay... Just get dressed, we would not want to be late before we reach McDonalds."

The moment Sarah's friend heard this, she instantly forgot what she was going to say earlier.

McDonalds is an eight-star restaurant, that everybody loves to go.

It is not like the normal go-to restaurant that provides different meals, they only provide junk foods, yet they are extremely popular in the world.

Sarah's boyfriend was the one that told Sarah to go enjoy herself there with her friends today.

He even gave Sarah his credit card so that she could pay the bills for everything they enjoy there.

Sarah sighed happily when she remembered the lavish life she has been living since she agreed to be with Gabs.

In just a week of being with him, he had rented an apartment for her outside the school, something she couldn't think of in the past.

She couldn't help but think of what her friend said is right.

She began to blame her foolishness for confessing her love to James in the past.

She couldn't say this out loud, that she was the one that confessed love to James, else, she'd become a great joke.

She has missed many good and expensive things for four years because of her foolishness.

Never for once as she dreamed of going to a place like this in her life when she was with James.

He was too poor to even afford three stars restaurant, not to talk of eight stars.

"I can wait no more to go there...."

Sarah shook her head helplessly when she heard her friend say this.

"How many people would be meeting us there?"

Her friend entered a deep thought as she counted with her fingers.

"four, I think, no... no five... six?"

Sarah only smiled at this and shook her head helplessly again.