

Chapter 100 Did Nolan Love Another Man's Wife

Derek had a troubled face as he was absorbed in his memories.

"What's the matter, Derek?" Celia inquired in surprise after seeing his change in expression.

Coming to his senses, Derek grinned. "Nothing. Just now, I recalled something from the past."

He continued, "I went abroad at the time for a few personal reasons, and it isn't convenient to tell you what they were. Later, I made the decision to return home to grow for other reasons."

Celia grinned. "I'm glad you're back. In this country, there are many chances."

Derek remarked to Celia, "Yes, I couldn't have met you again if I hadn't come back," with a smirk on his face.

Derek was enchanted by Celia's charming grin. "I'm happy to see you once again. I've always admired your design skills."

Derek also said, "You also possess a wonderful skill. This time, Miss Duffy's altered attire is excellent. Do you realize that as a result of that labor, you have gained fame in this circle?"

In an effort to break the monotony, Brea clutched her chin in her palms and said, "Stop praising one another in that manner. The dishes have been served. Eat right away; it is the most crucial thing."

One exquisite dish after another was served, and soon the large table was covered with food.

When Celia turned back, a waiter was approaching with another service cart which included more dishes.

She couldn't help but click her tongue. "Mr. Reyes is really kind. I feel a bit bad about getting so much food for free."

It didn't bother Brea at all. Brea gave Celia a shoulder pat and said, "Mr. Reyes is well off. He could afford it, even if he treated us in this manner at every meal. He won't declare bankruptcy as a result. In addition, he owns the whole business. What's the big deal about eating a meal for free?"

Although Celia couldn't stop smiling, she was still concerned. "But I just joined the company, and I haven't added anything valuable to it."

"Don't worry. You may put in a lot of effort to meet the company's expectations moving forward," Brea remarked as she chewed her food.

"You're correct." Celia gave a slight nod.

They conversed while joking around.

Tyson was discreetly observing them from outside the canteen, but nobody saw him.

Tyson gave Celia a loving gaze and a grin as if he wanted to shower her with all the beautiful things in life.

As soon as he saw Derek sitting next to her, his demeanor started to stiffen.

When he saw Derek and Celia having a pleasant conversation, he felt envious.

As a guy, he was able to see that Derek had feelings for Celia that were unique. Derek was just as admiring of her as he was of her.

He was suddenly overcome with a feeling of crisis.

Nonetheless, Tyson was aware that he needed to give Celia the independence and trust she needed to establish new acquaintances.

He should have done anything to safeguard Celia from danger.

"Mr. Reyes, it is done." Emmitt approached him.

Tyson glanced away from Celia while giving a little nod. He was on his way back to his office as he approached the CEO's personal elevator.

He seldom appeared in front of his staff. Therefore he specifically arranged the CEO's VIP elevator so that fewer people would be aware of his appearance.

Brea glanced up at his back as soon as he turned away and instantly stopped laughing.

"Cece."

With excitement, she grabbed Celia's hand. "I seemed to have seen Mr. Reyes just now."

She was confused. The erstwhile enigmatic CEO had lately often invited her to his office and he even hid in the dark to watch them.

However, these odd behaviors seemed to be the result of someone else rather than her.

Celia Kane!

Brea's interest in their connection grew over time.

He looked out for Celia and gave her all he had. It was clear that he secretly adored Celia!

If he kept acting that way, it was not good! Celia was married!

Brea suddenly felt as if her life was so disorganized. Her boss was in this dramatic situation, which she disliked.

What was she supposed to do? Did Nolan fall in love with someone else's wife? Did he exclusively love another man's wife?
