

Chapter 177 The CEO's Scary Smile

After hesitating for a while, Celia decided to tell Tyson what was on her mind. "Don't worry. I'm fine in the company. There is no male boss who harasses me. Actually, my current superior is the senior from my college and he takes good care of me. But because I don't think it's appropriate to be taken care of by him all the time, I've told him today that we should keep a distance from each other in the future." Once Celia told him about it, she felt the burden unloading from her mind.

She was sure that her decision was right about telling Tyson about Derek. Although she had no feelings for Derek, Tyson was her husband after all and she hoped that they could maintain a relationship where they would not hide anything from each other and free of suspicion.

Tyson seemed to be satisfied with her opening up to him as he replied, "Honey, you did a good job. I'll reward you later."

Celia felt relieved. She smiled and replied immediately, "Honey, don't worry. I only have you in my heart. Other men mean nothing to me!"

Tyson sent her a kiss emoji and encouraged her, "Honey, you must be tired after work. I'll help you relax tonight. You can leave yourself up to me."

It was originally meant as a pure and innocent encouragement, but when Celia saw his answer, she couldn't help thinking deep into it and blushing all by herself, thinking that the words felt like a hidden flirtation.

Obviously, Tyson had no idea about his wife's over assuming. He sent another message, "Honey, go on with your work. I won't disturb you anymore. See you tonight."

"Okay, honey, see you tonight. I miss you." Celia texted back with her face fuming red.

After that, she put down her phone and tried to continue modifying the dress.

However, the chat with Tyson seemed to have fueled her longing for him instead of putting out the fire in her heart. She couldn't focus on anything as her mind was full of him that she almost got pricked by the needle several times.

She had no choice but to stand up and pour herself a cup of ice coffee. After taking a big gulp, she forced herself to calm down and focus on work.

On the other hand, Tyson was sitting in his office and reading the chatting records between him and Celia. Maybe it was because he missed her so much that her pretty face was all he could think about in his head. When he saw the last text which said "Honey, see you tonight. I miss you", he couldn't help smiling brightly.

He looked through their chatting records over and over again, seeming to be unable to get enough of Celia. He was so into his own world that he didn't even notice that Emmitt came to report the work.

As soon as Emmitt entered the office, he saw the smile on Tyson's face, which scared him so much that he trembled with fear. What a creepy sight!

"Sir, I got the report from the marketing department," he said slowly and cautiously.

It was not until then that Tyson noticed him. Taking a deep breath, Emmitt quickly reported the work to Tyson in a trembling voice before leaving the office hastily.

Tyson frowned when he saw the sight of Emmitt running away as if he just saw a ghost.

He was confused. Why did Emmitt run away? Did he see things?

Just at that moment, Wayne's call got his attention.

"Bro, are you busy?"

"Just say what you have to say."

Wayne smiled and said immediately, "The hospital is now preparing for the kidney transplant operation for Flavia. Do you want to take Cece to the hospital?"

Tyson checked his schedule and said, "I'll be right there."

"What about Cece?"

Flavia's operation was a big matter for Celia. Logically, he should inform Celia of it. But considering that she had been busy with work in the company and also the fact that he had to take care of the operation fee behind Celia's back, Tyson decided to tell her after the operation was done. That way, he could also give her a surprise.

As he didn't reply for a long time, Wayne asked, "Won't she come?"

"No."

"Alright, I'll wait for you in the hospital."

Not long after, Tyson got to the hospital and went to Flavia's ward with Wayne.

Her operation was scheduled at four o'clock in the afternoon. At the moment, she was lying in the VIP ward and was about to be pushed to the operating room.

When Tyson and Wayne walked into the ward, they saw several caregivers taking care of Flavia to calm her down at the last minute.

As soon as the two appeared, Flavia sat up excitedly.

"Tyson, you are here!"