

Chapter 134 Kiley Apologized

Alick was rendered speechless.

With Kiley's unremarkable looks, how could she have the guts to ask him to sleep with her?

Even if she paid him, he would never touch even her finger.

However, Kiley didn't seem to notice Alick's disgust at all. She still clung to him crazily, and her hands and feet were restless.

She moved her hand to his chest, and her fingertips brushed his exposed skin outside his shirt, trying to arouse his lust for her.

Alick didn't know where Kiley had learned this dirty seductive trick, but it really made him feel sick.

He swept away her hand mercilessly and said, "I'm not interested in you."

Kiley was so embarrassed that the look on her face changed.

Alick took advantage of the moment she got distracted and pushed her away directly. He said, "The time for my work outside the office is almost up. It's time for me to go back to the company. Have a good rest and try to go back to work early. Then start to build a good relationship with Celia."

He stood up and looked around. It was as if he was afraid of being discovered to be "intimate" with someone like Kiley.

"Remember to follow my instructions and don't screw things up. Otherwise, just forget our deal."

After saying this, Alick turned around and left without even looking back.

Watching his receding back, Kiley was so angry that she thumped the bed.

"Damn you, pervert! You look down on me, huh?"

If you're not handsome and wealthy, no one will ever want to sleep with you."

She gritted her teeth and smashed the headboard several times. She only calmed down when she felt the pain in her hands.

But no matter what, she was determined to do what Alick told her to do.

If Kiley could make Celia sleep with Alick, she could take revenge on Celia and earn money at the same time.

She turned her head and looked at the door where Alick had left just now. A vicious light flashed in her eyes.

Celia, what's so good about you? Alick is such a handsome man. How can he think only about you and have no interest in me?

After I finish the task he assigned to me, I will let you go to hell.

In the office, Celia was conscientiously perfecting the design draft when she suddenly sneezed.

As soon as she took out a piece of tissue to wipe her nose, a colleague beside her gently nudged her and said, "Cece, look at the company forum."

She picked up her phone in confusion and clicked on the company forum. It turned out that Kiley had issued a public apology statement.

Celia was more confused as to what was going on.

She clicked the post and saw that Kiley recounted what happened yesterday, saying that she was just too emotional and fell down. She also said that her injuries and being hospitalized had nothing to do with Celia.

Now that she had calmed down, she realized her mistake. As a senior, she shouldn't have pointed fingers at Celia's design. She even praised Celia's work and begged for Celia's forgiveness.

Celia was so shocked that she was rendered speechless for a moment.

She didn't know what Kiley was up to this time. After all, Kiley was so aggressive yesterday. It had only been one day. Why did Kiley suddenly change her attitude?

The company forum was soon bombarded with many comments. Many colleagues present yesterday left comments under the post, saying that it was Kiley who fell down and hurt herself. They said that it had nothing to do with Celia.

However, there were also many people who persuaded Celia to reconcile with Kiley, saying that they were colleagues after all. They hoped that the farce would end this way and there would be no more trouble in the future.

Kiley replied to several comments that seemed neutral but were actually defending her. She once again clarified for Celia and kept begging for forgiveness.

Seeing her sincere attitude, most of their colleagues began to help her convince Celia to accept her apology.

Celia had not yet digested such a drastic change when she saw hundreds of comments mentioning her. Thinking that she was just a newbie in the company and it was inappropriate for her to be too ruthless, she finally replied to the post.

She typed in, "I accept your apology."

She was not a saint, so she could only do this.

With Celia's reply, the post became more and more popular. Even Tyson in the CEO's office found out about it.

He had just finished his meeting when he saw the link and message sent by Brea.

"Mr. Reyes, check this out. It's big news. Kiley has apologized to Cece," Brea said in her message.

Tyson clicked the link with a frown. Celia's name filled the entire screen, and it was because many colleagues mentioned her.

He scrolled up.

Then Kiley's apology statement came into view.
